CRITICIZES DIRKSEN

EOC Boss Quits; Fires Off Volley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford L. Alexander Jr. resigned today as chairman of the Employment Opportunities Commission and denounced the Nixon administration's attitudes on enforcing equal job opportunities.

Alexander, 39, who held the job for two years, came under fire last month from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who said Alexander had harassed firms.

In his resignation, Alexander noted Dirksen threatened to have him fired for "vigorous enforcement" of equal job opportunities and that the White House had announced he would be replaced.

"People who are hurt by discrimination and those working to eliminate it alike have been dismayed by the intimation—implicit in the timing of the White House announcement—that discharge of my responsibilities under (the 1964 Civil Right Act's) Title 7 had precipitated your decision to replace me," he said in his resignation announced at a news conference.

Alexander said his resignation as chairman would take effect May 1 unless President Richard M. Nixon desires an earlier date.

He added he will remain on the commission to fill out the remaining three years of his term.

Asked about Alexander's resignation and criticism of the administration, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he would not comment except to say new presidents frequently replace chairmen of federal commissions.

"The President has, I think,

Nixon Meets Again With Security Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon conferred with his National Security Council for the second straight day today and devoted the session to international trade problems.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who revealed the topic of the latest meeting, made no mention of Vietnam, which has been the subject of two weeks of high level discussions.

Ziegler said today's council session was attended by Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, who leaves Friday on a seven-nation trade mission to western europe. Stans is scheduled for a similar trip to the Far East later.

The purpose of Nixon's meeting yesterday with his top diplomatic, military and intelligence aides was not announced. Ziegler had said before the meetings they would consider two topics, but he didn't spell out then what the topics would be.

Sessions of the council on successive days are somewhat unusual.

Nixon met with Ellsworth Bunker, U. S. ambassador to Saigon, after yesterday's session. Bunker will be returning to his post probably by the end of the week or early next week after a top-level review of Vietnam policy that began in California March 23.

Despite indications that Vietnam was one of the subjects before the council, the two meetings also came during a period of unusual foreign affairs activity in the capital.

Nixon met yesterday with Jordan's King Hussein, a pro-Western Arab leader who fears another outbreak of war in the tense Middle East.

Hussein, in the United States for three days of talks, said on arrival he had no plan to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute, but did have some "ideas to put forth."

Union 'White Paper' Will Refute Attacks By Reuther

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther talked a better game than he played, according to a 40,000-word "white paper" by the AFL-CIO, replying to Reuther's frequent criticisms and reporting on the ouster of his United Auto Workers.

A federation spokesman said the document, to be released Friday, is intended to set the record straight so the "history of the trade union would not show that Reuther's charges had gone unrefuted."

Reuther, who headed the CIO before it merged with the AFL in 1955, has criticized AFL-CIO President George Meany and the labor federation for several years as complacent and a "custodian of the status quo." He has called for more action on civil rights, as well as on labor welfare.

The AFL-CIO reply is being issued nearly a year after Reuther's auto union was suspended from the AFL-CIO for non-payment of federation dues.

"At the time Reuther started his attacks, our executive council voted that we would not answer his charges through the press," the AFL-CIO spokesman said.

Rather, the council elected to challenge Reuther through what the official called "the regular machinery of the trade union movement"—meaning on the convention floor.

"But Walter always managed not to get to the meetings," the federation spokesman said.

He said the document, titled "To Clear the Record," was a comprehensive report on the disaffiliation of the auto workerss union and would be made public Friday.

The Washington Star and the Washington Post evidently succeeded in seeing the report earlier, however, and the two newspapers revealed some of its detail ahead of publication.

The Star says Meany had written Reuther a long letter last July seriously discussing Reuther's suggestions for revitalizing the labor movement, but had received no reply.

The Post says the report hammers away at what it sees as Reuther's effort to change the structure and thrust of the fed-

Sirhan Outburst Halts Trial Summary

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Shouting out "He's lying! He's lying He's lying!" Sirhan B. Sirhan interrupted today the state's case against him in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"He's lying. He's a dirty ——-----," Sirhan said as Deputy Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts said that on the night of the slaying Sirhan had left his wallet—all identification—in his car. Fitts asked the jury to convict Sirhan of first-degree murder.

It was only a few minutes before normal morning recess time and Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker quickly halted proceedings and ordered bailiffs to remove Sirhan from the court.

Before his blowup, Sirhan twisted nervously in his seat as Fitts, silver-haired trial veteran, called Kennedy "a man of hope, a man of respect," and said Sirhan was fully aware of what he was doing when he shot Kennedy last June 5.

The New York senator, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, had just won California's primary and had left a cheering crowd of supporters when Sirhan shot him.

The defense has admitted that Sirhan killed Kennedy, but has said he was so mentally impaired that he was not legally responsible.

Opening the state's summation, Fitts quoted a statement attributed to Sirhan after the shooting, "Do you think I'm crazy so you can use it against me?" At the time Sirhan was refusing to make any statements to police.

"I deduce from this the defendant was fully aware of his constitutional rights," Fitts said, "fully aware of his predicament, fully aware everything he said might be used against him."

Mental experts who testified for the defense had said that Sirhan killed in a trance, that he was an unconscious instrument of assassination.

Fitts referred to the defense of diminished responsibility—which holds that a person not legally insane still may not be fully responsible for his actions—and said:

"We will be concerned whether or not this defendant at that time was able to appreciate that firing a bullet into the head of another individual was not a thing that is done in our community. That's all we will be concerned with."

Fitts told the jury that premeditation and deliberation are necessary ingredients of first-degree murder and added:

"The law does not presume to what extent an individual must deliberate and premeditate. A cold and calculated decision to kill may be arrived at in a matter of minutes or even seconds.

"The state suggests to you

Senators Vote Major Overhaul In Divorce Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate today approved a major overhaul of California divorce laws that would eliminate angry court battles between married couples over property settlement.

The measure by Sen. Donald L. Grunsky was sent on a 25 to 14 vote to the Assembly after a one and one-half hour debate during which several lawmakers argued the provisions fell short of their mark and made divorce too easy.

Grunsky said the measure would change the law to provide for the equal distribution of community property.

It would also eliminate such grounds for divorce as "extreme cruelty" and strike the requirement that one partner must be at fault before a complaint for divorce can be filed.

Nixon Picks Woman As Consumer Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virginia H. Knauer, the director of Pennsylvania's Bureau of Consumer Protection, was named by President Richard M. Nixon today as his special assistant for consumer affairs.

Mrs. Knauer, 54, is a Republican who has served on the Philadelphia City Council.

In the $28,000-a-year post, she will succeed Betty Furness, who served under former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

At a White House news conference where her appointment was announced, it was made clear Mrs. Knauer will have a full-time job.

That was unlike the appointment given earlier this year to Willie Mae Rogers, director of the Good Housekeeping Institute. Mrs. Rogers was to have been a consumer consultant while keeping her post of supervising awards of the Good Housekeeping seals of approval.

Mrs. Rogers resigned four days after her appointment was announced, when public criticism developed over a possible conflict of interest.

Since February 1968, Mrs. Knauer has been the director of the Pennsylvania Consumer Protection Bureau. The White House noted that "she is the only woman in the United States who actually administers such a bureau, devoted to consumer protection and consumer education."

Along with her post as special assistant to Nixon, Mrs. Knauer will serve as chairman of the President's Committee on Consumer Interests and as executive secretary of the Consumer Advisory Council.

She promised to be the consumer's advocate and to give the consumer a voice at the highest level of government.

Campus Closed In New Orleans In Racial Fuss

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — School officials closed the Southern University branch campus here today following a series of incidents in which 15 to 20 Negro students were arrested.

The first arrests were made at mid-morning today when a group of six Negroes lowered the American flag in front of the administration building and hoisted a "black liberation" flag in its place. The six were booked with desecrating the American flag.

Later, the students at the predominantly Negro school massed in the cafeteria for a meeting and barred newsmen. A student spokesman said they discussed plans to strike the school and to take over the administration building.

Unruh Says Tax Dooms Middle Class

Democrats In Uproar Over Proposal; Hearings Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate's Democratic leader demanded today statewide hearings on Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's billion dollar plus tax overhaul while the Assembly's top Democrat said it "is highway robbery."

"It is a program calculated to make the rich richer and turn the middle class into virtual paupers," Assembly Democratic Jesse M. Unruh told a news conference. (See other Legislature stories, pages 17, 18 and 48.)

The program submitted to the Legislature yesterday as a series of bills and proposed constitutional amendments, would go before the voters next year for a referendum — on the same ballot on which Reagan is expected to seek a second term.

Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Francisco said he had asked the Democratic chairman of the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee to hold "in depth statewide hearings" on the plan "before the Legislature acts too hastily on taxation policies California must live with for the next decade."

Both men concentrated their criticism on the 50 per cent income tax hike proposed by Reagan to finance a massive cut in property taxes.

MIDDLE INCOME

"It should be obvious, even to Governor Reagan, that a man making $15,000 a year has a lot more trouble coming up with an extra $150 than the $44,000 a year man has in paying $440 more — most of which he can deduct from his federal income taxes," said Unruh.

Unruh said that together with Reagan's $1 billion tax increase of 1967, taxes would be boosted a total of $1.7 billion in only seven years. He called the plan "a declaration of war upon the middle class."

Moscone said the Reagan plan would hit hard at renters who would get no property tax relief.

50 PCT. HIKE

The plan would also extend the sales tax to repair services, magazines and containers such as paper bags and impose a new state-wide tax on business property. In return, residential property taxes would be sharply reduced.

The plan would boost income taxes $765 million, a 50 per cent hike for the average Californian. It would also raise the sales tax by $129 million and impose a new statewide tax on business property.

The money would go for an 80 per cent cut in the residential school property tax, other homeowner property tax cuts and further reductions in the property tax on business inventory.

TAX SHIFT

State aid to school would be increased by $1.6 billion, to a total of $3 billion, Reagan said.

The aim: a huge reduction in property taxes, now used to support schools and other local government services. It is also designed to equalize the economic differences between poor and rich districts.

Casper Weinberger, state finance director, said the shift

Federal Aid To Landmark In Tiburon

A federal grant of $37,000 has been approved to help save from development land above old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon, Reps. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, reported from Washington today.

The legislators announced that the Department of Housing and Urban Development had approved the funds, to be matched by another $37,000 raised locally.

James Vande Weg, county park development coordinator, said the county Parks and Recreation Department had not received word of the federal grant approval as of this morning. However, if the money has been approved, purchase of 1.19 acres above the church landmark would be assured because local contributions have been pledged as follows:

County of Marin $9,125; Tiburon $4,500; Belvedere $4,500; and Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society $18,125. Total cost of the acquisition is expected to be $74,000.

Owners of the 1.19 acres had announced plans to construct apartments on their property.

The Old St. Hilary's site, which is designated a state historical landmark, will total more than the 3.5 acres with the new purchase. At present, the total area is 2.47 acres, with the county owning 1.9 and the landmarks society owning .57 of an acre.

April Showers Fall Overnight

Marin's sixth April rain fell during the night, making last April, with a single rain of .31 of an inch, seem like a drought.

The weatherman predicted it would be cloudy tonight and clear tomorrow with temperatures in the mid 60s.

Rainfall totals for the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today included: Woodacre, .40 of an inch; San Anselmo, .33; Bolinas, .31; Tamalpais Valley and Terra Linda, .30; Ross, .27; Novato, .26; Mill Valley, .24; Hamilton Air Force Base and Sausalito, .20, and Tiburon, .18.

In the 24 hours ending at noon, San Rafael reported .31 of an inch.

Race For The Moon

BELGRADE (AP) — A Soviet spaceman, Lt. Col. Vladimir Shatalov, was quoted today as saying the Soviet Union wants to be first to land a man on the moon.

He said the Russians need "six, seven and perhaps more months" of preparation, indicating the Soviets don't think the Americans can realize their plans to make a moon landing in July.

Mariner On Course

PASADENA (AP) — Mariner 7 chased on toward Mars today after a short rocket burst altered its course as planned by some 14,500 miles.

Scientists fired its engine for 7.7 seconds Tuesday in a move designed to bring Mariner 7 within 2,000 miles of Mars. When the rocket-firing signal was given at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, the craft was in its 12th day of flight and 2.5 million miles from earth.

Aircraft Toll Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline crashes took 349 lives and another 1,374 persons were killed in private plane accidents in the United States last year.

The National Transportation Safety Board said yesterday the airline toll was the second highest on record, exceeded only by the 499 killed in 1960. At the same time, the accident rate per million aircraft miles flown reached a new low of .28 last year.

Prague Visit Set

VIENNA (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Sparkman said today that he will lead a "quasiofficial" delegation of American congressmen to Prague on Friday at the invitation of members of Czechoslovakia's Parliament.

The Alabama Democrat is in Vienna for a meeting of the Interparliamentary Union. He said he expects the majority of the seven American senators and eight representatives attending the meeting to go with him to the Czechoslovak capital.

The delegation will fly to the Soviet-occupied Communist country in a U.S. Air Force plane on Friday morning and is scheduled to return to Vienna that evening.

Census Printing Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau has decided to go ahead with the printing of 150 million forms for the 1970 population count despite a controversy over questions to be asked.

The bureau apparently was acting with White House approval this week when it told the Government Printing Office to start producing the forms, including questions which have brought complaints from some congressmen and citizens.

Federal law requires that census questions be answered.

Sofa Blaze Kills East Bay Child

SAN LEANDRO — (UPI) — A 3-year-old boy died and four other small children were overcome by smoke last night when a fire broke out in a living room sofa.

Wayne Lunny succumbed after firemen carried him out of the house. His mother said the sofa suddenly burst into flames she could not control. Her husband was at work.

The other four children, aged one month to seven years, were treated at East Bay Children's Hospital.

Cancer Risk From The Pill Still In Doubt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Oral contraceptives continue overwhelmingly popular with women despite some hazards associated with them, says Dr. Louis M. Hellman.

The chairman of obstetrics and gynecology at New York State University, here for the annual meeting of Planned Parenthood, told a news conference yesterday that estrogen, the major component of "the pill," has caused cancer to all laboratory animals to which it has been given but has never been shown to cause cancer in humans.

Carcinogens cancer-causing substances usually go through an average 10-year latent period in humans, "so that we are about six years out," Hellman said. The incidence of cancer of the cervix has continued without a change that might be attributed to the pill, he said.

"I think there's a good deal of doubt whether these pills are carcinogenic or not," he said.

"So long as you're under adequate physicians' supervision, the risk is negligible," said Hellman.

North Viet Soldiers Caught In Deadly Trap

SAIGON (AP) — A company of North Vietnamese troops moving toward Saigon from the southwest apparently mistook the silhouettes of American armored cars for the huts of peasants and walked into a death trap on a moonless night.

Forty-seven of the estimated 75 enemy soldiers died last night under a hail of machine-gun fire from the four armored personnel carriers, military spokesmen said.

No U.S. casualties were reported.

The enemy troops passed by a listening post several hundred yards from the main body of the mechanized infantry company from the U.S. 9th Infantry Division. The outpost radioed to the main unit that about 75 enemy troops were moving toward the armored personnel carriers, about 18 miles southwest of Saigon.

"We let more than half of them pass by the first few armored tracks. Then when they were right in the center, all four of them opened fire," a 9th Division officer said.

Artillery and helicopter gunships joined the attack.

The Americans also took two prisoners, one of whom said his company was trying to link up with the 308th North Vietnamese Battalion.

Meanwhile, enemy gunners fired four 100-pound rockets into Saigon's northern fringes, wounding 10 Vietnamese civilians and two soldiers. One of the rockets caused minor damage to the Newport bridge, on the main highway to the big military bases at Bien Hoa and Long Binh, but traffic was not affected.

The U.S. Command reported about 10 other rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases.

Czech Press Restrictions Tightened

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders announced more restrictive measures last night to bring anti-Soviet journalists into line.

After an all-day meeting, the Communist party's 21-member presidium said it had aproved "some political organization measures to strengthen the leading role of the party in the mass means of communication and to increase discipline in the party."

The announcement said the leaders, headed by First Secretary Alexander Dubcek, also decided to "call to task Communist journalists who in recent days have published matter at variance with party policy or permitted publication of such material."

WEEKLY BANNED

One crackdown measure, disclosed unofficially, was the suspension of Listy, organ of the Czechoslovak Writers Union. The weekly recently criticized the party for joining the Soviet bloc boycott of the Yugoslav Communist party congress.

The writers' union also questioned the need for restoration of prepublication censorship, instituted April 2 as part of the price the Russian-occupied nation is paying for recent anti-Soviet demonstrations.

Although the communique indicated a stronger crackdown on the press, the Czechoslovak leaders were understood to be resisting other Soviet demands, including a government reshuffle and declaration of martial law.

CENSOR QUITS

In a related development, Prague radio announced that the nation's chief censor, Josef Vohnout, had been released from his post "at his own repeated request" and that Josef Havlin, an Education Ministry official, would replace him as head of the press and information office.

Vohnout was known as an opponent of prepublication censorship.

Benjamin Franklin is generally credited with inventing the rocking chair.

New Mideast Duel As Peace Tries Continue

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt said a second artillery duel flared across the Suez Canal late yesterday, nine hours after a U.N. cease-fire stilled Egyptian and Israeli guns along the waterway.

The first duel lasted five hours. An Egyptian communique estimated Israeli losses at 40 killed and wounded, but the Israelis said four of their soldiers were wounded.

An Egyptian communique said the Israelis began firing across the canal again at 10:45 p.m., and the duel continued for an hour and a half.

The Suez hostilities were preceded yesterday by a Jordanian rocket attack on Elath, Israel's gateway through the Gulf of Aqaba to East Africa and the Far East, and a retaliatory air raid by Israeli jets on Aqaba, Jordan's only port.

The fighting provided a gloomy backdrop for talks between President Nixon and King Hussein of Jordan, who began a three-day visit to Washington yesterday.

Hussein talked with the President and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, and lunched and dined at the White House. Today he was meeting again with Rogers and with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, and tomorrow he is to confer again with Rogers.

The Big Four's chief delegates at the United Nations held their second weekly meeting yesterday on the Middle East situation, and afterward Lord Caradon of Britain told newsmen progress had been made.

Informed sources said the four ambassadors set up a second-level study group to search for common ground in the stated positions of Israel, Egypt and Jordan on how to settle the Middle East conflict.

Reds Claimed Killed

BANGKOK (AP) — Twelve Communist terrorists were killed last week in clashes with government troops, the Thai Communist Suppression Command reported today.

Strike Closes Illinois Central

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Central Railroad halted most freight and passenger service on its 14-state system today, several hours after the United Transportation Union hit the line with a sudden strike.

An Illinois Central spokesman said supervisors were trying to keep up shipments of food and other perishables. However, he said, two passenger trains still in operation would be taken out of service after completing their runs.

The strike, which was called to back a demand relating to the size of crews, began last night, according to a union spokesman.

M. S. Stuckey, general chairman of the union's I.C. system, said the union seeks to force the railroad to keep the number of men in its crews the same as that on other lines.

made it very clear the administration intends to enforce the law in this area," Ziegler said, predicting the record will bear him out. "The entire direction and thrust of this administration has been positive" in the field of equal opportunities.

Alexander also criticized Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, head of the civil rights division, for what he termed "a crippling lack of administration support."

Both officials, he said, "have been unresponsive to my request over two months ago" to discuss the future of enforcing equal job opportunities.

Alexander noted the administration filed suit yesterday to halt alleged anti-Negro bias at Cannon Mills Co., a large textile firm employing 24,000 persons in North and South Carolina. (See story page 3).

But "one swallow doesn't make a summer," he said, adding the suit against Cannon is the only one filed to attack discriminatory hiring practices under the new administration.

In comparison, he said, the department under former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark filed more than 30 such suits last year.

Alexander also said the commission has not been consulted on legislation he said is vitally needed.

Alexander said he didn't resign when the new administration took over because he felt the commission's work would be "seriously impaired by the advent of a fourth chairman within a period of three and one-half years."

New York attorney and a Negro, Alexander is a graduate of Harvard University where he was president of the Student Council and first marshal of his class.

He was brought to Washington in 1963 by the late President John F. Kennedy to serve as foreign affairs officer of the National Security Council. Later, he served in a variety of White House jobs before being picked by former President Lyndon B. Johnson to head the commission.

He is to appear in Superior Court Monday for arraignment.

Farm Bureau Takes Stand On Bay Fill

The Marin County Farm Bureau board yesterday voted to oppose further bay fill, regional government and reducing the percentage of votes necessary to pass school bonds, according to secretary Martha Busher.

The board voted to support recommendations of the Citizens Alliance to Save San Francisco Bay to maintain the shoreline and restrict the unnecessary filling of the bay, she said.

Members also voted to oppose Assembly Bill 711 for a Bay Area regional government, claiming it would be taking away the voice of local government.

They favored Senate Bill 35, which would delete the provision passed by the 1967 Legislature and eliminating statutory school tax rate limitations after June 30, 1971.

The board also will oppose the Senate study committee bill 20 which would reduce from two-thirds to 60 percent the vote necessary to pass school bonds, she said.

Pres. Alfred L. Poncia and others yet to be named, will attend the agriculture policy workshop April 22 at the board of supervisors, according to Mrs. Busher.

Youth Jailed In Drug Probe After Scuffle

Gary Williams Clemons, 18, of 20 Walnut Avenue, Larkspur, was jailed last night on suspicion of hitting a California Highway patrolman and possessing marijuana after a brief scuffle in Tamalpais Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said officer David R. Salkeld stopped a car with three men in it for a traffic violation at 9:30 p.m. on Shoreline Highway. Clemons reportedly got out and maneuvered behind Salkeld as he questioned another occupant.

When Salkeld ordered him to stand by the car, Clemons reportedly said, "You're not going to tell me where to stand," and hit Salkeld in the mouth. He was subdued and handcuffed by Salkeld and another patrolman.

When searched at Marin County Jail, Clemons was found to have a bag containing an ounce of marijuana and a partly-smoked marijuana cigarette, the patrol said. He was held in lieu of $625 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

eration. It charges that he bypassed open channels within the group and that as a leader in the AFL-CIO and the UAW he talked a better game than he played.

Reuther must share the blame for any failure to make changes he alleges should have been made, the report says, because as a top official of the federation, he was in a position to influence its action.

Reportedly, the document also states that Reuther, while holding high AFL-CIO posts, launched programs such as multiunion organizing drives that failed.

Auto Dealer Objects To Street Work

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved the site design for the Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth sales lot and office, but set conditions to which Rose objected.

The commission, acting on a staff recommendation, said that Rose must provide the necessary improvements of curbs, gutters and sidewalks in his construction at 123 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Rose objected and said he would appeal to the city council. The commission explained that the Union Oil Co. service station at the same intersection was required to make similar improvements.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

REZONING — Approved the request of the Atlantic and Pacific Building Corps. to rezone nearly five acres on Perry Lane at Lakeville Highway from agricultural to multiple residential and another 15 acres in the same area from agricultural to highway commercial.

USE PERMIT — Approved a use permit requested by Henris Supply Inc. to permit an advertising sign in an industrial zone on Wilson Street near Dewey Street.

Chaos Over Oil Leakage Hits Council

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — Mayor Gerald Firestone's order shutting off discussion of oil drilling went unheeded last night, and a council meeting at this sedate resort city ended in chaos.

Firestone and six councilmen quit the chamber and left it to 300 demonstrators demanding that a municipal wharf be denied to off shore oil drillers.

Members of an organization called GOO—Get Oil Out—jumped over the railing in the council chamber to assume the chairs of the councilmen as they left.

"I never saw anything like it," said City Atty. Stanley Tomlinson. "It was pure chaos, pure anarchy, with everyone yelling at the same time."

The crowd eventually departed after police moved into the chamber. There were no arrests.

GOO is trying to halt offshore oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel. Eruption of an offshore well Jan. 28 created a large oil slick and deposited a layer of tar on Santa Barbara beaches.

GOO members demanded the shutdown of a city-owned wharf used as a base for operations of offshore drilling firms.

They charged that even if the Jan. 28 eruption had not occurred oil drilling operations are turning the wharf into an unsightly area.

The council ordered a check of the safety of the wharf, but declined to close it down until the check could be completed.

that this cold, calculated decision to take the life of Robert F. Kennedy had been arrived at long before.

"This defendant did not act in a rash manner when he fired a bullet into the brain of Sen. Kennedy at the Ambassador Hotel."

Yesterday, Sirhan suddenly became aware no one was going to the witness chair.

"Is this it?" he asked his attorney. "This is it," the lawyer replied.

Mafia Leaders Silent At Probe

MIAMI (AP) — Four Mafia leaders refused today to answer questions asked by a federal grand jury investigating meetings in the Miami area of syndicate bosses.

The jury questioned Meyer Lansky, Vincent Alo, Anthony J. Accardo and Tony Ricci separately for about two hours. Sources reported that the organized crime bosses invoked the 5th Amendment and refused to cooperate with the grand jury.

William Earl, chief of the Justice Department organized crime unit here, and Peter Kosti, assistant U.S. attorney, would not comment on the hearing.

Soviet Bosses Talk With Romanians

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party boss Leonid I. Brezhnev discussed Soviet-Romanian relations and Communist bloc unity today in separate meetings with Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu of Romania.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the meeting with Brezhnev was held in a "comradely" atmosphere, indicating there was less than full agreement on the topics discussed.

Color TV Taken

Burglars who used a pry bar to get into a window at the home of Douglas Ballinger at 50 Makin Grade, Kentfield, Sunday, stole a color television, sheriff's officers said today.

BUDGET

from property to income taxation means a tax cut for many and a boost for some.

"People who live in areas with high school taxes will receive a substantial cut," he said. "In medium areas, it will come out even. In low tax areas they will have a tax increase.

The plan would also impose, for the first time, a withholding system for personal income taxes — voluntary for most but mandatory for those filling out an income tax form for the first time.

Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point, vice chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said prior to the Unruh and Moscone attacks, that the plan was "a grand conglomeration of things. You'll find someone in the state who is against every one of these things individually and when you put them all together, you have enough opposition to kill it.

"It's sort of like Frenchmen's stew," said Teale. "He's put everything in it."

Most Republicans voiced general support — good news for a governor who has 21-19 GOP control of the Senate and a 40-39 edge in the Assembly, where there is one vacancy.

"The governor's tax reform proposal is an attempt to provide a responsible and meaningful remedy for an inequitable and unresponsive tax system," said Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan.

But Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said he plans to go ahead with his completely mandatory withholding plan when his Revenue and Taxation Committee meets April 15.

Bagley, chairman of the committee, noted that is the date income tax returns are due, and said he is inviting taxpayers to attend the session and stage a "withhold-in" to persuade Reagan to adopt the mandatory plan.

Bagley is also the author of much of the rival tax reform program proposed by a commission headed by Republican Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

It calls for withholding, and massive aid to local government — without the mandatory tax cuts requested by Reagan.

Reagan's insistence on clamping spending controls on local government in return for the big state aid drew bitter opposition from the County Supervisors Association, a powerful group in the Capitol.

"If the governor's new tax reform plan were adopted without change, it would destroy California counties as effective local governments within a few years," said William R. MacDougall, general counsel and manager of the association.

He objected to the feature requiring local government to get approval of 60 per cent of the voters before raising taxes more than 10 per cent.

Case May Go To Juvenile Court

Anthony Robert Battaglia, 19, of San Rafael, charged with burglary, yesterday was referred to the probation department for possible transferral to Marin Juvenile Court.

His case was continued until April 23 in Municipal Court.

The youth was arrested Monday when San Rafael police allegedly saw him attempting to enter a car parked on Canal Street.

NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS — This building in Northgate Industrial Park will be the national headquarters for Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. and its affiliate, Mutual Fund Associates, bringing a new half-million dollar annual payroll to Marin. Architect's sketch is by Walter Bearden of South San Francisco.

Teacher Pay Panel Named In Petaluma

The Petaluma Board of Education last night established an eight-member committee to serve as a fact-finding board to speed salary negotiations with the Association of Petaluma Area Teachers.

Supt. Lesly H. Meyer and Matthew Keller, president of the teachers' group, recommended the panel be formed before a deadlock is reached.

Four members of the committee will represent the association while the outer four, representing the board, will include two trustees, Meyer and George W. Caslteberry, business manager.

The board offered the teachers a 5 per cent wage increase and 3 per cent in added medical benefits on March 18. Later meetings of the association indicated the offer would be rejected.

BUILDING — Heard a report from architect Malcolm Reynolds on the construction status of five projects. He said the Cherry Valley School is complete and occupied; the addition to Rancho Cotate High School is 55 per cent complete; the addition to the McDowell School is 45 per cent complete; preliminary drawings for an addition to Kenilworth Junior High School are complete and include six classrooms, a band room and an outside snack shop, and the that preliminary plans for an addition to Rohnert Park Junior High School have been completed for six classrooms, a wood shop, mechanical drawing area and a band room with two ensemble rooms.

CLASS LOADS — Heard a report from a panel of five teachers representing the American Federation of Teachers who said that large class loads and large classes are lowering teaching quality. Meyer said thier request for a five-class load for secondary teachers is in the planning stages as well as plans to reduce class sizes in the elementary schools.

PRINCIPALS — Named two men to principalships. They were Douglas C. Arthur, currently director of instructional services, to Kenilworth Junior High School at a salary of $17,067, and Marvin Brinson, now a principal in the Pacheco School district in Redding, to McDowell School at a salary of $14,717.

READING — Heard a report from Arthur on the success of the reading program funded by the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. He said Petaluma has been more successful than other districts because of smaller class sizes and more experienced teachers.

TENURE — Granted tenure to 41 teachers.

BUS — Heard Meyer report that a school bus was destroyed in an accident yesterday morning. He explained that the gas tank had exploded. Concerned over the explosion, he said officials of the Gillig Bus Co., manufacturers of the bus, and ths insurance company would investigate the cause.

GIFT — Accepted the gift of three tables and eight benches from the McKinley School Parent-Teacher Association for use at the school.

The boll weevil causes an annual loss of about $200 million in cotton and cotton seed.

Planners Clear Way For Insurance Office

Central offices of Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. and its affiliate, Mutual Fund Associates, will move soon to San Rafael's Northgate Industrial Park.

The way was cleared last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission with unanimous approval of zoning the 1.89-acre Robert Busse property on Northgate Drive for administrative-professional use.

Attorney Albert Bianchi, appearing for the affiliated companies, said they will bring a half-million-dollar yearly payroll to Marin with move of their headquarters here. More than 75 persons will be employed in the two offices.

Western Travelers Life now has headquarters in Los Angeles County, while Mutual Fund Associates has its central office in San Francisco. Both are subsidiaries of the Putnam Group insurance and investment companies.

The zoning application was warmly supported by Richard Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau. Bringing such companies to Marin "are the things we've worked for so hard," he told the commission.

Bianchi had but did not show the commission a development plan for the property and an architect's sketch of the proposed building. These will be presented with applications for use permit and architectural approval.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

WARNER COURT — Approved the latest version of an expansion plan by owner Steele Holman in Warner Court, to add four units on a lot now having eight apartment units. Approval was conditioned on new off-street parking being developed on an adjacent corner lot, which will eliminate a swimming pool.

CAR SALES — Approved, 3 to 2, expansion of Ames Ford Sales used car lot at 805 Irwin Street into an adjoining lot, with provision that one of two large signs be removed. Chairman Joseph J. Garbarino and Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole, who dissented, were against requiring the sign removal.

LANDSCAPE CONTRACTOR — Approved a permit for a landscape contractors' yard at 59 Jordan Street by Joseph Gartianne.

FENCING — Denied by unanimous vote application of Richard Isi for permission to remove a fence which had been required by the city to screen a car recovery lot at 125 Jordan Street. Isi claimed the fence made it difficult to prevent thefts from the lot. Commissioner Lawrence Mulryan said part of the fence had been torn down. City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner said Isi would be put on notice to put it up again.

BANK SIGN — After long discussion, granted Bank of Marin a four-by-eight foot free-standing sign at its Northgate office at 25-35 Mitchell Boulevard, on condition the base of the sign be no more than four feet above ground. The bank proposed to put it eight feet above the ground. Commissioner O'Toole dissented, wanting further restrictions.

MASONRY SIGN — Granted Marin Masonry permission for a two-part plywood sign, four by 15 feet, at 750 Lincoln Avenue.

Commissioners Jorgen V. Lunding and John J. Adams were absent.

Ky Schedules Visit To Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky will return to Saigon from Paris next weekend, a government spokesman said today.

Ky left Saigon March 30 for Washington to attend the funeral of Dwight D. Eisenhower and to confer with President Nixon and other U.S. officials.

He went to Paris Monday for contacts with the South Vietnamese delegation to the peace talks. Ky is supervisor of the delegation.

New Aide Appointed By Youth Authority

SACRAMENTO (AP) —Allen F. Breed, director of the California Youth Authority, said today that Richard W. Calvin Jr., 32, of San Diego has been named administrative representative of the CYA board.

Calvin, a Negro, is assistant personnel officer of the Southern California First National Bank. He replaces James Stratten of San Francisco, named by Gov. Ronald Reagan to the Youth Authority Board.

Novato Pool Will Open On April 26

The Novato city swimming pool on the Novato High School campus will be opened to weekend recreational swimming starting April 26, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director.

It will be opened from 12 noon to 1 p.m. for adults only and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. for general admission on Saturdays and Sundays. Lockers are not available until school is out, Adams said.

Permit For Watchman's Trailer Given

The watchman who watches the watchdogs may live in a trailer for a year, the San Rafael Planning Commission decided last night.

Before the commission was the application of Bettie Seiler for permission for a watchman's trailer at the Pink Poodle Doggie Hotel at 58 Gary Place, on the Highway 101 service road near the Pepsi-Cola bottling plant.

The watchman is required, she said, to prevent people from stealing the 20 dogs kept there.

"With all those dogs, you don't have a watchdog?" asked chairman Joseph J. Garbarino.

"All they know is love," replied Mrs. Seiler.

The commission ruled the trailer must be replace by a permanent structure to house the watchman within a year.

Pay Due For Plan

Belvedere parks and recreation commissioners last night voted to recommend that the city pay Berridge, Becker and Julin, San Francisco landscape architects, $450 for completion of the first phase of the Belvedere park and open space study, secretary Wendy Buchen reported.

AN EMERGENCY CALL FOR HELP!

THE HUSKIES OF INTERIOR ALASKA ARE FACING STARVATION

THIS CALL comes from Alaska . . . from the natives who are watching their faithful huskies die of malnutrition because the fish runs in the rivers on which they depend are sapped and depleted—from March until June—by the great salmon fisheries along the coastline and the Russian and Japanese fishing fleets in the Arctic Ocean and the Bering Sea.

Now the interior villages are snowed in, some completely isolated and practically immobilized by paralyzing cold reaching 50 and 60 degrees below zero. Supplies are running low, the dog food long gone, and the natives must ration their own food as they wait out the days. Some dogs have died, many have that lean and hungry look. The time is again at hand for their friends to come to the rescue—to fly tons and tons of dog food to these villages—and save the lives of the huskies! Will you help? Will you send your mite to keep alive some of the finest breed of dog that ever lent its strength and loyalty to mankind?

PLEASE!

The American Anti-Vivisection Society Dept. 13A*
Box 26310, Customs House*

Gentlemen:
Enclosed find my contribution toward feeding the starving huskies in interior Alaska.

Ross School Candidates Mostly Agree On Major Issues Of Day

Five candidates seeking the lone vacancy on the Ross School District board outlined platforms and fielded questions for nearly two hours last night and found themselves in almost total agreement on all the major issues.

Each of the five candidates favored some sort of sex education program; each candidate disapproved of unification, but each also saw some possible value in annexation with the Kentfield School District.

The five candidates are incumbent Van N. Logan, H. Jack Wyman, W. G. Morrisey III, Sally Ann Rakow and Martin Chase.

Each spoke for five minutes outlining his basic platform and then spent the rest of the evening answering the questions of about 50 persons in the Ross School auditorium.

The candidates appeared to be caught off balance only once during the evening and that came on a question concerning possible bussing of minority students into the district.

"Since Ross is basically an all-white community and since most psychologists agree that racial tolerances are decided at an early age, wouldn't it be beneficial to the students here to bring in some minority group students?" an unidentified member of the audience asked.

"I'll answer that bluntly," Chase said. "No! Geographically the students we would have to bus in would probably have to come from Marin City and that is 16 miles away, I think. That's asking for trouble.

"I drive into the city each day and don't find it too rough," the questioner answered.

"Well, its too bad you don't go the other way in the morning," Chase said hotly, "then you could help us bus the students in."

Logan said that he saw "some validity" to the bussing question, but said that to be beneficial, he felt the ratio would have to be 50-50 white to minority, and that that "would be out of the question because of the many students that would have to be bussed in and out each day."

Mrs. Rakow said that her objection to bussing was mostly based on the financial aspects. "It would just cost too much to do it," she said.

"Bussing is not the answer," Wyman said. "I agree that having a natural racial balance would be beneficial, but not a situation created by bussing students in and out."

The candidates spent much of their time discussing questions concerning sex education in the school.

Logan said he favored a sex education but said that the "success of such a program depends upon the amount of support the school board gets from the parents."

He said he favored a program which concentrated on social adjustments in grades one through four, leading into sex education in the higher grades.

"I think its more of having to educate the parents," Chase said, "I think they're the ones not ready."

Mrs. Rakow said that she felt "the school and home have to work together on this type of thing to be effective."

"I think that sex education ought to be taught the natural way — during biology discussions about the body and in other regular classes," Morrisey said. "I object to dragging in outside films." (He made apparent reference to the KQED "Time of Your Life" series which Ross school showed to certain classes last year.)

Wyman said he was concerned about "educating the teachers" to be able to present a sex education program properly.

"Perhaps we need a special education program for them first," he said.

While most of the candidates utilized their five minutes of formal speaking time in outlining their various qualifications, Morrisey proposed some specific changes if elected.

"First, I would propose organizing a standing citizen committee — not a temporary one — to do research on taxes, unification and other topics. This would help the board know more of what the taxpayers wanted," he said.

"Second, I would like to see a greater dissemination of the minutes of the board meeting. I know we all read the newspaper, but newspapers are sometimes 'loose' with the facts and not always accurate," he continued.

"Third, I think board members should attend other school board meetings to see what problems they face.

"I also think we should find a way to take the pulse of the junior high school and high school students to see how they felt about the educational system in Ross."

Morrisey also said he favored setting up a "Ross Educational Film Festival" but didn't explain this idea further.

All of the candidates indicated they felt that annexation with the Kentfield School District was a far better alternative than total unification, but again, each candidate felt that there was little chance for the annexation.

"It's been made pretty clear that they (Kentfield) just don't want us over there," Logan said, and indicated that the current board had made some overtures in that direction but was snubbed.

Widow Better

LONDON (AP) — Baroness Spencer-Churchill spent a comfortable night and "seems a little better," a spokesman at Westminster Hospital said today.

Local Agency Commission Due Annexation Requests

Corte Madera Sanitary District will seek permission to annex 194 parcels of land along Paradise Drive above Paradise Cay at tomorrow night's meeting of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission at the Civic Center.

The parcels total 240 acres in all, on both sides of Paradise Drive, from Robin Drive past Paradise Cay.

Ross Valley Sanitary District will seek annexation of 50 acres of Corte Madera Creek from the Greenbrae interchange of Highway 101 through a portion of Greenbrae Marina units 1 and 2. The area is already being served by the district, and the annexation merely confirms a situation that already exists, said John F. Barrows, commission executive officer.

North Marin County Water District wants to annex Oceana-Marin subdivision 3 at Dillion's Beach, a subdivision of about 646 acres. Barrows will recommend that Oceana-Marin unit 1 with 68 lots also be included in the annexation because otherwise unit 3 would have sewers while unit 1 across the street would have septic tanks.

Novato Sanitary District wants to annex 16 acres east of Sutro Avenue near Dominic Drive, and 3.78 acres at the corner of Tamalpais Avenue and Novato Boulevard.

San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen is attempting to get a home at 185 Oak Drive, Bayside Acres, included within the City of San Rafael. He wants to buy the home, but the city charter requires councilmen to live within the city boundaries.

Stanford War Research Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Stanford University Board of Trustees has asked the Stanford Research Institute (SRI) not to enter any new contracts for chemical and biological warfare research.

The trustees also agreed during an all-day meeting here yesterday to take "vigorous actions" to hear all sides on the question of whether to sever ties with the research institute or amend the relationship.

Board chairman W. Parmer Fuller III read a prepared statement expressing the board's "deep concern to arrive at a fair and responsible resolution of the issues," but he declined to answer any questions.

Financing Of Sewage Plan Denied

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday refused to pledge the county's credit to back financing of a sewage disposal project for the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area, but left the door open for future consideration.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District and the Stinson Beach County Water District asked the supervisors for backing so financing could be done under the 1915 special assessment district bond act.

SEWAGE DUMPING

The Bolinas district is under a cease and desist order from the state Water Quality Control Board to quit dumping sewage in the ocean. Bolinas has a collection system.

Stinson Beach, however, uses septic takns, and is under no pressure to change. A collection system for Stinson Beach has been estimated at $1,272,000. The district has asked Marin Municipal Water District to consider providing sewer service.

Hugh Dougherty, president of the Stinson Beach group, reported the district has applied for a federal grant to help pay the cost of the collection system.

He said while some residents of Stinson Beach feel putting in a sewage treatment plant might attract more residents and they "don't want more people," he predicted a general obligation bond issue would pass.

Ronald D. Schenck, an attorney speaking for the Bolinas group, told the board there would be little risk to the county. If a person did not pay his assessment, the county could sell the property.

Preliminary cost estimates in Bolinas indicate a treatment plant would cost about $500 per lot and Schenck pointed out most Bolinas property is worth more than that.

Stanley J. Fontez, county tax collector-treasurer, painted a less rosy picture.

He said if any person did not pay his share, the county would have to pick up the difference while it would be at least five years before the county could sell the property.

If deliquencies are high, he added, the county could have to levy a tax on all residents to make up the difference.

"You're going to have to come up with some money," he said as he predicted there would be delinquencies.

BETTER RISK

He said there are some delinquent taxpayers in Bolinas now. He added he considers Stinson Beach a better risk because its assessments are higher and deliquency rates lower.

Chairman John F. McInnis flatly opposed committing the county on any project where benefit is purely local and Supervisor William A. Gnoss also spoke against 1915 act bonds.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar, whose district includes Bolinas and Stinson Beach, favored making an exception.

A representative of the Stinson Beach group noted other counties are backing 1915 act bonds and providing a reserve fund.

Baar said, "We just cannot let these people down" and recommended sending the problem back to the staff to consider alternative methods of financing. No one disagreed.

The news from Promontory, Utah, on May 10, 1869, was that "the last rail is laid, the last spike driven. The Pacific railroad is completed."

A CRASH PROGRAM

Computer Switch For Civic Center

"A radical change in direction" of the Marin County Data Processing Department — replacing IBM equipment with Burroughs computers and forgetting RCA — was approved in principle yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Data Processing Chief Joseph B. Leach recommended the "radical change" and was backed by the unanimous assent of all Civic Center department heads who have anything to do with computers.

"We will free ourselves from the frightfully obsolete" data of the county's International Business Machines system, Leach said as he extolled the virtues of the new plan.

The Burroughs Corp. plan, he said, would convert the material in less than a year, much faster than the Radio Corporation of America, whose plan was approved in principle by the board of supervisors last November.

Leach said the Burroughs plan offers total conversion of Marin County programs to Cobol, a computer language, by Jan. 1, but he said he believed it would take a little longer. Other conversion proposals have been from three to five years.

Leach also said the Burroughs computer is faster and less expensive than any competing system.

The reason it was not recommended earlier, he said, was that he figured it would take 10 years to convert old data for use on the new system.

Burroughs, however, came in with a proposal to use only two county employees in the crash conversion program, with the rest of the manpower to come from them.

Leach also reported Burroughs would take the brunt of conversion cost. Besides supplying the manpower, the Burroughs machine would be installed in October but the county would not have to start paying for it until 90 days after conversion.

If it doesn't work, he said, the county would only be out the time of two employees.

The firm has also promised to have the computer ready to handle elections six months prior to the next major election, June 1970.

Speaking on the cost factor, Leach reported using Burroughs would cost either $18,000 to $36,000 a year less than either available alternative, RCA and IBM.

Burroughs will cost $8,500 a month, he said. The current IBM equipment costs $10,500 a month, while a comparable system would cost $11,500, he said.

Leach admitted he felt a kind of "moral responsibility" to RCA since it had been working on the county since the supervisors indicated interest. However, he said the Burroughs plan would have a "dramatic, positive effect" on the whole program.

Chairman John F. McInnis pointed out RCA had assigned people on their own volition.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said, "I would like to see the county schools approached" to explore conversion of its data which goes through the county computer.

The county schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis has requested $25,000 to modernize the system for school payrolls. Byron Mauzy, county schools business assistant, has accused the county of "just patching a system that needs to be completely overhauled."

RCA had offered to modernize the schools payroll data without charge. Burroughs has not made a similar offer, but in a letter to Leach promised assistance in making "the smoothest possible transition" of the schools functions.

Supervisors unanimously agreed that a contract be prepared with Burroughs for consideration next week and that the county schools be approached for inclusion in the switch.

Police Tally Cost On State Campus

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strike at San Francisco State College cost $290,000 in additional pay to the city's police, an estimate showed today.

Sgt. Ford Long, police director of planning and research, said that sum accounted for overtime pay and pay to officers working their regular watches at the campus.

His estimate did not include the pay to patrolmen from other cities, nor the cost of paying California Highway Patrol members who worked on the campus.

Underground Utility Lines For Seadrift

Seadrift subdivision, located on the Stinson Beach sandspit, will form an assessment district to put its utility lines underground.

The Marn County Board of Supervisors yesterday took the legal steps necessary to form the assessment district and set 2:30 p.m. May 20 as the time to hear any protests.

Harold E. Rogers Jr. of Hillsborough, attorney for the district, said the total cost for the undergrounding will come to about $66,000, which will be shared by the 272 lots in the subdivision.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. abstained from voting because his firm, J. Barth and Co., will be involved in the purchase of bonds of the assessment district.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

PARADISE CAY — Approved the final maps of Paradise Cay subdivisions 3 and 4, which have 17 lots and 29 lots respectively. Planner Werner Von Gundell said these are the easternmost tiers and the final units in the Paradise Cay development.

BAY GOVERNMENT — Tabled action on Assembly Bill 711, which would set up a regional government for the Bay Area. The bill has too much opposition in Sacramento and is getting nowhere, said John F. McInnis.

SLIDE REPAIR — Approved a $1,900 loan to the Bolinas Highlands Road Maintenance District to repair a slide which occurred on Altura Avenue, the access road to Bolinas Highlands.

FIXED BASE OPERATOR — Served notice on Navair Corp., one of two fixed base operators at Gnoss Field, that it is not complying with its agreement with the county to construct an operations building. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost will report back in two weeks to see if Navair has taken any action toward compliance.

GRAND JURY — Gave chairman McInnis until next week to draft the county's reply to the 1968 Marin County Grand Jury's final report.

CREEK ENCROACHMENTS — Introduced an ordinance that would regulate encroachments such as piers and floats on lands on the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, and set April 29 as the hearing date on the ordinance.

POLLUTION — Agreed to investigate pollution in Miller Creek following a request from Leslie Larkey, president of a fourth and fifth grade class at Oakview School. The class came to the meeting with their teacher, Saundra Schaulis who also asked the board to suggest what they could do to help eliminate it.

TAX RELIEF — Took no action on a plan which would permit Marin homeowners who suffered more than $1,000 worth of damage during the past winter storms to get a special tax rebate because of the small benefits it would provide.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Heard a report from Arrigoni Jr. that Fairfax is interested in the police-community relations proposal approved last week. The county human rights commission had reported Fairfax and Ross did not respond and Arrigoni said both cities said they had not been contracted. Ross has not had time to study it, he added.

ANGEL ISLAND — Approved resolutions of the county parks and recreation and the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission on state development of Angel Island.

COURT COSTS — Reluctantly approved transferring $14,437 to the court fund for observation requirements after the budgeted $23,000 had been spent. However, supervisors also agreed to write a letter to the judges.

Hot Art Cooled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A fire plug swiped from a street corner has been found—in a living room, displayed as an object of art. Bernard Vercellone, 25, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of grand theft.

Doctors Claimed Using Marijuana

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Half of the young doctors in this city use marijuana as a social drug, asserted a young intern testifying before the state Board of Medical Examiners.

Dr. Andrew R. Weil, 26, said yesterday the drug is not used during duty hours. He said he reached his conclusion after talking to about 100 young medical people.

Weil's testimony was offered in the case of Dr. Robert E. Kramer, 32, a Berkeley physician convicted in 1966 of possession of marijuana.

The four-member board will decide whether his medical license should be revoked, suspended or a term of probation ordered.

Municipal Court Switch For Stinson And Bolinas

Stinson Beach and Bolinas will become part of Marin's Northwestern Judicial District the board of supervisors decided yesterday.

Approval was over objections of the administrative staff and central district municipal court judges who cited recommendations of the 1965 grand jury; costs, and the small number of cases, most of them traffic violations.

Residents of the area petitioned for the change, but Hugh Hougherty of Stinson Beach said yesterday they were mostly from Bolinas and his community was generally unaware of the proposal.

Attorney Ronald D. Schenck pointed out the court is a traveling one and Judge David R. Baty could also hold court in Stinson or Bolinas if he wished.

Baty favored the proposal and suggested the name be changed to the Western Judicial District.

Supervisors asked the staff to prepare an ordinance to make the change.

A Fire Watch Due For West Marin Logging

Marin County supervisors yesterday asked County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom to keep close watch over logging operations on Bolinas Ridge so that all fire and forestry regulations are met in full.

Supervisors William A. Gnoss and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. wanted to go a step further and called for an interim ordinance to control logging immediately. However, Supervisor Louis H Baar and chairman John F. McInnis refused to act on an interim ordinance, calling such action "precipitous." Supervisor Michael Wornum was absent when the discussion took place yesterday afternoon.

Gnoss said he asked for a discussion of logging because of reports that owners of property adjacent to the Ethel Righetti ranch are also considering selling their timber.

Arrigoni acknowledged that no ordinance can stop logging on the Righetti ranch, where sawing has started, but he suggested an interim ordinance to control future logging on the rest of Bolinas ridge. He warned that denuding Bolinas ridge could destroy Bolinas Lagoon through erosion and siltation.

Baar grumbled that the logging question was placed on the agenda without his knowledge. "Since it was in my district, I was surprised to see it on the agenda without even the courtesy of discussing it with me beforehand," said Baar. "Logging is a problem, but how far do we go in preventing a person from using his property," he asked.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the state logging permit issued for the Righetti ranch calls for 80 per cent cutting and 20 per cent of the trees to be left intact, and no trees under 12 inches in diameter will be felled.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning for the county planning department, said extensive logging would endanger both Bolinas Lagoon and Tomales Bay through heavy siltation.

Both Baar and McInnis agreed that the county firemen should help police the Righetti ranch to see that all regulations are met, but they balked at Arrigoni's suggestion for an interim ordinance.

"An interim ordinance will remove with one stroke the rights of property owners," said McInnis. Describing such an ordinance as "-recipitous," McInnis declared: "I will not vote for it until I know a good deal more about it."

Bruce reminded supervisors that a natural resources ordinance to control logging is now undergoing hearings before the county planning commission.

"This will come to us around mid-May," said Arrigoni. "Meantime it may be too late."

At the request of Arrigoni and Gnoss, supervisors asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney and Bruce for detailed reports on what Marin can do to control logging.

Customer May Think Place Is For Birds

Pheasant was a main attraction Monday at the Red Kettle Restaurant in San Rafael — but not on the menu.

For an unknown reason, police said, a man known only to restaurant employees as "Gene" released two of the long-tailed birds inside the premises. It was not known what became of the pheasants or "Gene," who drives a white pickup truck.

Warning Issued On Hamilton Reduction

Hamilton Air Force Base is on the verge of a drastic reduction and outsiders are eyeing it for development, a former county aviation commissioner warned the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Benjamin R. Ostlind, who was not reappointed to the commission in January, said, "I'm absolutely positive this is the exodus of units from Hamilton Air Force Base."

He gave supervisors copies of recent Independent-Journal articles on possible reduction of Hamilton and called quotes by officials a "glorious example of government weasel wording."

He cited an article printed last week which suggested the western region headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command may be moved from Hamilton and noted that none of the officials quoted denied the move.

He contended Hamilton is being looked at strongly, to eliminate its flying function.

Predicting the base's real estate will be sold by the General Services Adminstration, Ostlind told the board two insurance companies have been studying it with a view to buying it, while an international concern has its eye on the mechanical shops.

"I't's just happening faster than we have even dared to look at," he said.

Chairman John F. McInnis suggested the board pursue the matter through legislative and military authorities in Washington and Ostlind said all they would find out is that there are "no plans at this time."

He said the administration is pressuring for the reduction while the military wants to keep the base.

Supervisor Michael Wornum suggested the Association of Bay Area Governments be informed so the group studying regional airports could include Hamilton in its discussions.

Four Hamilton Men Graduate

Among the 79 sergeants recently graduated from the Aerospace Defense Command Noncommissioned Officers Academy at Hamilton Air Force Base were four assigned to the base.

They are M/Sgt. Paul F. Greenwood of 381 Bolling Drive; T/Sgt. Richard Fish of 100 East Kelly Drive; T/Sgt. Alfredo Sandoval of 670 Norman Drive, and T/Sgt. Edward H. Lyons of the barracks, all on the Hamilton base.

Sergeant Greenwood was given special honor as commander of the class' honor flight, an award for the best academic and athletic record during the six-week course.

Permit Is Denied For Used Furniture Store

San Anselmo City Council, hearing opposition from neighbors, last night denied a use permit for a used furniture and appliances store at Saunders Avenue and Center Boulevard.

Overruling the city planning commission, councilmen emphasized that a used furniture store wasn't a permitted use in a neighborhood commercial district.

A petition, signed by 10 residents, opposed the proposed store, saying it would downgrade the residential area.

Attorney James Kennedy of San Rafael representing the applicant, Bartlett C. Tucker, said it wouldn't be detrimental to the neighborhood. He noted that one of the conditions for operation of the store was that Tucker clean up his other store, Veteran's Pickup on San Anselmo Avenue, opposite Saunders Avenue.

One resident said the Saunders Avenue building has been an eyesore for 23 years and was a poor location for any business.

Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro said: "One used furniture store is sufficient for that neighborhood," referring to Tucker's existing store.

Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson said opposition by residents demonstrated that the proposed store would be detrimental to the neighborhood.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

PARKING LOT — At the request of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce approved extending from two to four hours the parking limit at the south end of the Creekside parking lot, along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, opposite Bank Street, and at the Magnolia Avenue lot for a six-month trial period. The new hours will become effective when the lots are posted. Councilmen advised the chamber to notify merchants that the lots are for customer parking, not employee parking.

TRAFFIC CONTROL — Called for bids for a new traffic signal system at the Red Hill Avenue-Sequoia Drive-Greenfield Avenue intersection, which will be actuated by traffic, and to provide a left turn storage lane on Redhill for eastbound traffic to Sequoia, estimated to cost $40,630. Bids also were called on storm drain improvement along Red Hill in connection with the traffic project, estimated to cost $14,380. Councilman Robert M. Scott dissented saying he was reluctant to call for bids until the city had the funds needed. The city has $32,000 available.

LEGISLATION — Opposed AB 374 which would permit policemen and firemen to retire at the age of 50, with Scott abstaining; opposed AB 240 which would prohibit cities from levying business license taxes on for-hire carrier truckers unless they have a place of business in the city; opposed SB 515 which would allow cities to increase from $2,500 to $5,000 the amount that could be spent on a public works project without advertising for bids, and SB 515 which would increase the limit to $10,000, with Councilman James F. Reed advocating going to bid as "protection for the taxpayer;" opposed AB 330 which would permit annexation of uninhabited territory to be prevented by a protest by owners of half the public land or half the pullic land involved, with Scott dissenting, and supported a bill to reimburse cities and counties for providing law enforcement aid during disorders at campuses and universities, with City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel reporting it cost San Anselmo $450 in police overtime to send men to the University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco State College and San Mateo Junior College.

STREET TOUR — Scheduled a field trip starting from city hall at 1:30 p.m. April 20 to look at a group of streets recommended by Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell for acceptance by the city. City Atty. John G. Buresh advised that the council could "forget" the Brown Act, governmg closed council meetings, in this case, but Councilman Reed made a point of inviting the press.

TRAFFIC COMMITTEE — Appointed David Smith, owner of Talampais Electric Co. to the traffic and streets committee and the mayor's committee for financing streets and storm drains.

HIGHWAY PROJECTS — In response to a county inquiry on road projects, supported construction of a road connecting Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael with the Los Ranchitos area as a Highway 101 frontage road. The council also recommended consideration be given to a connector road between Ross Valley and Terra Linda, with Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro abstaining.

HUB DESIGN PAYMENT — Approved the payment of $2,622 to Peat, Marwick and Livingston of San Francisco, traffic consultants, for preliminary design work remodeling the plan for the Hub intersection.

CREEK RIP-RAP — Granted Tamalpais Union High School District permission to place rock rip-rap along a portion of the north bank of Corte Madera Crrk along the baseball field at Sir Francis Drake High School.

PLAY SIGN — Granted the Mountain Play Association permission to place an informational sign at a gasoline service station on Sir Francis Drake listing the dates and title of the play next month.

SIDEYARD VARIANCE — Granted Larry Nilsen a one-foot variance in sideyard setback (seven feet instead of the required eight) at 32 Meadowcroft Drive with Reed dissenting.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until its street tour Apr. 20, with the next regular session at 8 p.m. April 22 at city hall.

Novato Tops Marin In Strep Infections

A total of 97 cases of streptococcus infection, 53 of them in Novato, were reported in Marin County during the week that ended April 5, County Health Officer Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht announced today.

Seven cases of infectious hepatitis were reported and one case each of mumps and German measles.

Hub's Park Plan Called 'Second Rate'

San Anselmo "lost the park" when it included another baseball diamond in its master plan for Memorial Park, landscape architect William L. Kapranos told the San Anselmo City Council last night.

What's left is a "second rate operation," said Kapranos, who later admitted that "perhaps second ratew as not a good word," but the park was "much reduced."

Councilmen had voted in January to have the plan revised to include a third baseball diamond, and last night were reviewing the revised plan.

Kapranos said the effect of adding a third diamond was to squeeze the proposed facilities, tiny tot lot, picnic area and open play into a smaller area.

Councilmen questioned the need for 64 parking spaces shown on the revised plan, and Kapranos said they could be reduced but the land gained there wouldn't be great.

The original plan called for a community center park with a lot of activities, Kapranos said.

Councilmen approved first stage development at the park, a tiny tot area and a wading pool.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested minimal development at the park and a look toward Sorich Ranch, Robson-Harrington Park or other areas for the type of park originally planned for Memorial Park.

The council also expressed interest in abandoning Sonoma Avenue as a roadway and having it become part of the park area. Councilman asked City Atty. John G. Buresh to make a title search to determine ownership of the land underlying Sonoma Avenue.

Teeners Accused Of Gas Stealing

Four San Rafael youths were to appear today before juvenile authorities for allegedly siphoning gasoline from a car parked behind a residence at 355 Canal Street, San Rafael.

The victim, William W. Attinger, said he returned home to the Canal Street address at 7 p.m. Sunday and found two of the suspects, one 15 and the other 17, siphoning gas from his car.

Attinger said he yelled and the two fled in another car occupied by the other two youths. The four appeared minutes later at San Rafael police headquarters and denied they were siphoning gas, but gave conflicting stories on the reason for their presence at 355 Canal Street, according to police.

Five Ballots Fail To Produce A New Mayor For San Anselmo

San Anselmo City Council, hopelessly deadlocked 2-2, failed five times last night to elect a 1969 mayor.

City Atty. John G. Buresh explained that by law Duane C. Ragan would continue to serve as mayor until a new mayor is elected.

Two councilmen wanted Mayor Ragan re-elected and two wanted the post to go to Councilman Robert M. Scott and Ragan consistently abstained.

"I refuse to vote for myself. I don't thank any nominee should vote for himself," Ragan said.

The lineup was Councilmen James F. Reed and Kenneth L. Anderson backing Ragan, and Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Scott, backing Scott.

Controversy centered over whether the post of mayor should be rotated every year, with Capurro contending this has been the practice.

Reed said the system hasn't always been followed and that former Mayor Arthur W. Smith served several terms in a row.

"That was with unanimous support of the council, and that's the only time I feel it should be done," Capurro replied.

Beofre the balloting, Capurro urged "avoiding a breakup of this council into voting blocs." The rotation system "has had a good effect in that it avoids jealousies and cliques," he said.

Capurro said, "I will remind you, Mr. Mayor, that before you and Mr. Scott were sworn into office, you both agreed with Art Smith and me to continue this practice and on several later occasions, particularly when you were anxious about support for yourself, you agreed to abide by it. As a result the agreed sequence was followed and Mr. (John M.) Reichmuth, Mr. Smith and finally you were unanimously elected. You know that the next man whom we agreed to elect is Mr. Scott."

Capurro said there had been pressures on Ragan to go back on that pledge and that has even hinted that he likes being mayor and would like to serve a second term.

He urged Ragan not to "publicly commit a breach of faith" and urged him to support Scott for mayor. Capurro said that Ragan has done a good job as mayor, but must move aside as others have done before him.

Reed said the rotation system might have merit, but he didn't think "asking the mayor to serve two terms would create acrimony" on the council.

Capurro moved for the election of Scott, but it was defeated 3-1 with Reed, Anderson and Scott, himself, opposing and Ragan abstaining.

Then Reed moved for the election of Ragan, and it was deadlock 2-2, with Reed and Anderson voting yes and Capurro and Scott no and Ragan abstaining.

Then a motion by Scott to elect Capurro resulted in another 2-2 deadlock by the same lineup, Scott this time voting for himself.

At this point the council voted 3-2 with Capurro and Scott dissenting to switch from the nomination procedure to a roll call vote, each man naming a choice for mayor. The result was the same lineup, two for Regan and two for Scott.

Then Ragan, in an unusual move, opened the meeting to comment from the audience, and two residents backed the rotation system and Scott for mayor, comments that were greeted with some applause.

Reed contended that Ragan has more time to give to city affairs than Scott, but when another vote was taken the lineup was the same.

Anderson said the only way the deadlock would be broken would be "for Duane Ragan to vote."

The mayor replied. "Duane Ragan will not vote for himself."

After the council had gone 35 minutes without a decision, it came to its first unanimous vote, a vote to postpone the election until its April 22 meeting.

A Setback For Daley Machine

CHICAGO (UPI)—A young, liberal independent Democrat backed by state Treasurer Adlai Stevenson III and other reform elements, has made good by a narrow margin his challenge to Mayor Richard J. Daley's powerful political machine.

William S. Singer, 28, yesterday won a 203-vote victory over James P. Gaughan to become alderman for the city's 44th Ward.

The final, unofficial tally was 11,983 for Singer, 11,780 for Gaughan in the runoff election between the two top finishers in a March 11 race.

Marijuana Cake Hearing Slated

A preliminary hearing for two of the five persons arrested March 21 in San Rafael at a birthday party featuring a cake allegedly flavored with marijuana was set yesterday for May 8 in Marin Municipal Court.

Pamela Ann Sickles, 18, of Portola Valley, and Jerry Leonard Lane, 28, of Larkspur, are accused of marijuana possession.

Miss Sickles's case was also referred to the probation department for possible transferral to Juvenile Court.

The other defendants in the case, Robert Patrick Hallatt, 18, Michael Milton Huffman, 18, both of San Rafael, and Anthony George Evans, 19, of Mill Valley, are to enter pleas March 16.

Century-Old Building Zone Change Denied

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night denied Charles McLeran's request for a zone change which would have allowed him to open an antique shop and attorney's office in the 100-year-old Murray residence at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane.

Rezoning would also have permitted McLeran, of 700 Goodhill Road, Kentfield, to build four small shops on the three parcels of land.

The commission, voting unanimously, said there was no justification for the request to rezone from residential to commercial.

Twenty property owners from the neighborhood protested the proposal mainly on the basis that it would increase traffic, the commission secretary reported.

Mrs. William V. Glascock of 27 Estelle Avenue asked the commission if the City of Larkspur and Marin County had done anything to set up a fund to maintain the Murray house and create a park but she received no answer to her question.

The commission also recommended to the city council that Rockridge Road in Murray Park be abandoned since the undeveloped road serves no purpose.

A variance sought by Dr. Louis J. Geissberger to permit him to include a pharmacy, optician's office and dental laboratory in his medical building at 1275 South Eliseo Drive was withdrawn.

Bales Plans Review Of Nonsupport Rules

Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales declared last night that investigations of fathers who won't support their children are required by law and must be continued, but he agreed to review some of the forms used in the citations to see if they can be made less irritating.

He spoke to the citizens task force which is studying problems of aid to families with dependent children at a meeting held at the Civic Center. Many mothers have complained that investigation procedures are humiliating and degrading.

Betty Presley, director of the County Department of Public Social Services, said that eligibility workers in the department will also increase efforts to acquaint mothers with legal procedures to be faced if nonsupporting fathers are investigated.

The task force also:

FAMILY COURT — Approved in principle a bill (SB-252) by Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, which would establish a family court in each county.

STATE AID —Endorsed a bill (SB-781) by Sen. Alfred Alquist, D-San Jose, which would increase state participation in AFDC grants.

Cotati School Panel To Vote New Member

Cotati School District trustees last night set a special meeting for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to fill a board vacancy created by the resignation of Robert W. Waldron in February.

The board has received nominations from various school partent-teacher associations and an additional four names from the citizen's advisory committee.

The committee nominated two of its members, John Smuck and James Uren, and Andrew Camozzi of Cotati and Reed Parker of Rohnert Park.

In resigning from the board after 13 years, Waldron recommended that his replacement come from the "A" section of Rohnert Park so the city might be better represented on the board.

The Cotati school District board also:

PAGE SCHOOL—Heard a report that construction is going well on the Thomas Page School, scheduled to open in September. A committee of members of the citizen's advisory committee and Native Daughters of the Golden West was assigned to plan a dedication ceremony.

ROOF — Heard a report that roof and ceiling repairs at the Cotati School have been completed and that classes, which had shifted into the auditorium, have returned to classrooms.

HIRED — Employed as unassigned teachers Marjorie Bascherini, Louise Fraley and Elsi Dembowsky. Contracts setting salaries have not been prepared.

Open Houses — Approved the schedule of open houses for Public Schools Week. The schedule is Cotati School, April 18, starting with a pot luck supper at 6 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Building; John Reed School, April 21 from 7 to 8 p.m., and Waldo Rohnert School, April 23 from 7 to 8 p.m.

Wife Beating Case In Court

James Paul Leiting, 25, of Fairfax, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two counts of felony wife beating. The alleged offenses took place on Feb. 5 and last Saturday.

His wife, Sheila Ann, told police that she had suffered a broken jaw and ribs as a result of the beatings.

Leiting's case was continued until April 22.

Fray, High-Speed Chase Result In Jailing

Alfred Anthony Robles, 36, of Sonoma, was booked at Marin County Jail today on suspicion of reckless driving and assault and battery following an altercation and high speed chase on Manuel Frietas Parkway, San Rafael police reported.

Officer Roger Downward said he heard screams coming from near two cars halted at a stop sign on the parkway while he was on patrol in Terra Linda at 3 a.m.

Cecille Paradis of 65 Esmeyer Drive told Downward that Robles had bumped her car from behind twice on the parkway, then got out of his car and hit her. She was bleeding from the mouth, the officer reported.

While Downward was questioning the victim, Robles got back in his car and took off down the parkway at 70 miles per hour, police said. He was apprehended when he turned off into a deadend street, Downward reported.

Robles was held in lieu of $2,500 to appear in Marin County Municipal Court today.

Pleads Guilty To Reduced Charge

Anthony Alexander Burgess, 20, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to the lesser charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He had originally been charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl.

Burgess was arrested March 9 after the girl's father told police he found his daughter in the youth's apartment.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set sentencing for April 29.

Mill Valleyan Is Injured In Wreck

Daniel C. Johnson, 29, of 7 Hollyhock Court, Mill Valley, was treated for neck pains at Marin General Hospital yesterday after a car-truck collision on Shoreline Highway near Tennessee Valley Road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Johnson's car was stopped in traffic at 6:05 p.m. when it was hit from the rear by a truck driven by Richard L. Slate, 31, of South San Francisco.

Building In Petaluma Is High On List

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday sent the capital improvement program for 1969-1975 to the county planning commission with the recommendation that the construction of a county building in Petaluma be given high priority.

No dollar cost was put on Petaluma building since it wasn't included in the capital improvement program. Total program cost was $5,227,000.

David L. Nichols, county administrator, in preparing the program had recommended the Petaluma building not be included in the plans. He said the need for additional county space is not great enough to justify the construction of a new building.

The county owns 22 per cent of the Petaluma City Hall where it houses the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court and several offices.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. told the supervisors that city offices are already tight for space and that the city would like to purchase the county section of the building as soon as possible.

Meyer said that while the county planning commission is reviewing the program, the county building committee will be meeting with the civic center committee of city council to get plans under way.

Sonoma Supervisors' Salary Plan Attacked

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday heard a series of citizens strongly protest their proposed $2,800 salary increase, but most supervisors maintained they were worth at least that much.

The grand jury two weeks ago recommended the board salary be raised from $13,200 to $16,000 effective January 1971. The board must approve its own raise and recommend that the state Legislature approve it.

Oscar Peterson, president of the Sonoma County Taxpayers Association, called the increase a breach of faith from the last election.

"A contract is a contract," he said. "You were elected at one salary and should stay there until the next election."

He said salary increases should be granted only when the electorate has the right to chose the conditions.

George Crane, president of the Sonoma County Irate Taxpayers, said such government salary increases are a cause of inflation. "Are you proving your worth?" he asked the board. "You're producing only more taxes for the citizens."

Noting that Sonoma is the only county in the state with full-time supervisors, Crane suggested that county government needed revamping.

William B. Dillon of Santa Rosa, taking a positive approach, said that if the increases are granted, he would like the voters to be assured that it would result in increased efficiency in the county departments.

"We want to know that you earn your keep by future performances," Dillon said.

George Pannett of Santa Rosa, protested the raise saying the board received a 32 per cent increase in January when it was raised from $10,000 to $13,200. "Now you want a 21 per cent increase — I say the grand jury recommendation was wrong," he said.

Supervisor Ignacio A. Vella of Sonoma said he doubted Pannett's integrity and said his protest was because the supervisors, sitting as the board of equalization, voted against him on a tax question.

Pannett called Vella's attack arrogant and called the supervisors "tin Gods" who could serve the people better.

Supervisor Robert Theiller of Sebastopol said, "I'm worth more than $16,000, but if my constituents say no, I'll vote against the raise"

He said the supervisors, as the county executives, make less than most department heads they direct.

"The citizens are better off with full-time supervisors and should pay the price," Theiller said.

Vella said he felt he was worthy of $16,000 and Supervisor Arthur R. Ruonavaara of Healdsburg said he felt the salary "would not be out of line."

Chairman Leigh S. Shoemaker of Petaluma said that while he is leaving office in January, he felt the raise was justified. Supervisor Neade Nordyke of Santa Rosa made no comments.

The board will continue receiving written comments on the increase and make a decision at 3 p.m. April 22.

Weapons, Drug Suspect Missing

One of two men arrested by California Highway Patrol officers Saturday on suspicion of having drugs and guns failed to appear in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Hadden W. Roth issued a bench warrant with bail set at $5,000 for George Patrick Lake, 31, of Geyserville. Lake was free on $2,500 bail.

His companion, John Bonner Davison, 33, also of Geyserville, was arraigned on charges of possessing methedrine and a sawed-off shot gun.

Lake is charged with having the same drug as well as a concealed weapon without a license.

Richter Critical Of Quake Seers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Seismologist Charles F. Richter, upset over predictions of a devastating earthquake in California, says those who call the hour and minute are "psychopathic, not psychic."

It requires little or no brains to forecast "there is going to be a great earthquake," Richter said yesterday, because it is safe to say Los Angeles will be "violently shaken in the near future."

But he asked, "What is the near future?"

Richter, who developed the Richter Scale to measure the magnitude of quakes, reiterated he did not foresee the possibility of being able to accurately predict the location and time of earthquakes.

SAUSALITO ACTION

Ferries Are Out, But Houseboats In

Ferries are out; houseboats and yacht clubs are in — but under definite restrictions, the Sausalito City Council decided last night.

The council accepted two planning commission recommendations but rejected a thrid in approving first reading of zoning amendments setting uses allowed in the central waterfront district.

The council agreed to omit all ferries from the list of allowed uses, and made yacht clubs a conditional use requiring a use permit, both actions recommended by the commission.

But the council retained a requirement that houseboats meet building code regulations, while the commission had recommended easing requirements.

The amendments will control development of the central waterfront until adoption of the city's central waterfront general plan, approximately four nonths away, according to City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

The council made one other major change, rezoning Caledonia Street from general to neighborhood commercial. The area is scheduled for a new district, "residential commercial," in the forthcoming plan by consultant William Spangle and Associates.

The council informally approved a new fire zoning map which reduced the proposed Fire Zone 1 — the strictest zone — to the heart of the downtown area, but postponed formal action until City Atty. Leland H. Jordan can rewrite the enabling section so future changes can be made by resolution instead of ordinance amendements.

The new fire zone will include the wall-to-wall commercial development along Bridgeway downtown. An earlier proposal including a greater area in Fire Zone 1 drew protests from property owners and merchants.

A few businessmen objected again last night that the zone, which requires outside walls to give four-hour fire protection, was too strict.

William E. Anderson of the Berkeley Building Inspection Department explained operation of the fire zone laws. Nonconforming buildings can do no substantial remodeling unless the entire building is brought up to code, he said. He said most of Sausalito's downtown buildings are wood frame or unprotected steel frame buildings which will not meet the requirements of the zone.

William L. Hynes, city building inspector, objects to the fire zone proposal, though Fire Chief Charles E. Masten favored it. Hynes said building costs are approaching the catastrophic stage and said stringent fire zoning will tend to "perpetuate the slums" rather than encourage improvement.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

SIDEWALK— Approved building a concrete sidewalk rather than a gravel one along the bay shore in the Bridgeway widening project for an estimated $1,650 extra cost. Loose gravel would wash away in storms and high tides, Norman Wohlschlaeger, city engineer, said.

PAINTING — Approved a $900 contract to Larry Gates to paint the walls and ceiling at the city library. Gates was low among four bidders. The council rejected bids to paint built-in shelves at the library, for which Gates was also low bidder at $1,250.

PARKING — Gave first reading to two ordinances increasing parking rates in City Lot 3 and on street meters and establishing free residents' parking in Lots 1 and 4.

LIBRARY — Authorized the library staff to use a room behind the council chamber for book sorting and mending.

PARKING SPACES — Approved 12-minute parking spaces near city hall and near the Village Fair Center for stop-and-run shoppers.

EASEMENT — Abandoned a sewer and storm drain easement in Marinship, unused for several years.

NO-PARKING — Told Jordan to prepare an ordinance banning parking on Girard Avenue at Locust Road so emergency vehicles can get through the intersection.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Tuesday in memory of Everett J. Jennings, retired Golden Gate Bridge lieutenant.

Marin County Parks and Recreation commissioners will celebrate the panel's 10th anniversary with a luau dinner at Tiburon Tommie's tomorrow night.

Helen Newman and Melton Ferris are in charge of dinner arrangements. The celebration starts at 7 o'clock with an "attitude re-adjustment hour," according to Mrs. Newman.

Present commissioners, past commissioners, several state officials, and staff members, and their spouses will attend.

Mrs. Newman is the only current commissioner who was on the original commission, which held its first meeting on Feb. 20, 1959.

New Fairfax Mayor Drops Shut Session

Francis J. O'Connell took his first official action as mayor of Fairfax yesterday, rescinding the last official action of the outgoing mayor, Robert R. Souza.

O'Connell canceled a closed session scheduled by Souza for last night after he learned it was of questionable legality since it had been announced three hours short of the required 24-hour notice.

O'Connell said he did not realize Monday night that the meeting might be illegal because the annoucement followed by minutes his election as mayor. Additionally, he said, he did not know proper notification hadn't been given earlier.

The meeting has not been rescheduled. O'Connell said he wanted to find out exactly why the meeting was asked. "I don't know any more about it than you do," he told the Independent-Journal.

Souza said Monday night the meeting was to hear charges against an employee of the police department and an employee of the fire department.

The name National Guard was first used in 1824 when the New York militia, 7th Regiment, acted as honor guard for Marquis de Lafayette's visit to the United States. By 1896 most states had adopted the name.

Canal Survey Funding Bill Put Into Hopper

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to relieve the City of San Rafael of paying $60,000 to have San Rafael Canal surveyed was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. (See Sacremento Summary, page 48.)

The bill asks that $60,000 be appropriated immediately to pay for the survey, but Bagley said that sum would probably be cut to about $15,000, a figure he called "much more in line."

The survey was required in a 1967 bill by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

That bill was designed primarily to trade an area of the old canal bed which the State Lands Commission staff claimed ran through the middle of the city's corporation yard on Francisco Boulevard for an equal amount along the side of the property.

The survey requirement, with a two-year time limit, was tacked on as a condition of the trade.

Dan Coleman Associates of San Rafael estimated they could do the survey for not more than $20,000, but the commission staff which priced its survey at $60,000, said the private survey would not be acceptable. The city has not been able to get a satisfactory reason for the $40,000 difference in cost.

There is general agreement the survey is necessary to determine actual boundary line of the old channel bed because the lands commission staff claims there are at least 60 infringements on the bed which the state owns.

However, there is some doubt lines could be established 70 years after the canal was realigned.

San Rafael has also been discussing the possiblity of trading the existing canal which it owns to the state for all of the property which the state claims it owns. No official action has been taken on that proposal.

Terra Linda Youth To Face Pot Charge

Michael John Holloman, 19, of Terra Linda, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of possessing marijuana in a car on Lucas Valley Road Jan. 3.

Holloman was ordered to appear in court Monday for arraignment.

U.C. Campus In North Bay Urged Again

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A resolution urging the University of California Board of Regents to make development of a North Bay campus "an immediate subject of inquiry" was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Similar legislation has been defeated in past years because of opposition by the university, but Bagley's staff reported that the university apparently has withdrawn its opposition this year, and even may work for its passage this time.

The university's past opposition reportedly was based on its fear that such legislation could upset delicate negotiations it was conducting for land in southern Sonoma County, but those negotiations apparently were unsuccessful.

The resolution did not say where the proposed new campus should go, thus it presumably included all of the so-called North Bay counties — Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano.

San Rafael Woman Injured In Car Skid

Eileen C. Kenyon, 48, of 101 Woodland Avenue was treated at Marin General Hospital today for injuries suffered when her car skidded and hit a power pole on B Street at Woodland Avenue shortly before midnight, San Rafael police reported.

She suffered fractures of the nose and left hand and various cuts and bruises, hospital officials said.

BART Aid Bill Signed By Governor

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan rarely signs a bill into law without a joke or quip. Yesterday and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District were no exception.

After getting the ballpoint pens to work finally, the Republican chief executive signed a measure imposing an increased local sales tax to finance completion of the 75-mile San Francisco region transit system.

The rail line is partly completed and contractors recently installed the final section of underwater tube linking San Francisco and Oakland.

Reagan turned to BART officials and grinned.

"Is it true they haven't found a way to pump the tube out and we'll have to go through in minisubs?" he jibed.

There was no audible reply. The district officials and San Francisco Bay region legislators who backed the bill stood by happily clutching their souvenir ballpoint pens. Reagan used 16 of the pens to sign the measure sponsored by Republican Sen. Lewis F. Sherman of Berkeley.

Bill Sets Up Transfer For Bolinas Harbor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bolinas Lagoon, the subject of bitter controversy for several years, would be transferred from the Bolinas Harbor District to the County of Marin by a bill introduced yesterday in the Legislature.

The bill, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was requested last month by the Marin County Board of Supervisors after voters in the district balloted, 313 to 266, to dissolve the district.

If Bagley's bill passed and became law, the lagoon would not be transferred to the county until 60 days after the final adjournment of the Legislature, thus not until sometime late in the fall. Until then, the harbor district would continue in existence.

The lagoon was granted to the harbor district by the state in 1959, and became the center of controversy when the harbor district drew plans for extensive development of the lagoon and its shoreline. Conservationists argued that the development would destroy the lagoon's ecology.

Grocery Clerk Says Youth Stole Foods

Tim Charles Maisak, 20, with an address in San Francisco and another at 79 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested today and booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of sholigting at the Mayfair Market, police reported.

Maisak was stopped at midnight outside the market at 340 3rd Street by clerk Donald J. Rubke and accused of taking bologna, swiss cheese and salami, police said.

Kindergarten Funds Asked By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to enrich state support of kindergarten classes throughout the state at a cost of $18 million was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

The additional $30 in state aid for each pupil a year would provide kindergarten pupils with the same level of state aid now provided to the primary grades, McCarthy's office said.

The aid would be effective next fiscal year.

The same increase in state aid would be provided in a bill by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

McCarthy also introduced the following bills:

SEWAGE — Would allow the state to help finance construction of a sewage system in the Stinson Beach area on the ground that Stinson Beach State Park would contribute "an undue burden" on a local community system.

ALCOHOL — Would eliminate restrictions on how close liquor stores may locate near schools and churches. The bill was asked by the California Retailers Association.

HANDICAPPED — Would include physically handicapped and mentally retarded persons between 21 and 25 years of age among those eligible to use special development centers operated by school districts or county superintendents of schools.

SCHOOL NURSES — Would require establishment in the state Department of Education of a school nursing consultant service to help local school districts upgrade their school nursing services in elementary and secondary schools, and appropriates $20,000 for the service next fiscal year.

HOUSING — Would create a California Residential Building Board of Trustees to promote and upgrade residential housing, and allow the proposed board to impose a tax of up to .1 per cent on the value of home construction and improvement to operate the board.

SHERIFFS — Would authorize sheriffs to charge a fee sufficient to cover the cost of furnishing reports on private investigators and adjusters.

Drivers May Get Choice On Testing

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to give drivers arrested on suspicion of being drunk a choice among the three required chemical tests was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

The arresting officer, before administering any chemical test to the driver, would have to advise him that he had a choice of either a blood, urine or breath test. The results of a chemical test to determine the alcohol content of blood would be inadmissable in court unless the officer had advised the suspect of his right to a choice.

Under the state's 1967 "implied consent" law, all drivers were declared to have implied their consent to a test of the amount of alcohol in their blood. Refusal to consent to a test means automatic revocation of a driver's license.

Property Tax Rebate Revisions Proposed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation requiring the state to pay the full cost of having counties process the $70 rebate due homeowners on their 1968-69 property taxes has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The rebate was approved by voters in November's Proposition 1-A, and companion legislation last year provided that the state would pay counties 50 cents for each approved application for the rebate.

Bagley's bill would raise the amount to 90 cents, which his office reported is a more realistic figure for the actual cost to the counties of processing the applications.

In Marin, with about 35,000 homeowners eligible for rebates, the bill could add $14,000 to the $17,500 the county expected from last year's bill. Without the Bagley bill, the cost would have to be paid from local property taxes.

The bill also would delete the requirement that homeowners file each year for the $750 exemption on property taxes. This exemption also was part of Proposition 1-A.

Instead, homeowners would have to refile only if there were a change in the use of a home or if there were a change in ownership.

An urgency measure, the bill would be effective immediately if passed and signed into law. Thus, the counties could be paid at the 90-cent rate for each application when the rebates are made in June.

Applications for the rebates are due in the county assessor's office at the Civic Center Tuesday.

Bagley also introduced the following bills:

BAIL — Would authorize a court, with the concurrence of the county board of supervisors, to employ an investigative staff to determine whether defendants should be released on their own recognizance instead of being held in jail on bail. The state would guarantee to pay any cost of the program to the county, after deduction of the saving in jail costs.

BRIDGE — A skeleton bill relating to the act that created the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District. It was introduced in case legislation affecting the district is needed at a later date, Bagley's staff said. Yesterday was the deadline to introduce bills.

TAXES — Would allow county tax collectors to recover the cost of legal action to collect taxes on unsecured property from the taxpayer.

PARRENTS — Would require schools to use the surname of a child as used on the document used to prove his age upon entering school, and require schools to give each child's parent or legal guardian at their request the same information on academic performance given the parent or guardian having custody of the pupil. Both requirements were designed to meet the problems of separated parents without custody of their children.

SONOMA—Changes the name of the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District to the Sonoma County Water Agency, and increases the maximum permissible interest rate on district bonds from 5 to 6 per cent.

Four Burglaries In San Rafael

Four burglaries were reported yesterday in San Rafael, according to the police department.

Salvadore Cardenas Flores of 633 Fifth Avenue, Room 4, reported the theft of a $100 portable television and a $75 portable AM-FM radio which occurred Monday night.

A portable AM-FM radio worth $100 was stolen from the bathroom of the home of John E. Slovek of 23 Bradclift Court yesterday.

A pair of $100 drapes was stolen from the apartment of David A. Krieg of 331 D Street while he was out of town between Sunday and yesterday.

A burglar stole a change purse with $2 in change from the kitchen of the home of Winifred E. Hall of 116 Southern Heights Boulevard yesterday.

Saddles Stolen From Wornum

Three burglaries were reported to Mill Valley police yesterday.

Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum of 561 Summit Avenue told police someone took two English saddles with pads and a bridle with a silver bit, valued at $125 from his stable tack room between 6 p.m. Monday and 5 p.m. yesterday.

Burglars took $10 in cash from the Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church foyer, 3 Oakdale Avenue, between Sunday and yesterday

Norton Ross Hastings of 100 Quarry Road said someone took several items including firearms and canned food from his home between 2:40 p.m. Friday and 6:25 p.m. Sunday.

Bagley Asks Tightening Of Brown Act

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to put tiger's teeth in the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act, was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

"Knowing violation" of the act would be "misconduct in office" under the legislation, and upon a finding by the attorney general that there was sufficient cause for legal action, a Superi Court trial could be held to remove officials from office for attending an illegally closed meeting.

The Brown Act permits closed meetings to hire or fire a public employee or officer, or to hear charges against a public employee or officer.

Violation of the act, not uncommon, now ispunishable only as a misdemeanor, but this penalty apparently never has been used successfully.

Bagley also introduced a bill to repeal the exemptions entitling 60 state agencies to bar access to some of their public records. Instead, each agency would have to prove to the Legislature that its records needed to be exempt from public access.

The bill, an extension of Bagley's Public Records Act of 1968, would bring state practice into conformity with federal law.

Jupiter's Dozen Satellites Pose Puzzles With Sizes, Movements

Jupiter has 12 satellites. Four of them are very large and the other eight are extremely small. The four larger ones were discovered by Galileo in 1610, using a telescope he had just made. Telescopes were made a year or two before that but, strangely, Galileo seems to have been the first to recognize its potential as an astronomical instrument.

The four large moons, known as the Galilean satellites, are numbered 1, 2, 3 and 4, outward from the planet — but the others are numbered in the order of their discovery. Thus the number 5 satellite is the closest one to Jupiter.

Of the four large moons two are near the size of our moon and the other two are over 3,500 miles in diameter, even bigger than Mercury. They are large enough to cause sizable perturbations of the other moons, which helps to determine the mass of each one.

An interesting happening occurred in 1675 when a Danish astronomer, Olaus Roemer was checking on the eclipses of Jupiter's satellites. He was bothered by the fact that the eclipses were sometimes late and sometimes early, according to the schedules he had computed. He decided that this was due to the differences in the distance between Jupiter and earth at different times.

Sometimes both were on the same side of the sun and 6 months later on opposite sides, making a difference of 184 million miles in the distance traveled by the light from the planet — or about one second's difference.

The four outer moons move in retrograde direction and it is thought that maybe they were once asteroids that were captured by the powerful gravitation of Jupiter.

Ross To Tackle Animal Control Problem Again

Ross Town Council will tackle the controversial question of a tougher animal control ordinance in Marin County at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow at city hall.

The council last December considered a stronger ordinance to control dogs running loose but took no action. Councilman Natalie G. Lewis brought the matter up again last month, however, reporting she had been besieged by complaints about dogs in Ross.

The council will meet with Thomas P. Campanella, assistant county administrator, to discuss a proposal for a countywide animal control ordinance.

The council will also begin work on proposed police and fire budgets, act on the resignation of councilman Jack Carney and consider ordinances on controlling home operated businesses in the town and authorizing the council to create stop intersections by resolution.

Drug Possession Charges Dropped

Public Agency Strikes Rash Is Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Because American society tends to "reward overt action and violence," a rash of strikes by public employees can be expected, according to a top labor mediator,

Ronald Haughton, who came to San Francisco to help settle the strike at San Francisco State College, told an industrial relations group yesterday binding compulsory arbitration may be the only way to settle both strikes by public employees and "ghetto - versus - establishment disputes." Haughton said walkout by public employees rose from 28 in 1962 to over 300 in 1967.

He said Detroit Negroes weren't paid much attention until after the middle part of the city had been burned out and 43 persons had been killed.

"And Negroes wouldn't be sitting at lunch counters in the South today if they hadn't violated trespass laws. We react to pressure at every level.

"Inexperienced people like the students at San Francisco State College simply don't know how to settle. They may be nearly all the way home and don't know when to settle. They are so worried about going back to their inexperienced constituencies without the whole package that they hold out even when they're ahead."

Car Is Recovered

Artificial Heart Sparks A Furor

HOUSTON (UPI)—The first human to be given a heart made by a fellow human died yesterday. But the verdict on the artificial heart—which kept him alive until a human donor could be found — remained in doubt.

Haskell Karp, 47, of Skokie, Ill., lived twice as long with the artificial heart as with the transplanted organ he received Monday morning.

But the man-made device which its designer said could have prolonged Karp's life for up to six months is coming under attack from the National Heart Institute and Dr. Denton A. Cooley's superiors in Houston.

The preliminary cause of Karp's death was given as rejection complicated by pneumonia and kidney failure but a complete autopsy was scheduled.

Both the NHI and the Baylor school staff have questioned whether Cooley and his helper Dr. Domingo Liotta failed to follow prescribed medical guidelines in using the artificial heart which they had developed.

Dr. Frank Hastings of the NHI in Bethesda, Md., said yesterday any medical innovation such as an artificial heart developed in whole or in part by institute funds must go through rigorous tests and evaluations by persons other than the developer before it can be used.

The institute is very strict on this edict, Hastings said, because there appears to be a tendency for doctors to use these innovations immediately after development.

The aim of the institute, Hastings said, was to safeguard the patient.

And, Dr. Theodore Cooper, director of NHI, said he had written Dr. Michael DeBakey, president of the Baylor school asking for a report on the heart used in Karp. He said he had no evidence at this time that any violation of the guidelines had occurred, and his request for a report was routine procedure.

Dr. DeBakey also established a set of guidelines for members of his staff which, it is being claimed, Cooley and Liotta violated.

DeBakey's rules prohibit staff members from using an experimental device in surgery without the approval of a committee of Baylor doctors.

The artificial heart implanted in Karp was never presented to such a committee and Liotta said DeBakey was not even aware the device existed until it was placed into Karp.

Karp lived 63 hours with the artificial heart and 30 hours and 20 minutes with the transplanted heart of Mrs. Barbara Ewan, a Lawrence, Mass., housewife.

Schools Will Be Used For Registration

Voter registration service for the $2.1 million bond election in the San Rafael Elementary School District June 10 will be provided at all schools in the district.

Jack Kirby, director of administrative services for San Rafael schools, said secretaries in each school have been deputized and will serve as registrars when county registrars are not scheduled to appear.

Persons who must register include those who have moved and changed precincts, those who did not vote in the November election and new residents of the state and county. The deadline for registration is April 17.

The schools schedule is, Bahia Vista School, April 12, 9 a.m. to noon; Coleman School, April 12, 1 to 4 p.m.; Gallinas School, April 15, 7 to 9 p.m.; Glenwood School, April 10, 7 to 9 p.m. and April 12, 9 to noon; Oliver Hartzell School, April 15 and 16, 7 to 9 p.m.

Also, Laurel Dell Intermediate School, April 12, 9 to noon; Laurel Dell Primary School, April 9, 7 to 9 p.m.; John MacPhail School, April 12, 9 to noon and April 17, 7 to 9 p.m.; San Pedro School, April 10, 7 to 9 p.m.; Short School, April 16, 7 to 9 p.m.; Sun Valley School, April 12, 9 to noon and April 15, 7 to 9 p.m., and West End School, April 12, 9 to 10:30 a.m. and April 15, 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Novato Government Plays Musical Chairs

Anyone familiar with the Novato City Hall since the city offices were moved into the old Presbyterian Church and adjoining Trevitt Hall about seven years ago, will be lost in the building now, because they have been playing musical offices.

It all started when the parks and recreation department moved into its new offices in the Busher house two doors away and adjacent to the police department. The finance department then moved into the space left by the parks and recreation department. The city manager and his secretaries swapped places with the planning department moved to where the finance department had been located. The counter was changed to a hallway with the receptionist inside the front door.

With all the changing of counters and the addition of partitions, the only department in city hall left undisturbed was the public works department and it did that by hiding in the basement.

Political Group To Meet Sunday

Politics West, a recently formed political action-study group, will hold its second meeting Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in room 426 of the Marin Civic Center, group publicist Laura Nelson Baker said today.

During the meeting, the group will set up a steering committee, discuss financing and choose temporary officers, in addition to discussing methods to move the country away from a military orientation to peacetime programs.

Bay Panel Sets Amendment Study On Gas Taxes

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A proposal that the California Constitution be amended immediately to allow use of gas taxes for public transit will be considered for adoption by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow in the Hotel Claremont.

The commission voted 12-5 on March 26 to make this proposal the keystone of its final report to the Legislature, but the 12 votes amounted to just less than one-third of the 37 members on the commission, leaving the way open to a reversal tomorrow.

The final report, before it was amended by the March 26 vote, firmly rejected any diversion to public transit of highway funds.

Also scheduled for the all-day session is action on portions of the commission's full final report, due before the Legislature in May.

Sign Is Approved For Auto Agency

The Novato Plan Review Committee yesterday approved an 84-square-foot sign for Theodore R. Schuman for his Travel Town truck and camper agency on the west side of Highway 101 at Lamont Avenue, according to Asst. Planning Director Warren Baker.

Loyal Davis's request for an 18-unit apartment east of Railroad Avenue and south of Orange Avenue was given site approval by the committee. It must now go to the planning commission for its approval and then back to the plan review committee for approval of specific plans.

Camillo Magnisi was granted a permit to install a metal awning in front of his restaurant in the Sundown shopping Center south of Hamilton ir Force Base.

Youth To Superior Court On Burglary

David Charles McReynolds, 19, of San Rafael, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglarizing a San Rafael home on April 1. He was ordered to appear in court Monday.

McReynolds was arrested when he was found hiding in a closet of a residence at 5 Coleman Drive.

Army Blocks Try To Move Fort Ord Court-Martial

FORT ORD (UPI) — A defense motion to have the mutiny trial of 14 soldiers transferred back to the San Francisco Presidio was denied yesterday by an Army court-martial law officer, who said antiwar demonstrations there have created an atmosphere "not conductive to calm and dispassionate consideration."

The officer, Lt. Col. James A. Hagan also denied a motion by civilian defense attorney Terence Hallinan for a continuance so he could put his case before the Court of Military Appeals.

The 14 GI defendants were among 27 Army prisoners charged with mutiny following a sitdown strike at the Presidio stockade last October.

Hallinan sought to have the court-martial transferred back to San Francisco from this sprawling basic training post 100 miles to the south because of the difficulty defense witnesses would have reaching Fort Ord. He also claimed an outbreak of meningitis here "risks the lives of these men and their families."

Colonel Hagan said that "in view of the fact of the...demonstration last Sunday and testimony indicating that the demonstrations may grow in number and the possibility of violence erupting, the atmosphere at the Presidio is not conducive to calmness and dispassionate consideration."

Artist To Talk

Salad Ideas For Spring Days

Leafy greens are an excellent source of vitamins and minerals. It's fun to mix a great variety of greens such as in this salad supper which features iceberg lettuce.

Lettuce needs little preparation and in the case of iceberg, the leaves are easily separated by removing the steam as far into the head as possible. Then hold the head upside down under cold running water which will separate and wash the leaves simultaneously. When tossing, break it into convenient bite sizes.

SUPPER SALAD

On a large platter, arrange a bed of fresh spinach leaves, water cress and endive. Arrange wedges of iceberg lettuce over the greens on the platter. Arrange sections of cold meat, Cheddar cheese strips and tuna. Serve with Dill Egg Dressing.

DILL EGG DRESSING

1 cup sour cream
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 tablespoon snipped fresh dill
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1¼ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon fresh minced onion
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours to blend flavors. Makes about 1½ cups.

CAESAR SALAD

1 medium-sized clove garlic
⅔ cup salad oil
1 large head iceberg lettuce
1 large head romaine
⅓ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon Worchestershire sauce
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg
½ cup fresh lemon juice
1½ cups croutons
4 anchovies, finely chopped

Peel and cut garlic into quarters. Drop garlic into salad oil. Let stand at room temperature 30 minutes. Tear lettuce and romaine into bite-size pieces into large salad bowl. Sprinkle cheese over greens. Remove garlic from oil. Combine oil, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Toss oil mixture with greens. Break egg over greens. Pour lemon juice over greens. Toss lightly until all ingredients are thoroughly blended. Sprinkle croutons and anchovies over salad. Toss lightly. Serve immediately. Makes 6-8 servings.

Braised Beef

When you are braising beef short ribs, use as little water as possible so the gravy will be rich. Half a cup of water should be enough for three pounds of short ribs and a couple of onions as a start; more water may be added if necessary.

Taste Of Polyresia In Easy Pineapple And Shrimp Meal

If you didn't quite make it to the islands for a winter vacation this year this Polynesian pleaser will bring the tropics into your home all year-round. Large chunks of ivory cucumber and golden canned pineapple nestle with plump pink shrimp in a savory sweet and sour sauce.

It takes only a few minutes to prepare this novel meal. Pour boiling water over chunky pieces of pared cucumber. Peel and devein shrimp and saute with onion. Then add drained pineapple and crunchy crisp cucumber. Whip together the sweet and sour sauce and pour over the shrimp mixture. Serve with chopsticks over hot, steamed rice.

Pineapple adds the finishing flavor to all your sweet and sour sauces. As in this recipe, you may use it with shrimp but its tart and tangy flavor is equally as good when served with pork or poultry. Pineapple conveniently canned in chunks, slices, tidbits, crushed or juice adds a refreshing touch to your meals all year long.

PINEAPPLE CUCUMBER SHRIMP

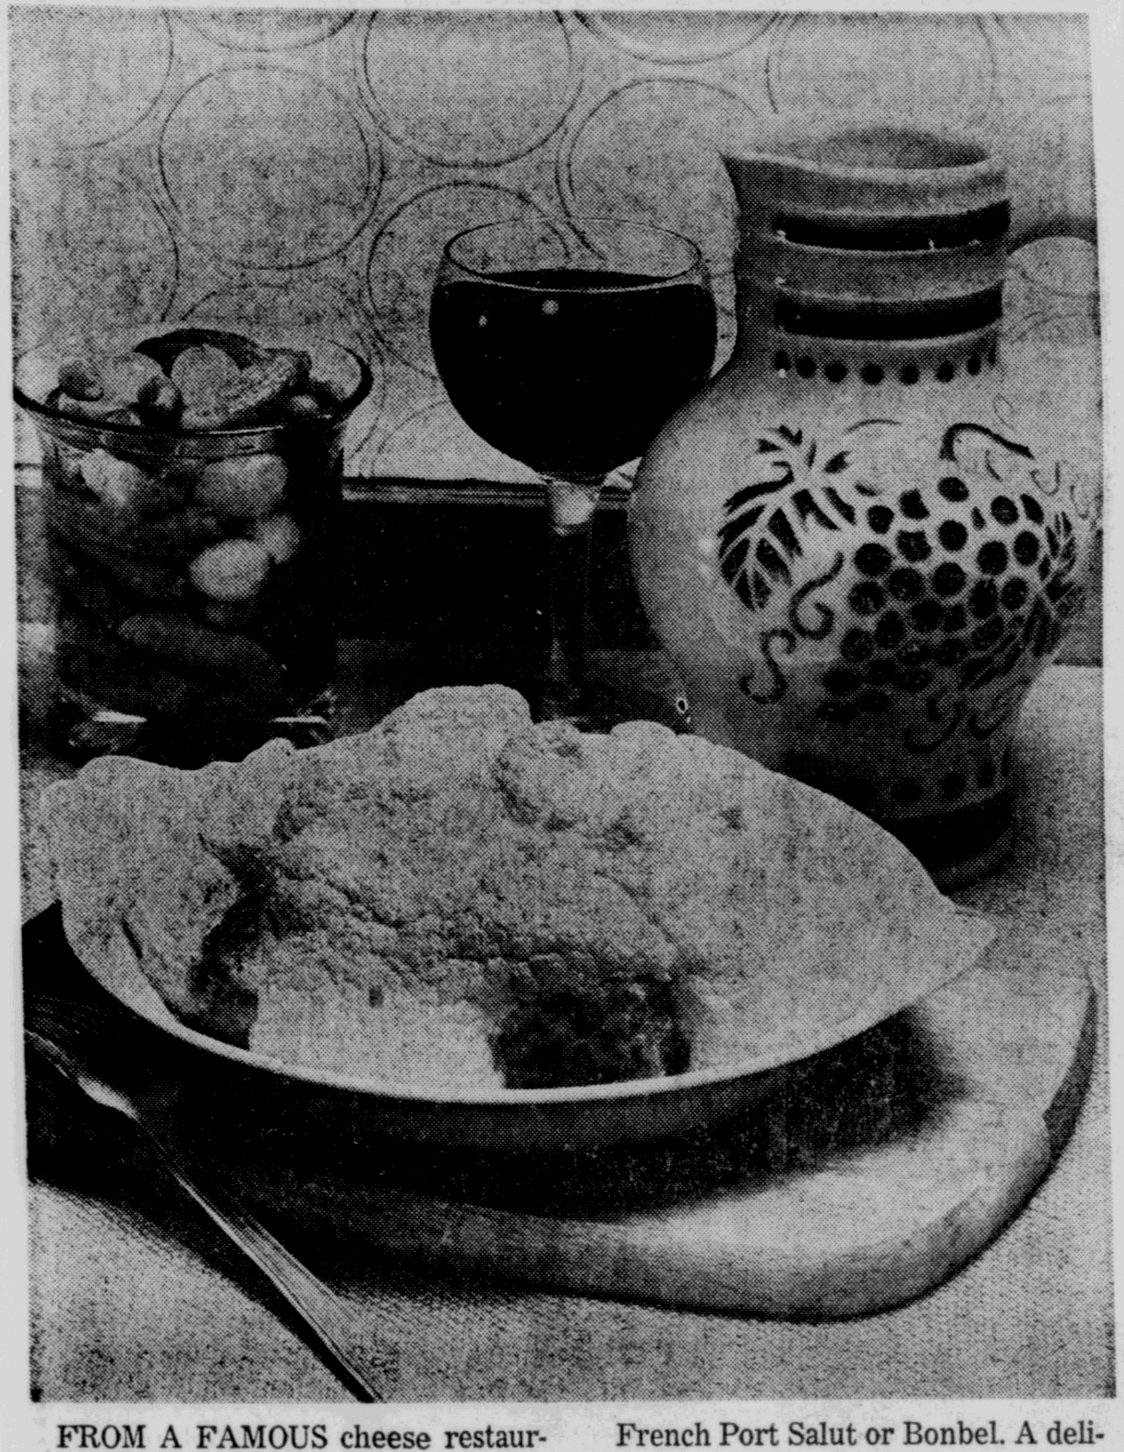
1 cucumber
Water
1 (1-pound, 4-ounce) can pineapple chunks
½ pound cooked shrimp, peeled and deveined
¼ cup sliced green onion
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup garlic flavored wine vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons catsup
1½ tablespoons cornstarch

Cut pared cucumber in half lengthwise and remove any large seeds. Cut cucumber into ½ inch chunks (about 1½ cups). Pour boiling water over cucumber, let stand 5 minutes then drain. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Cook shrimp and onion in butter 5 minutes. Add drained pineapple chunks and cucumber. Combine reserved pineapple syrup and all remaining ingredients, beating smooth. Add to shrimp mixture. Cook, stirring gently 5 to 8 minutes, until sauce thickens and clears. Serve over hot cooked rice. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Pear Salad

Alternate crosswise slices of fresh pear halves, half-rings of green pepper and onion on beds of butter lettuce; sprinkle lightly with poppy seeds and pass shakers of vinegar and salad oil at the table.

ARRANGED ON a bed of spinach and water cress are wedges of lettuce, spears of endive, cheese strips, tuna and cold meats suggested as a cooling, nourishing supper or luncheon entree. The salad is served with a dill egg dressing.



FROM A FAMOUS cheese restaurant in Paris comes this dish called Le Steack de Fromage made with French Port Salut or Bonbel. A delicious idea for Sunday suppers or bridge luncheons.

From Parisian Cheese Restaurant Comes Le Steack De Fromage Dish

Many of the original and exquisite recipes we find in newspapers and magazines were created by chefs from all over the world. The French, of course, are especially famous for their contributions to today's cuisine. Among the fashionable food trends from France are recipes made with the incomparable French cheeses. Many of them are regional specialties and some are created by chefs in the popular cheese restaurants in Paris.

Among the popular dishes on the menu at Restaurant Androuet, 41, rue d'Amsterdam, one of the most famous cheese restaurants in Paris, is Le Steack de Fromage. It is served with a fine red wine, and a green salad, and followed by fresh fruit and coffee.

In preparing this dish at home, one can choose from two semisoft cheeses — Abbey Port Salut, the authentic French Port Salut, or milder Bonbel. (If French Gruyere is available, it may be used as an alternate.) Although the recipe for the souffle batter calls only for the usual ingredients used to make a puffy omelet, one can vary the recipe slightly by adding a few sprinklings of grated Roquefort.

LE STEACK DE FROMAGE
(Makes six portions)

1 lb. French Port Salut or
2 8-oz. packages Bonbel
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup flour
2 cups fine bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons olive oil
3 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons grated Port Salut or Bonbel
2 tablespoons grated Roquefort

Cut Port Salut into 9½" slices, reserving enough cheese to make two tablespoons grated cheese, (or cut each Bonbel in three horizontal slices, reserving enough for two tablespoons grated cheese). Chill slices thoroughly. Dip each slice in beaten eggs, then coat thoroughly with flour, dip in egg again; then thoroughly coat each slice with bread crumbs.

Press crumbs firmly into sides, tops and bottoms of each slice. Place on a cake rack for one hour so that crumbs will be crisp. This will help prevent hot cheese from seeping through. Heat butter and oil in a heavy skillet. Saute cheese slices (steacks) quickly, over moderate heat, until golden brown on all sides. Remove to lightly buttered individual baking dishes.

Preheat oven to 375° F. Beat egg yolks together with three tablespoons water. In a separate bowl, beat egg whites until firm. Fold egg whites in beaten yolks. Gently blend in grated cheese. Divide mixture evenly over each steack. Place in oven and bake 12-15 minutes, or until the tops are golden brown. Serve immediately.

Bengal Curry Uses Up Lamb

When there's a good amount of roast lamb left over, you can use it in a curried dish.

BENGAL CURRY

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup finely diced onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons curry powder
2 ½ cups fat-free chicken broth
3 tablespoons instant flour
⅓ cup flaked coconut
⅓ cup (scant) tomato paste
¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce
4 cups cubed (¾ inch) leftover roast lamb

In a medium saucepan in the hot butter mix together the onion, garlic, cinnamon, paprika and curry; add ½ cup of the broth; simmer until liquid has almost evaporated and mixture is like a thick paste — about 15 minutes. Gradually stir the remaining 2 cups broth into the flour; add to onion mixture with coconut, tomato paste and tabasco. Over moderate heat cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add lamb and salt to taste; reheat. Serve over rice accompanied by chutney and toasted slivered almonds; reheat. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Combine Peas And Artichokes

A combination of frozen vegetables that's delightful:

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon salt
1 package (9 ounces) frozen artichoke hearts
1 package (10 ounces) frozen tiny peas
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 sprig parsley
1 bay leaf

In a covered saucepan, over medium-high heat, bring the butter, water, salt and artichokes to a full boil. Reduce heat and simmer about 4 minutes; add remaining ingredients. Cover and bring to a boil again. Reduce heat and simmer until artichokes are just tender — 2 or 3 minutes. If needed, add a little water. Remove parsley and bay leaf. Makes 4 servings.

Tenderize Beef

If you select less tender cuts of beef for grilling—blade, chuck, arm or flank—the best bet is to tenderize them first. To do this, marinate them with a mixture of oil, seasonings, and lemon juice, vinegar or tomato juice, or use a commercial tenderizer. Meat should be refrigerated during marinating, but give it a few minutes to lose its chill before grilling.

Marin Women

Volunteers Help Program Grow

In 1957 a young Marin student nurse faced a problem: she had two years of study before she could get a degree and her money was running short.

Her decision to ask help of the Hospital Service League — original name of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers — spurred the initial grant in a scholarship program that so far has helped 27 girls enter nursing or allied professions and has given $9,325 in aid.

FROM THAT one-year grant of $100, the program now offers annual scholarships of up to $400 and has helped several young women through their entire course of nursing studies. This year nine girls are receiving help at a cost of $2,400.

The money comes from private donations and memorial grants and from Junior Pink Lady dues, but most has come from the fund-raising services run at the hospital by the volunteer Pink Ladies and from the eight branches of the Council of Volunteers.

Nine thousand dollars represents an uncountable number of volunteer hours of work and planning on the part of hundreds of women in the 12 years the scholarship program has been under way.

THE MONEY has been awarded on the basis of need, of grades and high school recommendations, to those who had won admission to an accredited nursing or medical school — and only to those who had given to the hospital at least one year's service in the Pink Lady program.

Work as a Junior Pink Lady is a significant contribution.

These youngsters, some 58 of them, spend a minimum of 100 hours apiece annually, after school or on weekends, performing the same tasks the adult volunteers do. They bring water and run errands for patients, deliver menus, newspapers, mail, flowers and gifts, cart medicines and housekeeping supplies to nursing stations, help in the gift shop or with the book cart and some work with the children in the pediatrics ward.

"These girls become juniors for two big reasons," says Mary Miller, director of volunteers. "They have an idealistic desire to be of service to other people, and they have a curiosity about a vocation, usually nursing and think they'll find out what medicine can offer through work at the hospital."

THE FIRST juniors were a trio from Dominican, Gretchen Bach, Donna Zander and Linda Fromhagen, who began work in 1953, a year after the hospital opened. By fall 1955 the juniors formed an organization of Junior Pink Ladies. As a separate organization, the group was short-lived. A girl's career as a Pinky is susally short, since she must be 16 to serve and is soon afterward a high school graduate with job or college to contend with. The juniors are now a part of the Pink Lady organization, paying optional dues, which go to scholarships.

If the juniors are motivated to go into nursing or a medically related profession, the adult volunteer organization stands ready to help.

Says the chairman of the volunteer council, Mrs. Peter Behr, "Since medically trained personnel are in short supply everywhere, we feel this is a valid community service . . . Hopefully some of these young women will return and their skills will be of direct benefit to Marin General."

And already a number of the scholarship winners have worked summers as nurses aides, and several junior Pink Ladies who went into nursing later served in nursing positions at Marin General.

Melinda Krause of Corte Madera, a scholarship holder, was as a surgical nurse, and Beth Mellin of Greenbrae (now Mrs. Gene Pawlick), who won but did not accept a scholarship, became head nurse in the Intensive Care Unit. Scholarship holder Ann Farber of Mill Valley, upon graduating and before accepting her first job, spent several weeks making her old rounds as a Pink Lady.

IN THE YEARS since the first grant to Stanford nursing student Carol King, the scholarship holders have trained at a variety of schools and hospitals, mostly in the Bay Area. They have sought R.N. degrees, a three-year-course, or bachelor of science degrees (four-year courses which make the holder eligible for supervisorial positions within a hospital or specialized careers in public health.)

This year Mary Falvey of Larkspur is using her scholarship to study behavioral sciences with the hope of teaching mentally retarded children.

Of the scholarship holders this year, four are renewals from previous years:

Carolyn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Smith, is a junior at San Francisco State College, studying specialized nursing at hospitals throughout the city and in the pediatrics department at Marin General. She worked three years as a junior and at Marin General last summer as a nurses aide.

"I HAD the idea of becoming a nurse for a long time, but being a Pink Lady really reinforced it," she says.

Sandra Fazio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fazio of Greenbrae, is in her second year of training at Samuel Merritt Hospital in Oakland.

"I think I was born with a hypodermic needle in my hand," says Sandy. "Nursing was all I ever wanted to do. When I was a junior, I was already studying to be a nurse, in a way."

Sandy works evenings as a paid aide at the hospital, and takes part of her classwork at Mills College.

Janet Epidendio, daughter of Mrs. Ida Epidendio of Larkspur, is a sophomore at the University of San Francisco.

"I was always going to be a teacher. But in my senior year at Marin Catholic I decided to be a Pink Lady. I loved it, and one day I decided I was going to try to be a nurse."

IN HER first year she was "really doubtful — we never got near a hospital, just went to class all the time and it was tough, all science. But this year we began nursing, and I love it."

Janet has worked part time as a store clerk to help pay her way. She has applied to be a nurses aide at Marin General this summer.

Ellen Bundschu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bundschu of San Anselmo, in her third year at USF, is thinking of serving with the Peace Corps. After two and one-half years she finds hospital work confining:

"The hospital becomes your whole world. I'd like to get out into some other nursing field, see people under other circumstances." And yet, with graduation a year and a half away: "Four years doesn't really seem long enough — there's so much to learn."

THE OTHER FIVE scholarship recipients this year are in the first year of study:

Nancie Jose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jose Jr. of San Anselmo, will get her cap this month at Merritt Hospital. Active in student affairs at Sir Francis Drake High, Nancie had "been interested in teaching for awhile, but being a Pink Lady steered me toward nursing."

From the first she has worked two days a week on the wards, taking classes in nursing fundamentals at Merritt and science classes at Mills College.

Mary Falvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Falvey of Larkspur, plans six years of study to teach he mentally retarded. Pink Lady work was decisive for Mary, too:

"I was going into nursing up till then, but I discovered it just wasn't my vocation." Between her junior and senior years in high school she worked as a teacher's assistant for the Marindale program in San Rafael. Then she spent one afternoon a week at Cedars Development Center in Ross for the mentally retarded. "I just played with the kids. I really enjoyed it and saw a lot of need."

Mary attends College of Marin, working part time to help with expenses and plans to transfer to a four-year college.

BARBARA O'NEILL, daughter of Mrs. Theresa Harris of San Anselmo, is studying at USF with pediatric nursing as her goal.

"I put in 200 hours as a Pink Lady — almost all in the pediatrics ward. Those days at Marin General helped me find out whether I could handle it, whether I was too chicken to be a nurse. . ." Barbara holds two other scholarships with the award from Marin General volunteers.

Gay Melvin of Mill Valley, the daughter of Mrs. Carol L. Melvin, is at St. Francis Hospital in pursuit of an R.N. degree.

"I didn't want a four year course. I wanted to get into nursing right away. And yet a two-year course just seemed too much of a rush for me." Taking academic courses at City College of San Francisco, she is already doing nursing work at the hospital.

Karen Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Meyer of Mill Valley, holds a state scholarship, but received an honorary scholarship from the hospital volunteers because her grades and record were outstanding. She has embarked on a four-year course at USF, primarily academic for her first year, broadening into nursing next year. Karen worked a year as a Pink Lady, and puts in hours at Marin General on weekends and vacations.

It has been the policy so far to see each girl through to her degree, and with tuition costs rising, the awards are a great help.

IT HAS been the hope of the scholarship committee to start at least one new girl each year. Mrs. T. Royal Scott of San Rafael, chairman, says "we are exploring every possible means to raise more money."

The committee receives applications (they're due May 30), reviews the eligibility and provides for an interview. On the committee's recommendation to the Council of Volunteers, the awards are made.

Adverse Effect Of Pill Told At Local Symposium

How does the oral contraceptive affect the metabolism? Does the pill cause blood clots? Does it trigger diabetes? Should it continue to be prescribed?

These were some of the questions considered at a symposium on oral contraceptives that opened the two-day meeting in San Francisco today of the American Association of Planned Parenthood Physicians. The 700-member-organization is made up of physicians from every part of the country who serve in the 500 family planning clinics sponsored by Affiliates of Planned Parenthood-World Population.

THE SYMPOSIUM was organized by Louis M. Hellman, M. D., professor and chairman, department of obstetrics and gynecology, State University of New York, Downstate Medical Center, Brooklyn, N.Y.

A review by William N. Spellacy, M.D., of scientific studies in Great Britain, Scandinavia and the U. S. on the metabolic effects of the pill indicates that the metabolism of some women who use oral contraceptives may be altered somewhat. But the significance of the alteration is not clear, the physician said. Dr. Spellacy is an associate professor at the University of Miami School of Medicine in Miami, Fla.

He noted that investigators agree that "with few exceptions there have been no changes noted in the total serum cholesterol (one of the varieties of fat in the blood) concentrations following the use of oral contraceptives."

This is significant, Dr. Spellacy explained, because an elevation of cholesterol is known to be associated with certain heart and circulatory diseases.

ALTHOUGH THERE appears to be an altered pattern of the metabolism of another kind of fat (lipid) in the blood of women taking the pill, the effect of this alteration as far as the development of circulatory disease "remains unknown," according to the physician.

The metabolism of certain sugars and starches (carbohydrates; appears to be altered in some women, more than 25 studies agree, Dr. Spellacy noted. Why and how this alteration occurs is not known, he said.

The physician pointed out that certain women are more prone to experience this metabolic change than others. In this category are women over 35 years of age; or women who have borne more than four children; or who have a family history of diabetes; or who have delivered infants weighing more than nine pounds; or who gain more than eight pounds while using oral contraceptives.

It is not known, Dr. Spellacy said, whether these alterations are reversible after discontinuing the pill or what the consequences are of prolonged use. He urged continued research to find the answers.

There is a possible "cause and effect relationship between the use of oral contraceptives and either the development or enhancement of high blood pressure," John H. Laragh, M.D., told fellow-physicians at the symposium that "it seems very likely that in the large majority of those who take them they do not induce hypertension (high blood pressure). Dr. Laragh is professor of medicine at Columbia University.

CLINICAL OBSERVATIONS of women as well as laboratory studies suggest, Dr. Laragh said, that the blood pressure in certain susceptible patients taking the pill may be strikingly increased. He hypothesized that this may occur because the pill causes marked changes in the amount of certain hormones produced by the kidneys and the adrenal glands.

The physician observed that some factors, now unknown, must predispose some women to high blood pressure while other women experiencing the same changes in blood-pressure raising hormonal production while taking the pill show no increase whatsoever in their blood pressure.

A review by Philip Sartwell, M.D., of scientific papers on the pill and blood clots emphasized that the evidence continues to be "highly conflicting and controversial." The Johns Hopkins University professor of epidemiology concluded that in his judgment there may be a cause and effect relationship between the orals and the development of thromboembolism. But, he noted, "in view of the low frequency of this condition, I do not regard the relationship as constituting a contraindication to use of the oral contraceptives."

Commenting on the symposium, Hans Lehfeldt, M.D., who directs a major family planning clinic at New York's Bellevue Medical Center, observed: "We have had confirmed once again that the oral contraceptive, even as other powerful drugs, can have an adverse effect on some women. Therefore, it should be administered responsibly."

THE PHYSICIAN, who is clinical professor of obstetrics and gynecology at New York University School of Medicine, maintained that all women should have a complete physical examination and a complete medical history taken before the drug is prescribed. They should also be checked every six months and should be encouraged to report any problems to their doctors.

"This is simply good medical practice," Dr. Lehfeldt noted, "and applies to the prescription of any medication.

"At Bellevue we make it clear to patients that they may have the pill only if they agree to return for periodic Pap smears (to detect cervical cancer), breast examinations and blood pressure checks."

Dr. Lehfeldt urged that pharmacists cooperate by refusing to refill oral contraceptive prescriptions unless that is specified in the original prescription. If it is not, he maintained, they should check with the physician before refilling. The benefits derived from the pill far outweigh the risks, and there is every reason to continue to prescribe them where indicated, the physician believes.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Advocate For Changes In Laws Backs Argument With Opinions

DEAR HELEN:

We're a crazy mixed-up society. We won't allow birth control education in schools, yet we endow homes for unwed mothers. We point the finger of shame at couples who live together, yet we prove every day that marriage in unworkable, at least in its present form. We want our children to remain chaste, but we insist that they finish college and get settled in careers before they choose mates.

How much better it would be if we would give temporary marriage licenses, just as we give temporary drivers' licenses. Then when a man and woman prove they can live together compatibly, they can apply for the lifetime certificate. This would eliminate sneaking or going against society with its consequent guilt feelings and hurt.

Those applying for temporary marriage licenses would agree not to have children during that period. When the license expires (say at the end of one or two years) they can either go their separate ways or renew. This would simplify matters for engaged couples still in college or otherwise unable to support a family. The temporary license would specify that each partner contribute equally to finances, if this is necessary.

What do others think aoubt this plan? — DAVE

DEAR DAVE:

Paper solutions seldom work out when applied to human equations. What if one partner wants to renew the temporary license, the other doesn't? What if precautions fail and a baby results? And wouldn't those people who flit from one trial marriage to another be just as promiscuous as those who don't bother with a certificate?

I've no doubt marriage and divorce laws will be changed drastically in the next decade, but I'm not sure whether a temporary marriage, as you describe it, is the answer. Comments, anyone? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

One of the cleverest tricks Satan has perpetrated on the human race is to convince us that neither he nor his demons exist, thus giving us license to do all sorts of evil things because we won't be punished.

I would suggest to "Sybil the Second," who was frightened by her ouija board, that she try this experiment. Ask the board from where it gets its powers. The answer will be ''Satan,'' "Devil," or "Beelzebub." Then ask it what God's name is, and she will gt a violent reaction. Then burn it, or she is asking the demons into her home for life! — J. W.

DEAR J:

If I asked a ouija board where it got its powers, I'm sure it would point to one letter: "U."

(Just for fun a neighbor and I asked her board if it was ruled by the Devil. The answer: "Bah, humbug!" — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Nature has played a terrible trick on me. Our young son does not look like his father. Instead, he looks so much like our school principal that he has been mistaken for this man's child. We are good friends with him and his wife, but with the whispers that are going around, how long will it be before someone has to leave town?

I swear there was never anything between us. But sometimes I even see my husband looking at me strangely. The principal's wife laughs about the resemblance, but the laughter is getting strained. What can I do to prove I am — INNOCENT?

DEAR INNOCENT:

When you expect trust as your right, you usually win it.

A faster way to settle suspicion: Suggest blood tests. Hopefully (but not assuredly) they'll rule out the principal as the father of your son. — H.

ART REVIEW

'Ink And Yarn' Is A Stimulating Show

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Jacquetta Nisbet's exhibit, "Ink and Yarn," through May 3 at Anima Mundi in Mill Valley, uses every inch of available space and then creates more of its own.

Hangings of several types, a loom, bright bunches of yarn tumbling over a rough crate, wood blocks and design blueprints decorate all the standard exhibition space.

Yet it never feels crowded because of gossamer panels which float invitingly from the ceiling, adding imaginary walls to the limits of the room.

These filmy lengths give the entire area an airy feeling, whether they float from above, act as light-filled, flower-printed window shades or are wall-hung, and Miss Nisbet uses them often.

In many, hints of Oriental and Indian motifs are abstracted into bold designs. And her colors are quite varied, going from brick and black through a complex rainbow of subtle and strong hues, to some strident and sometimes unattractive combinations.

Perhaps her most unusual effects, are the vague suggested shapes that lie softly in the distance behind the more aggressive foreground patterns, creating another dimension and level of interest.

In the midst of these airy panels, Miss Nisbet injects several thick, rich, Peruvian-styled weavings. There are not nearly enough of these long hot colored bands and grayed, reversible, double-cloth pieces which, for all their nubby substance, seem far more sensitive than their filmy counterparts.

Other things which add interest to Miss Nisbet's exhibit are test samples showing cloth and ink durability and some carved printing blocks attended by a large cloth traced with their repeated printed design. And while there are no visually tantalizing experiments here, Miss Nisbet does, and shows how to do, enough things to keep her very full exhibit, fully interesting.

Richmond Race Narrowed To Six

RICHMOND (UPI)—Three incumbents and three newcomers won spots yesterday in the run-off election for three six-year terms on the Richmond City Council.

About 42 per cent of the city's voters cast ballots in the primary for four council seats, including one two-year term.

Veteran Gay Vargas, who has served 18 years on the council, was the top-votegetter. He was followed by incumbent Albert Silva, Rev. Booker T. Anderson, incumbent Mayor John Sheridan, Cornelius Doherty and Douglas Lord in the balloting for six-year terms. Eight others were eliminated.

In the two-year race, two newcomers won a place on the May 13 ballot. Richard Nelson handily topped the field of seven, with Bill Eger finishing a distant second. The incumbent did not seek re-election.

'Oh What A Lovely War' Draws Raves

LONDON (AP) — The multi-star British movie of "Oh What a Lovely War" got rave notices from the London critics today. Several called it a masterpiece, and one said he left the theater in tears.

The massacres of World War I are seen as a kind of peep show on Brighton's seaside pier, switching from the frivolity of the fair to the dead in the battlefield mud. Ironic interpretations of patriotic songs point up the movie's anti-war message.

(As a play it was presented in the summer of 1966 by the Festival Theater in San Anselmo and also drew rave reviews from Bay Area critics.)

The critics gave their highest praise to actor Richard Attenborough, making his debut as a director.

His cast includes five of Britain's actor-knights—Sir Laurence Olivier, Sir Ralph Richardson, Sir Michael Redgrave, Sir John Gielgud and Sir John Clements.

Other stars include John Mills, Kenneth More, Vanessa Redgrave, Susannah York and Maggie Smith.

"The film, quite simply, is a work of art—a masterpiece of insight and interpretation," wrote Ian Christie of the Daily Express.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Girl In My Soup' Just Poor Attempt

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — Since "There's A Girl In My Soup," which opened Monday night at the Curran, was a smash in London, only mildly successful in New York and seems destined for critical oblivion here, one can only conclude that what's funny in London becomes unfunnier with added distance.

Granted that the road show here has only Jean-Pierre Aumont, a suave and accomplished comedian, to lift it from mediocrity, the script just isn't that good.

COMEDY RELIEF?

Perhaps the English are backlashing from a diet of Osborne, Pinter and company, writers whose people are terribly real, whether you like them or not. Perhaps the phony haves and have-nots of Terence Frisby's bedroom comedy are a relief from the snarling Jimmy Porters with their real attack on the establishment. I find Frisby's characters hard to take and impossible to enjoy for more than a gag at a time.

Aumont is a gourmet-writer and male Julia Child who collects women with the same uninvolved enjoyment that he does recipes. He justifies his attitude by saying "You don't hold conversation with a roast duck — you eat it." On the far side of 40, he becomes infatuated with an amoral 19-year-old who usually lives with a perfectly horrid caricature of a hippy.

NO APPLAUSE

By the time the gourmet's friend suggested Solomon's division method as a way of sharing the girl, I expected wild applause, but evidently the audience had left or was anaesthetized.

Oliver Cluff, who directed the show, is apparently more at home with musicals, handling large groups of people. Here there seems to be a lack of movement, at least logical movement.

Aumont takes advantage of every chance for comedy, using face, voice and body to milk the opportunities. There just aren't enough of them. An example of a gag which drew hysterical laughter from a little old lady behind us: in Aumont's absence, his girl has gone out and his friend the publisher is in the kitchen, but Aumont does not know this.

AUMONT: (entering) Darling. . .

ANDREW: (coyly) Here, my sweet!

TV EXPOSURE

Betty Conner, as Marion, the amoral chick, has had lots of TV exposure on programs like Gidget, which I have never seen. This role, a doubly difficult one because the playwright's own conception of the character is unclear, is simply beyond her abilities. She is cute in bikini underwear, once in a while hits a low British accent, but stays monotonously in one key through the evening. The only detectable note of falseness in Aumont's perfomance is when he says he wants her to stay. It is an understandable note.

The rest of the cast is dreadful, except for George N. Niese, whose uneven Andrew is delightfully natural in spots. The setting is nice, including a bedroom door which only allows sound to go through one side of it.

Walter Winchell, Leonard Lyons, Earl Wilson, Time Magazine and the Journal of Commerce notwithstanding, I say this is not a good or a funny play. It will be presented nightly except Sunday at 8:30 and Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

DARLENE BROCK
As Sister Blanche

Opera By Poulenc Set At Dominican

The Opera Theater of Dominican College will present its major spring production, "The Dialogues of the Carmelites" by Francis Poulenc on April 18 and 19 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the campus.

An intensely dramatic opera climaxed by martydom at the guillotine of 16 Carmelite nuns during the French Revolution, this is the most elaborate production ever undertaken by the Opera Theater.

Preparations were begun months ago with research in to the correct period habit and study of the Carmelite order itself. Principals will go to the cloistered monastery of the Carmelites in Sacramento, where they will authenticate character interpretations and gain insight into the Carmelite way of life.

Dtage director Arthur Conrad said he selected the opera for its dramatic richness and musical vitality.

Musical preparation was done by pianist and musicologist Dr. Ted Blair, who recently joined the Dominican faculty.

Starring in the leading role of Sister Blanche will be Darlene Brock, daughter of the Marquis de la Force, sung by David Johnson, and sister of the chavalier, sung by Melvyn Poll.

Other Marin County singers in major roles will be Marjorie Broughton, prioress of the Carmelite convent; Lorie Kutsko, a new prioress; Margaret Lee, the assistant prioress; Joan Smith, a young nun, and Fred Lewis, Father Confessor of the convent.

Sheep Imported

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) —The State Game and Fish Department says New Mexico is the only U.S. state which imports Barbary sheep. They are brought from northern Africa and planted in southern New Mexico areas.

Junior Theater Slates Finale

The Junior Theater of Marin will present the fifth and final show in its winter series for children Saturday with its production of "Christopher Caterpillar" by the apprentice group of the Marin Civic Ballet.

Performances for season ticket holders will be held in the San Rafael High School auditorium at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. and a 12:15 p.m. performance with tickets available at the door.

Group reservations may be made through Mrs. Gerald A. DeVore of San Anselmo.

Drug Charge Is Dropped In Court

After a motion to suppress evidence was granted yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Alvin B. Goldstein in the case of William Edward Haskell, 22, of Corte Madera, a charge of marijuana possession against him was dismissed.

Haskell had been arrested at his apartment Sept. 26 after neighbors complained of a strong odor of marijuana smoke.

Led advertising clinic

Spending Of Marinites Above Average

Marin County residents, who boast the highest average income in California and one of the highest in the United States, also spend more than the average buyer, a national newspaper advertising executive told an advertising clinic here yesterday.

William J. Solch, retail vice president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association's bureau of advertising, led the clinic. He was introduced by Wishard A. Brown, publisher of the Independent-Journal, sponsor of the clinic for about 200 Marin retailers. The clinic was held at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Solch presented figures that showed Marinites spend an average of about twice the national average for basic commodities.

Furniture, applicances bought in appliance stores, and building supplies led the list, according to Solch. The average Marin family spends $539 a year on furniture at furniture stores each year compared to the national average of only $157. A Marin family buys $303 in appliances, compared to the yearly average of $88, and $386 in building supplies, compared to the national figure of $84.

Solch said Marinites also lead in the biggest spending category of food, spending an average per family of $1,852 against the national average of $1,052.

Comparisons in other categories included: department stores, $516 in Marin and $403 nationally; women's wear, $266 and $117; shoe stores, $114 and $51; men'swear, $130 and $57.

Solch gave the Marin County businessmen a 90-minute workshop presentation on marketing, budgeting and planning advertising and new ideas for ad writing and layout.

Tiburon Chamber Boosts Sailing Day

The Tiburon Chamber of Commerce yesterday urged all merchants who will be open April 27 to observe the opening of yachting season by having employees wear nautical attire for the day, president Ben A. Farlatti reported.

Farlatti said chamber members also recommended that the downtown Tiburon area be decorated with flags and bunting for opening day.

Textile Maker Facing Illegal Housing Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration has taken a major Southern textile maker to court in the government's first attack on segregated company housing. At the same time, the government is being sued for awarding defense contracts to three other Southern textile mills which allegedly discriminate against blacks.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell filed suit in U.S. District Court in Greensboro, N.C., yesterday against Cannon Mills Co., Kannapolis, N.C., one of the nation's largest textile firms.

The suit alleged Cannon discriminated against Negroes both in employment at its 16 plants in North and South Carolina and in the rental to employees of 2,000 single-family houses in the vicinity of its plants.

Earlier the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's legal defense fund filed suit in U.S. District Court here challenging the legality of $9 million worth of federal contracts awarded Feb. 8 to Dan River Mills Inc., J. P. Stevens, Inc., and Burlington Industries.

The NAACP suit charged the Defense Department and other government agencies violated President Lyndon B. Johnson's 1965 executive order outlawing government contracts for firms that do not meet federal standards in employment practices.

The Justice Department's suit demands a permanent court order to end the alleged discriminatory practices by Cannon, which employs 24,000 persons. It was brought under the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1968.

Britain's Superjet In Maiden Flight

BRISTOL, England (AP) — The British Concorde supersonic airliner took off on its maiden flight today, five weeks after the first flight of an identical French-built prototype.

The gleaming Concorde 002, its droop-snout pointed at the ground and its four jets spewing black smoke, roared down the runway. Then test pilot Brian Trubshaw reared the big plane back on its wheels and it smoothly took to the air.

The Concorde — the French built 001 and the British 002—are the two nations' joint entry in the supersonic airliner market expected to boom in the 1970s. They flew more than a year behind schedule following a series of technical and financial problems.

With costs estimated at more than $2.4 billion over an 11-year development period, they are among the most expensive planes ever built.

Angel Island Topic

The State Park and Recreation Commission will review its proposed master plan for Angel Island State Park in its monthly meeting which will be held in the Board of Supervisors Chambers at the Civic Center in San Rafael Friday at 9 a.m., the State Department of Parks and Recreation announced today.

Tearful Jury Convicts On Draft Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal court jury has convicted 18-year-old Erik Whitehorn of refusing to register for the draft, despite his mother's plea that she had forbidden him to do so.

U.S. Dist. Judge Gus Solomon, of Portland, Ore., set April 29 for sentencing. The penalty could range up to five years in prison.

Several of the eight women on the jury were in tears yesterday when the verdict was returned after two hours and 20 minutes of deliberation.

Mrs. Evelyn Whitehorn of Palo Alto had argued that she, not her son, should be prosecuted since she had advised him not to register because they both consider the war in Vietnam to be immoral.

Judge Solomon said at the start of the trial last Monday, however, that the issue was not whether the war was immoral, or whether the draft law was good or bad, but whether the defendant had broken it.

He gave defense attorney Aubrey Grossman a week in which to file statements from theologians on the morality question.

President's Brother Rejects Federal Job

SEATTLE (AP) — Edward C. Nixon, President Richard M. Nixon's brother, has bowed out of a $30,000-a-year federal job in Alaska "for personal reasons."

Nixon, who had spent two days in Anchorage after being appointed chairman of the federal field committee for development planning in Alaska, said there yesterday his decision not to accept the post "has nothing to do with the position here, the land or the people" and added:

"It doesn't seem it's going to work out. We have a problem that has arisen at home."

Nixon was appointed to the job last Friday.

In Washington, the Commerce Department said Nixon "informed the Secretary of Commerce that after discussing the matter further with his wife he had decided to decline the appointment."

Nixon, a former Navy pilot, a geologist and on leave from Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co., Seattle, where he is a commercial staff supervisor, would have headed a committee to coordinate federal and state economic planning for Alaska.

His home is in Lynnwood, 20 miles north of Seattle. He and his wife, Gay, who is a junior high school mathematics teacher, have two daughters, Amy, 10, and Beth, 8.

In last year's presidential campaign, Nixon managed mail operations for the Nixon-for-President Committee in New York.

The youngest of three living Nixon brothers, he was to have started his new job May 3, his 39th birthday, succeeding Joseph Fitzgerald, who resigned to enter private industry.

Chamber Group To End Season With Concert

The Marin Chamber Ensemble directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will close its fourth season Sunday with a 4 p.m. concert at the Church of the Nativity in Marinwood.

The program will be composed of passion and Easter music from Handel's "Messiah" with Carolyn Bond, Janna Schumacher and Craig Bond as soloists.

Between the two parts of the program Dr. Wolff, organist and harpsichordist, with his Camarata Players, consisting of instrumentalists, will perform Telemann's Concerto for Viola and Strings with Joan Lundblad as soloist.

Insertion of a short concerto was one of Handel's customs at his London presentations of oratorios.

Mrs. Riccardi Sets Parleys With Voters

The meetings are scheduled at the homes of Mrs. Stanley Farber of 66 Via Chepparo, Greenbrae; Mrs. Clarence Lesko of 50 Corte de Sabla, Greenbrae; Mrs. William Warnock of 20 Upland Road, Kentfield; Mrs. Ross Ashley of 348 Brentano Way, Greenbrae; Mrs. Thomas Walker, 22 Corte Lodato, Greenbrae.

Also, Mrs. James Compton, 71 Berens Drive, Kentfield; Mrs. David Shippey, 9 Mann Drive, Kentfield; Mrs. Harry Del Grande of 142 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae; Mrs. David M. The old gussie-up-a-surplus-milkcan-with-a-little-paint-and-call-it-a-prize-trick.

There are a million uses for the milkcan, some of which are practical. You can put umbrellas in it, you can put dirt in it and grow flowers, you can put it in a dark closet so nobody will see you own it, etc.
These are the very same kind of milkcans that once carried our milk in from the farm, and while they were pretty good in their day, we now have more efficient methods: Our fastidiously fresh milk is rushed from the farm in huge milk-tank trucks.
Being a modern efficient dairy company we wanted to milk our unused milkcans for all they're worth. So we decided to pull the old gussie-up-a-surplus-milkcan-with-a-little-paint-and-call-it-a-prize-trick. But it's a nice prize, and not the kind of thing you find kicking around your average, ordinary contest. So it should make everybody happy with the possible exception of people who take a dim view of contests to begin with.
How you win. Just tell us something that will make us give you a milkcan. It can be anything at all. Something funny, sad, obsequious, threatening, etc. It just has to be something original. For instance: "If anybody deserves to win something from you people, it's me because I always buy your products even when I don't need them." Or: "Give me a milkcan or I'll punch you in the nose."
No purchase is required to play. So get an official entry blank wherever fastidiously fresh Foremost products are sold and enter the contest.

Clyde King Still Looking For First Victory

ATLANTA (AP) — San Francisco Giants Manager Clyde King was a little glum after his charges completed their second game and second loss—a 10-2 drubbing at the hands of the Atlanta Braves.

"There is not much you can do about a game like today's," King said after last night's defeat. "Just as long as you get out of it without getting anyone hurt, you have a chance to get them tomorrow."

FINALE TONIGHT

For the Giants, that tomorrow comes this evening when they take on the Braves again in the finale of a three game series. The Braves also won the National League season and series opener on Monday, 5-4.

The only bright spot in an otherwise disastrous evening for the Giants yesterday came in the first inning when Willie Mays streaked down the path from first to second base for the 300th stolen base of his career.

Mays, who has hit 587 home runs, thus became the first major league player ever to reach the 300 mark in both home runs and stolen bases.

The pitching loss was charged to Gaylord Perry, who settled down after some first inning wildness and pitched smoothly until the sixth inning when the roof fell in. The Braves were leading 3-2 when the inning began.

GRAND SLAM

A grand slam home run by Felix Millan, whom Perry had flattened with a high, tight curve in the first inning, knocked Perry and the Giants out of the ball game.

Knuckle baller Phil Niekro gave the Giants eight hits along the way, but he scattered them and the Giants never had a serious threat after the third inning.

Mays scored the games first run in the opening inning after a single and his record-setting steal. He crossed the plate on a double by Ron Hunt.

Willie McCovey accounted for the Giants' other run in the third when he powered a towering drive over the right field screen.

The Braves bunched four hits and a hit batsman for three first-inning runs. Orlando Cepeda drove in two of the runs with a single to center.

Bob Didier began things for the Braves in the sixth with a one-out single. Rookie Ralph Garr beat out an infield single and Felipe Alou was intentionally walked to load the bases.

Millan stroked Perry's first pitch over the left field fence for his first major league grand slam. It was only his fourth home run in the majors.

The Braves put together four hits, three stolen bases and a Giants error to get three insurance runs off Rich Robertson in the eighth inning.

The Giants left two men on base in the seventh, and a man on in the eighth, before Niekro put them down in order in the ninth.

The Giants will have tomorrow off after playing the Braves tonight. They open a three-game series in San Diego Friday against the Padres.

Sixto Rodriguez Now A Businessman

FILL 'ER UP — Any time you talk to an ex-fighter you can expect to hear the "I wuz robbed" routine so prevalent along cauliflower canyon. You know the line, their losses were "hometown decisions."

Well, Sixto Rodriguez of Fairfax is no exception, but I know of at least two setbacks in his professional career on which he had a legitimate gripe. Hell, "robbed" is putting it mildly.

The first such occasion happened nearly a decade ago but I remember it vividly because it took place on national television.

A little background music, maestro, as we go back to October, 1959. The camera focuses on a ring in Philadelphia, the City of Brotherly Love, where hometown hero Von Clay is meeting a young Puerto Rican from the West Coast, Sixto Noriego Rodriguez, in a 10-round light heavyweight tussle.

No Relation To That Other Guy

Rodriguez, a last-minute substitute for ailing Jesse Bowdry, is tabbed a 3-1 underdog to Clay, listed high in world ratings, who, by the way, is not related to the well-known mouth of the same surname.

But what transpires during 10 rounds is that Rodriguez boxes the ears off the heavy favorite, darting in and out in a classic display of boxing. Clay can't reach Rodriguez with a telephone pole. The Philadelphian thinks he's fighting The Shadow and I swear I can hear him crying, "Come out, come out, wherever you are."

The final bell rings and there is no question that Rodriguez is the winner in a big way. The A.P. and UPI give him the clear decision but the judges and referee, by some of the strangest scoring in the history of sports, call the bout a draw. Even the partisan Philadelphia fans boo the decision.

"Yes, I remember that one quite well," said Sixto the other day. "My manager, Karl Ashley, was so mad he said he'd never take another fighter into Philadelphia and he hasn't. I was so upset I cried. I just couldn't believe the decision. I figured I'd won seven of the ten rounds and most of the people at the fight agreed."

Bum Decision In Italy

"Kid Sixto," as he was known during his career, remembers another frustrating experience when he fought Italy champion Giulio Rinaldi in Rome in 1961. "Early in the bout I had him down and out cold, but the referee wouldn't start counting. We waited and waited but no count. Finally, Rinaldi came to and grabbed my legs to pull himself up and Ashley kept yelling at me to 'kick him, kick him.' Of course, I didn't and the bell saved Rinaldi. I honestly think I won that bout easy but the ref gives it to Rinaldi." News clippings confirm Sixto's opinion by noting that 15,000 Italians booed the verdict.

Well, things weren't all bad for the lanky Puerto Rican. He won more than his share of bouts and reigned as California champion for several years until he lost the title to Dean Bogany in Fresno on a split decision in 1962. Sixto's memory isn't too sharp, but he "thinks" his professional record was 35 wins, 5 losses and 2 draws. He split two bouts with Carl "Bobo" Olson and fought in such exotic places as Africa, Peru, Rome and Richmond until he hung 'em up about five years ago.

It's The Texaco Sign

Rodriguez has driven truck for the past five years until just recently when he purchased the Oak Manor Texaco Service Station in Fairfax.

He and his wife, Jacque, and sons Joey, 5, and Jason, 6 months, reside in Oak Manor. "If my sons want to become fighters it's okay by me," said Sixto, "but I'm not going to push them into it. One thing for sure, though, is that I will teach them how to defend themselves. The way things are going on in the world today, that's important."

I rehash just a portion of Sixto's career today because I know that his many fans here in Marin will be interested that he's a businessman now and will want to drive by the Oak Manor Texaco, shake his hand and, of course, say, "Fill 'er up, champ."

Hall Comes Back As Rupp Aide

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Joe Hall returned today to the University of Kentucky as assistant basketball coach—a job, it turns out, he never left.

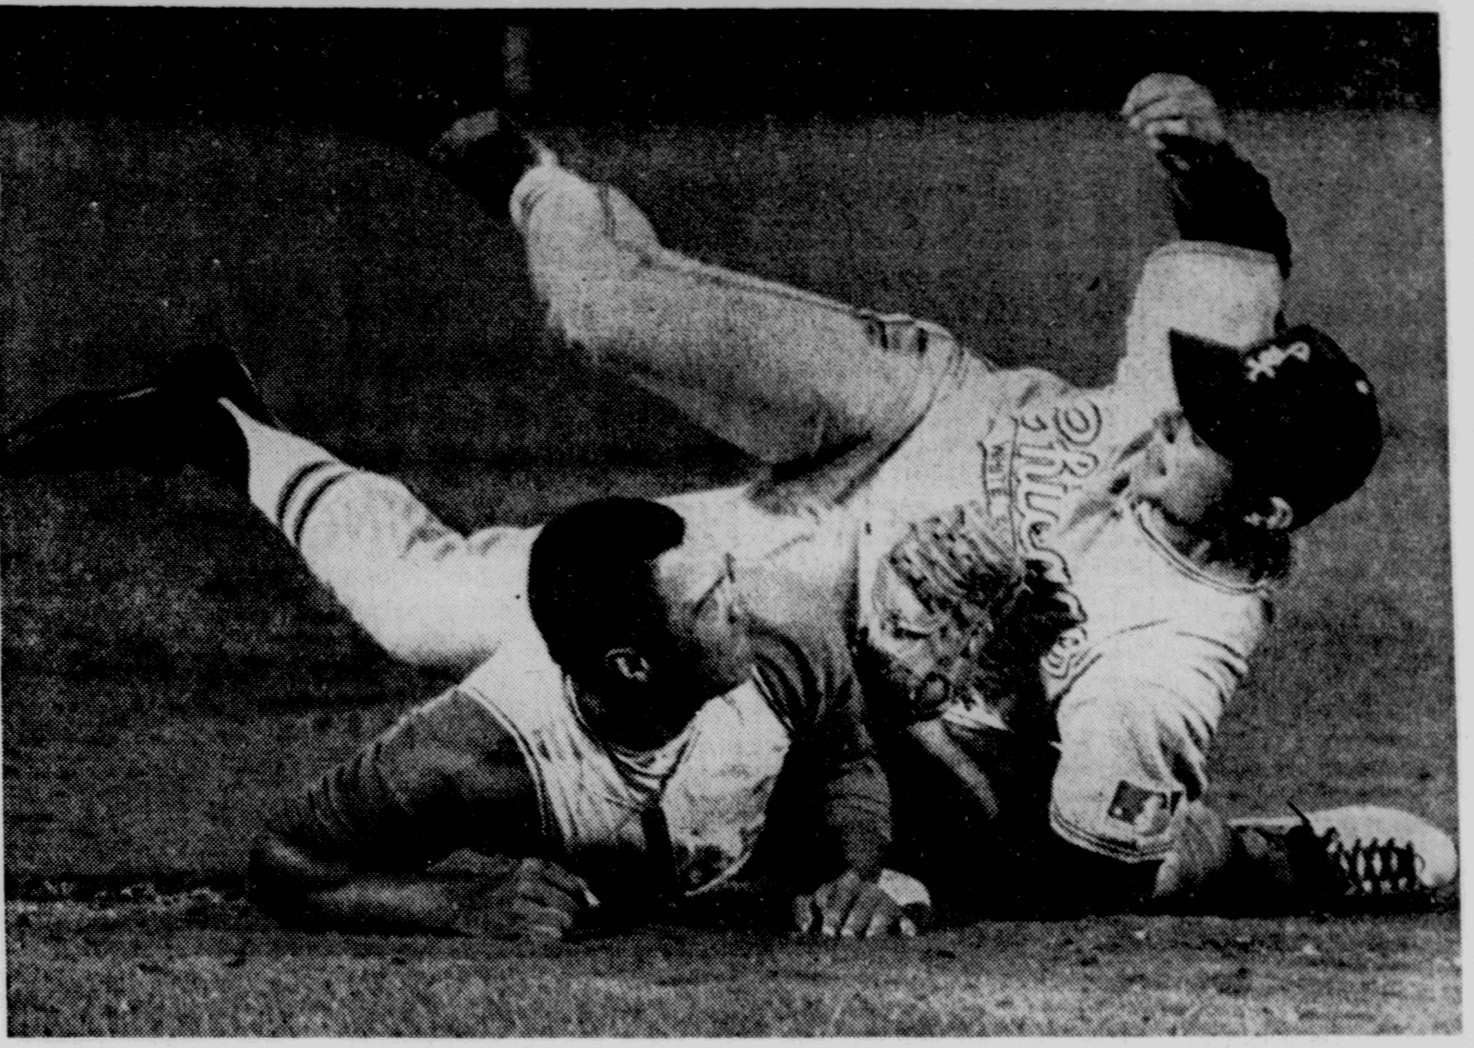
Hall was hired last week as head coach at St. Louis University, but was released from that contract today. He told St. Louis officials that he wanted his release for personal reasons.

Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp revealed that Hall never had been off the payroll and is expected to resume his duties within a day or two.

"I told him to take a couple of days off and go fishing to see if he can't relax again," Rupp said.

Cadet Netters Win

San Rafael Military Academy evened its season tennis record at 3-3 with a 3-2 win over Concordia High in Oakland yesterday. The Cadets won it by sweeping the singles matches on wins by Stu Good, Craig Jordan and Jack Codd.



DOWN-AND OUT — Chicago White Sox third baseman Bill Melton topples over Reggie Jackson of Oakland after tagging Jackson out. Jackson tried to stretch a double into a triple but was nailed on a perfect throw from the outfield in last night's game. (UPI Telephoto)

PREP BASEBALL SURPRISE

San Marin Leads League

They were serving upside down cake in the Marin County Athletic League baseball race yesterday.

Form went on a faraway trip as San Marin High School, the league's newest entry, took over first place all by its lonesome after whipping Drake 6-1 in San Anselmo, while pre-season favorite Novato was getting an early shock, 4-3, at San Rafael High.

The rest of the league closed up behind the Mustangs, as Terra Linda, an opening-game victim of San Marin, bounced back to dump Marin Catholic, 8-2, and Redwood evened its win-loss mark at 1-1 by nicking Tamalpais 2-1 in Mill Valley.

BIG TRIPLE

Hot-hitting Jim Thompson's bases-loaded triple in the second inning was all the Mustangs needed against Drake, now — San Marin collected six hits off Drake hurling, two by Ken Gnoss as Steve Francis hurled his second MCAL win, this one a five-hitter.

Clark Jamison got three of the Drake hits while Dave Alvarado drove in the only run with a double in the final frame.

Rafael Gallardo checked Novato (1-1) without a hit for five innings while his mates were breaking up a scoreless ballgame with a four-run sixth inning.

TOO LATE

Novato finally came alive, but too late. They got a run from Gallardo on a bases-loaded walk in the sixth and two more on Russ Dillon's two-run homer in the seventh.

Gallardo allowed just two hits while the Bulldogs were raking Novato hurler Steve McNally for 11 safeties.

Terra Linda bounced back behind a 10-strikeout, two-hit hurling gem by ace Mike Timmel and a nine-hit attack, most of which came in a five-run third inning.

TWO PAIR

Gary Trono and Dewey Forrey each had a pair of hits for the Trojans.

Redwood's Larry Hoffman allowed six hits in helping te Giants to their win while pinch-hitter Jerry Piro drove in the winning run in the seventh in-

MASTERS GOLF

Roberto Sentimental Pick

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Robberto de Vicenzo, the aging Argentine who gained his greatest fame in a triumph over tragedy, was a sentimental favorite to win the 33rd Masters Golf Tournament today, but the smart money was banked on the almost-forgotten Big Three.

Jack Nicklaus, the ominous Ohio strongboy who always ranks as the man to beat, four-time champion Arnold Palmer and tough minded little Gary Player — a trio that once dominated the game—were in the forefront of challengers as an elite field of 83 prepared for tomorrow's start of one of the world's four major tournaments.

CANDIDATES

Other top candidates for the famous green jacket that goes to the winner include Gene Littler, the season's leading money winner, Miller Barber, PGA champ Julius Boros, laughing Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open title-holder; Tom Weiskopf and Bill Casper, 1968 pro of the year.

"I could not cry—I did not keep it inside, De Vicenzo said of the scoring error that cost him a tie with Bob Goalby for last year's title.

"But I still do not feel that I lose the Masters," said the gallant gaucho.

De Vicenzo, 46 next week, shot a closing 65, seven under par on the flower-bedecked, 6,980-yard Augusta National Course last year for a share of the title with Goalby. But he signed a card that showed a 66 and, under the rules of golf, was stuck with the higher score.

NO COMPLAINTS

But he didn't complain then, hasn't complained since. And his unselfish stand in taking the blame made him, as he put it, "a little money and a lot of friends."

Palmer, Player and Nicklaus, however have won Eight Masters championships, 19 major titles and, for the first time in years, again form the top threesome.

Player, the tough little food fadist from South Africa, has overcome the lethargy that marked his play after winning the U.S. Open in 1965, won his second British Open Championship last year and again has the desire, the determination that made him one of the world's most feared shot-makers.

"I'm playing just super," he said. "I've never played better in my life."

TROUBLES

Nicklaus, not yet 30 but already acknowledged as probably the best the world has seen, has been troubled with an erratic driver, the warclub that is perhaps his best weapon.

But he took a week off to straighten out the kinks and, as always, has to be rated as the man to beat.

Palmer, a legend in his own time and the most magnetic personality the game has ever known, won his last major title in this tournament five years ago.

Palmer is troubled with an aching hip but, suddenly, is hitting the ball like the man who put the word "charge" in golf's dictionary.

"I'm hitting the ball better than I have in years," said the muscular millionaire, uncharacteristically grim and tight-lipped. "if everything holds together I may get it going again."

His practice rounds include a 63 and a pair of 69s.

GOOD START

Odom Hurls A's To Win

OAKLAND (UPI) — John "Blue Moon" Odom claims he doesn't enjoy pitching in cool weather but nobody is going to believe him after his opening night performance.

The 23-year-old righthander checked in with a sparkling three-hitter last night as the Oakland Athletics posted a 5-2 victory over Chicago before 23,610 fans at the Coliseum.

"I don't like pitching in cold weather," Odom said after the game. "I can't get loose."

GETS TOUGHER

But as the night went on, and the temperature dropped to the low 50s, Odom got tougher. After giving up single runs in the fourth and fifth innings, he retired 13 of the final 14 batters to record the complete game victory.

Only a walk to Bill Melton in the ninth inning kept him from zipping the White Sox down in order over the final 4 1-3 innings.

Odom, who struck out six, got hitting support from Dick Green, who clubbed a three-run homer in the fifth to wipe out the 2-0 Chicago lead.

Actually, the four-bagger came about only because of Green's inability to sacrifice two runners into scoring position.

TAKES SIGN OFF

"I gave him the bunt signal on the first two pitches," Manager Hank Bauer said.

"He (Chicago pitcher Gary Peters) was coming in high to Green and the infield was charging so I took the sign off on the third pitch," he added. "Besides, I still had Rick Monday coming up next."

But Green took advantage of a fastball and slugged a homer over the left field barrier at the 340-foot mark.

Green said Bauer's move did not surprise him.

"I was expecting a high, fast ball, got it and hit it," he said with finality. "But that's the kind of pitch you'd expect in a situation like that (two runs behind, runners on first and second and nobody out)."

SINGLES

After Peters had checked the A's on just one hit over the first four innings, Sal Bando opened the frame with a single that rolled through the White Sox infield when the third baseman and shortstop collided.

It was followed by one of Danny Cater's three hits and, in turn, by Green's clout.

Cater's next hit, bunt singles by Green and Monday, Peters' throwing error and Dave Duncan's sacrifice fly in the seventh gave Odom two more runs to work with.

The White Sox runs came in the fourth and fifth with the latter on Peters' home run just over the right field barrier at the foul line.

The two teams were to close out the series today with an afternoon contest. Jim Nash was scheduled to pitch for Oakland and for Chicago Joel Horlen or Tommy John.

They're The Same A's, Just One Year Older

OAKLAND — The complement of young men ensconsed in 25 Charles O. Finley contemporary uniforms this season has the appearance of a touring theatrical troupe that enjoyed a middling 1968 run, disposed of a few stagehands and understudies in the frost months and now returns with optimism to the same old stand.

Briefly, the A's ain't changed their personnel much.

The fellows who played with regularity in the final, heart-throbbing weeks of '68, when Oakland tried vainly to clasp fifth place to its sagging bosom, are still at their appointed positions.

AROUND THE horn, as we say, there is 1968 leading hitter Danny Carter at first, gusty Dick Green on second, phantom MVP Bert Campaneris at short and newlywed Sal Bando on third.

YOUNG DAVE DUNCAN, the muscular Texan still being touted as a lad "with a lot of power potential," will again be the first string catcher.

Talk about your instant replays.

But, ah, there is a difference. All of these fellows are now a year older and, presumably, wiser. Manager Hank Bauer fondly hopes that Monday and Jackson have learned to look at pitches and hit them rather than merely waving.

HE MUST yearn, too, for a more relaxed, but at the same time energetic Bando — who tends to wilt in the heat. And for Christmas methinks Bauer desired fewer fielding boo-boos from the wall-shy Hershberger and a lessening in Campy's ambitions to be a home run hitter.

BEHIND HIS First Eight, Bauer has three holdover utility men in the infield and two new back-up men in the outfield. Ted Kubiak can go at second, short or third; John Donaldson, who slumped from .276 in 1967 to .221 a year ago (when Green took away the job at second), is still around; Ramon Webster, who split the 1968 season at Oakland and Vancouver (where he hit .312), will be around to back up Carter at first.

The reserve outfielders are Tommy Reynolds, who hit .239 with the A's in Kansas City in 1965 and then plopped to .206 with the Mets in '67, and good-field, no-hit Joe Nossek, whose major credential is that he played briefly with Minnesota in their 1965 World Series against the Dodgers.

BACKING UP catcher Duncan are two more holdovers, old pro Jim Pagliaroni and Phil Roof. If the A's are fighting for first place in the West and Duncan still shows nothing more than potential, you can expect to see Pagliaroni getting steady employment.

Oakland's pitching is 70 per cent holdover. Gone from last year's 10-man staff are veteran relievers Diego Segui and Jack Aker, both grabbed by Seattle in the expansion draft, and bulky southpaw fireman Warren Bogle Jr., currently shedding baby fat in the Army.

THEY'VE BEEN replaced by rookies Rollie Fingers and Roberto Rodriquez, both righthanders, and lefty Jim Roland, a five-year veteran of little distinction purchased during spring training from the Twins.

Lew Krausse, the A's home opener hurler in '68, will now be the bullpen ace, a la Segui. Holdovers Ed Sprague and Paul Lindblad will join Krausse and the three newcomers on the relief staff. Which leaves us the four-man starting rotation of John Odom, Jim Nash, Chuck Dobson and Jim Hunter.

And they, too, are one year older.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The 'New Guys' Triumph

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres wasted little time striking a blow for the National League's expansion clubs—for and against them.

The Expos and Padres made their debuts yesterday in the league's latest expansion with glorious victories, but, lo and behold, the victims were the league's first expansion teams—the New York Mets and Houston Astros.

The Expos swung first in the afternoon, flooring New York 11-10, leaving the Mets the only expansion club still looking for an opening day victory—after eight years. The Padres followed at night with a 2-1 decision over the Astros, who won their first opening game ever in 1962 and since have had trouble recovering their momentum.

In other games the Chicago Cubs and Ernie Banks outhomered Philadelphia 7-6 in 11 innings. Felix Millan slugged his first grand slam homer as Atlanta whomped San Francisco 10-2, and Pittsburgh struggled 14 innings to subdue St. Louis 6-2.

Montreal really unloaded against the Mets' Tom Seaver, Cal Koonce, Al Jackson and Ron Taylor as pitcher Dan McGinn, Rusty Staub and finally Jose Laboy walloped homers.

Laboy, a minor league player for 10 years, unloaded with two on in the eighth inning for a decisive 11-6 lead before a disappointed crowd of 44,541 in New York.

The Mets, last with the least, made it close with four runs in the ninth, three on rookie Duffy Dyer's pinch homer. New York outhit Montreal, 15-12, and to add to the insult, the winning pitcher was former Met Don Shaw.

"It's the darndest opening day game I've ever seen," said Expos' manager Gene Mauch. "Both clubs were keyed up. Both were loosey goosey with those bats."

The Mets also supplied San Diego with a winning pitcher—Dick Selma, who hurled a five-hitter, struck out 12 and had two of the Padres' four hits.

San Diego didn't even have a hit until Ed Spiezio homered with one out in the fifth to tie the game 1-1. The following inning, Wilson hit Roberto Pena with a pitch and one out later Ollie Brown doubled him home before the crowd of 23,370 in San Diego.

"We're not such a bad ball club," Selma said. "We've got better hitting than the Mets ever had."

To which Brown added, chuckling, "we might go undefeated."

In Chicago, Willie Smith's two-run pinch homer brought the Cubs victory in the 11th inning, but it was effervescent Ernie Banks who got them that far.

Ageless Ernie, 38 years young, stroked the 475th and 476th homers of his 17-year career for Chicago's first five runs, outdueling rookie Don Money of the Phillies, who hit his first two homers for four runs, the second with two on in the ninth. It was Money who doubled in another run to put the Phillies briefly ahead in the 11th.

Pinch-hitter Manny Sanguillen singled in Pittsburgh's two tie-breaking runs and Matty Alou drove in two more, all with two out, to beat the league's defending champions.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Seattle, K.C. Surprise Wins

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early or late, expansion is great and the American League's two new clubs used opposing formulas yesterday to win their opening games by identical scores.

The Seattle Pilots struck early, erupting for four runs in the first inning and holding off the California Angels 4-3 in a night game at Anaheim. The Kansas City Royals scored on Joe Keough's bases-loaded single in the 12th and nipped the Minnesota Twins 4-3.

In another night contest, Oakland whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2, while world champion Detroit trimmed Cleveland 6-2 and Boston edged Baltimore 5-4 in 12 innings during the afternoon. The New York Yankees and Washington were not scheduled.

Manager Joe Schultz of the Pilots, asked for comment on the surprising expansion victories, said, "It goes to show the owners did their job" by making some good players available. Seattle's Tommy harper led off against Jim McGlothlin with a double and Mike Hegan homered. Tommy Davis' single, a hit batsman, a walk and Gerry McNertney's single added two more runs.

The Angels scored in the second on three singles, on Jim Fregosi's homer in the fifth and on two walks, a sacrifice and an infield out in the ninth.

But they ran themselves out of a possible big inning in the second. Aurelio Rodriguez and Tom Satriano opened with hits. Hegan crashed into the right field wall and was knocked cold trying to catch Bobby Knoop's drive, but Knoop passed Satriano on the basepaths and was called out. Hegan suffered a sprained left wrist and bruised hip.

The Royals tied Minnesota 3-3 with two runs in the bottom of the sixth but couldn't win it until the 12th before 17,688 fans who welcomed baseball back to Kansas City after a one-year absence.

Harmon Killbrew's error opened the door for two unearned runs in the sixth. Joe Foy began the winning rally in the 12th with a one-out infield hit and a passed ball and two intentional walks around a wild pitch filled the bases.

Rookie Manager Billy Martin pulled in his outfield but Keough drilled the ball over right fielder Tony Oliva's head. Lou Piniella, acquired last week from Seattle, paced the Royals with a double and three singles. Graig Nettles homered for the Twins.

"I'd have to say this is my biggest thrill as a manager," said Kansas City's Joe Gordon. "The big thrill I got out of it was the way the guys were all pulling for each other. I'll tell you this—I'd have been real disappointed if we'd lost. The guys had battled so hard all day."

Denny McLain held Cleveland to three hits and Al Kaline walloped a two-run homer as Detroit opened defense of its 1968 flag. McLain, who was treated Monday for an inflamed pitching shoulder, blanked the Indians over the last seven innings after yielding a homer to Larry Brown in the first and another run in the second.

Norm Cash's two-run double off Luis Tiant tied the game in the third and Kaline connected two innings later. A record Detroit opening day crowd of 53,572 was on hand.

A sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Dalton Jones delivered the winning run as the Red Sox downed the Orioles before 36,100 in Baltimore.

Boston's Tony Conigliaro and Baltimore's Frank Robinson traded two-run homers in the 10th. It was Conigliaro's first since Aug. 8, 1967, 10 days before he was beaned by a pitch that threatened to end his career. Mark Belanger also homered for the Orioles.

See A Mountain Lion? Shoot It With Camera

The Novato area has had another mountain lion scare with some bitter words being exchanged because no immdeiate hunts have been started for this animal.

Novato police, Marin Humane Society and probably the Department of Firsh and Game have been criticized for their apparent unconcern. I checked the area, hoping to see this animal, but found no trace.

The questions come up: "What if I had seen it? What would I have done?"

I wouldn't have shot the lion and I don't believe any other conservationist would either. These animals are a rarity, with probably only 600 or so left throughout the state. Bounty on this animal has been removed and the Department of Fish and Game is hoping for legislation that will make the mountain lion a game animal.

THIS WOULD mean that the lion would be protected most of the time, hunting for them legal only a month or so during the year. A hunter would have to be licensed and probably have a lion tag, just the way the present bear season operates.

Despite stories about persons being attacked or killed by mountain lions, we are able to find only one verified instance of such an occurance in California. In this instance, a school teacher and a boy in Santa Clara County died of rabies after the attack. The attacking lion was no more normal than a rabid dog.

FISH AND GAME people feel that mountain lions are harmless. The Fish and Gamer who would shoot a lion probably would be serverly criticized by all other Fish and Game personnel.

This, then, is the reason for apparant unconcern. Can you imagine getting to Novato, seeing a lion up on the hillside, and then refusing to shoot? The people who have the wildest thoughts about mointain lions would never understand. There's no law that says anyone has to shoot a lion, so what would one do in such a case?

WHEN THE bounty system was in effect, only four lions were bountied by Marin hunters from 1907 through 1967. An adult lion would kill about one deer per week, it would tear open the deer's stomach, eat its fill, usually about eight pounds of heart, liver, intestines and lungs. After feeding, a lion will usually cover the deer with brush and earth. No finds of such slain animals have been reported in Marin.

IF YOU ask me, I think no one in Marin County should worry about lions, but if you should see one, shoot it with a camera and you will have a collector's item for sure.

As for myself, I don't believe there is a lion in all of Marin County.

BOWLING TIPS

4-9

What do you think about just before you start your approach? Do you catch yourself figuring your score — what it will be if you get another strike? Or worrying about the outcome of the game if you don't get a mark? Such matters should be put aside until you are back on the bench. Intense concentration on one thing — delivering the ball properly — should occupy all your thoughts as you get ready to throw.

Oaks Dump Denver In Playoffs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warren Armstrong, a 6-foot-2 backcourter, used to pop them in for Wichita State in his college career.

He showed the Denver Rockets his skills in scoring 42 points to lead Oakland to a 121-99 road victory in the American Basketball Association playoffs last night. The victory gave the Oaks a 2-1 lead in their best-of-7 Western Division semifinal playoffs.

KENTUCKY WINS

Kentucky also scored on the road to take a 1-0 lead over Indiana in their Eastern Division semifinal playoffs. The Colonels, led by Darel Carrier's 40 points, beat the Pacers 128-118 at Indianapolis.

Armstrong also grabbed 15 rebounds in helping the Oaks down the Rockets in a rough game. Denver's Byron Beck and Oakland's Ira Harge got in a fight during the first half, although neither was ejected.

Among Carrier's 40 points were five 3-point baskets and 13 of 16 free throws.

Angry Housewife Beats Up Ref

LONDON (AP) — An enraged housewife ran onto a soccer field, brought down the referee with a flying tackle and started beating him up in front of 26,000 cheering fans last night.

It took five burly policemen—helmets knocked over their ears—to haul Mrs. Sheila West off the prostrate referee and lug her out of the stadium.

"We want a riot, we want a riot," chanted the fans.

Mrs. West, 30, went into action as Welsh referee Tom Reynolds blew the final whistle in a scoreless tie between West Ham United and Stoke City.

Seals To Host L.A. Kings Tonight

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Seals and Los Angeles Kings, tied at 2-2 in the West Division playoffs, tangle at the Oakland Coliseum tonight at 8 o'clock in the fifth game of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup semifinal round.

Both teams drilled yesterday, the Kings being bolstered by centers Bryan Campbell and Skip Krake and defenseman Jacques Lemieux, all newly called from the Springfield, Mass., farm.

Red Kelly expected to move Brent Hughes, Los Angeles defenseman who suffered a groin injury in the fourth game was listed as a doubtful starter.

If he can't make it, Coach Rod Wall to defense and use Campbell at Wall's left wing position.

Seals' Coach Fred Glover complained that his club has been giving "a spasmodic effort" and expressed hope it could put together a consistent 60-minute game.

We're not a fancy club," he said. "We have to work hard and work hard all the time."

Without naming names, he added. "It hasn't been a case of all our men letting down subconsciously, but some do."

After the game, the two teams will fly to Los Angeles for the sixth game tomorrow night.

If necessary, they will return to Oakland for the seventh game Sunday. The winner faces St. Louis for the West title.

Santa Rosa Victorious Over Tars

Santa Rosa Junior College proved to be a tough cookie to crack for College of Marin's baseball and tennis squads, both of them hopefuls in their respective Camino Norte Conference races.

Santa Rosa used three pitchers to blank the Tar baseballers, 3-0, in Santa Rosa and the COM tennis squad took a 6;1 licking at the hands of the Bear Cubs in Kentfield.

Mike Terry hurled respectably for the Tars, giving up single runs in the first, third and seventh innings but the Tars left 11 runners stranded as three Santa Rosa double plays snuffed out rallies.

Larry Husbands was the only Tar to win in the tennis match as College of Marin dropped both doubles and four singles matches.

The Tar tennis team is now 3-2 in conference play while the Marin baseball record stands at 5-3.

Athletics Reach 25-Man Limit

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics reached the 25-player limit yesterday by optioning pitcher Roberto Rodriquez to their triple-A Des Moines, Iowa farm club in the American Association.

The A's signed veteran reliever John Wyatt Monday and were one player over the permitted opening day limit.

Stock Cars Open Season At Petaluma

Stock car racing opens its season at the Petaluma Fairgrounds Friday with qualifying at 7 p.m. and the first race getting underway at 8 p.m.

According to John Soares, race promoter, Petaluma once again will be linked with the Antioch track as a circuit which most drivers will follow.

Antioch was scheduled to open last Saturday night, but wet weather forced a postponement until April 12.

Soares said he expects Petaluma to continue its attendance growth this year. "On the stock car circuit in Northern California, Antioch was the top track and Petaluma was third," Soares said.

"With the growth in Petaluma and the area, I know the track will continue to attract large crowds," the former racer said.

SAME RULES

Rules for the sportsman and stocker classes are essentially the same as in 1968. The two classes will be run during the evening with heat races, trophy dashes, semi-mains and main events in both divisions.

One new rule this year is to limit the stockers to new drivers or those who haven't moved up to the sportsman class yet. Soares said that stocker drivers will have a certain number of years to move to the faster cars.

He added that nothing in the rules this year will help the machines go faster. "Those sportsman are going around that track at high speeds now . . . it's not a question of more speed now, but handling," Soares explained.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

New Form 1040X Permits You To File An Amended Return

Wikel

We have a new form — 1040X.

This form is for filing amended returns.

You can still use Claim 843 or the old 1040 to amend an individual income tax return.

However, the IRS prefers that you use the new form 1040X.

1040X is used to amend individual income tax returns only and is not to be used for any other purpose.

IF YOU ERR

If, after you have filed your tax return, you find you made a mistake, you should immediately file an amended return. Claim the refund due because of the mistake, or pay the additional tax you owe.

If there is any additional tax due for 1968 and the amended return is filed and additional tax paid by April 15, 1969, there will be no penalty.

If you find that you would have done better to itemize your deductions instead of using the standard deduction, you can still amend your return. If you used form 1040A or the standard deduction for 1965, 1966 or 1967, you can still file an amended return and itemize your deductions.

If there is a refund due, an amended return will get it for you.

AT ANY TIME

You can file an amended return at any time and pay an additional tax.

You can file an amended return and claim any additional refunds any time within three years of the due date of the return you wish to amend, or within two years from the time you paid the tax — whichever is the longer period.

There is no reason for you to pay more taxes than the law requires or be timid in taking every deduction permitted by the rules.

Your tax return should contain a full and clear explanation of every item, and you should keep available all papers, bills, checks, receipts, etc., in connection with your return.

COMPUTER CHECKS

Uncle Sam has many sources of information concerning your income besides your tax return. In addition, returns are now being processed by computers and compared with certain standards established by the IRS.

More than ever before it is important that your income tax return be completely and accurately prepared. Your careful attention to the details of your tax return can save both you and the government needless time and expense answering questions the computers will generate if your return is inaccurate or incomplete.

Wall Street Has Second Good Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks carved out their second successive advance today. Turnover was heavy, primarily the result of some sizable large block transactions.

The UPI Stock Market Indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was up 0.55 per cent on 1,552 issues on the tape. There were 841 advances, 477 declines.

Among the large block issues were Occidental Petroleum and Interco, Inc., each trading blocks of more than 100,000 shares. Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line traded a block of almost 350,000 shares.

IBM and Control Data paced the electronic advance while Collins Radio, which is holding exploratory merger discussions with Honeywell, continued to edge higher after gaining more than 3 Tuesday. Honeywell moved in small fractions much of the session.

Burroughs, Magnavox, Fairchild Camera and Motorola also were on the plus side late in the day, as was RCA.

A few oil issues added more than a point, while steels generally tacked on fractions. Motors and chemicals were narrowly mixed.

Broker Is Must For Stock Sales

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to sell some stock to help with my grandson's education. Do I send the certificates to the companies involved. Can you tell me anything about Maust? — B. B.

A. After establishing an account with a local broker he will sell the shares in question. The actual certiifcates must be in his hands within five business days after the date of the sale. Before disposing of your shares you should discuss with a trusted adviser which of your holdings should be sold.

As to your second question, Maust Coal and Coke Corp. is the object of an acquisition offer by Island Creek Coal, a subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum. The transaction at $30 million in cash works out to about $3 a share.

Q. In a year I retire from business (tailor) with $160 Social Security. My wife and I own three mutual funds, 1,800 shares in all; 25 Consolidated Food; 75 General Telephone and $20,000 of U.S. Savings Bonds. We have $3,000 in the bank and $9,000 in life insurance. Should I make any changes this year? — A. C.

A. Your life insurance is rather small but if you have your wife also protected in the ownership of the stocks, mutual funds and savings bonds, the income from these investments will take the place of more ample insurance coverage.

The important question now is the amount of retirement income available from your savings. You have not yet built up any one of your three mutual funds to the $10,000 they require for monthly withdrawal plan, although two of them are close to it.

You should therefore build up the two largest funds by using a small portion of your savings bonds added to the proceeds from redemption of the third fund. I would also switch your two stocks into Potomac Electric Power — a utility issue that yields over 5 per cent from a partially tax-exempt dividend.

We print any attorney's firm name 45,000 times

Legal notices in the I-J have some unusual legal mathematics. They reach 45,000 homes in Marin daily. Because the I-J reaches county-wide—45,000 copies. Terrific equasion: SMITH, SMYTHE & SMITHE (or any firm name), multiplied by all I-J homes and readers, adds up to recognition for the firm from Petaluma to Sausalito!

Which is quite an aid in helping readers select an attorney when they need one. (And they better select one if they have a legal problem—or maybe have more problems.) To get back: I-J legal notices are also precisely, accurately handled by our legal-eagle advertising department. Makes life easier for everyone!

Bolinas-Stinson School Budget Includes Raises

A tentative 1969-70 budget totaling $217,453, including raises of 6 to 6.5 per cent for teacher was presented to the Bolinas-Stinson School District board last night. The current budget is $201,626.

The board set a budget meeting for 7:30 p.m. April 17 at Bolinas School. Supt. C. B. Larison said the tentative budget is based on the same number of employees, with the teachers' salary scale rising from the present range of $6,100 to $12,200 to a range of $6,500 to $13,010 in 10 steps.

The board got bad news from Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino on itis proposed $342,500 bond issue for new school facilities. Godino reported that the legal interest limit for school bonds is 5 per cent, and in today's market such bonds might not be salable.

Godino said legislation is pending to raise the limit to 6 per cent, and he will delay legal publication for the June 10 bond election as long as possible to see if the 6 per cent limit can be applied.

Trustee Edward Z. Lewis was named to select a committee to write pro-bond arguments for the June Ballot. The committe will meet at 8 p.m. April 22 at Bolinas School.

Appraisal reports were received for parcels the district wants for the proposed added facilities, and for the Stinson Beach school site. Appraisal was $5,700 for a half-acre parcel and house owned by the Longley family, $18,000 on a 1.8-acre Longley parcel, and $14,600 for a .73-acre parcel owned by the Born family. All adjoin the Bolinas School. Appraisal of the Stinson Beach school site was $29,670 for its 1.6 acres.

The district's plan is to put all classes on the Bolinas campus, financing improvements with the bonds and money from sale of the Stinson Beach site.

UNIFICATION — Ordered a letter sent to the County Committee on School District organization repeating four board positions: Opposition to a proposed three-way split of Tamalpais High School District, opposing a unification election this year, recommending any unification plan be decided by district-wide vote rather than separate vote counts in the three high school attendance areas, and requesting that the Bolinas-Stinson district remain in the Tamalpais High School attendance area in any future unification plan.

CONTRACTS — Accepted Larison's recommendation that 1969-70 contracts be offered all present teachers in the district.

TESTS — Was told Stanford diagnostic tests have been ordered for pupils in fourth through seventh grades. Other pupils are already tested under other programs.

Gearbox 'Bug' Stalls Train

BOSTON (AP) — The gleaming new TurboTrain, which made its maiden run between Boston and New York yesterday, was left at the station today because of a "bug" in its gearbox.

The bug was a frozen bearing brought about by a broken oil line in the gearbox of the jet-powered train.

"It is most embarrassing and unfortunate for all this to happen on the second day of service," said a spokesman for United Aircraft Corp., developers of the three-car unit.

The spokesman said it was the first time in 23 months of testing that such a problem had developed.

Majority In Accord: Tax Hike Needed

Five of the seven candidates for the Mill Valley School Board of Trustees agree that the district's tax rate must be raised.

John H. Cutler, William P. Everts Jr., Joyce Ladar, Dr. John R. Lee, and Robert E. Murphy are all in complete accord that the need for funds is great and immediate.

The dissenters, John G. Eliot and William T. Broderick feel that the present board of trustees hasn't told the public why the increase is necessary.

These views were revealed last night at a candidates' night at Alto School sponsored by the Alto Parent-Teachers Association.

All aspirants were asked to present their views on the proposed 75-cent tax rate increase, reports to parents and individual instruction for students.

Broderick said he "is not in agreement with the 75-cent hike in the tax limit and that the board should have held the line at 38 cents."

He further stated that "no tax increase means a curtailing of programs" but has no comment on which programs could or should be cut.

Eliot blamed his "lack of enthusiasm" for the increase on the "dismal failure of the present board to let the people know what the increased revenue will be used for."

Mrs. Ladar, supporting the increase said that "the district's reserve fund has been practically depleted. There's no money for maintenance, we can't buy needed equipment, and now that state funds have been cut off the kindergarten program faces curtailment."

"If the tax limit increase is approved then we will probably need 55 cents of it next year," she added.

Cutler, also touching on kindergarten cutbacks, stated that "currently students are attending 200-minute sessions and the teachers are working as a team with one working in the morning and another the afternoon but with an overlap during the lunch period. Without state funds we'll have to go back to 150-minute sessions with one teacher, unless the district has the money to replace the state contribution."

Dr. Lee said he feels "individual instruction and the tax load are directly connected.

"How can we have the educational system we want without the funds to implement it?", he questioned.

He further stated that "it all boils down to a yes or no vote when the issue is placed before the public and I see only disaster if the no vote wins."

Murphy declared that "without the additional funds the pupil load per teacher will have to be increased and we've been trying to accomplish just the opposite for several years."

"If teachers have more pupils individual attention must suffer and we'll be right back to regimented classrooms," he added.

Everts, only incumbent seeking re-election, touched lightly on the tax issue saying that he is "in favor."

He pointed out that there has been a "shift in educational philosophy and that the structure is now fitted to the individual rather than the group."

When asked about improving communication between parents and the board, Cutler said "board members have to listen and try to understand when talking to parents."

He proposed that members of the board sit at the district office one night each week on a rotating basis so that parents, or teachers, could have someone to bring problems to.

Eliot called for "more balance on the board," making it to represent all the community.

Mock Elected

Ernest T. Mock was elected chairman of the Corte Madera Sanitary Commission, secretary Portia Fitzgerald reported today. Mock replaces Herber C. Leney, who was president of the Corte Madera Sanitary District board which went out of existence April 1 when the district was taken over by the Town of Corte Madera.

Two Veterans, A New Face In Mayor Race

San Rafael's three-way race for mayor at the polls Tuesday will be a rematch of Mayor C. Paul Bettini and the man he defeated in 1965, Dr. Charles W. Aby, with Arthur F. Deiters rounding out the field.

Bettini is seeking his third two-year term as mayor. Aby resigned from the council in 1967 after serving 16 years.

Deiters, professional treasurer hunter, businessman and importer, is making his first bid for public office in San Rafael.

DR. CHARLES W. ABY, 63, is an osteopathic physician and surgeon and a former member of the state Board of Osteopathic Examiners.

He is a past president and charter member of the San Rafael Optimist Club and former lieutenant governor of Optimists International for the North Bay Zone.

Aby served as chairman of the San Rafael Sanitation District from 1953 to 57 and was chairman of the Bay Area Pollution Control District board while a member of the city council.

A native of San Jose, he moved to San Rafael in 1945 from Whittier, Los Angeles County. He received his O.D. degree from the College of Osteopathetic Physicians and Surgeons.

During World War II, Aby served as a Navy chief pharmacist's mate in the South Pacific. He lives at 20 Eye Street and has two children.

Aby supports passage for four propositions on the ballot which would convert the positions of city clerk, attorney, police chief and treasurer from elective to appointive positions. He is against a fifth proposition which would change the mayor's term from two to four years.

C. PAUL BETTINI, 51, is an insurance broker, owner of the firm of Allen, Bettini and Carter in San Anselmo.

A native of San Rafael, Bettini formerly served as a member of the San Rafael Board of Education for 11 years, six as board president.

He attended schools in San Rafael and Golden Gate College in San Francisco.

An Army veteran of World War II, he served three years in England with the rank of master sergeant. He is past president of the Marin County Insurance Agents Association, a member of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club, and Wilkins Post 37, American Legion.

He and his wife, Margaret, and four sons live at 23 Chestnut Avenue.

Bettini also favors passage of the measures to make the city clerk, attorney, police chief and treasurer appointive. He favors the proposition to change the mayor's term to four years.

The incumbent mayor favors another proposition on the ballot which would expand the library board, fire commission and parks and recreation commission from five to seven members. Deiters also is for the measure while Aby opposes it.

ARTHUR F. DEITERS, 63, is president of Hidden Treasure Inc., a Nevada firm; Northern California distributor for Rayscope metal detectors and operator of the Adobe Hut and Treasure Chest in San Rafael.

A native of New York, Deiters received a degree in business administration from City College of New York.

Deiters has criticized charter amendments which will appear on Tuesday's ballot to make the jobs of police chief, city attorney and city clerk and treasurer appointive, saying all city officials should be elected.

He also advocates limiting councilmen to two consecutive four-year terms.

Tam Climb Pays Buddha Tribute

A band of 95 hikers—seeking enlightenment much the same way Gautama Buddha did centuries ago — strode clockwise up Mount Tamalpais yesterday on a warm, spring day.

The hike marked what some believe to be Buddha's 2,532 birthday. It also was the fifth annual Mount Tamalpais march, begun by poets Allen Ginsberg and Gary Snyder. Neither was present yesterday.

The reason for the clockwise direction of the march is because that's the way Buddha climbed Snow Mountain in Nepal.

Dr. Neville Warwick, a 37-year-old medical administrator who studied Buddhism in India, led the hike, occasionally blowing into a conch shell which, he said, helped "bring the mind into focus."

Work-Furlough Convict Missing

A San Quentin convict due for parole on May 30 fled yesterday from Crittenden Center, a halfway house in Oakland, prison officials reported today.

They said Eddie G. Norman, who was transferred from the prison to the halfway house Feb. 27, left for his job in the East Bay yesterday but never showed up. He did not return to the house last night.

Norman, 27, was serving a five years to life sentence for armed robbery and six months to five years for auto theft from Los Angeles County. He had served at San Quentin since 1966, authorities said.

NICHOLAS M. SUNTZEFF
Resigns from Family Service

Suntzeff To Leave Agency

Nicholas M. Suntzeff, executive director of the Family Service Agency of Marin County since 1956, has resigned, Clinton Jones III, president of the agency board, announced today.

Suntzeff will enter private practice in family counseling, Jones reported, and will also serve as a consultant in the field.

The effective date of his resignation will depend on when a new director is found. May 15 has been set as a tentative date, however.

Jones reported the agency has grown in staff and caseload under Suntzeff's direction until it now offers a full countywide counseling service to families under stress. It is a member of the United Bay Area Crusade and has been prominent in the national family service movement under Suntzeff's leadership, Jones added.

A native of San Francisco, Suntzeff holds a master's degree from the George Warren Brown School of Social Work of Washington University, St. Louis, and a bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of the Pacific.

Suntzeff and his wife, Jean, have two children and live at 64 Presidio Avenue, Corte Madera. They plan to continue living in Marin.

Vatican Slates Cardinal Rites

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The secret consistory at which Pope Paul VI will create 33 cardinals, four from the United States, will be held at 10 a.m., April 28 in the consistorial hall, the Vatican announced today.

The Pope announced the consistory March 28. It is the fourth of his reign and will increase the College of Cardinals to a record 134.

The new cardinals will receive their red hats in a ceremony in the Sistine Chapel April 30.

The pontiff and his new cardinals will celebrate a mass in St. Peter's Basilica May 1. At this time the Pope will give the new cardinals their rings.

Tree Tests Voted

The Tamalpais Community Services District board last night appropriated $150 for test drilling and soil analysis to select suitable trees for planting in the beautification program in the Tamalpais Valley master plan.

Judge Refuses Dismissal Of Charges In Drug Case

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court yesterday refused to dismiss drug charges against a 19-year-old youth, although his attorney claimed that he had been "harassed" for almost a year by the district attorney's office.

Gary Sheppard Stevens of San Anselmo was first arrested May 28, 1968 in a raid on a residence at 3 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, where he was then living.

First a misdemeanor charge of LSD possession was filed against him, then that was dropped and he was accused of offering mescaline for sale and instead selling another substance.

In September that charge was dropped when the district attorney's office said it was not ready to proceed with the case, and a judge admonished the district attorney for the long delay in the case.

In February Stevens was arrested again but was erroneously booked on a charge of possession and cultivation of marijuana.

Now the charge has again been changed to the felony count of offering mescaline for sale and selling another substance. Newspaper publicity has accompanied the long saga, Stevens' attorney added.

Judge Roth ruled that newspaper publicity is not grounds for dismissal, and set a preliminary hearing in the matter for April 18.

Charge Reduced, Jail Set On Stolen Auto

A charge of auto theft against Bennette Miles Kellam, 48, of Fresno, was reduced yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to petty theft after it was learned that the stolen car was almost worthless.

Kellam pleaded guilty to the charge, and Judge Hadden W. Roth sentenced him to 10 days in the county jail with credit for time already served.

Kellam left a valuable antique car at an auto repair shop in 1967 to be repaired, his attorney said, and never returned the old car which the shop lent him to drive.

Kellam told the court that he got into a great deal of trouble when he was an alcoholic but that he now belongs to Alcoholics Anonymous and is attempting to clear up old charges against him.

He turned himself in to authorities, he said.

Toll Plaza Work On Board Agenda

A proposal for a $3 million expansion of the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza will be considered by bridge and highway district directors at 10 a.m. Friday in the administration building at the toll plaza.

The project would provide a new four-lane roadway west of the administration building for southbound traffic. The one-way toll collection system would be reversed to collect from northbound traffic.

The finance committee will meet first at 9:30 a.m. to review district investments.

In 1960, as workmen put final touches on a million-dollar United States embassy complex at Karachi, Pakistan, a plan to relocate the capital was announced.

College Tax Unpalatable, But Merits Approval

In 1962, trustees of Marin Junior College departed from usual school financing practices by asking a special tax, instead of a bond issue, to expand College of Marin in Kentfield and establish a second campus in Novato.

The board put before the voters a proposal for a 35-cent special tax, earmarked for capital outlay, to raise $11,305,000 in 10 years for these purposes.

The decision proved a wise one, for the special tax passed with about 2,000 votes to spare — but did not draw anywhere near the two-thirds approval necessary to authorize a bond issue.

NOW THE COLLEGE district is back with another special tax proposal, for an additional 77 cents for four years, which will be decided at the polls next Tuesday. This one is primarily to finish the job the 35-cent tax was supposed to have done.

What happened?

Quite a few things happened, but most importantly, the expansion and replacement program at the college in Kentfield proved far more expensive than the trustees or their citizen advisory committee expected.

In addition, enrollment took a spurt at Kentfield. It has doubled since 1962 and projections are for a much greater increase in the next few years.

In laying out the 1962 proposal, the college board said Kentfield improvements would include a new gymnasium, science building, student union, music-drama building, administration building, corporation yard, and athletic field.

The $11,305,000 which the 35-cent tax was expected to yield in 10 years was to pay for all these, buy 125 to 150 acres in or near Novato, and build facilities on the second campus for 1,500 students.

IT HAS BECOME increasingly obvious with each passing year that it will not do all these things.

The Kentfield improvements outlined in 1962 have mostly been made or are under way. Land has been bought for the Novato campus. But to put buildings on it by the 1973 deadline the board set seven years ago requires a lot more money. In fact, it requires about $12 million more.

To raise that amount in four years — more than the 35-cent increase was to raise in 10 —the board is seeking the additional 77 cents, which will virtually double the district's tax rate.

IT IS EASY to find fault with how the college district went about its Kentfield building program. There are ways in which expenses there could have been held down to make more money available for the Novato campus out of the 35-cent tax rate's yield.

However, what's done is done. The choice before voters in Marin Junior College District next Tuesday is not whether to approve or disapprove what has been done in Kentfield. It is whether to provide the money for the second campus.

If the 77-cent tax raise is rejected, it is likely to be long past 1973 before Novato gets an operating college. And despite what the staff of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education said in a report this year, the second campus will be needed by then. In fact, it is needed now.

This being the case, it would seem that — unpalatable as such a tax raise is bound to be — voters of the Marin Junior College District would do well to approve this one Tuesday.

The Coffee Ritual

There is something akin to mysticism in the ritual of drinking the first cup of morning coffee. This is especially true these spring mornings when the ritual is accompanied by the rising of the sun over the Marin hills.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead that he merely gulps this aromatic brew without pausing for a few seconds to savor its fragrance? On a cold morning inhaling the vapors from a steaming cup can gloriously warm a cold nose and give the spirit a lift.

Perhaps mysticism is the wrong word, but there seems to us to be some spiritual uplift beyond the undoubted stimulus of the caffine.

Bill To Control Credit Agencies Would Add New Bureaucracy

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — As California lives under a credit, rather than a cash economy, and is becoming more that way over the years, it is inevitable that there would be demands for regulation of the credit rating industry by government.

Such demands are advanced by Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, and Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, in a bill introduced in the legislature.

THE TWO legislators would create a new government bureaurcy to be added to the Department of Professional Vocational Standards, which now consists of more than 40 bureaucracries regulating various phases of business in this state.

They propose that the state license credit rating bureaus, provide for suspensions and revocations of licenses, fines and imprisonment, and collect fees for the costs of the new bureaucracy.

The measure also specifies the content of a credit rating report, and the procedures to be followed by the rating organization in securing informa tion, and distributing such information to business clients.

The legislators claim that there is much invasion of privacy in credit reporting, and that errors cause great and irreparable damage in many cases.

GENERALLY, when a businessman extends credit to an individual, he wants all the facts concerning the man or woman who applies for credit.

The Hayes-Alquist legislation, however, appears to be heavily in favor of covering up at least a portion of the facts necessary to good credit prac tices.

There appear to be no abuses of credit rating system which could not be corrected by general law without the necessity of imposing a new bureaucracy on the state. For instance, a law requiring a credit rating organization to show its file on a subject to a subject on request, would dispense with the criticism of secrecy and inaccurate information. Other requirements could be added as necessary.

Required Religion Wrong In Army

I am not a member of the ACLU but I find I must answer your April 4 editorial and its attempt to discredit the effort of the organization to maintain separation of church and state in the Army.

I have no grievance at all with the continuance of church services and teaching of all faiths in the military on a voluntary basis, but the interjection of religion into mandatory courses is certainly a disgraceful abuse of military power that should be instantly rejected by those concerned with liberty and freedom of the individual.

What right does the army have to misuse the taxes of those with non-religious orientation in order to indoctrinate all servicemen with religion? Under our constitution, public money cannot be spent with any more justification for this purpose than it could be spent to promulgate anti-religious belief . . .

As to your supporting point concerning the Pledge of Allegiance, you must realize, upon reconsideration, that your argument won't hold water because it has already been decided that an individual has the right not to recite the pledge in public and must be given a free choice . . .

No Need To Fear Mountain Lions

Please inform Mrs. Joseph Patrick to allay her fears regarding mountain lions.

First of all, they do not eat people — children least of all, except brats.

Secondly, they kill once, and do not kill again until all of their kill is eaten up. Usually this means that they hide or bury their kill.

Thirdly, with impeccable good taste, mountain lions avoid humans of any size, and as they move with more swiftness and nature lore, humans seldom see them except, perhaps, when courting. Mrs. Patrick was a "peeping Tom" it seems, on one such happy event.

Lastly, mountain lions wandering the streets are infinitely safer than many, many, many humans doing the same, as is witnessed by our crime rate. Let her sleep well, let the children wander freely without fear of lions, but lock the brats up.

Offers To Arbitrate On Peace Symbol

I would be glad to arbitrate the Peace Symbol dispute. (Sterner, Medrano & Durr, April 12, "Semaphore Theory" vs. Woodward, March 27, "Anti-Christ Theory"). I am neutral. Upon a first glance at the symbol I was thinking it had something to do with the supersonic jet race — the swept-wing, long-nosed, sonic-boom thing, which I await with misgiving, as I do this "peace" thing we have coming up.

If I have to declare even a slight bias to qualify as arbiter, it is that with 100 billion dollars and the lives of 33,000 of America's finest in the game in Vietnam (not to mention Korea), it startles me a little to hear someone on our side holler "uncle." On the other hand, I agree with the "semaphore" people that Russia ought to junk her nuclear stockpile.

What do you think? Do I get the job? The parties may document their claims anytime.

Militarism Bad —But Sexuality?

Rev. Richard Wilmington in a recent letter regrets the attitude of parents opposing sex education in schools and decries the glorification of heroes and warriors in history as conducive to violence and cruelty.

Naturally children are confronted with the unpleasant aspects of human nature, and parents, schools and churches should train and guide them so they can separate the wheat from the chaff.

But when Rev. Wilmington advocates allowing children to "enjoy their sexuality," I can only hope that he is in a position to maintain an orphanage to take care of the bastards resulting from such unrestrained promiscuity and a clinic to treat syphilis and gonorrhea. Don't we have enough pregnant 11 and 12 year old now?

As to exposing our youth to violence in history, perhaps insteads of Napoleon's campaigns, it would be preferable to comment on the relative merits of Josephine vs. Maria Louisa as connubial mates, and intimate details of why some of Henry VIIIth wives pleased him more than others. Also perhaps the Marquis de Sade should be required reading.

As to wars and warriors, I have yet to see anything more beautiful, dignified, impressive and profoundly touching as the funeral services for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Candidate Backs Retirement Bill

I have read with a great deal of interest in your editorial page with respects (sic) to Assembly Bill 374, pertaining to change in retirement age for all safety members, police and fire, at age 60.

Opposition to retirement bill not warranted. Marin taxpayers are now paying for thousands of employees to retire at a decent age. Those include state highway patrolmen and Marin County employees.

Yet, some city leaders would hold their small amount of city employees back, but pay for thousands of others.

I urgently recommend citizens of Marin to back their safety members and write in favor of Assembly Bill 374.

Write to Wadie P. Deddeh, chairman, Assembly Public Employment and Retirment Committee, State Capital, Sacramento 95814 and to their local assemblyman.

Yorty Headline Found Offensive

The conjunction "and" is used to conjoin words of equal kind. Therefore, your headline of April 2, page 2 ("Los Angeles Runoff for Negro and Yorty") is most unfortunate. You mean "Negro and Caucasian," or you mean "Bradley and Yorty." I should say you want the latter, for it is obvious that the Los Angeles city councilman has a name.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A hayseed approached a vending machine, inserted a quarter, and pressed the button labeled "Coffee, double cream, and sugar." No cup appeared, but two nozzles began functioning, one pouring coffee, the other cream. After the proper amounts had gone down the drain where the cup should have been, the machine stopped pouring.

"Now that's real automation," nodded the hayseed admiringly. "This thing even drinks for you!"

A jaded professor of political science, bound for Tahiti to get away from it all, was pacing the deck with a new shipboard acquaintance. He announced confidently, "You live in the city governed by as mean, dirty, and corrupt a ring of thieves as there is in all the U.S.A." "How do you know where I live?" demanded the astonished new acquaintance. The professor puffed placidly on his pipe and answered, "I don't!"

THE DRUMMONDS

Series Of Actions By Nixon Designed To Bring About Peace

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — "But he isn't doing anything to get peace in Vietnam."

That's the big criticism of President Nixon—that he is letting the peace talks drift, has no plan of his own.

This isn't true. It is only appearance, and the appearance is deceptive.

THE FACT IS that Mr. Nixon has undertaken a series of concrete actions designed to get negotiations down to serious business and to get a settlement.

The reason it looks as though he is doing nothing is that he cannot publicly talk about what he is doing because public talk would impair prospects of success.

But if you add up his actions, it is evident that he is carrying out a carefully conceived plan to convince Hanoi that he wants a political settlement which both sides can accept. The President is increasingly persuaded that Hanoi is in Paris to settle.

MR. NIXON is sending a whole series of signals to North Vietnam and to the National Liberation Front which he believes offer inducements for them to begin productive negotiations. He is sending them without fanfare. They are:

1—He is intentianally holding back any hasty retaliation in response to Hanoi's violation of the understanding that there would be no major attacks against South Vietnamese cities and no military use of the demilitarized zone.

2—He is making it clear that there will be no resumption of the bombing except under great provocation.

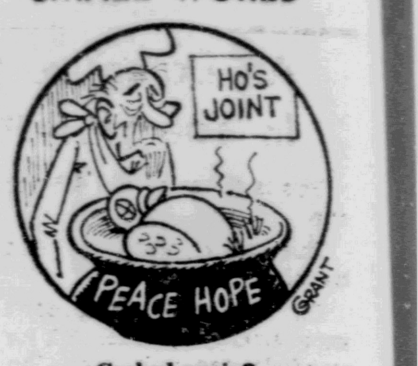
3—He is encouraging private talks as the best way to negotiate.

4—He has helped persuade South Vietnamese President Thieu to reverse his previous refusal to negotiate directly with the Viet Cong.

5—He had Secretary of State William Rogers announce publicly before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the administration was seeking peace not through a "military victory" but through a "political settlement."

6—He is cutting back B-52 bomber raids in South Vietnam by more than 10 per cent. While economy is a factor, Mr. Nixon is cutting where he knows it will signal de-escalation of the war.

SMALL WORLD



Cooked again?

THESE ACTIONS were taken separately and were at no point publicly presented by the President as bearing on Vietnamese policy. But they bear crucially and concretely on Vietnamese policy, and Mr. Nixon let each speak for itself — to Hanoi.

These actions comprise the President's own approach to getting the Paris peace talks in motion and then moving them to a conclusion.

It deserves to be recognized that Saigon and Washington have already gone much further toward accepting North Vietnam's conditions for a peace setlement than Hanoi or the NLF have gone toward accepting ours.

The NFL demands that the elected government of South Vietnam be disbanded as a condition of settlement. Saigon doesn't demand that the NLF be disbanded but agrees that it can participate in the political process of the nation if it abandons force.

THE UNITED STATES has already accepted three of the four points Hanoi laid down: (1) early withdrawal of U.S. forces (whenever Hanoi will do the same); (2) neutrality for North and South Vietnam as provided in the Geneva agreement; (3) reunification on the basis of popular wishes.

The United States has not approved Hanoi's demand for an unelected coalition government in Saigon as part of the peace treaty; it favors free elections open to NLF candidates.

Far from being vague and indecisive, the Nixon approach to Vietnam peace is revealing itself to be both active and animate.

Federal Aid To Schools To Get Simpler Rules

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — "Reason and flexibility" are the basic aims of the administration's proposed revamping of guidelines on federal aid to schools.

HEW Sec. Robert Finch has given the go-ahead on revising the regulations under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act as the basis for eligibility for federal aid to schools. The extent of the changes is still to be worked out.

ORIGINALLY the guidelines were aimed solely at the South. Subsequently they were extended to the North as well, and ever since then hostility toward them in that area has been spreading and intensifying. An illustration is the recent passage by the Assembly of the New York State Legislature of a bill barring student bussing.

Lately, some of the strongest pressures for modifying the guidelines has come from midwestern members of Congress, who are outraged by instances of Negro disturbances and violence in schools and mounting clamor for separate facilities, teachers and so-called cultural courses.

Also being indignantly noted is the frequent direct connection between this separatist agitation and the extremist machinations of the revolutionary Students for a Democratic Society.

On one hand, Secretaty Finch has been barraged, harangued and harried by civil rights zealots, black and white.

On the other side, equally insistent are powerful southern and other elements that played key roles in the President's nomination and election. They are demanding extensive changes in the school guidelines.

Finch's lieutenants characterize his position as "middle of the road." They insist he intends to abide strictly by the letter and spirit of the law, while at the same time "exercising reason and flexibility."

SITTING PRETTY — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is genially shrugging off that $25,000 fine imposed by the House when it voted to seat him at the start of this session in early January.

The flamboyant Harlemite is doing that in two ways:

(1) Through the $12,500-a-year raise Congress voted itself, which will amount to $25,000 at the conclusion of this (91st) Congress. That is the exact amount of his fine.

(2) An estimated $90,000 Powell boastfully claims he will make by moonlighting as a lecturer at colleges throughout the country at an average of $1,500 an appearance.

As for being from the House from early January to March 13, then disappeared again, and only he knows when he will show up next.

Asked by a newsman how he explained his prolonged absence, Powell laughingly gave this explanation:

"I'm keeping busy. It's the House that isn't doin anything. When they get dow to business, I'll be on hand."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

An Expensive ($15) Lesson In The State Of Marin Transit

This is the story of a $15 cab trip.

This is a plea for rapid transit in Marin.

For those of you who don't know already, it takes $15 for roundtrip cab fare from San Rafael to Novato. That's 72 cents more than it takes to fly by jet from San Francisco to Los Angeles, and you can buy a drink on a plane.

I HAPPENED to find out about the high cost of tripping in Marin County the other night when I was assigned to a meeting in Novato.

Having just come here from the East where they have things like subways and buses that run on occasionally sensible schedules, I admit to not being totally prepared for the vagaries of getting from here to there in Marvelous Marin.

This night, I checked with our Leave the Driving to Us people at about 6:30 p.m. The stationmaster was busy counting pufferbellies or something and a driver told me that buses go to Novato every 20 minutes at that time of the night.

IMPORTANT message to those who think buses go to Novato every 20 minutes at that time of night: They don't.

I returned to the station shortly before 7:10, figuring to catch the next bus. The next bus, I was informed, went at 7:58 — they run every hour, two minutes before the hour, the stationmaster said.

This meant, of course, that the only remaining transportation was by cab. Another I-J staff member happed to be close by to loan me a fin to make the journey. I thought that since in Washington, D.C., you can go anywhere you want for $1.50, six bills and some odd change would be enough to get to Novato.

IMPORTANT message to those who think six bills and some odd change is enough to take a cab to Novato: It isn't.

The fare, from Greyhound to the site of the meeting, was $7.50. "May I write you a check?" I asked as I reached into my pocket to discover my checkbook was not with me. The cab driver, being a sympathetic soul who once took his mother-in-law to dinner without his wallet, offered to take my $6, leaving me enough to take a bus back. I could contact the friendly driver when I got back to San Rafael to have him take me to my house so I could write him a check, I reasoned.

The meeting ended at 10 p.m. The last Greyhound from Novato leaves at 9:55 p.m. It didn't really matter because I found that all that change rattling around in my pocket totaled 14 cents.

IMPORTANT message to those who think a suit and tie is sufficient uniform to hitchhike in a county where drivers pick up all sorts of hitchhikers: It isn't.

Nor is 14 cents enough to even make a telephone call the few miles from Novato to San Rafael. At this point, I suppose I should admit that while it is embarassing to have to make a 15-cent phone call collect, it can be done.

I called the I-J, collect. The I-J called Yellow Cab. Yellow Cab took me . . . home, that is. For another $7.50.

MESSAGE to the people in New York, where you can go from Times Square to Shea Stadium for 15 cents, who are protesting any raise in subway fares: You have lost my sympathy.

The evening, despite the $15 fare, was not a total loss. I found a cafe in Novato where you can buy a 15-cent cup of coffee for two nickels and four pennies.

Come to think of it, there was another plus that night. I got to hear a school board candidate say she wanted the same kind of education for her kids for which "my ancestors fought in the Revolutionary War on the side of the North."

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Class Gone? Don't Fret! It's Just Visiting Africa

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

If the sixth grade class of your neighborhood school vanishes for a couple of months next winter, don't worry about it: the kids are probably on a field trip to Africa.

You think this is a joke? Well, maybe it is, but it would be possible if a bill introduced in the current California Legislature were to become law.

Assembly Bill 398, by Assemblymen Earle P. Crandall, R-San Jose, and Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista (a teacher) would authorize field trips anywhere in the world for sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes. Such trips are already authorized to Canada and Mexico, and Crandall and Deddeh want to extend that to other countries.

AMONG THE PLETHORA of education bills introduced in each year's legislative session are always some "far out" measures. This year is no exception. And AB 398 is not the only one.

Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, who is chairman of the Senate Education Committee, is back with a bill (SB 283) to require three days' written notice before a teacher may slap a pupil. A similar bill died quietly in last year's session.

"Far out," but perhaps making some sense in view of the cost of providing parking for the cars of teen-age students, is AB 244 by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton. This would require that school districts charge fees for students and visitors parking at high schools. (Faculty members could park free.)

ANOTHER "ODDBALL" measure, although it has support from faculties of the state colleges, is AB 1026 by Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Los Gatos. It provides that the California State Colleges Board of Trustees "may designate any state college a state university and may change its name to reflect the designation."

Just as simple as that! Nobody, however, has put in a bill to permit the board of an elementary school district to change the name of any elementary school to high school.

The penchant of legislators for trying to dictate course content has cropped up again this year—not waiting long to make its appearance since the passage last year of the George Miller Jr. Act which freed curriculum from a long list of state-imposed requirements.

Senator Rodda is the author of the latest attempt at state dictation in this field. His SB 342 would require that all elementary and secondary schools and junior college include in history or government courses "instruction in the areas of labor-management relations, labor law, labor economics, and labor's role in the development of our free public school system."

A CLASSIC source of pin money for the brighter students at private prep schools would vanish if a bill proposed by Assemblyman Ray E. Johnson, R-Chico, were to become law. Johnson's AB 893 provides that only persons holding tutoring licenses issued by the county board of education may take pay for tutoring any person under 18 years of age.

It defines tutor as "to provide instruction, training, or discipline in any branch of knowledge, art, or activity, whether in a classroom, residence or elsewhere." Violation would be a misdemeanor.

It makes no exception for the child's own family, but papa could probably still get away with helping junior with his home work without a license, since any money exchange in that situation is generally from tutor to tutee rather than the other way around.

A RATHER different approach to home instruction is taken in AB 888, by Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto. This would count watching educational TV courses on the home "boob tube" toward average daily attendance at junior colleges which adopted the courses. Slightly mindful that this could run into money, Quimby's bill puts a limit of $100,000 per year on the state allocation to each district for such attendance. (There are more than 60 districts operating junior colleges in California.)

Perhaps there is no significance in the fact that Assemblyman Quimby, when not legislating, is a radio announcer.

Koreans mastered the art of movable metal type as early as 1403 — half a century before Johan Gutenberg used the same technique to print his famous Bible in Mainz, Germany, National Geographic says.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Fatal Signal Produces Two Overtricks At Three No-Trump

Bigmay is sometimes defined as having one partner too many. This is something that bridge players know all about. It happened, for example, to Monroe Ingberman last month, smack in the middle of the annual contest for the Vanderbilt Cup.

NO HESITATION

Ingberman led the six of spades, and dummy's queen won. South, Ira Rubin, led a diamond from dummy to try a finesse with the queen. Ingberman played the four of diamonds without the slightest telltale hesitation.

Rubin cashed the ace of hearts, and Ingberman made his second fine play by dropping the queen. The purpose was to let East win any heart trick that South might have to give up.

Declarer continued with a low heart, finessing with East's jack. East could then safely return a spade, and Rubin stepped up with the ace. Now declarer had eight tricks and had to decide whether to try for his ninth trick in diamonds or in clubs after he had run the hearts.

FATAL SIGNAL

Left to himself Rubin would have repeated the diamond finesse, but on the last heart East threw the nine of clubs to tell his partner where the ace of clubs was.

Rubin checked himself just as he was about to repeat the diamond finesse. The whole thing smelled of herring, and Rubin has one of the best noses in the bridge business.

ASSURES GAME

After some thought, Rubin led a low club from the dummy. This play assured the game, and the fall of the king of diamonds later gave declarer two overtricks.

Ingberman, one of the politest of the experts, did not thank his partner for the fatal signal with the nine of clubs. Politeness has its limits.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K 10 9 6 3
♥ Q 5
♦ K 4
♣ 10 7 6 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to show a major suit of four or more cards if he can.

Your hand is too strong for a bid of two spades, but not quite strong enough for a jump to three spades. You expect to jump to four spades if partner can bid two spades; but if partner bids two hearts or two diamonds, you will bid two spades. This indicates about eight or nine high-card points with a five-card spade suit of no great merit.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, April 9, the 99th day of 1969 with 266 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1865, Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant at the Appomatox courthouse in Virginia as the war between the states neared an end.

In 1940 Germany invaded both Norway and Sweden in World War II.

In 1942 Bataan fell to the Japanese after two months of bitter fighting.

In 1963 the nuclear submarine Thresher went down 220 miles east of Boston in the North Atlantic. All 129 men aboard were lost.

A though for the day: General Grant said, "Keep the church and state for ever separate."

Two GIs Have The Same Name

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It's hard for Richard Reese to convince his Army buddeies that he doesn't have a twin.

When Reese arrived in Vietnam, he was assigned to Company B of Fourth Infantry which already had a Richard Riece, from New York state.

Both men were born the same day — Nov. 28, 1947 — and both married the same day — in November, 1967. In addition their wives have the same first name — Gwendolyn.

Reese, a Louisvillian, said he and his counterpart also are performing the same duties.

HARLEY A. McASKILL
Re-elected mayor of Novato

McAskill To Keep Job Of Mayor

Mayor Harley A. McAskill and Mayor-Protem M. E. (Babe) Silva last night were re-elected to those positions on the Novato City Council for another year's term.

In making the nomination, Councilman J. Wayne Womack said that he felt that the mayor should serve at least two years as it takes six to eight months of his first term to really get organized in the position of mayor.

The vote was 4-0 with McAskill abstaining.

Action Is Postponed On Salary Proposals

The Novato City Council last night postponed until April 22 consideration of salary increases and fringe benefits for city-employees, after hearing City Mgr. Charles A. Brown recommend a 5 per cent increase across the board except for police officers for whom he recommended 10 per cent.

The projected cost of salaries, including regular annual raises for next fiscal year was given as $665,605 by Brown. The proposed additional increases would cost another $38,443, for a total of $694,048 for fiscal 1969-70, according to Brown.

Police Chief Robert J. DiGrazia said that the police department has not been up to authorized strength because the salary scale was lower than in competing cities. He said the department was now four men below authorized strength of 26.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack asked for an estimate projecting the city's income for next year and how much, if any, this salary increase would add to the tax rate.

Employees also asked for fringe benefits of a $5,000 group life insurance policy for all employees, uniform allowance for police clerks who now furnish their own, and reimbursement of tutition and books where employees go to school to better their job knowledge, especially police.

Womack also asked for an estimate on the cost of these programs. This estimate is to be furnished to the council before the April 22 meeting.

The Novato City Council Also:

CITY HALL — Took a half-hour tour of the remodeled city hall to view the changes in offices. The work cost $1,300, Brown reported. Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva told Brown that it was customary in Novato for all capital improvements to come before the council and this had not been approved by the council. This view was backed by mayor Harley A. McAskill and the other councilmen. Brown said that he would do that in the future.

CAR WASH — Referred back to the planning commission consideration of a car wash on the east side of Seventh Street south of Lee Brothers market for Cloudburst Car Wash Inc. The council asked for a realignment of the lot and the elimination of gasoline pumps.

ORDINANCES — Passed ordinances which were introduced at its March 25 meeting. These were: approving the master plan for 900 acre Bahia development at the end of Bugeia Lane; permitting veterinary clinics in professional and commercial zones where they had been limited to industrial zones; permitting the planning director to issue permits for conforming signs; annexing four acres on the south side of Center Road at Eucalyptus Avenue, and rezoning from general commercial to commercial with highway frontage regulations all of the triangle north of Warner Creek, east of Diablo Avenue, west of South Novato Boulevard, and including the Tresch triangle.

STOP SIGNS — Approved removing stop signs on Lamont Avenue at the Northwestern Pacific Railroad because the new automatic traffic control has been installed by the railroad.

APPOINTMENTS — After half an hour closed meeting, McAskill appointed and the council ratified appointments to committees, and subcommittees for the downtown study committee. These were Max F. Cerrini of 1 Thornton Court, to the downtown study committee; Steven Loeggering, a senior at Novato High School and Peter Sorensen, a sophomore at San Marin High School as alternate teen-age representatives on the beautification committee; John Trumbull of 20 Drakewood Lane to the ambulance study committee; Alfred W. Bowman of 827 Reichert Avenue, Donald R. Telford of 31 Gregg Place and Alfred J. Villa of 491 Wilson Avenue to the appearances subcommittee; Cerrini, John Nunes of Redwood Highway North and F. James Picchi of 16 Carmel Drive, Stanley Cazneaux of 7 Rowland Court, Phillip E. Pratt of 34 Truman Drive and Mickey Horn of 7 Thornton Court to the land use subcommittee.

APPLICATIONS — Asked for persons interested in serving on the planning commission to apply at the Novato City Hall.

Scanner May Help Blind See

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Scientists at Pacific Medical Center hope to aid the blind with a device that substitutes 400 plastic points for eyes.

Drs. Carter C. Collins and Paul Bach-Y-Rita demonstrated the machine in San Francisco yesterday, but it still is in the laboratory stage.

In brief, a television camera translates what it scans into impulses which are tapped fingerlike onto a blind person's back through the plastic points. Points are spread over 20 inch by 20 inch square.

It enables a blind person to feel what others see at a distance and gives him some idea of dimensions and distance.

At present, the device weighs 100 pounds and costs $90,000. The doctors hope within 10 years to refine it so that it will weigh 5 pounds and cost $1,000.

Swiss Dynamite Blast Toll Now Set At 12

AARAU, Switzerland (AP) — The death toll of a blast at the Dottikon explosives factory rose to 12 today as three more bodies were recovered from its ruins.

At least three other workers are missing and presumed killed in the explosion of approximately five tons of dynamite yesterday.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Continued Depression May Need Physician's Expert Aid

VAN DELLEN

Everyone feels blue now and then, but it is not normal to be down in the dumps day after day. Many individuals who are depressed do not know what is wrong. The physician is consulted because the man or woman feels isolated, misunderstood, and is easily upset by things that never fazed him in the past.

Mild depression ought to be considered whenever the individual tires easily for no apparent reason, or becomes overly concerned about himself.

He knows something is amiss because his appetite wanes or disappears, and he loses interest in almost everything he enjoyed doing in the past.

READING A BOOK is a chore because he cannot concentrate long enough to enjoy the most interesting novel. But the mildly depressed often continue to read newspapers, listen to the radio, and watch television.

The majority have no difficulty falling asleep, but they may have bad dreams or awaken before the alarm goes off. Others cannot get to sleep.

Zest for living is lost. The violinist no longer fiddles, and the gardener lets the weeds take over. Thoughts of suicide remain vague unless the depression deepens.

These men and women need sympathetic understanding by the physician, who will try to give them an insight into their mental state. Meanwhile, the doctor may prescribe a sedative, a mood elevator, or a tranquilizer to boost the sufferer over the hump.

A SEVERE depression may require lithium carbonate, an experimental newcomer on the scene for psychiatric disorders.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

BLANCHED FINGERS

Mrs. W. N. writes: My fingers become white when I drive a car in cold weather or wash my hands in cold water. Please advise.

REPLY

Whiteness is caused by spasm of the blood vessels (Raynaud's syndrome). Avoid getting chilled by wearing warm clothes and lined gloves. Do not use cold water. Medical or surgical treatment rarely is indicated unless the condition becomes progressively worse or too uncomfortable. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on Raynaud's disease.

CHEMICALS AND LIQUOR

A reader writes: Modern liquor, for commercial reasons, is being filled with various chemicals. I wonder if these substances cause cirrhosis of the liver?

REPLY

Since most victims of liver cirrhosis are heavy drinkers, alcohol and not the minute ties (congeners) is responsible. In some countries, starvation and inadequate diets are the most common causes of cirrhosis of the liver.

SMOKE FROM BURNING LEAVES

L. C. writes: Can inhaling smoke from burning leaves cause cancer of the lung?

REPLY

In general, irritants — including atmospheric pollution and cigaret smoke — play a role but exposure over a long period of time is necessary. It is highly improbable that the occasional inhalation of smoke from burning leaves will produce a malignancy.

HYPERTENSION AT 13

Mrs. T. F. writes: What would cause hypertension in a 13-year-old boy? He has terrific headaches as a result of this disorder.

REPLY

Kidney disease or a congenital defect such as coarctation of the aorta is the most likely cause. He may have malignant hypertension. This lad needs expert care.

Today's Health Hint — Active children need close supervision when the house is most disorganized.

Cleric Admits Carrying Gun

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rev. Jesse James, founder of the Mission Rebels, a widely acclaimed youth group, pleaded guilty yesterday in Superior Court to a charge of illegal possession of a gun.

His plea came after the district attorney's office agreed to leave his prior felony convictions — all more than 10 years old — out of further proceedings.

James, an ex-convict, founded the youth group in the Mission District in 1965 and three years later received an award for "the most constructive and significant contribution to the community life of Northecn California."

Before coming West in 1961, he had spent a dozen years in prisons and reformatories.

Crash Burns School Bus In Petaluma

A Petaluma City Schools bus was destroyed and the driver injured yesterday at 9:15 a.m. when it struck the rear of a truck on Highway 101 near the Corona Road interchange after delivering students to Rancho Cotate High School.

The driver, Edwin W. Noriel, 45, of 121 Payran Street, Petaluma, was treated at Petaluma General Hospital for burns of the hands and face. The California Highway Patrol reported the gas tank of the bus exploded when it struck the rear of a parked state Division of Highways truck on the side of the road. Noriel told patrolmen his attention had been diverted.

Officials at the Petaluma City Schools office said the bus served all secondary schools and was en route to the bus garage when the accident occurred. A total loss, the bus was purchased in 1956 for $14,000, but officials said it would cost $24,000 to replace today.

Loophole Is Given Nazi Murderers

LONDON EXPRESS SERVICE

BONN — Thousands of alleged "desk-murderers" in West Germany may escape punishment — because of a major legal oversight.

"Desk-murderers" is the description given to Nazis, who at the stroke of a pen or the passing of an order, were responsible for murder or mass murder in the Hitler era.

Deputies in the Bonn Parliament failed to realize that they had benefited such criminals, when they recently passed an apparently innocuous law on traffic offenses.

Its introduction was accompanied by a change in West Germany's penal code.

The revised version prescribes that defendants who cannot be shown to have acted with malicious intent must be given lenient sentences.

Although this change was designed to apply to people accused of minor offenses, it was incorporated as a general principle in West Germany's criminal legislation.

Under the amended penal code, the maximum penalty that Nazi murderers could face would be 15 years' jail.

But, in effect, much more important is the fact that the change also implies automatically that the criminals concerned can no longer be punished at all under German law as more than 15 years have elapsed since they committed their crimes.

Should a defendant have abetted in the mass murder of Jews and should his malicious motives not be proved, he would come under the West German act of limitations and could no longer be convicted.

This rule would not apply, if the West German judiciary had taken action against the defendant during the 15-year period.

But most Nazi ''desk murdrers" have not yet appeared before the courts.

Adalbert Rueckerl, head of the Ludwigsburg Center for Tracing Nazi Crimes, has said that the new legislation was likely to help a great number of "desk-murderers'' since their malicious intent could, in general, not be proved.

At most they could expect to be treated merely as accomplices.

So the new law must inevitably have considerable legal repercussions since there are at present open proceedings against or legal investigations into the alleged Nazi crimes of 15,000 West Germans.

This situation can only be changed by the federal supreme court in Karlsruhe. It has to declare in a basic ruling that the legislation applies only to traffic offenders — and not to Nazi criminals.

Convicts Set Talks With Novato Youth

Novato high school boys will begin a series of three meetings starting this Saturday with the Squires, a group of San Quentin inmates who are trying to steer young people away from a life of crime.

The meetings will be held at the prison on three successive Saturdays from 9 a.m. until noon, according to police officials who are sponsoring the program.

Coordinating the trips, for which adult chaperones are needed, are Sgt. R. Richard Courrier of the Novato Police Department's juvenile division, and James S. Rose, a Novato resident.

"This will be a no-holds-barred type of discussion," Rose said of the planned meetings with the convicts, adding that it hopefully will give the young men who participate a clearer picture of how grim prison life is.

Courrier agreed, saying, "The idea behind it is to let the young people see the life inside a prison, taking some of the so-called glamor out of it." Police hope such activities will serve as a deterrent to crime, he said.

Courrier said interested youths and their parents should contact the police department for details of the program.

About 50 San Quentin inmates currently are members of the Squires. The name is an acronym for San Quentin's Utilization of Inmates' Resources, Experience and Studies.

One-Year Shutdown Urged, Opposed For State's Expo

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly Ways and Means subcommittee has recommended this year's California Exposition be dropped to provide time to revise plans for the financially troubled show.

The subcommittee yesterday agreed with Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post who testified the exposition should be suspended for a year while the Legislature and the Reagan administration decide on its future.

But Cal Expo Manager Thomas Bair and Ralph A. Nissen, chairman of Expo's executive committee, warned that canceling the 1969 program would jeopardize efforts to interest private groups in taking over operation of Cal Expo from the state.

"If you lock up the plant we've got a dead horse on our hands and we'll find there will not be any interest in it," Nissen said.

He said the executive committee was negotiating with several private groups interested in assuming control of the exposition which finished its initial season last year with a $1.5 million deficit.

But Post said interest of a private group in Cal Expo would only be reduced if Expo facilities deteriorated.

The recommendation was forwarded to the full Ways and Means Committee for consideration.

Meanwhile Assemblyman Pete Schabarum, R-Covina, submitted a bill reestablishing a nonprofit corporation to operate Cal Expo, reducing the executive committee from 19 to 3 members and making the exposition a separate state department.

Bagley Proposal On Tossing Word 'Incumbent' Advances

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to eliminate "political incest" in local government won its first legislative test yesterday with unanimous approval by the Assembly Elections and Constitutional Amendments Committee, despite strong opposition by lobbyists for special districts.

The bill, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would require that an appointee to any governing body be ineligible to use the term "incumbent" or any comparable designation on the ballot or use the ballot position assigned to an incumbent.

It was aimed at special districts which arrange for members who do not intend to run for re-election to resign before the end of their terms so that appointees replacing them can run as incumbents, Bagley told the committee.

The bill would apply to any appointee joining a district board at any time, regardless of how long he served before he came up for election. The only exceptions would be appointees filling seats vacated by death, disability, or appointment of the previous incumbent to another position.

Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks, unsuccessfully suggested that the bill include city councils and county board of supervisors as well as special districts and school boards, but Bagley argued that incumbency on city and county boards was not as much of an advantage as on "low visibility" districts which receive less publicity.

He noted that two incumbents on the Marin County Board of Supervisors lost their bids for re-election last year.

"I'd love to solve all the problems in the world at one time, but I can't," said Bagley.

Opposing the bill were the East Bay Municipal Utility District and the California Municipal Utilities Association.

Norman Woodbury, lobbyist for the association, argued that appointees should have the privilege of designating themselves as incumbents on the ballot. "Why should he (an appointee) work his heart out without any of the benefit of all the work he's done?" Woodbury asked.

The committee answered his question by recommending the bill.

A similar bill by Bagley was vetoed without explanation last year by Gov. Ronald Reagan after lobbyists for irrigation districts pushed for its veto.

The committee also recommended Assembly passage of a Bagley bill to allow the residence of a wife to be determined independently of her husband's address. At present, a wife's address is assumed to be that of her husband's unless they are legally separated.

The present law was termed "the most insulting thing I've heard of" by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Oakland.

A third Bagley bill before the committee fared less well.

The bill, requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, would allow county clerks to tabulate registered voters either by address or by alphabetical order. Under current law, the tabulations are only by street address, but an alphabetical list would help political parties and candidates campaign in rural areas, Bagley told the committee.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney noted before the committee that voters often turn out to be miles apart when listed by address in rural areas. Also, he said, many rural areas have no street address.

Assemblyman Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach, argued successfully, however, that giving county clerks the power to decide which type of tabulation to use "could make for problems in cities."

Committee action on the bill was deferred to May 6 to give Bagley time to amend it to the committee's satisfaction.

Behr Warns Of Menace To Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Progress may be the death of the bay if defined strictly in dollars and cents," a former Marin County supervisor declared last night.

Attorney Peter Behr was speaking at an American Society of Civil Engineers meeting in behalf of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's regional plan.

The plan calls for strict limits on the filling of the bay and for open space for recreational purposes.

Warren Linquist, an associate of New York banker David Rockefeller in a plan to develop the San Mateo County shoreline, opposed the regional plan.

The proposals, he said, would be "restrictive on the kinds of development which are necessary to support the economic base of the plan."

Revised Angel Island Plan Due Hearing

A revised preliminary master plan for Angel Island State Park, eliminating extensive facilities that arroused strong opposition, will be presented to the state Park and Recreation Commission at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the supervisors' chambers in the Civic Center.

The commission's staff proposed a $2.5 million development of the park in December at a meeting in San Francisco, but the commission ordered it trimmed down after citiens objected to the proposed convention facilities, restaurants, hotels, auditorium and other commercial facilities.

Sacramento's Bills Blizzard Comes To End

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legislative landslide is over. The campus rioter, downtrodden female and abandoned pet are mentioned in the more than 800 measures which made it under the deadline for the unrestricted introduction of bills.

The deadline was yesterday and, as it passed, the Assembly clerks recorded the last of the year's 2,342 bills from the 80 members. In the 40-member Senate, more than 1,425 were introduced.

The final tally approached 4,000, easily surpassing the 3,362 proposals by last year's legislature.

COLLEGE POLICE

One of the major proposals turned in yesterday is, in effect, a warning for dissident collegians. The measure by Sen. James E. Whetmore, R-La Habra, calls for the creation of a California State College Police Department.

It would be set up by the office of the chancellor with a $1.5 million appropriation.

Assemblywoman March Fong an Oakland Democrat, believes she is living in a male-oriented society with which women are sometimes unable to cope.

She has, therefore, proposed that $300,000 be set aside for the formation of six pilot centers to counsel women on career and educational opportunities.

PET OWNERSHIP

In the pet department, animals which are brought to animal care facilities and aren't claimed by their owners within 21 days would be officially listed as abandoned and become the facility's property, under a bill by Sen. Walter Stiern, D-Bakersfield.

Drunk drivers and prostitutes would also be dealt with more harshly under proposed legislation.

Democratic Assemblyman John Vasconcellos of San Jose introduced a bill requiring a blood test and two breath tests for suspended drunk drivers. Fines, jail terms and license revocations could result from above-normal blood alcoho levels.

A bill by Assemblyman Le T. McCarthy, D-San Francisc would require that prostitute convicted of a second offens parole. A third conviction woul mean a mandatory 180 day without parole.

CHURCH TAXES

Churches also face the pro pect of a thinner pocketbook u der a measure by Democrat Sen. Anthony Beilenson of Be erly Hills.

He proposes that churches longer be exempt from payi taxes on unrelated income.

Shoppers wondering about t freshness of the bread or mi they're purchasing will look fa orably upon other bills by Be enson, which would requi packages containing those ite to be dated.

Victims of disasters such floods, earthquakes and la slides can follow the progress a measure by Assemblym David Roberti, D-Los Angel which would require insura firms to provide coverage such occurrences.

Voters Retain Billboard Curbs

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Vo yesterday rejected an effort business to liberize the sea resort's limitations on the si signs and billboards.

Salaries To Be Studied Tonight

Trustees of the Dixie School District will continue salary negotiations with the teachers negotiating council at tonight's meeting.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda.

Trustees will also set up a schedule to interview candidates for the job of superintendent. Supt. Dennis B. Willis will retire in June.

The superintendent will also ask the trustees to authorize an application for $86,000 in National Defense Education Act funds, to be used in science, mathematics, history, reading and humanities.

Culture To Be Keynote Next Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweeping changes in public television, aimed at bringing more cultural offerings and diversity to noncommercial airwaves, have been announced by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

The major reform announced was creation of a Public Broadcasting System — PBS — within the next 90 days to manage the National Educational Television Network and its 140 member stations.

PBS, an arm of the corporation, will have broad power to allocate producers time on the NET network.

The plans were announced by John W. Macy Jr., the corporation president, and Fred W. Friendly, television consultant to the Ford Foundation, the largesh contributor of noncommercial television. This year the foundation provided about $13 million.

The first programming change involves a new two-hour Sunday night program of news, public affairs, music and drama, premiering in October, to replace the controversial Public Broadcast Laboratory, which will leave the air in May.

For 18 Sunday evenings during the summer, NET will provide musical programs, including visits to the Berkshire Music Festival at Tanglewood, Mass.; the Summer Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., the Newport, R.I. Folk and Jazz Festivals, the Monterey Jazz Festival from California and the Cleveland Summer Festival.

The "Summer Showcase 1969" series will be produced with a special Ford grant of $1 million, Friendly said.

Other grants will create a television opera company and a New York Television Theater. A Negro variety series from Harlem, "Soul!," will be discontinued.

Macy said the new PBS would bring about "the most effective distribution of programming and insure that our growing network truly serves the stations and the total audience."

The changes were announced on the eve of the annual meetings of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters and of NET affiliates.

Zita Will Head Fire Association

Frank Zita has been elected president of the Kentfield Association of Firemen to succeed Robert Bettencourt, Asst. Fire Chief Raymond Vogel said today.

Other officers are Robert Lewis, vice president; Edward Schulze, secretary and Melvin Saulenas, sergeant-of-arms. New board members are Guido Mariana, Robert Mariani, Rolfe Stahlbaum, Bettencourt and Lewis.

Harvard March Protests ROTC

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — An estimated 500 Harvard University students marched to the home of President Nathan M. Pusey early today, demanding abolition of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the college.

The students marched about three blocks and forced their way past campus police and through the gates in front of Pusey's home. Some bags of water were dropped on the marchers by other students along the route.

Takes Cooperation

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The U.S. Gold Depository at nearby Fort Knox holds almost $12 billion within its concrete vault. The vault combination is divided among depository staff members so no person knows the combination.

Historic Sign Getting The Ax

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Another bit of Mississippi River lore is about to pass away.

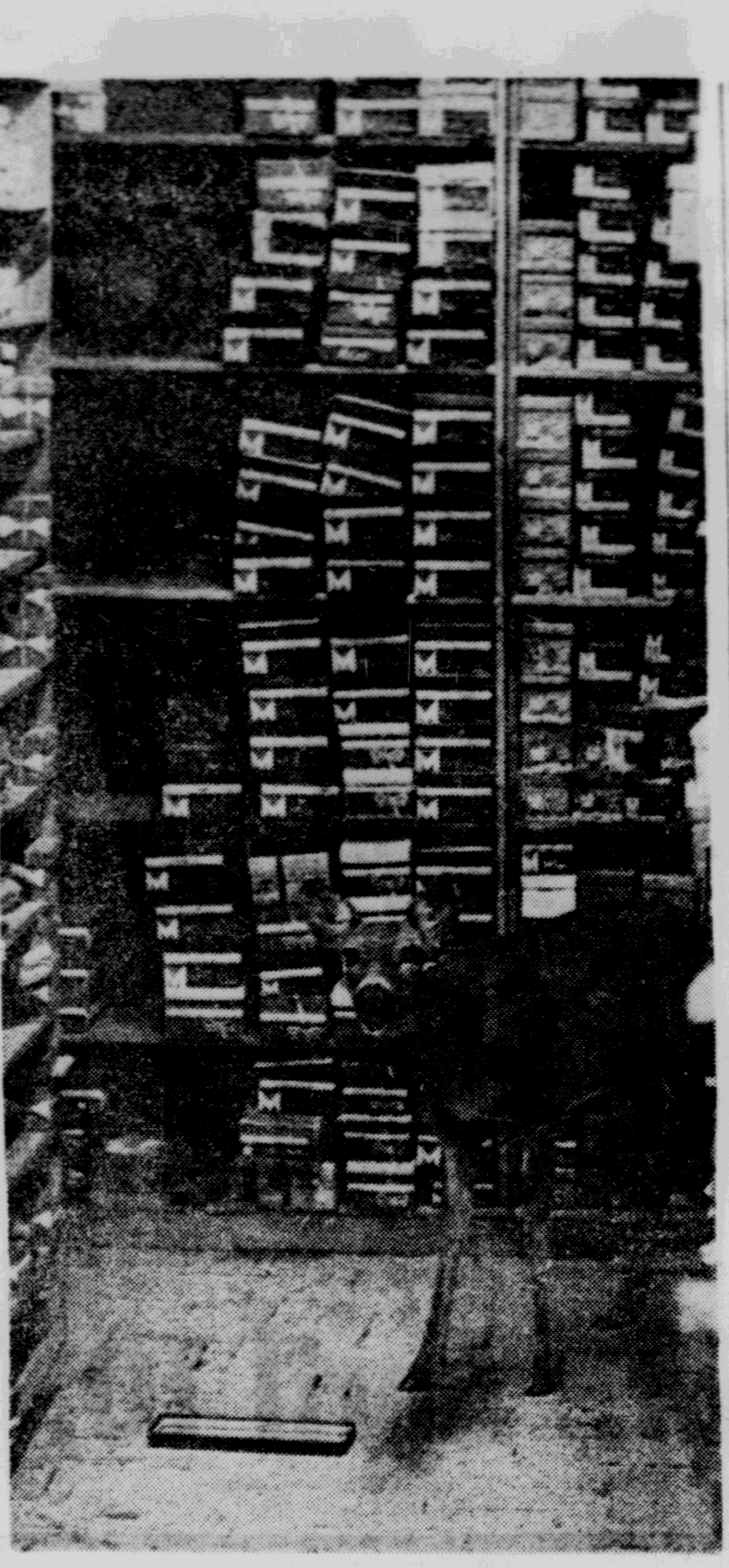
For years the U.S. Engineers has posted the river stage on a large sign on the bluff overlooking the river for the benefit of the pilots guiding the big Mississippi towboats.

But that information is available now — much faster — by radio and the engineers say they are thinking about removing the sign.

Permanent Problem

LONDON (AP) — The telephone cable manhole in the middle of busy Brigstock Road is staying where it is despite complaints that traffic backs up for miles whenever the cover is taken off. Telephone officials say it would cost 50,000 pounds ($120,000) to move the hole a few yards to the sidewalk.

People once thought that the moon's surface was so smooth and crystalline that like a mirror it reflected the continents and seas of earth. Actually, the moon's face is incredibly rough.



NOW WHICH ONE?

A wild doe finds herself hoofing it through the stock room of a shoe store in Pompton Lakes, N.J. The deer somehow wandered onto main street of the community, became frightened and ran into the store. She was held at bay until Humane Society workers could snare her. (UPI Telephoto)

Girl Car-Hops Still Forbidden

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has a woman prime minister and women members of Parliament, but the country just isn't ready for girl car-hops.

City officials turned down a proposed drive-in restaurant in downtown Connaught Place because the plan called for girl waiters.

Police Do Not 'Fuel Around'

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Police received a frantic telephone call from a man reporting fuel oil in the basement.

"Hose it down," police suggested.

"One hundred gallons?"

The police advice was to telephone the oil company.

Snap Shooting Only For State's Tigers

JAIPUR, India (AP) — For the next five years, you can shoot tigers in the Rajasthan state with a camera but not with a gun.

The state government had to issue this ban to save from extinction the 10 tigers still left in its forests.

Zoo Sends Out An Urgent SOS

GAUHATI, India (AP) — Wanted: Birds for the inmates of the Gauhati Zoo.

This advertisement was sent in the form of an SOS by the zoo authorities to the Delhi Zoo. It has sought matches for a gray langur, capped langur, Capuchin monkey, Indian civet and binturong.

While the problem basically is of too many bachelors, the Gauhati Zoo had, for a change, also sought a male Japanese sika deer for the female one it has.

City Is Loser In Vehicle Accident

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — The city came out the loser when a man made a left turn into the path of a city police car.

The offender paid a $17 traffic ticket — but the city had to pay $556 for repairs to the damaged squad car.

No Red Tape For Emergency Funds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Economuc Security Department has decided to cut red tape when a family needs emergency public assistance quickly.

Commissioner Eugene Goss said verification by a social worker that an emergency exists will be enough to start aid flowing immediately.

TODAY'S YOUTH

Scouts Also Do Their Own Thing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hippies and Boy Scouts have in common: hanging together with youths the same age, dressing in a uniform manner, and doing their own thing.

But consider also the differences. Some of the divergent definitions of the two show in a UPI poll of 15 youths named top scouts by the Boy Scouts of America for 1969.

SCOUTS' VIEWS

Some of the scout comments:

"A scout is clean and a hippie is not."

"A Boy Scout tries to put God first, others second and himself third. A hippie puts himself first, himself second, and himself third."

"A hippie is trying to escape from society; a scout tries to better it by bettering himself."

"A scout is actively involved in trying to help solve the problems of the world while a hippie is actively involved in condemning others for causing them."

"A hippie seeks to escape from society and a scout by his participation and involvement in society can improve it from within rather than from without."

"Both have viewpoints about important subjects but they vocalize in different ways. A hippie does not accomplish anything worthwhile through his objections but a scout puts his beliefs in action through programs for community betterment."

HIPPIE OPINION

The typical hippie. when asked, puts a "square" label on scouts and scouting programs. The top scouts reacted to this by saying:

"Any organization that can assemble 12.000 youths from all over the world (as at the seventh annual World Jamboree) and produce friendship and fun rather than war and rebellion can be called anything one chooses—why not promising?"

"How can it be square? Isn't this a better future than to be found mugged or dead on a hate (sic) Ashbury street corner or a Greenwich Village cellar?"

"Scouting isn't square because it rounds a guy out."

"If having fun without escaping from reality is square, then call scouting square."

WHOM TO FOLLOW?

Hippies. It has been shown. follow their youthful leaders and peers more than the dictates of their parents or teachers.

The top scouts gave a clue to their success by saying parents. teachers. churchmen and scout leaders influenced them most.

Another clue to their hitting the scouting instead of hippie trail came when they were asked to name the people they admire the most.

Fathers. mothers and scoutmasters got the most votes.

A typical response by one naming his dad among the three persons he admires:

"My father — because of his sacrifice expressed for the family by hard work. Also for his understanding of youth problems and his fair sense of justice."

Mothers named were hailed for "unselfish devotion and love to the utmost degree."

Others on the list of admired included:

President Nixon for "his sense of responsibility and his recovery after defeat."

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., "for the courage of attempting to overcome seemingly impossible odds."

Bob Hope for displaying "generosity when he really doesn't have to."

Dr. Ralph Bunche. undersecretary general of the United Nations, for "his keen social concern and endless quest for peace and harmony among all people."

A scout who put his mother on the list came up with a good job description for mothers everywhere.

"She is a critic who shows me my faults and who helps me to improve myself in every way," he said.

NEW DELHI (AP) City officials estimate 55,000 of the capital's three million residents have tuberculosis, and that one-third of the cases are infectious.

A POWER GOLD MINE

Imperial Valley Waits To Be Tapped Of Precious Hot Water

WASHINGTON (SS) — In 1849, the cry in Northern California was "gold."

In 1969, another type of underground fortune is coming to the fore, this time in Southern California. Buried under some 2,000 square miles of the Imperial Valley are vast underground reservoirs of extremely hot water (500 to 700 degrees F.) that could supply all the pure water and electric power needs of nearly all of Southern California for several decades.

The Imperial Valley, extending 70 miles north of the Mexican border and 30 to 40 miles wide, is one vast potential steam field.

Basically, all that's required to make it productive is to drill wells, thereby unlocking the geothermal energy of the water, which would be released in the form of steam.

The steam in turn could be used to drive generators to produce electric power. Or it could be condensed into distilled water for agriculture and drinking. The heat from the steam could also be used indirectly to make more distilled water by applying it to sea water, one pound of steam producing 10 pounds of water.

Right now studies are being conducted by the University of California at Riverside under the direction of Dr. Robert W. Rex to map out the potential sites for geothermal wells. In a report to be released next month, Dr. Rex will announce the discovery of the Imperial Valley.

The exceptional feature of these fields is their low salinity. High salt content is the spoiler for the wells. If the brine is too salty — 20 to 30 per cent — it cannot be used for water. The newly discovered well sites contain two to three per cent salt, the same amount found in Mexican wells, which usually have far less salt than American wells.

To obtain distilled water, a well would be drilled. This releases the pressure, and the extremely hot water flashes into steam. As if in a giant percolator, the water boils at the bottom of the well and sends up steam and slugs of water which are separated by a centrifugal separator, the steam coming out one pipe, the brine coming out another.

The flow rate from the most productive Mexican well, near Mexicali, is two million pounds of steam and brine per hour, or 140,000 barrels a day, the highest flow rate of any well in the world.

There is enough potential energy in the steam fields to end the squabble between California and Arizona over rights to the Colorado River, their common boundary and the major source of water and power in that area.

The dispute grew out of early historical rights that governed claims to the Colorado River. The result is that today that Imperial Valley alone is entitled to one third of its share of the river's water. However, if the potential of the steam fields in the Imperial Valley — a truck gardener's paradise — could be realized economically, California would no longer need all of its share of the river.

"The economics of the situation are appealing," says Dr. Rex. "The cost of heat for electricity and desalination would run from one to two cents per one million British Thermal Units, whereas heat from nuclear sources is around 20 to 22 cents and from oil and gas it is closer to 30 cents."

Ultimately, the final answer regarding utilization of the potential steam fields is a matter of economics. After the present exploration phase is over — probably by fall — and the potential sites for steam fields all mapped out, economists will have to sit down and figure out if the area can be exploited economically.

The main question is whether the water obtained from the wells would be economically competitive with the water from northern California, Oregon and Washington. At present, the cost of geothermally desalinated water is much greater than Colorado River water, but as the Southwest area grows and its water needs increase, the potential fields will become economically competitive with the sources of northern rivers that would otherwise have to be called upon.

Since the steam fields offer a source of water close at hand, the transportation costs involved in bringing water down from the Columbia River, for example, would work in favor of the fileds.

The steam in the fields could last from one hundred to several hundred years. But after that time, the fields need not be abandoned because the heat would still be present in the ground, and it could be used to distill sea water. To make such an operation profitable, however, would require bringing in massive quantities of sea water. Dr. Rex envisions dredging a channel 150 miles inland to Yuma, Ariz.

75 Per Cent Live In City's Slums

NEW DELHI (AP) —Of an estimated 3.8 million persons living in India's capital, 75 per cent live in slums, according to an Indian town planner.

The situation is not improving, he claims, in that 50,000 migrants annually pour into the city in search of work.

Aid Is Due The Deformed

German Feature Service

Not only will the living malformed thalidomide children in Germany — some 5,000 were born in that country alone between 1960-1962 — be subsidized by the pharmaceutical firm that made the drug, but all deformed children in Germany will receive aid.

Since 1962, the Medical Tribune says, the firm of Chemie Grunenthal has been "dissuaded by counsel from offering financial assistance because of the possibility that the action would be misinterpreted as acknowledgment of guilt" and thus prejudice the case against seven executives now on trial. Now it is planned to make the donation to all malformed children through another organization rather than directly to avoid what might appear as an admission of guilt.

Nearly half the thalidomide babies died at birth or shortly thereafter. From 2,000 to 3,000 children were born in the other 45 countries where thalidomide was sold.

Chemie Grunenthal is one of the largest drug manufacturers in West Germany. However, the defense attorney, Frank Dahrendorf, says that if a monthly subsidy is established for each child and all costs are assumed by this company, it would cost $500 million, an amount that would bankrupt the firm. Under German law, however, the plaintiffs could take over the company and make it work for them, using the profits to pay the fines and monthly payments.

Whatever the outcome of the trial, the West German government has changed its laws governing drugs so that a longer period of prescription trial will be required before they can be sold over the counter.

'Aged' Vegetables Tossed At Workers

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Aged vegetables, overripe fruit and a few bottles were tossed from apartment windows on construction workers and their machines digging a foundation on the midnight-to-dawn shift.

"Well, I suppose people do get upset by the noise," shrugged one official. The workers take care to wear safety helmets.

Locusts Once Again Plague The Mideast

LONDON (UPI)—The plague that the Pharaohs themselves knew and feared is on the march again. Over vast areas of the Middle East and Africa locusts are stripping all things green from the countryside and in many places leaving famine in their wake.

From the Somali Peninsula reports reaching the Anti-Locust Research Center here speak of new locust swarms breeding while the damage is still being assessed in the Spanish Sahara, Mauretania, Mali, Niger, Chad, The Sudan, Egypt, Ethiopia and Nigeria.

HORMONE REACTION

The plague now under way was detected by scientists of the center more than a year ago. In Mali and Niger they noted that the harmless grasshopper was swarming, a hormone reaction set off by numbers that turns him into a marching-flying terror able to eat his own weight every day.

Since individual swarms can contain more than 20,000 tons of the insect the damage is obvious. And more than one-fifth of the land area of the world is threatened.

"They cover 3,000 miles in a few months," said a spokesman for the center. "And where they have been they take everything. The farms are left barren of everything above ground. Of course the locusts themselves are edible but they are a poor substitute for green crops."

Britain has sent some $420,000 in extra aid to the infested areas. Some of this will be used for a light airplane and vehicles used in the control program.

FARMERS WARNED

The spokesman said the center's early warning system had helped cut down the damage from the swarms by giving some farmers a chance to switch to root vegetables safely out of reach of the locusts.

It had also enabled antilocust patrols to use insecticides which kill the grasshoppers at an early stage before they develop the voracious appetites of locusts.

"The plague is in full swing at the moment," the spokesman said. "We can only advise threatened areas to keep spraying and take whatever other measures seem appropriate until it subsides. These things can go on a long time—years."

The Anti-Locust Detection Center here is where the mystery of the locust was solved. For centuries its life cycle was obscure. Then a former director proved that locusts did not spring from the breeding sites on the ground—grasshoppers did.

But when enough grasshoppers got together they were transformed into locusts — a startling insect phenomenon.

A pinhead of material heated to the temperature of the sun's core — 16,000,000 degrees Centigrade — would emit enough heat to kill a man a hundred miles away, National Geographic says.

EXECUTIVE TIPS, TOO

Beware Of That 'Television Elbow'

LONDON (London Express) — A junior may say of his boss: "He's a pain in the neck!" It's an unfeeling remark, because that's just what he may be suffering from.

A pain in the neck is now said to be a status symbol — a symptom of working at a big executive desk. That's why H. J. Friend, of the Unilever Corp.'s medical department, suggests in a British medical publication "The Lancet" that the bigger the desk the bigger the risk. Executives, he finds, suffer from neck pains that old-style clerks with "sensibly inclined surfaces" never knew.

It makes you think, doesn't it, of all the new hazards of modern living? We're all living longer, so long as we recognize the new dangers. That friendly box, for instance — the instant entertainment of hundreds of millions of people now that TV is spreading rapidly all over the world — has a lot to answer for.

Adolf Lienert of Dusseldorf University, West Germany — an expert on sleep problems — says that if you want to sleep healthily, don't go straight to bed after watching an exciting film on TV — particularly a crime film.

"TV viewers tend to identify themselves with the action in a film about policemen and criminals," he says. "The tension they feel during the show carries over into their sleep if they go to bed immediately after switching off their set. They may be able to fall asleep quite easily, but they are not able to enter the secondary, and most valuable, deep-sleep phase."

According to the U.S. Public Health Service, some color TV sets there may give off dangerous X-rays. In a test of 131 color TV sets it was found that 38 — or 29 per cent — showed radiation above safe limits, and in a few cases 10 times as much. Health service experts have therefore warned Americans that sets need constant service and adjustment.

In Britain, America and Canada "TV elbow" has been diagnosed. This is a numbness of the nerves caused by too much pressure on the arms of chairs while sitting absorbed by the box.

Too much mesmerism in front of a flickering screen may lead to "TV headaches" and "TV snow blindness," with eye damage among children persistently watching too near the screen. And in some cases they can develop "telly-jaw." It is a potential malformation of the face caused by children habitually watching the set while lying on their stomachs on the floor with their chins propped in their hands.

More widely spread is the malady of "TV legs." It may cause children to suffer from lack of flexibility in the lower limbs and lower back through insufficient exercise.

Among their parents — particularly fathers — too much sitting in front of the set means that the least active bodily regions — abdomen, thighs, buttocks — become storage "banks" for unused calories, especially among those who eat a lot of sweet and starchy food and who drink heavily.

So the heart, with less demand on its services, adjusts to the inactivity and decreases its output. The stage is being set, with deteriorating arteries, for coronary heart attacks.

The tough-minded can switch off the telly — but it isn't so easy to escape from noise. No doubt that it's bad for you. Experiments in several countries have proved that intermittent and irregular noises can raise blood pressure, cause palpitation, upset digestion and destroy concentration on work.

In a French experiment, 500 soldiers were subjected to a continuous noise of 90 decibels — the sound of a heavy truck revving up hard. The noise lasted 15 minutes but for an hour afterwards 350 of them suffered from a double margin of error of vision and 375 were made temporarily color-blind.

Architect Malcolm Wells, who has designed a factory for 150 people below ground at Southampton, Pa., in the United States, says "The only way people of the future can keep their senses is to work and live in noise-free facilities. Human beings will soon become incapable of withstanding the row that goes on around them."

Motoring in heavy, noisy traffic — or any prolonged driving in difficult and frustrating conditions — may cause increasing physical strain which could be the starting point for one of the stress diseases such as duodenal ulcer, migraine, colitis or asthma. And a cramped, can't-straighten-the-knees driving position may cause serious leg and stomach pains.

There is a mental danger added to the physical risks of car driving. Psychiatrists are treating a new "phobia" — fear of getting stuck in a traffic jam. The patient is given a tranquillizer and then has to play a kind of psychological charade, acting out the situations which he fears in the streets, beginning with the least frightening.

Some other risks are very peculiar to our time, as an Eccles, Lancashire doctor found when a young man came to him complaining of soreness round the navel. He had an infection caused by pressures frum ultra-tight trousers — and a guitar. The youth — a pop group guitarist — was cured with antibiotics, and had some advice on dress.

Some women, trying out a new eye-shadow in the morning, have found their eyes red and puffy by lunchtime. There are an increasing number of women suffering from contact dermatitis — caused not only by sensitivity to cosmetics but to the habit of spitting on a mascara brush or of touching the eyes with varnished fingernails.

Soap has been around for nearly 2,000 years, but some scientists think there's danger lurking in that dish.

Dr. Carl-Gustaf Carpel, a Swedish scientist says: "Soap tablets spread infection in homes, hospitals and factories. They retain dangerous bacteria which live and breed for an hour after the soap has been used."

Some researchers, while acknowledging that soap cuts down the risk of infection being spread, claim that it makes the skin even more susceptible than usual to fresh contamination because our skin acts as a natural barrier against both germs and dirt entering the body system. It doesn't really need soap, as it contains an antiseptic emulsion. Additionally, the acid on the skin surface helps to protect the skin's second layer — but soap breaks down the acid buffer system.

Research has shown that it takes an hour and a half for the skin to return to its normal acid level after washing with soap — and in that time the germs have a clear way into the lower skin.

Affluence has brought one newer risk to Britain, now drinking more than twice as much champagne as eight years ago. Eye hospitals are treating more cases of eyes injured by popping champagne corks. The cork blasts off at 30 miles an hour!

Bus Conductor Is Pal To Children

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Plump, bespectacled bus conductor Peter Geldenhuys, 27, has for the past eight years lavished most of his spare time and a good deal of his Rands 50 ($70) a week pay on Johannesburg's poor, orphaned and crippled children.

Each month he organizes parties, outings and entertainments for "his" children. At one party he had 1,500 children. His welfare work won "Tubby," as the children call him, the first Citizen of the Year award made in South Africa.

Brief Freedom Plenty Costly

HONOLULU (AP) — Franklin D. Melandre, 29, stole a half-minute of freedom last May.

Now he must pay the penalty — five more years in prison.

Melandre broke away from a prison guard at the Honolulu Court House after he was arraigned for an earlier escape from the Hawaii State Prison.

He got five years for the first escape. But he hid out as a hermit in the mountains for 4½ months before he was caught.

For the second, 30-second escape, his sentence was the same.

Mexico City, built on mud, has been slowly sinking for 600 years, National Geographic says.

Old Adage Doesn't Work In Jet Age

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's chief of the air staff, Air Chief Marshall Arjan Singh, attributes large proportion of air accidents to the absence of "the old understanding between the pilots and the birds," namely, "to fly clear of one another."

This understanding was "Unfortunately no longer possible in these days of supersonic flying," he told a gathering of air force commanders.

Cold Kills Cattle

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — More than 2,000 head of cattle died on one farm alone during an unseasonal cold snap.

Tires Being Tapped For Chemicals

PITTSBURGH (SS) — A one-million-ton rubber reservoir is being tapped as a source of chemicals and fuels. Discarded tires — 100 million of them — are the targets of researchers at the Coal Research Center of the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh, who are distilling valuable chemicals from them as well as gas for heat and power.

Scientists have obtained large quantities of chemicals, oil liquids, gas and tar from scrapped tires by heating them in a closed vessel. Shredded tires are fed into the reactor; and as they are heated, they break down.

A series of tests at 500 degrees C. produced 140 gallons of liquid oils and 1,500 cubic feet of gas per ton of tires. The gas was comparable in heating value to nautral gas.

The chemicals obtained from the tires are similar to those produced from coal carbonization (the heating of coal without air) including benzene, toluene, xylene and naphthas.

CRITICIZES DIRKSEN

EOC Boss Quits; Fires Off Volley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford L. Alexander Jr. resigned today as chairman of the Employment Opportunities Commission and denounced the Nixon administration's attitudes on enforcing equal job opportunities.

Alexander, 39, who held the job for two years, came under fire last month from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who said Alexander had harassed firms.

In his resignation, Alexander noted Dirksen threatened to have him fired for "vigorous enforcement" of equal job opportunities and that the White House had announced he would be replaced.

"People who are hurt by discrimination and those working to eliminate it alike have been dismayed by the intimation—implicit in the timing of the White House announcement—that discharge of my responsibilities under (the 1964 Civil Right Act's) Title 7 had precipitated your decision to replace me," he said in his resignation announced at a news conference.

Alexander said his resignation as chairman would take effect May 1 unless President Richard M. Nixon desires an earlier date.

He added he will remain on the commission to fill out the remaining three years of his term.

Asked about Alexander's resignation and criticism of the administration, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said he would not comment except to say new presidents frequently replace chairmen of federal commissions.

"The President has, I think,

Nixon Meets Again With Security Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon conferred with his National Security Council for the second straight day today and devoted the session to international trade problems.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, who revealed the topic of the latest meeting, made no mention of Vietnam, which has been the subject of two weeks of high level discussions.

Ziegler said today's council session was attended by Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, who leaves Friday on a seven-nation trade mission to western europe. Stans is scheduled for a similar trip to the Far East later.

The purpose of Nixon's meeting yesterday with his top diplomatic, military and intelligence aides was not announced. Ziegler had said before the meetings they would consider two topics, but he didn't spell out then what the topics would be.

Sessions of the council on successive days are somewhat unusual.

Nixon met with Ellsworth Bunker, U. S. ambassador to Saigon, after yesterday's session. Bunker will be returning to his post probably by the end of the week or early next week after a top-level review of Vietnam policy that began in California March 23.

Despite indications that Vietnam was one of the subjects before the council, the two meetings also came during a period of unusual foreign affairs activity in the capital.

Nixon met yesterday with Jordan's King Hussein, a pro-Western Arab leader who fears another outbreak of war in the tense Middle East.

Hussein, in the United States for three days of talks, said on arrival he had no plan to settle the Arab-Israeli dispute, but did have some "ideas to put forth."

Union 'White Paper' Will Refute Attacks By Reuther

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther talked a better game than he played, according to a 40,000-word "white paper" by the AFL-CIO, replying to Reuther's frequent criticisms and reporting on the ouster of his United Auto Workers.

A federation spokesman said the document, to be released Friday, is intended to set the record straight so the "history of the trade union would not show that Reuther's charges had gone unrefuted."

Reuther, who headed the CIO before it merged with the AFL in 1955, has criticized AFL-CIO President George Meany and the labor federation for several years as complacent and a "custodian of the status quo." He has called for more action on civil rights, as well as on labor welfare.

The AFL-CIO reply is being issued nearly a year after Reuther's auto union was suspended from the AFL-CIO for non-payment of federation dues.

"At the time Reuther started his attacks, our executive council voted that we would not answer his charges through the press," the AFL-CIO spokesman said.

Rather, the council elected to challenge Reuther through what the official called "the regular machinery of the trade union movement"—meaning on the convention floor.

"But Walter always managed not to get to the meetings," the federation spokesman said.

He said the document, titled "To Clear the Record," was a comprehensive report on the disaffiliation of the auto workerss union and would be made public Friday.

The Washington Star and the Washington Post evidently succeeded in seeing the report earlier, however, and the two newspapers revealed some of its detail ahead of publication.

The Star says Meany had written Reuther a long letter last July seriously discussing Reuther's suggestions for revitalizing the labor movement, but had received no reply.

The Post says the report hammers away at what it sees as Reuther's effort to change the structure and thrust of the fed-

Sirhan Outburst Halts Trial Summary

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Shouting out "He's lying! He's lying He's lying!" Sirhan B. Sirhan interrupted today the state's case against him in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"He's lyng. He's a dirty —— - - - - -," Sirhan said as Deputy Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts said that on the night of the slaying Sirhan had left his wallet—all identification—in his car. Fitts asked the jury to convict Sirhan of first-degree murder.

It was only a few minutes before normal morning recess time and Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker quickly halted proceedings and ordered bailiffs to remove Sirhan from the court.

Before his blowup, Sirhan twisted nervously in his seat as Fitts, silver-haired trial veteran, called Kennedy "a man of hope, a man of respect," and said Sirhan was fully aware of what he was doing when he shot Kennedy last June 5.

The New York senator, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, had just won California's primary and had left a cheering crowd of supporters when Sirhan shot him.

The defense has admitted that Sirhan killed Kennedy, but has said he was so mentally impaired that he was not legally responsible.

Opening the state's summation, Fitts quoted a statement attributed to Sirhan after the shooting, "Do you think I'm crazy so you can use it against me?" At the time Sirhan was refusing to make any statements to police.

"I deduce from this the defendant was fully aware of his constitutional rights," Fitts said, "fully aware of his predicament, fully aware everything he said might be used against him."

Mental experts who testified for the defense had said that Sirhan killed in a trance, that he was an unconscious instrument of assassination.

Fitts referred to the defense of diminished responsibility—which holds that a person not legally insane still may not be fully responsible for his actions—and said:

"We will be concerned whether or not this defendant at that time was able to appreciate that firing a bullet into the head of another individual was not a thing that is done in our community. That's all we will be concerned with."

Fitts told the jury that premeditation and deliberation are necessary ingredients of first-degree murder and added:

"The law does not presume to what extent an individual must deliberate and premeditate. A cold and calculated decision to kill may be arrived at in a matter of minutes or even seconds.

"The state suggests to you

Senators Vote Major Overhaul In Divorce Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Senate today approved a major overhaul of California divorce laws that would eliminate angry court battles between married couples over property settlement.

The measure by Sen. Donald L. Grunsky was sent on a 25 to 14 vote to the Assembly after a one and one-half hour debate during which several lawmakers argued the provisions fell short of their mark and made divorce too easy.

Grunsky said the measure would change the law to provide for the equal distribution of community property.

It would also eliminate such grounds for divorce as "extreme cruelty" and strike the requirement that one partner must be at fault before a complaint for divorce can be filed.

Nixon Picks Woman As Consumer Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virginia H. Knauer, the director of Pennsylvania's Bureau of Consumer Protection, was named by President Richard M. Nixon today as his special assistant for consumer affairs.

Mrs. Knauer, 54, is a Republican who has served on the Philadelphia City Council.

In the $28,000-a-year post, she will succeed Betty Furness, who served under former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

At a White House news conference where her appointment was announced, it was made clear Mrs. Knauer will have a full-time job.

That was unlike the appointment given earlier this year to Willie Mae Rogers, director of the Good Housekeeping Institute. Mrs. Rogers was to have been a consumer consultant while keeping her post of supervising awards of the Good Housekeeping seals of approval.

Mrs. Rogers resigned four days after her appointment was announced, when public criticism developed over a possible conflict of interest.

Since February 1968, Mrs. Knauer has been the director of the Pennsylvania Consumer Protection Bureau. The White House noted that "she is the only woman in the United States who actually administers such a bureau, devoted to consumer protection and consumer education."

Along with her post as special assistant to Nixon, Mrs. Knauer will serve as chairman of the President's Committee on Consumer Interests and as executive secretary of the Consumer Advisory Council.

Campus Closed In New Orleans In Racial Fuss

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — School officials closed the Southern University branch campus here today following a series of incidents in which 15 to 20 Negro students were arrested.

The first arrests were made at mid-morning today when a group of six Negroes lowered the American flag in front of the administration building and hoisted a "black liberation" flag in its place. The six were booked with desecrating the American flag.

Later, the students at the predominantly Negro school massed in the cafeteria for a meeting and barred newsmen. A student spokesman said they discussed plans to strike the school and to take over the administration building.

Unruh Says Tax Dooms Middle Class

Democrats In Uproar Over Proposal; Hearings Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate's Democratic leader demanded today statewide hearings on Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan's billion dollar plus tax overhaul while the Assembly's top Democrat said it "is highway robbery."

"It is a program calculated to make the rich richer and turn the middle class into virtual paupers," Assembly Democratic Jesse M. Unruh told a news conference. (See other Legislature stories, pages 17, 18 and 48.)

The program submitted to the Legislature yesterday as a series of bills and proposed constitutional amendments, would go before the voters next year for a referendum — on the same ballot on which Reagan is expected to seek a second term.

Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Francisco said he had asked the Democratic chairman of the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee to hold "in depth statewide hearings" on the plan "before the Legislature acts too hastily on taxation policies California must live with for the next decade."

Both men concentrated their criticism on the 50 per cent income tax hike proposed by Reagan to finance a massive cut in property taxes.

MIDDLE INCOME

"It should be obvious, even to Governor Reagan, that a man making $15,000 a year has a lot more trouble coming up with an extra $150 than the $44,000 a year man has in paying $440 more — most of which he can deduct from his federal income taxes," said Unruh.

Unruh said that together with Reagan's $1 billion tax increase of 1967, taxes would be boosted a total of $1.7 billion in only seven years. He called the plan "a declaration of war upon the middle class."

Moscone said the Reagan plan would hit hard at renters who would get no property tax relief.

50 PCT. HIKE

The plan would also extend the sales tax to repair services, magazines and containers such as paper bags and impose a new state-wide tax on business property. In return, residential property taxes would be sharply reduced.

The plan would boost income taxes $765 million, a 50 per cent hike for the average Californian. It would also raise the sales tax by $129 million and impose a new statewide tax on business property.

The money would go for an 80 per cent cut in the residential school property tax, other homeowner property tax cuts and further reductions in the property tax on business inventory.

TAX SHIFT

State aid to school would be increased by $1.6 billion, to a total of $3 billion, Reagan said.

The aim: a huge reduction in property taxes, now used to support schools and other local government services. It is also designed to equalize the economic differences between poor and rich districts.

Casper Weinberger, state finance director, said the shift

Federal Aid To Landmark In Tiburon

A federal grant of $37,000 has been approved to help save from development land above old St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon, Reps. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, and William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, reported from Washington today.

The legislators announced that the Department of Housing and Urban Development had approved the funds, to be matched by another $37,000 raised locally.

James Vande Weg, county park development coordinator, said the county Parks and Recreation Department had not received word of the federal grant approval as of this morning. However, if the money has been approved, purchase of 1.19 acres above the church landmark would be assured because local contributions have been pledged as follows:

County of Marin $9,125; Tiburon $4,500; Belvedere $4,500; and Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society $18,125. Total cost of the acquisition is expected to be $74,000.

Owners of the 1.19 acres had announced plans to construct apartments on their property.

The Old St. Hilary's site, which is designated a state historical landmark, will total more than the 3.5 acres with the new purchase. At present, the total area is 2.47 acres, with the county owning 1.9 and the landmarks society owning .57 of an acre.

April Showers Fall Overnight

Marin's sixth April rain fell during the night, making last April, with a single rain of .31 of an inch, seem like a drought.

The weatherman predicted it would be cloudy tonight and clear tomorrow with temperatures in the mid 60s.

Rainfall totals for the 24 hours ending at 8 a.m. today included: Woodacre, .40 of an inch; San Anselmo, .33; Bolinas, .31; Tamalpais Valley and Terra Linda, .30; Ross, .27; Novato, .26; Mill Valley, .24; Hamilton Air Force Base and Sausalito, .20, and Tiburon, .18.

In the 24 hours ending at noon, San Rafael reported .31 of an inch.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Goldberg May Run

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur J. Goldberg, former U.S. Supreme Court justice and U.N. ambassador, says he may run for the New York Senate seat held by the late Robert F. Kennedy.

When Kennedy was assassinated last June 5, two years of his senatorial term remained. His successor was Charles E. Goodell, a Republican U.S. Representative appointed to the seat by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, also a Republican.

Bob Hope Honored

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope was awarded the distinguished Citizens Award of Pepperdine College but was unable to attend Tuesday's ceremony. His daughter Linda accepted the award.

Kudo For Finch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Robert H. Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, has been named by the University of Southern California as this year's winner of the Asa V. Call Award.

The award, announced yesterday, goes to "the alumnus who, by reason of individual accomplishment, reflects the greatest credit to the university."

Race For The Moon

BELGRADE (AP) — A Soviet spaceman, Lt. Col. Vladimir Shatalov, was quoted today as saying the Soviet Union wants to be first to land a man on the moon.

He said the Russians need "six, seven and perhaps more months" of preparation, indicating the Soviets don't think the Americans can realize their plans to make a moon landing in July.

Mariner On Course

PASADENA (AP) — Mariner 7 chased on toward Mars today after a short rocket burst altered its course as planned by some 14,500 miles.

Scientists fired its engine for 7.7 seconds Tuesday in a move designed to bring Mariner 7 within 2,000 miles of Mars. When the rocket-firing signal was given at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, the craft was in its 12th day of flight and 2.5 million miles from earth.

Quake In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — A rolling earthquake jolted Tokyo and central and northeastern Japan today. The central meterological agency said no damage was immediately reported.

Otepka Hearing Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee will hold a hearing April 15 on the nomination of former State Department security officer Otto F. Otepka as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Sen. James C. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Judiciary Committee and internal security subcommittee, predicts speedy Senate confirmation of Otepka for the $36,000 a year job.

Aircraft Toll Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline crashes took 349 lives and another 1,374 persons were killed in private plane accidents in the United States last year.

The National Transportation Safety Board said yesterday the airline toll was the second highest on record, exceeded only by the 499 killed in 1960. At the same time, the accident rate per million aircraft miles flown reached a new low of .28 last year.

Prague Visit Set

VIENNA (AP) — U.S. Sen. John Sparkman said today that he will lead a "quasiofficial" delegation of American congressmen to Prague on Friday at the invitation of members of Czechoslovakia's Parliament.

The Alabama Democrat is in Vienna for a meeting of the Interparliamentary Union. He said he expects the majority of the seven American senators and eight representatives attending the meeting to go with him to the Czechoslovak capital.

The delegation will fly to the Soviet-occupied Communist country in a U.S. Air Force plane on Friday morning and is scheduled to return to Vienna that evening.

Census Printing Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau has decided to go ahead with the printing of 150 million forms for the 1970 population count despite a controversy over questions to be asked.

The bureau apparently was acting with White House approval this week when it told the Government Printing Office to start producing the forms, including questions which have brought complaints from some congressmen and citizens.

Federal law requires that census questions be answered.

Sofa Blaze Kills East Bay Child

SAN LEANDRO — (UPI) — A 3-year-old boy died and four other small children were overcome by smoke last night when a fire broke out in a living room sofa.

Wayne Lunny succumbed after firemen carried him out of the house. His mother said the sofa suddenly burst into flames she could not control. Her husband was at work.

The other four children, aged one month to seven years, were treated at East Bay Children's Hospital.

MIDWEST BATTLES FLOOD THREATS

The Big Sioux River floods a farm north of Sioux City, Iowa, as heavy snow and ice accumulations undergo a massive thaw throughout the north-central tier of states. Two persons have drowned fighting Minesota floods; sandbagging crews and evacuations were reported in Iowa, South Dakota and Wisconsin. College fraternity men, co-eds and Navy men today are laboring on the Sioux City dikes. (UPI Telephoto)

Cancer Risk From The Pill Still In Doubt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Oral contraceptives continue overwhelmingly popular with women despite some hazards associated with them, says Dr. Louis M. Hellman.

The chairman of obstetrics and gynecology at New York State University, here for the annual meeting of Planned Parenthood, told a news conference yesterday that estrogen, the major component of "the pill," has caused cancer to all laboratory animals to which it has been given but has never been shown to cause cancer in humans.

Carcinogens cancer-causing substances usually go through an average 10-year latent period in humans, "so that we are about six years out," Hellman said. The incidence of cancer of the cervix has continued without a change that might be attributed to the pill, he said.

"I think there's a good deal of doubt whether these pills are carcinogenic or not," he said.

"So long as you're under adequate physicians' supervision, the risk is negligible," said Hellman.

North Viet Soldiers Caught In Deadly Trap

SAIGON (AP) — A company of North Vietnamese troops moving toward Saigon from the southwest apparently mistook the silhouettes of American armored cars for the huts of peasants and walked into a death trap on a moonless night.

Forty-seven of the estimated 75 enemy soldiers died last night under a hail of machinegun fire from the four armored personnel carriers, military spokesmen said.

No U.S. casualties were reported.

The enemy troops passed by a listening post several hundred yards from the main body of the mechanized infantry company from the U.S. 9th Infantry Division. The outpost radioed to the main unit that about 75 enemy troops were moving toward the armored personnel carriers, about 18 miles southwest of Saigon.

"We let more than half of them pass by the first few armored tracks. Then when they were right in the center, all four of them opened fire," a 9th Division officer said.

Artillery and helicopter gunships joined the attack.

The Americans also took two prisoners, one of whom said his company was trying to link up with the 308th North Vietnamese Battalion.

Meanwhile, enemy gunners fired four 100-pound rockets into Saigon's northern fringes, wounding 10 Vietnamese civilians and two soldiers. One of the rockets caused minor damage to the Newport bridge, on the main highway to the big military bases at Bien Hoa and Long Binh, but traffic was not affected.

The U.S. Command reported about 10 other rocket and mortar attacks on allied bases.

Czech Press Restrictions Tightened

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders announced more restrictive measures last night to bring anti-Soviet journalists into line.

After an all-day meeting, the Communist party's 21-member presidium said it had aproved "some political organization measures to strengthen the leading role of the party in the mass means of communication and to increase discipline in the party."

The announcement said the leaders, headed by First Secretary Alexander Dubcek, also decided to "call to task Communist journalists who in recent days have published matter at variance with party policy or permitted publication of such material."

WEEKLY BANNED

One crackdown measure, disclosed unofficially, was the suspension of Listy, organ of the Czechoslovak Writers Union. The weekly recently criticized the party for joining the Soviet bloc boycott of the Yugoslav Communist party congress.

The writers' union also questioned the need for restoration of prepublication censorship, instituted April 2 as part of the price the Russian-occupied nation is paying for recent anti-Soviet demonstrations.

Although the communique indicated a stronger crackdown on the press, the Czechoslovak leaders were understood to be resisting other Soviet demands, including a government reshuffle and declaration of martial law.

CENSOR QUITS

In a related development, Prague radio announced that the nation's chief censor, Josef Vohnout, had been released from his post "at his own repeated request" and that Josef Havlin, an Education Ministry official, would replace him as head of the press and information office.

Vohnout was known as an opponent of prepublication censorship.

Benjamin Franklin is generally credited with inventing the rocking chair.

New Mideast Duel As Peace Tries Continue

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt said a second artillery duel flared across the Suez Canal late yesterday, nine hours after a U.N. cease-fire stilled Egyptian and Israeli guns along the waterway.

The first duel lasted five hours. An Egyptian communique estimated Israeli losses at 40 killed and wounded, but the Israelis said four of their soldiers were wounded.

An Egyptian communique said the Israelis began firing across the canal again at 10:45 p.m., and the duel continued for an hour and a half.

The Suez hostilities were preceded yesterday by a Jordanian rocket attack on Elath, Israel's gateway through the Gulf of Aqaba to East Africa and the Far East, and a retaliatory air raid by Israeli jets on Aqaba, Jordan's only port.

The fighting provided a gloomy backdrop for talks between President Nixon and King Hussein of Jordan, who began a three-day visit to Washington yesterday.

Hussein talked with the President and Secretary of State William P. Rogers, and lunched and dined at the White House. Today he was meeting again with Rogers and with Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, and tomorrow he is to confer again with Rogers.

The Big Four's chief delegates at the United Nations held their second weekly meeting yesterday on the Middle East situation, and afterward Lord Caradon of Britain told newsmen progress had been made.

Informed sources said the four ambassadors set up a second-level study group to search for common ground in the stated positions of Israel, Egypt and Jordan on how to settle the Middle East conflict.

Reds Claimed Killed

BANGKOK (AP) — Twelve Communist terrorists were killed last week in clashes with government troops, the Thai Communist Suppression Command reported today.

Strike Closes Illinois Central

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois Central Railroad halted most freight and passenger service on its 14-state system today, several hours after the United Transportation Union hit the line with a sudden strike.

An Illinois Central spokesman said supervisors were trying to keep up shipments of food and other perishables. However, he said, two passenger trains still in operation would be taken out of service after completing their runs.

The strike, which was called to back a demand relating to the size of crews, began last night, according to a union spokesman.

M. S. Stuckey, general chairman of the union's I.C. system, said the union seeks to force the railroad to keep the number of men in its crews the same as that on other lines.

made it very clear the administration intends to enforce the law in this area," Ziegler said, predicting the record will bear him out. "The entire direction and thrust of this administration has been positive" in the field of equal opportunities.

Alexander also criticized Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard, head of the civil rights division, for what he termed "a crippling lack of administration support."

Both officials, he said, "have been unresponsive to my request over two months ago" to discuss the future of enforcing equal job opportunities.

Alexander noted the administration filed suit yesterday to halt alleged anti-Negro bias at Cannon Mills Co., a large textile firm employing 24,000 persons in North and South Carolina. (See story page 3).

But "one swallow doesn't make a summer," he said, adding the suit against Cannon is the only one filed to attack discriminatory hiring practices under the new administration.

In comparison, he said, the department under former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark filed more than 30 such suits last year.

Alexander also said the commission has not been consulted on legislation he said is vitally needed.

Alexander said he didn't resign when the new administration took over because he felt the commission's work would be "seriously impaired by the advent of a fourth chairman within a period of three and one-half years."

New York attorney and a Negro, Alexander is a graduate of Harvard University where he was president of the Student Council and first marshal of his class.

He was brought to Washington in 1963 by the late President John F. Kennedy to serve as foreign affairs officer of the National Security Council. Later, he served in a variety of White House jobs before being picked by former President Lyndon B. Johnson to head the commission.

Sonoma Play Due Tomorrow

The Sonoma State College Drama Workshop's production of "Alice in Wonderland" opens at 8:30 p.m. in Ives Hall tomorrow and runs through Sunday and will reopen April 17 through April 19 with special 2 p.m. matinees Saturday, Sunday and April 19.

The production was adapted to the stage and is being directed by Lynn Clark, college drama instructor. The title role of Alice will be played by Christine Maki, a sophomore.

Southern Sonomans and Marinites in the cast are Janet Bauder, Norman Hoffman and Frederick Strutz, of Rohnert Park; David McNair, Linda Webster and Harvey Weeks, of Cotati; Dion Downs, Penngrove; William King, Petaluma; Jane Kingston, Tiburon and Anthony Roberts, San Anselmo.

Youth To Face Felony Charges

James Moore Alumbagh, 21, of Terra Linda, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of felony possession of marijuana and misdemeanor counts of maliciously destroying property and disturbing the peace.

Alumbagh was arrested March 30 at the Bourbon Shop in the Northgate Shopping Center after allegedly creating a disturbance there and lecturing officers on the immorality of a society which will not legalize marijuana and hashish.

He is to appear in Superior Court Monday for arraignment.

Ring Quickly Stolen In Sausalito Store

A woman's gold and diamond ring valued at $600 was stolen Monday from a display at the Golden Sails jewelry store in the Village Fair, Sausalito police reported.

Manager Bobby Graves said the ring was put in the display case at 11 a.m. and she found it missing at 3:15 p.m. The ring had a .7 carat diamond and was inscribed with a triangular scale design.

Burglary Reported

Helen S. Schinazi of 4 De Burgh Drive, Sleepy Hollow, reported to the sheriff's deputies Monday that someone broke into her house, broke one glass door, kicked in a second door, and stole a portable television set, two cameras and two clock radios.

Farm Bureau Takes Stand On Bay Fill

The Marin County Farm Bureau board yesterday voted to oppose further bay fill, regional government and reducing the percentage of votes necessary to pass school bonds, according to secretary Martha Busher.

The board voted to support recommendations of the Citizens Alliance to Save San Francisco Bay to maintain the shoreline and restrict the unnecessary filling of the bay, she said.

Members also voted to oppose Assembly Bill 711 for a Bay Area regional government, claiming it would be taking away the voice of local government.

They favored Senate Bill 35, which would delete the provision passed by the 1967 Legislature and eliminating statutory school tax rate limitations after June 30, 1971.

The board also will oppose the Senate study committee bill 20 which would reduce from two-thirds to 60 percent the vote necessary to pass school bonds, she said.

Pres. Alfred L. Poncia and others yet to be named, will attend the agriculture policy workshop April 22 at the board of supervisors, according to Mrs. Busher.

Youth Jailed In Drug Probe After Scuffle

Gary Williams Clemons, 18, of 20 Walnut Avenue, Larkspur, was jailed last night on suspicion of hitting a California Highway patrolman and possessing marijuana after a brief scuffle in Tamalpais Valley, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said officer David R. Salkeld stopped a car with three men in it for a traffic violation at 9:30 p.m. on Shoreline Highway. Clemons reportedly got out and maneuvered behind Salkeld as he questioned another occupant.

When Salkeld ordered him to stand by the car, Clemons reportedly said, "You're not going to tell me where to stand," and hit Salkeld in the mouth. He was subdued and handcuffed by Salkeld and another patrolman.

When searched at Marin County Jail, Clemons was found to have a bag containing an ounce of marijuana and a partly-smoked marijuana cigarette, the patrol said. He was held in lieu of $625 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

eration. It charges that he bypassed open channels within the group and that as a leader in the AFL-CIO and the UAW he talked a better game than he played.

Reuther must share the blame for any failure to make changes he alleges should have been made, the report says, because as a top official of the federation, he was in a position to influence its action.

Reportedly, the document also states that Reuther, while holding high AFL-CIO posts, launched programs such as multiunion organizing drives that failed.

Auto Dealer Objects To Street Work

The Petaluma Planning Commission last night approved the site design for the Jim Rose Chrysler-Plymouth sales lot and office, but set conditions to which Rose objected.

The commission, acting on a staff recommendation, said that Rose must provide the necessary improvements of curbs, gutters and sidewalks in his construction at 123 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Rose objected and said he would appeal to the city council. The commission explained that the Union Oil Co. service station at the same intersection was required to make similar improvements.

The Petaluma Planning Commission also:

Chaos Over Oil Leakage Hits Council

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — Mayor Gerald Firestone's order shutting off discussion of oil drilling went unheeded last night, and a council meeting at this sedate resort city ended in chaos.

Firestone and six councilmen quit the chamber and left it to 300 demonstrators demanding that a municipal wharf be denied to off shore oil drillers.

Members of an organization called GOO—Get Oil Out—jumped over the railing in the council chamber to assume the chairs of the councilmen as they left.

"I never saw anything like it," said City Atty. Stanley Tomlinson. "It was pure chaos, pure anarchy, with everyone yelling at the same time."

The crowd eventually departed after police moved into the chamber. There were no arrests.

GOO is trying to halt offshore oil drilling in the Santa Barbara Channel. Eruption of an offshore well Jan. 28 created a large oil slick and deposited a layer of tar on Santa Barbara beaches.

GOO members demanded the shutdown of a city-owned wharf used as a base for operations of offshore drilling firms.

They charged that even if the Jan. 28 eruption had not occurred oil drilling operations are turning the wharf into an unsightly area.

The council ordered a check of the safety of the wharf, but declined to close it down until the check could be completed.

"Is this it?" he asked his attorney. "This is it," the lawyer replied.

William Earl, chief of the Justice Department organized crime unit here, and Peter Kosti, assistant U.S. attorney, would not comment on the hearing.

BUDGET

from property to income taxation means a tax cut for many and a boost for some.

"People who live in areas with high school taxes will receive a substantial cut," he said. "In medium areas, it will come out even. In low tax areas they will have a tax increase."

The plan would also impose, for the first time, a withholding system for personal income taxes — voluntary for most but mandatory for those filling out an income tax form for the first time.

Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point, vice chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said prior to the Unruh and Moscone attacks, that the plan was "a grand conglomeration of things. You'll find someone in the state who is against every one of these things individually and when you put them all together, you have enough opposition to kill it.

"It's sort of like Frenchmen's stew," said Teale. "He's put everything in it."

Most Republicans voiced general support — good news for a governor who has 21-19 GOP control of the Senate and a 40-39 edge in the Assembly, where there is one vacancy.

"The governor's tax reform proposal is an attempt to provide a responsible and meaningful remedy for an inequitable and unresponsive tax system," said Assembly Speaker Robert T. Monagan.

But Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said he plans to go ahead with his completely mandatory withholding plan when his Revenue and Taxation Committee meets April 15.

Bagley, chairman of the committee, noted that is the date income tax returns are due, and said he is inviting taxpayers to attend the session and stage a "withhold-in" to persuade Reagan to adopt the mandatory plan.

Bagley is also the author of much of the rival tax reform program proposed by a commission headed by Republican Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

It calls for withholding, and massive aid to local government — without the mandatory tax cuts requested by Reagan.

Reagan's insistence on clamping spending controls on local government in return for the big state aid drew bitter opposition from the County Supervisors Association, a powerful group in the Capitol.

"If the governor's new tax reform plan were adopted without change, it would destroy California counties as effective local governments within a few years," said William R. MacDougall, general counsel and manager of the association.

He objected to the feature requiring local government to get approval of 60 per cent of the voters before raising taxes more than 10 per cent.

Teacher Pay Panel Named In Petaluma

The Petaluma Board of Education last night established an eight-member committee to serve as a fact-finding board to speed salary negotiations with the Association of Petaluma Area Teachers.

Supt. Lesly H. Meyer and Matthew Keller, president of the teachers' group, recommended the panel be formed before a deadlock is reached.

Four members of the committee will represent the association while the outer four, representing the board, will include two trustees, Meyer and George W. Caslteberry, business manager.

The board offered the teachers a 5 per cent wage increase and 3 per cent in added medical benefits on March 18. Later meetings of the association indicated the offer would be rejected.

BUILDING — Heard a report from architect Malcolm Reynolds on the construction status of five projects. He said the Cherry Valley School is complete and occupied; the addition to Rancho Cotate High School is 55 per cent complete; the addition to the McDowell School is 45 per cent complete; preliminary drawings for an addition to Kenilworth Junior High School are complete and include six classrooms, a band room and an outside snack shop, and the that preliminary plans for an addition to Rohnert Park Junior High School have been completed for six classrooms, a wood shop, mechanical drawing area and a band room with two ensemble rooms.

CLASS LOADS — Heard a report from a panel of five teachers representing the American Federation of Teachers who said that large class loads and large classes are lowering teaching quality. Meyer said thier request for a five-class load for secondary teachers is in the planning stages as well as plans to reduce class sizes in the elementary schools.

PRINCIPALS — Named two men to principalships. They were Douglas C. Arthur, currently director of instructional services, to Kenilworth Junior High School at a salary of $17,067, and Marvin Brinson, now a principal in the Pacheco School district in Redding, to McDowell School at a salary of $14,717.

READING — Heard a report from Arthur on the success of the reading program funded by the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act. He said Petaluma has been more successful than other districts because of smaller class sizes and more experienced teachers.

TENURE — Granted tenure to 41 teachers.

BUS — Heard Meyer report that a school bus was destroyed in an accident yesterday morning. He explained that the gas tank had exploded. Concerned over the explosion, he said officials of the Gillig Bus Co., manufacturers of the bus, and ths insurance company would investigate the cause.

GIFT — Accepted the gift of three tables and eight benches from the McKinley School Parent-Teacher Association for use at the school.

The boll weevil causes an annual loss of about $200 million in cotton and cotton seed.

Planners Clear Way For Insurance Office

Central offices of Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. and its affiliate, Mutual Fund Associates, will move soon to San Rafael's Northgate Industrial Park.

The way was cleared last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission with unanimous approval of zoning the 1.89-acre Robert Busse property on Northgate Drive for administrative-professional use.

Attorney Albert Bianchi, appearing for the affiliated companies, said they will bring a half-million-dollar yearly payroll to Marin with move of their headquarters here. More than 75 persons will be employed in the two offices.

Western Travelers Life now has headquarters in Los Angeles County, while Mutual Fund Associates has its central office in San Francisco. Both are subsidiaries of the Putnam Group insurance and investment companies.

The zoning application was warmly supported by Richard Nave, president of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau. Bringing such companies to Marin "are the things we've worked for so hard," he told the commission.

Bianchi had but did not show the commission a development plan for the property and an architect's sketch of the proposed building. These will be presented with applications for use permit and architectural approval.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

WARNER COURT — Approved the latest version of an expansion plan by owner Steele Holman in Warner Court, to add four units on a lot now having eight apartment units. Approval was conditioned on new off-street parking being developed on an adjacent corner lot, which will eliminate a swimming pool.

CAR SALES — Approved, 3 to 2, expansion of Ames Ford Sales used car lot at 805 Irwin Street into an adjoining lot, with provision that one of two large signs be removed. Chairman Joseph J. Garbarino and Commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole, who dissented, were against requiring the sign removal.

LANDSCAPE CONTRACTOR — Approved a permit for a landscape contractors' yard at 59 Jordan Street by Joseph Gartianne.

FENCING — Denied by unanimous vote application of Richard Isi for permission to remove a fence which had been required by the city to screen a car recovery lot at 125 Jordan Street. Isi claimed the fence made it difficult to prevent thefts from the lot. Commissioner Lawrence Mulryan said part of the fence had been torn down. City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner said Isi would be put on notice to put it up again.

BANK SIGN — After long discussion, granted Bank of Marin a four-by-eight foot free-standing sign at its Northgate office at 25-35 Mitchell Boulevard, on condition the base of the sign be no more than four feet above ground. The bank proposed to put it eight feet above the ground. Commissioner O'Toole dissented, wanting further restrictions.

MASONRY SIGN — Granted Marin Masonry permission for a two-part plywood sign, four by 15 feet, at 750 Lincoln Avenue.

Commissioners Jorgen V. Lunding and John J. Adams were absent.

Permit For Watchman's Trailer Given

The watchman who watches the watchdogs may live in a trailer for a year, the San Rafael Planning Commission decided last night.

Before the commission was the application of Bettie Seiler for permission for a watchman's trailer at the Pink Poodle Doggie Hotel at 58 Gary Place, on the Highway 101 service road near the Pepsi-Cola bottling plant.

The watchman is required, she said, to prevent people from stealing the 20 dogs kept there.

"With all those dogs, you don't have a watchdog?" asked chairman Joseph J. Garbarino.

"All they know is love," replied Mrs. Seiler.

The commission ruled the trailer must be replace by a permanent structure to house the watchman within a year.

AN EMERGENCY CALL FOR HELP!

THE HUSKIES OF INTERIOR ALASKA ARE FACING STARVATION

THIS CALL comes from Alaska... from the natives who are watching their faithful huskies die of malnutrition because the fish runs in the rivers on which they depend are sapped and depleted—from March until June—by the great salmon fisheries along the coastline and the Russian and Japanese fishing fleets in the Arctic Ocean and the Bering Sea.

Now the interior villages are snowed in, some completely isolated and practically immobilized by paralyzing cold reaching 50 and 60 degrees below zero. Supplies are running low, the dog food long gone, and the natives must ration their own food as they wait out the days. Some dogs have died, many have that lean and hungry look. The time is again at hand for their friends to come to the rescue—to fly tons and tons of dog food to these villages—and save the lives of the huskies! Will you help? Will you send your mite to keep alive some of the finest breed of dog that ever lent its strength and loyalty to mankind?

PLEASE!

Ross School Candidates Mostly Agree On Major Issues Of Day

Five candidates seeking the lone vacancy on the Ross School District board outlined platforms and fielded questions for nearly two hours last night and found themselves in almost total agreement on all the major issues.

Each of the five candidates favored some sort of sex education program; each candidate disapproved of unification, but each also saw some possible value in annexation with the Kentfield School District.

The five candidates are incumbent Van N. Logan, H. Jack Wyman, W. G. Morrisey III, Sally Ann Rakow and Martin Chase.

Each spoke for five minutes outlining his basic platform and then spent the rest of the evening answering the questions of about 50 persons in the Ross School auditorium.

The candidates appeared to be caught off balance only once during the evening and that came on a question concerning possible bussing of minority students into the district.

"Since Ross is basically an all-white community and since most psychologists agree that racial tolerances are decided at an early age, wouldn't it be beneficial to the students here to bring in some minority group students?" an unidentified member of the audience asked.

"I'll answer that bluntly," Chase said. "No! Geographically the students we would have to bus in would probably have to come from Marin City and that is 16 miles away, I think. That's asking for trouble.

"I drive into the city each day and don't find it too rough," the questioner answered.

"Well, its too bad you don't go the other way in the morning," Chase said hotly, "then you could help us bus the students in."

Logan said that he saw "some validity" to the bussing question, but said that to be beneficial, he felt the ratio would have to be 50-50 white to minority, and that that "would be out of the question because of the many students that would have to be bussed in and out each day."

Mrs. Rakow said that her objection to bussing was mostly based on the financial aspects. "It would just cost too much to do it," she said.

"Bussing is not the answer," Wyman said. "I agree that having a natural racial balance would be beneficial, but not a situation created by bussing students in and out."

The candidates spent much of their time discussing questions concerning sex education in the school.

Logan said he favored a sex education but said that the "success of such a program depends upon the amount of support the school board gets from the parents."

He said he favored a program which concentrated on social adjustments in grades one through four, leading into sex education in the higher grades.

"I think its more of having to educate the parents," Chase said, "I think they're the ones not ready."

Mrs. Rakow said that she felt "the school and home have to work together on this type of thing to be effective."

"I think that sex education ought to be taught the natural way — during biology discussions about the body and in other regular classes," Morrisey said. "I object to dragging in outside films." (He made apparent reference to the KQED "Time of Your Life" series which Ross school showed to certain classes last year.)

Wyman said he was concerned about "educating the teachers" to be able to present a sex education program properly.

"Perhaps we need a special education program for them first," he said.

While most of the candidates utilized their five minutes of formal speaking time in outlining their various qualifications, Morrisey proposed some specific changes if elected.

"First, I would propose organizing a standing citizen committee — not a temporary one — to do research on taxes, unification and other topics. This would help the board know more of what the taxpayers wanted," he said.

"Second, I would like to see a greater dissemination of the minutes of the board meeting. I know we all read the newspaper, but newspapers are sometimes 'loose' with the facts and not always accurate," he continued.

"Third, I think board members should attend other school board meetings to see what problems they face.

"I also think we should find a way to take the pulse of the junior high school and high school students to see how they felt about the educational system in Ross."

Morrisey also said he favored setting up a "Ross Educational Film Festival" but didn't explain this idea further.

All of the candidates indicated they felt that annexation with the Kentfield School District was a far better alternative than total unification, but again, each candidate felt that there was little chance for the annexation.

"It's been made pretty clear that they (Kentfield) just don't want us over there," Logan said, and indicated that the current board had made some overtures in that direction but was snubbed.

Widow Better

LONDON (AP) — Baroness Spencer-Churchill spent a comfortable night and "seems a little better," a spokesman at Westminster Hospital said today.

Local Agency Commission Due Annexation Requests

Corte Madera Sanitary District will seek permission to annex 194 parcels of land along Paradise Drive above Paradise Cay at tomorrow night's meeting of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission at the Civic Center.

The parcels total 240 acres in all, on both sides of Paradise Drive, from Robin Drive past Paradise Cay.

Ross Valley Sanitary District will seek annexation of 50 acres of Corte Madera Creek from the Greenbrae interchange of Highway 101 through a portion of Greenbrae Marina units 1 and 2. The area is already being served by the district, and the annexation merely confirms a situation that already exists, said John F. Barrows, commission executive officer.

North Marin County Water District wants to annex Oceana-Marin subdivision 3 at Dillion's Beach, a subdivision of about 646 acres. Barrows will recommend that Oceana-Marin unit 1 with 68 lots also be included in the annexation because otherwise unit 3 would have sewers while unit 1 across the street would have septic tanks.

Novato Sanitary District wants to annex 16 acres east of Sutro Avenue near Dominic Drive, and 3.78 acres at the corner of Tamalpais Avenue and Novato Boulevard.

San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen is attempting to get a home at 185 Oak Drive, Bayside Acres, included within the City of San Rafael. He wants to buy the home, but the city charter requires councilmen to live within the city boundaries.

Stanford War Research Hit

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Stanford University Board of Trustees has asked the Stanford Research Institute (SRI) not to enter any new contracts for chemical and biological warfare research.

The trustees also agreed during an all-day meeting here yesterday to take "vigorous actions" to hear all sides on the question of whether to sever ties with the research institute or amend the relationship.

Board chairman W. Parmer Fuller III read a prepared statement expressing the board's "deep concern to arrive at a fair and responsible resolution of the issues," but he declined to answer any questions.

Financing Of Sewage Plan Denied

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday refused to pledge the county's credit to back financing of a sewage disposal project for the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area, but left the door open for future consideration.

The Bolinas Community Public Utility District and the Stinson Beach County Water District asked the supervisors for backing so financing could be done under the 1915 special assessment district bond act.

SEWAGE DUMPING

The Bolinas district is under a cease and desist order from the state Water Quality Control Board to quit dumping sewage in the ocean. Bolinas has a collection system.

Stinson Beach, however, uses septic takns, and is under no pressure to change. A collection system for Stinson Beach has been estimated at $1,272,000. The district has asked Marin Municipal Water District to consider providing sewer service.

Hugh Dougherty, president of the Stinson Beach group, reported the district has applied for a federal grant to help pay the cost of the collection system.

He said while some residents of Stinson Beach feel putting in a sewage treatment plant might attract more residents and they "don't want more people," he predicted a general obligation bond issue would pass.

Ronald D. Schenck, an attorney speaking for the Bolinas group, told the board there would be little risk to the county. If a person did not pay his assessment, the county could sell the property.

Preliminary cost estimates in Bolinas indicate a treatment plant would cost about $500 per lot and Schenck pointed out most Bolinas property is worth more than that.

Stanley J. Fontez, county tax collector-treasurer, painted a less rosy picture.

He said if any person did not pay his share, the county would have to pick up the difference while it would be at least five years before the county could sell the property.

If deliquencies are high, he added, the county could have to levy a tax on all residents to make up the difference.

"You're going to have to come up with some money," he said as he predicted there would be delinquencies.

BETTER RISK

He said there are some delinquent taxpayers in Bolinas now. He added he considers Stinson Beach a better risk because its assessments are higher and deliquency rates lower.

Chairman John F. McInnis flatly opposed committing the county on any project where benefit is purely local and Supervisor William A. Gnoss also spoke against 1915 act bonds.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar, whose district includes Bolinas and Stinson Beach, favored making an exception.

A representative of the Stinson Beach group noted other counties are backing 1915 act bonds and providing a reserve fund.

Baar said, "We just cannot let these people down" and recommended sending the problem back to the staff to consider alternative methods of financing. No one disagreed.

The news from Promontory, Utah, on May 10, 1869, was that "the last rail is laid, the last spike driven. The Pacific railroad is completed."

A CRASH PROGRAM

Computer Switch For Civic Center

"A radical change in direction" of the Marin County Data Processing Department — replacing IBM equipment with Burroughs computers and forgetting RCA — was approved in principle yesterday by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Data Processing Chief Joseph B. Leach recommended the "radical change" and was backed by the unanimous assent of all Civic Center department heads who have anything to do with computers.

"We will free ourselves from the frightfully obsolete" data of the county's International Business Machines system, Leach said as he extolled the virtues of the new plan.

The Burroughs Corp. plan, he said, would convert the material in less than a year, much faster than the Radio Corporation of America, whose plan was approved in principle by the board of supervisors last November.

Leach said the Burroughs plan offers total conversion of Marin County programs to Cobol, a computer language, by Jan. 1, but he said he believed it would take a little longer. Other conversion proposals have been from three to five years.

Leach also said the Burroughs computer is faster and less expensive than any competing system.

The reason it was not recommended earlier, he said, was that he figured it would take 10 years to convert old data for use on the new system.

Burroughs, however, came in with a proposal to use only two county employees in the crash conversion program, with the rest of the manpower to come from them.

Leach also reported Burroughs would take the brunt of conversion cost. Besides supplying the manpower, the Burroughs machine would be installed in October but the county would not have to start paying for it until 90 days after conversion.

If it doesn't work, he said, the county would only be out the time of two employees.

The firm has also promised to have the computer ready to handle elections six months prior to the next major election, June 1970.

Speaking on the cost factor, Leach reported using Burroughs would cost either $18,000 to $36,000 a year less than either available alternative, RCA and IBM.

Burroughs will cost $8,500 a month, he said. The current IBM equipment costs $10,500 a month, while a comparable system would cost $11,500, he said.

Leach admitted he felt a kind of "moral responsibility" to RCA since it had been working on the county since the supervisors indicated interest. However, he said the Burroughs plan would have a "dramatic, positive effect" on the whole program.

Chairman John F. McInnis pointed out RCA had assigned people on their own volition.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said, "I would like to see the county schools approached" to explore conversion of its data which goes through the county computer.

The county schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis has requested $25,000 to modernize the system for school payrolls. Byron Mauzy, county schools business assistant, has accused the county of "just patching a system that needs to be completely overhauled."

RCA had offered to modernize the schools payroll data without charge. Burroughs has not made a similar offer, but in a letter to Leach promised assistance in making "the smoothest possible transition" of the schools functions.

Supervisors unanimously agreed that a contract be prepared with Burroughs for consideration next week and that the county schools be approached for inclusion in the switch.

Police Tally Cost On State Campus

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strike at San Francisco State College cost $290,000 in additional pay to the city's police, an estimate showed today.

Sgt. Ford Long, police director of planning and research, said that sum accounted for overtime pay and pay to officers working their regular watches at the campus.

His estimate did not include the pay to patrolmen from other cities, nor the cost of paying California Highway Patrol members who worked on the campus.

Underground Utility Lines For Seadrift

Seadrift subdivision, located on the Stinson Beach sandspit, will form an assessment district to put its utility lines underground.

The Marn County Board of Supervisors yesterday took the legal steps necessary to form the assessment district and set 2:30 p.m. May 20 as the time to hear any protests.

Harold E. Rogers Jr. of Hillsborough, attorney for the district, said the total cost for the undergrounding will come to about $66,000, which will be shared by the 272 lots in the subdivision.

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. abstained from voting because his firm, J. Barth and Co., will be involved in the purchase of bonds of the assessment district.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

PARADISE CAY — Approved the final maps of Paradise Cay subdivisions 3 and 4, which have 17 lots and 29 lots respectively. Planner Werner Von Gundell said these are the easternmost tiers and the final units in the Paradise Cay development.

BAY GOVERNMENT — Tabled action on Assembly Bill 711, which would set up a regional government for the Bay Area. The bill has too much opposition in Sacramento and is getting nowhere, said John F. McInnis.

SLIDE REPAIR — Approved a $1,900 loan to the Bolinas Highlands Road Maintenance District to repair a slide which occurred on Altura Avenue, the access road to Bolinas Highlands.

FIXED BASE OPERATOR — Served notice on Navair Corp., one of two fixed base operators at Gnoss Field, that it is not complying with its agreement with the county to construct an operations building. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost will report back in two weeks to see if Navair has taken any action toward compliance.

GRAND JURY — Gave chairman McInnis until next week to draft the county's reply to the 1968 Marin County Grand Jury's final report.

CREEK ENCROACHMENTS — Introduced an ordinance that would regulate encroachments such as piers and floats on lands on the Corte Madera Creek flood control project, and set April 29 as the hearing date on the ordinance.

POLLUTION — Agreed to investigate pollution in Miller Creek following a request from Leslie Larkey, president of a fourth and fifth grade class at Oakview School. The class came to the meeting with their teacher, Saundra Schaulis who also asked the board to suggest what they could do to help eliminate it.

TAX RELIEF — Took no action on a plan which would permit Marin homeowners who suffered more than $1,000 worth of damage during the past winter storms to get a special tax rebate because of the small benefits it would provide.

HUMAN RIGHTS — Heard a report from Arrigoni Jr. that Fairfax is interested in the police-community relations proposal approved last week. The county human rights commission had reported Fairfax and Ross did not respond and Arrigoni said both cities said they had not been contracted. Ross has not had time to study it, he added.

ANGEL ISLAND — Approved resolutions of the county parks and recreation and the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission on state development of Angel Island.

COURT COSTS — Reluctantly approved transferring $14,437 to the court fund for observation requirements after the budgeted $23,000 had been spent. However, supervisors also agreed to write a letter to the judges.

Hot Art Cooled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A fire plug swiped from a street corner has been found—in a living room, displayed as an object of art. Bernard Vercellone, 25, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of grand theft.

Doctors Claimed Using Marijuana

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Half of the young doctors in this city use marijuana as a social drug, asserted a young intern testifying before the state Board of Medical Examiners.

Dr. Andrew R. Weil, 26, said yesterday the drug is not used during duty hours. He said he reached his conclusion after talking to about 100 young medical people.

Weil's testimony was offered in the case of Dr. Robert E. Kramer, 32, a Berkeley physician convicted in 1966 of possession of marijuana.

The four-member board will decide whether his medical license should be revoked, suspended or a term of probation ordered.

Municipal Court Switch For Stinson And Bolinas

Stinson Beach and Bolinas will become part of Marin's Northwestern Judicial District the board of supervisors decided yesterday.

Approval was over objections of the administrative staff and central district municipal court judges who cited recommendations of the 1965 grand jury; costs, and the small number of cases, most of them traffic violations.

Residents of the area petitioned for the change, but Hugh Hougherty of Stinson Beach said yesterday they were mostly from Bolinas and his community was generally unaware of the proposal.

Attorney Ronald D. Schenck pointed out the court is a traveling one and Judge David R. Baty could also hold court in Stinson or Bolinas if he wished.

Baty favored the proposal and suggested the name be changed to the Western Judicial District.

Supervisors asked the staff to prepare an ordinance to make the change.

The Corte Madera Optimist Club will sponsor a kite flying contest starting at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Corte Madera town park.

Children up to age 14 are eligible to compete for the most unusual, highest flying and prettiest home-make kite.

A Fire Watch Due For West Marin Logging

Marin County supervisors yesterday asked County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom to keep close watch over logging operations on Bolinas Ridge so that all fire and forestry regulations are met in full.

Supervisors William A. Gnoss and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. wanted to go a step further and called for an interim ordinance to control logging immediately. However, Supervisor Louis H Baar and chairman John F. McInnis refused to act on an interim ordinance, calling such action "precipitous." Supervisor Michael Wornum was absent when the discussion took place yesterday afternoon.

Gnoss said he asked for a discussion of logging because of reports that owners of property adjacent to the Ethel Righetti ranch are also considering selling their timber.

Arrigoni acknowledged that no ordinance can stop logging on the Righetti ranch, where sawing has started, but he suggested an interim ordinance to control future logging on the rest of Bolinas ridge. He warned that denuding Bolinas ridge could destroy Bolinas Lagoon through erosion and siltation.

Baar grumbled that the logging question was placed on the agenda without his knowledge. "Since it was in my district, I was surprised to see it on the agenda without even the courtesy of discussing it with me beforehand," said Baar. "Logging is a problem, but how far do we go in preventing a person from using his property," he asked.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said the state logging permit issued for the Righetti ranch calls for 80 per cent cutting and 20 per cent of the trees to be left intact, and no trees under 12 inches in diameter will be felled.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning for the county planning department, said extensive logging would endanger both Bolinas Lagoon and Tomales Bay through heavy siltation.

Both Baar and McInnis agreed that the county firemen should help police the Righetti ranch to see that all regulations are met, but they balked at Arrigoni's suggestion for an interim ordinance.

"An interim ordinance will remove with one stroke the rights of property owners," said McInnis. Describing such an ordinance as "-recipitous," McInnis declared: "I will not vote for it until I know a good deal more about it."

Bruce reminded supervisors that a natural resources ordinance to control logging is now undergoing hearings before the county planning commission.

"This will come to us around mid-May," said Arrigoni. "Meantime it may be too late."

At the request of Arrigoni and Gnoss, supervisors asked County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney and Bruce for detailed reports on what Marin can do to control logging.

Customer May Think Place Is For Birds

Pheasant was a main attraction Monday at the Red Kettle Restaurant in San Rafael — but not on the menu.

For an unknown reason, police said, a man known only to restaurant employees as "Gene" released two of the long-tailed birds inside the premises. It was not known what became of the pheasants or "Gene," who drives a white pickup truck.

Warning Issued On Hamilton Reduction

Hamilton Air Force Base is on the verge of a drastic reduction and outsiders are eyeing it for development, a former county aviation commissioner warned the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Benjamin R. Ostlind, who was not reappointed to the commission in January, said, "I'm absolutely positive this is the exodus of units from Hamilton Air Force Base."

He gave supervisors copies of recent Independent-Journal articles on possible reduction of Hamilton and called quotes by officials a "glorious example of government weasel wording."

He cited an article printed last week which suggested the western region headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command may be moved from Hamilton and noted that none of the officials quoted denied the move.

He contended Hamilton is being looked at strongly, to eliminate its flying function.

Predicting the base's real estate will be sold by the General Services Adminstration, Ostlind told the board two insurance companies have been studying it with a view to buying it, while an international concern has its eye on the mechanical shops.

"I't's just happening faster than we have even dared to look at," he said.

Chairman John F. McInnis suggested the board pursue the matter through legislative and military authorities in Washington and Ostlind said all they would find out is that there are "no plans at this time."

He said the administration is pressuring for the reduction while the military wants to keep the base.

Supervisor Michael Wornum suggested the Association of Bay Area Governments be informed so the group studying regional airports could include Hamilton in its discussions.

Four Hamilton Men Graduate

Among the 79 sergeants recently graduated from the Aerospace Defense Command Noncommissioned Officers Academy at Hamilton Air Force Base were four assigned to the base.

They are M/Sgt. Paul F. Greenwood of 381 Bolling Drive; T/Sgt. Richard Fish of 100 East Kelly Drive; T/Sgt. Alfredo Sandoval of 670 Norman Drive, and T/Sgt. Edward H. Lyons of the barracks, all on the Hamilton base.

Sergeant Greenwood was given special honor as commander of the class' honor flight, an award for the best academic and athletic record during the six-week course.

Permit Is Denied For Used Furniture Store

San Anselmo City Council, hearing opposition from neighbors, last night denied a use permit for a used furniture and appliances store at Saunders Avenue and Center Boulevard.

Overruling the city planning commission, councilmen emphasized that a used furniture store wasn't a permitted use in a neighborhood commercial district.

A petition, signed by 10 residents, opposed the proposed store, saying it would downgrade the residential area.

Attorney James Kennedy of San Rafael representing the applicant, Bartlett C. Tucker, said it wouldn't be detrimental to the neighborhood. He noted that one of the conditions for operation of the store was that Tucker clean up his other store, Veteran's Pickup on San Anselmo Avenue, opposite Saunders Avenue.

One resident said the Saunders Avenue building has been an eyesore for 23 years and was a poor location for any business.

Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro said: "One used furniture store is sufficient for that neighborhood," referring to Tucker's existing store.

Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson said opposition by residents demonstrated that the proposed store would be detrimental to the neighborhood.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

PARKING LOT — At the request of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce approved extending from two to four hours the parking limit at the south end of the Creekside parking lot, along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, opposite Bank Street, and at the Magnolia Avenue lot for a six-month trial period. The new hours will become effective when the lots are posted. Councilmen advised the chamber to notify merchants that the lots are for customer parking, not employee parking.

TRAFFIC CONTROL — Called for bids for a new traffic signal system at the Red Hill Avenue-Sequoia Drive-Greenfield Avenue intersection, which will be actuated by traffic, and to provide a left turn storage lane on Redhill for eastbound traffic to Sequoia, estimated to cost $40,630. Bids also were called on storm drain improvement along Red Hill in connection with the traffic project, estimated to cost $14,380. Councilman Robert M. Scott dissented saying he was reluctant to call for bids until the city had the funds needed. The city has $32,000 available.

LEGISLATION — Opposed AB 374 which would permit policemen and firemen to retire at the age of 50, with Scott abstaining; opposed AB 240 which would prohibit cities from levying business license taxes on for-hire carrier truckers unless they have a place of business in the city; opposed SB 515 which would allow cities to increase from $2,500 to $5,000 the amount that could be spent on a public works project without advertising for bids, and SB 515 which would increase the limit to $10,000, with Councilman James F. Reed advocating going to bid as "protection for the taxpayer;" opposed AB 330 which would permit annexation of uninhabited territory to be prevented by a protest by owners of half the public land or half the pullic land involved, with Scott dissenting, and supported a bill to reimburse cities and counties for providing law enforcement aid during disorders at campuses and universities, with City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel reporting it cost San Anselmo $450 in police overtime to send men to the University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco State College and San Mateo Junior College.

STREET TOUR — Scheduled a field trip starting from city hall at 1:30 p.m. April 20 to look at a group of streets recommended by Public Works Director Charles R. Leitzell for acceptance by the city. City Atty. John G. Buresh advised that the council could "forget" the Brown Act, governmg closed council meetings, in this case, but Councilman Reed made a point of inviting the press.

TRAFFIC COMMITTEE — Appointed David Smith, owner of Talampais Electric Co. to the traffic and streets committee and the mayor's committee for financing streets and storm drains.

HIGHWAY PROJECTS — In response to a county inquiry on road projects, supported construction of a road connecting Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael with the Los Ranchitos area as a Highway 101 frontage road. The council also recommended consideration be given to a connector road between Ross Valley and Terra Linda, with Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro abstaining.

HUB DESIGN PAYMENT — Approved the payment of $2,622 to Peat, Marwick and Livingston of San Francisco, traffic consultants, for preliminary design work remodeling the plan for the Hub intersection.

CREEK RIP-RAP — Granted Tamalpais Union High School District permission to place rock rip-rap along a portion of the north bank of Corte Madera Crrk along the baseball field at Sir Francis Drake High School.

PLAY SIGN — Granted the Mountain Play Association permission to place an informational sign at a gasoline service station on Sir Francis Drake listing the dates and title of the play next month.

SIDEYARD VARIANCE — Granted Larry Nilsen a one-foot variance in sideyard setback (seven feet instead of the required eight) at 32 Meadowcroft Drive with Reed dissenting.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned until its street tour Apr. 20, with the next regular session at 8 p.m. April 22 at city hall.

Hub's Park Plan Called 'Second Rate'

San Anselmo "lost the park" when it included another baseball diamond in its master plan for Memorial Park, landscape architect William L. Kapranos told the San Anselmo City Council last night.

What's left is a "second rate operation," said Kapranos, who later admitted that "perhaps second ratew as not a good word," but the park was "much reduced."

Councilmen had voted in January to have the plan revised to include a third baseball diamond, and last night were reviewing the revised plan.

Kapranos said the effect of adding a third diamond was to squeeze the proposed facilities, tiny tot lot, picnic area and open play into a smaller area.

Councilmen questioned the need for 64 parking spaces shown on the revised plan, and Kapranos said they could be reduced but the land gained there wouldn't be great.

The original plan called for a community center park with a lot of activities, Kapranos said.

Councilmen approved first stage development at the park, a tiny tot area and a wading pool.

Councilman James F. Reed suggested minimal development at the park and a look toward Sorich Ranch, Robson-Harrington Park or other areas for the type of park originally planned for Memorial Park.

The council also expressed interest in abandoning Sonoma Avenue as a roadway and having it become part of the park area. Councilman asked City Atty. John G. Buresh to make a title search to determine ownership of the land underlying Sonoma Avenue.

Teeners Accused Of Gas Stealing

Four San Rafael youths were to appear today before juvenile authorities for allegedly siphoning gasoline from a car parked behind a residence at 355 Canal Street, San Rafael.

The victim, William W. Attinger, said he returned home to the Canal Street address at 7 p.m. Sunday and found two of the suspects, one 15 and the other 17, siphoning gas from his car.

Attinger said he yelled and the two fled in another car occupied by the other two youths. The four appeared minutes later at San Rafael police headquarters and denied they were siphoning gas, but gave conflicting stories on the reason for their presence at 355 Canal Street, according to police.

Five Ballots Fail To Produce A New Mayor For San Anselmo

San Anselmo City Council, hopelessly deadlocked 2-2, failed five times last night to elect a 1969 mayor.

City Atty. John G. Buresh explained that by law Duane C. Ragan would continue to serve as mayor until a new mayor is elected.

Two councilmen wanted Mayor Ragan re-elected and two wanted the post to go to Councilman Robert M. Scott and Ragan consistently abstained.

"I refuse to vote for myself. I don't thank any nominee should vote for himself," Ragan said.

The lineup was Councilmen James F. Reed and Kenneth L. Anderson backing Ragan, and Councilmen Woodrow V. Capurro and Scott, backing Scott.

Controversy centered over whether the post of mayor should be rotated every year, with Capurro contending this has been the practice.

Reed said the system hasn't always been followed and that former Mayor Arthur W. Smith served several terms in a row.

"That was with unanimous support of the council, and that's the only time I feel it should be done," Capurro replied.

Beofre the balloting, Capurro urged "avoiding a breakup of this council into voting blocs." The rotation system "has had a good effect in that it avoids jealousies and cliques," he said.

Capurro said, "I will remind you, Mr. Mayor, that before you and Mr. Scott were sworn into office, you both agreed with Art Smith and me to continue this practice and on several later occasions, particularly when you were anxious about support for yourself, you agreed to abide by it. As a result the agreed sequence was followed and Mr. (John M.) Reichmuth, Mr. Smith and finally you were unanimously elected. You know that the next man whom we agreed to elect is Mr. Scott."

Capurro said there had been pressures on Ragan to go back on that pledge and that has even hinted that he likes being mayor and would like to serve a second term.

He urged Ragan not to "publicly commit a breach of faith" and urged him to support Scott for mayor. Capurro said that Ragan has done a good job as mayor, but must move aside as others have done before him.

Reed said the rotation system might have merit, but he didn't think "asking the mayor to serve two terms would create acrimony" on the council.

Capurro moved for the election of Scott, but it was defeated 3-1 with Reed, Anderson and Scott, himself, opposing and Ragan abstaining.

Then Reed moved for the election of Ragan, and it was deadlock 2-2, with Reed and Anderson voting yes and Capurro and Scott no and Ragan abstaining.

Then a motion by Scott to elect Capurro resulted in another 2-2 deadlock by the same lineup, Scott this time voting for himself.

At this point the council voted 3-2 with Capurro and Scott dissenting to switch from the nomination procedure to a roll call vote, each man naming a choice for mayor. The result was the same lineup, two for Regan and two for Scott.

Then Ragan, in an unusual move, opened the meeting to comment from the audience, and two residents backed the rotation system and Scott for mayor, comments that were greeted with some applause.

Reed contended that Ragan has more time to give to city affairs than Scott, but when another vote was taken the lineup was the same.

Anderson said the only way the deadlock would be broken would be "for Duane Ragan to vote."

The mayor replied. "Duane Ragan will not vote for himself."

After the council had gone 35 minutes without a decision, it came to its first unanimous vote, a vote to postpone the election until its April 22 meeting.

A Setback For Daley Machine

CHICAGO (UPI)—A young, liberal independent Democrat backed by state Treasurer Adlai Stevenson III and other reform elements, has made good by a narrow margin his challenge to Mayor Richard J. Daley's powerful political machine.

William S. Singer, 28, yesterday won a 203-vote victory over James P. Gaughan to become alderman for the city's 44th Ward.

The final, unofficial tally was 11,983 for Singer, 11,780 for Gaughan in the runoff election between the two top finishers in a March 11 race.

Century-Old Building Zone Change Denied

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night denied Charles McLeran's request for a zone change which would have allowed him to open an antique shop and attorney's office in the 100-year-old Murray residence at Estelle Avenue and Murray Lane.

Rezoning would also have permitted McLeran, of 700 Goodhill Road, Kentfield, to build four small shops on the three parcels of land.

The commission, voting unanimously, said there was no justification for the request to rezone from residential to commercial.

Twenty property owners from the neighborhood protested the proposal mainly on the basis that it would increase traffic, the commission secretary reported.

Mrs. William V. Glascock of 27 Estelle Avenue asked the commission if the City of Larkspur and Marin County had done anything to set up a fund to maintain the Murray house and create a park but she received no answer to her question.

The commission also recommended to the city council that Rockridge Road in Murray Park be abandoned since the undeveloped road serves no purpose.

A variance sought by Dr. Louis J. Geissberger to permit him to include a pharmacy, optician's office and dental laboratory in his medical building at 1275 South Eliseo Drive was withdrawn.

Bales Plans Review Of Nonsupport Rules

Marin Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales declared last night that investigations of fathers who won't support their children are required by law and must be continued, but he agreed to review some of the forms used in the citations to see if they can be made less irritating.

He spoke to the citizens task force which is studying problems of aid to families with dependent children at a meeting held at the Civic Center. Many mothers have complained that investigation procedures are humiliating and degrading.

Betty Presley, director of the County Department of Public Social Services, said that eligibility workers in the department will also increase efforts to acquaint mothers with legal procedures to be faced if nonsupporting fathers are investigated.

The task force also:

FAMILY COURT — Approved in principle a bill (SB-252) by Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, which would establish a family court in each county.

STATE AID —Endorsed a bill (SB-781) by Sen. Alfred Alquist, D-San Jose, which would increase state participation in AFDC grants.

Cotati School Panel To Vote New Member

Cotati School District trustees last night set a special meeting for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. to fill a board vacancy created by the resignation of Robert W. Waldron in February.

The board has received nominations from various school partent-teacher associations and an additional four names from the citizen's advisory committee.

The committee nominated two of its members, John Smuck and James Uren, and Andrew Camozzi of Cotati and Reed Parker of Rohnert Park.

In resigning from the board after 13 years, Waldron recommended that his replacement come from the "A" section of Rohnert Park so the city might be better represented on the board.

The Cotati school District board also:

PAGE SCHOOL—Heard a report that construction is going well on the Thomas Page School, scheduled to open in September. A committee of members of the citizen's advisory committee and Native Daughters of the Golden West was assigned to plan a dedication ceremony.

ROOF — Heard a report that roof and ceiling repairs at the Cotati School have been completed and that classes, which had shifted into the auditorium, have returned to classrooms.

HIRED — Employed as unassigned teachers Marjorie Bascherini, Louise Fraley and Elsi Dembowsky. Contracts setting salaries have not been prepared.

Open Houses — Approved the schedule of open houses for Public Schools Week. The schedule is Cotati School, April 18, starting with a pot luck supper at 6 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Building; John Reed School, April 21 from 7 to 8 p.m., and Waldo Rohnert School, April 23 from 7 to 8 p.m.

Fray, High-Speed Chase Result In Jailing

Alfred Anthony Robles, 36, of Sonoma, was booked at Marin County Jail today on suspicion of reckless driving and assault and battery following an altercation and high speed chase on Manuel Frietas Parkway, San Rafael police reported.

Officer Roger Downward said he heard screams coming from near two cars halted at a stop sign on the parkway while he was on patrol in Terra Linda at 3 a.m.

Cecille Paradis of 65 Esmeyer Drive told Downward that Robles had bumped her car from behind twice on the parkway, then got out of his car and hit her. She was bleeding from the mouth, the officer reported.

While Downward was questioning the victim, Robles got back in his car and took off down the parkway at 70 miles per hour, police said. He was apprehended when he turned off into a deadend street, Downward reported.

Robles was held in lieu of $2,500 to appear in Marin County Municipal Court today.

Pleads Guilty To Reduced Charge

Anthony Alexander Burgess, 20, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to the lesser charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He had originally been charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl.

Burgess was arrested March 9 after the girl's father told police he found his daughter in the youth's apartment.

Judge Peter Allen Smith set sentencing for April 29.

Wife Beating Case In Court

James Paul Leiting, 25, of Fairfax, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on two counts of felony wife beating. The alleged offenses took place on Feb. 5 and last Saturday.

His wife, Sheila Ann, told police that she had suffered a broken jaw and ribs as a result of the beatings.

Leiting's case was continued until April 22.

Mill Valleyan Is Injured In Wreck

Daniel C. Johnson, 29, of 7 Hollyhock Court, Mill Valley, was treated for neck pains at Marin General Hospital yesterday after a car-truck collision on Shoreline Highway near Tennessee Valley Road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said Johnson's car was stopped in traffic at 6:05 p.m. when it was hit from the rear by a truck driven by Richard L. Slate, 31, of South San Francisco.

Building In Petaluma Is High On List

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday sent the capital improvement program for 1969-1975 to the county planning commission with the recommendation that the construction of a county building in Petaluma be given high priority.

No dollar cost was put on Petaluma building since it wasn't included in the capital improvement program. Total program cost was $5,227,000.

David L. Nichols, county administrator, in preparing the program had recommended the Petaluma building not be included in the plans. He said the need for additional county space is not great enough to justify the construction of a new building.

The county owns 22 per cent of the Petaluma City Hall where it houses the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court and several offices.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and Councilman John W. Cavanagh Jr. told the supervisors that city offices are already tight for space and that the city would like to purchase the county section of the building as soon as possible.

Meyer said that while the county planning commission is reviewing the program, the county building committee will be meeting with the civic center committee of city council to get plans under way.

Sonoma Supervisors' Salary Plan Attacked

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday heard a series of citizens strongly protest their proposed $2,800 salary increase, but most supervisors maintained they were worth at least that much.

The grand jury two weeks ago recommended the board salary be raised from $13,200 to $16,000 effective January 1971. The board must approve its own raise and recommend that the state Legislature approve it.

Oscar Peterson, president of the Sonoma County Taxpayers Association, called the increase a breach of faith from the last election.

"A contract is a contract," he said. "You were elected at one salary and should stay there until the next election."

He said salary increases should be granted only when the electorate has the right to chose the conditions.

George Crane, president of the Sonoma County Irate Taxpayers, said such government salary increases are a cause of inflation. "Are you proving your worth?" he asked the board. "You're producing only more taxes for the citizens."

Noting that Sonoma is the only county in the state with full-time supervisors, Crane suggested that county government needed revamping.

William B. Dillon of Santa Rosa, taking a positive approach, said that if the increases are granted, he would like the voters to be assured that it would result in increased efficiency in the county departments.

"We want to know that you earn your keep by future performances," Dillon said.

George Pannett of Santa Rosa, protested the raise saying the board received a 32 per cent increase in January when it was raised from $10,000 to $13,200. "Now you want a 21 per cent increase — I say the grand jury recommendation was wrong," he said.

Supervisor Ignacio A. Vella of Sonoma said he doubted Pannett's integrity and said his protest was because the supervisors, sitting as the board of equalization, voted against him on a tax question.

Pannett called Vella's attack arrogant and called the supervisors "tin Gods" who could serve the people better.

Supervisor Robert Theiller of Sebastopol said,"I'm worth more than $16,000, but if my constituents say no, I'll vote against the raise"

He said the supervisors, as the county executives, make less than most department heads they direct.

"The citizens are better off with full-time supervisors and should pay the price," Theiller said.

Vella said he felt he was worthy of $16,000 and Supervisor Arthur R. Ruonavaara of Healdsburg said he felt the salary "would not be out of line."

Chairman Leigh S. Shoemaker of Petaluma said that while he is leaving office in January, he felt the raise was justified. Supervisor Neade Nordyke of Santa Rosa made no comments.

The board will continue receiving written comments on the increase and make a decision at 3 p.m. April 22.

Weapons, Drug Suspect Missing

One of two men arrested by California Highway Patrol officers Saturday on suspicion of having drugs and guns failed to appear in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Judge Hadden W. Roth issued a bench warrant with bail set at $5,000 for George Patrick Lake, 31, of Geyserville. Lake was free on $2,500 bail.

His companion, John Bonner Davison, 33, also of Geyserville, was arraigned on charges of possessing methedrine and a sawed-off shot gun.

Lake is charged with having the same drug as well as a concealed weapon without a license.

Richter Critical Of Quake Seers

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Seismologist Charles F. Richter, upset over predictions of a devastating earthquake in California, says those who call the hour and minute are "psychopathic, not psychic."

It requires little or no brains to forecast "there is going to be a great earthquake," Richter said yesterday, because safe to say Los Angeles "violently shaken in the future."

But he asked, "What near future?"

Richter, who develope Richter Scale to measu magnitude of quakes, rei he did not foresee the pos of being able to acc predict the location and t earthquakes.

SAUSALITO ACTION

Ferries Are Out, But Houseboats In

Ferries are out; houseboats and yacht clubs are in — but under definite restrictions, the Sausalito City Council decided last night.

The council accepted two planning commission recommendations but rejected a thrid in approving first reading of zoning amendments setting uses allowed in the central waterfront district.

The council agreed to omit all ferries from the list of allowed uses, and made yacht clubs a conditional use requiring a use permit, both actions recommended by the commission.

But the council retained a requirement that houseboats meet building code regulations, while the commission had recommended easing requirements.

The amendments will control development of the central waterfront until adoption of the city's central waterfront general plan, approximately four nonths away, according to City Mgr. George M. Patterson.

The council made one other major change, rezoning Caledonia Street from general to neighborhood commercial. The area is scheduled for a new district, "residential commercial," in the forthcoming plan by consultant William Spangle and Associates.

The council informally approved a new fire zoning map which reduced the proposed Fire Zone 1 — the strictest zone — to the heart of the downtown area, but postponed formal action until City Atty. Leland H. Jordan can rewrite the enabling section so future changes can be made by resolution instead of ordinance amendements.

The new fire zone will include the wall-to-wall commercial development along Bridgeway downtown. An earlier proposal including a greater area in Fire Zone 1 drew protests from property owners and merchants.

A few businessmen objected again last night that the zone, which requires outside walls to give four-hour fire protection, was too strict.

William E. Anderson of the Berkeley Building Inspection Department explained operation of the fire zone laws. Nonconforming buildings can do no substantial remodeling unless the entire building is brought up to code, he said. He said most of Sausalito's downtown buildings are wood frame or unprotected steel frame buildings which will not meet the requirements of the zone.

William L. Hynes, city building inspector, objects to the fire zone proposal, though Fire Chief Charles E. Masten favored it. Hynes said building costs are approaching the catastrophic stage and said stringent fire zoning will tend to "perpetuate the slums" rather than encourage improvement.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

SIDEWALK— Approved building a concrete sidewalk rather than a gravel one along the bay shore in the Bridgeway widening project for an estimated $1,650 extra cost. Loose gravel would wash away in storms and high tides, Norman Wohlschlaeger, city engineer, said.

PAINTING — Approved a $900 contract to Larry Gates to paint the walls and ceiling at the city library. Gates was low among four bidders. The council rejected bids to paint built-in shelves at the library, for which Gates was also low bidder at $1,250.

PARKING — Gave first reading to two ordinances increasing parking rates in City Lot 3 and on street meters and establishing free residents' parking in Lots 1 and 4.

LIBRARY — Authorized the library staff to use a room behind the council chamber for book sorting and mending.

PARKING SPACES — Approved 12-minute parking spaces near city hall and near the Village Fair Center for stop-and-run shoppers.

EASEMENT — Abandoned a sewer and storm drain easement in Marinship, unused for several years.

NO-PARKING — Told Jordan to prepare an ordinance banning parking on Girard Avenue at Locust Road so emergency vehicles can get through the intersection.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. next Tuesday in memory of Everett J. Jennings, retired Golden Gate Bridge lieutenant.

Helen Newman and Melton Ferris are in charge of dinner arrangements. The celebration starts at 7 o'clock with an "attitude re-adjustment hour," according to Mrs. Newman.

Mrs. Newman is the only current commissioner who was on the original commission, which held its first meeting on Feb. 20, 1959.

New Fairfax Mayor Drops Shut Session

Francis J. O'Connell took his first official action as mayor of Fairfax yesterday, rescinding the last official action of the outgoing mayor, Robert R. Souza.

O'Connell canceled a closed session scheduled by Souza for last night after he learned it was of questionable legality since it had been announced three hours short of the required 24-hour notice.

O'Connell said he did not realize Monday night that the meeting might be illegal because the annoucement followed by minutes his election as mayor. Additionally, he said, he did not know proper notification hadn't been given earlier.

The meeting has not been rescheduled. O'Connell said he wanted to find out exactly why the meeting was asked. "I don't know any more about it than you do," he told the Independent-Journal.

Souza said Monday night the meeting was to hear charges against an employee of the police department and an employee of the fire department.

The name National Guard was first used in 1824 when the New York militia, 7th Regiment, acted as honor guard for Marquis de Lafayette's visit to the United States. By 1896 most states had adopted the name.

HIGH-POWERED BACKING

BART Aid Bill Signed By Governor

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan rarely signs a bill into law without a joke or quip. Yesterday and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District were no exception.

After getting the ballpoint pens to work finally, the Republican chief executive signed a measure imposing an increased local sales tax to finance completion of the 75-mile San Francisco region transit system.

The rail line is partly completed and contractors recently installed the final section of underwater tube linking San Francisco and Oakland.

Reagan turned to BART officials and grinned.

"Is it true they haven't found a way to pump the tube out and we'll have to go through in minisubs?" he jibed.

There was no audible reply. The district officials and San Francisco Bay region legislators who backed the bill stood by happily clutching their souvenir ballpoint pens. Reagan used 16 of the pens to sign the measure sponsored by Republican Sen. Lewis F. Sherman of Berkeley.

Bill Sets Up Transfer For Bolinas Harbor

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Bolinas Lagoon, the subject of bitter controversy for several years, would be transferred from the Bolinas Harbor District to the County of Marin by a bill introduced yesterday in the Legislature.

The bill, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was requested last month by the Marin County Board of Supervisors after voters in the district balloted, 313 to 266, to dissolve the district.

If Bagley's bill passed and became law, the lagoon would not be transferred to the county until 60 days after the final adjournment of the Legislature, thus not until sometime late in the fall. Until then, the harbor district would continue in existence.

The lagoon was granted to the harbor district by the state in 1959, and became the center of controversy when the harbor district drew plans for extensive development of the lagoon and its shoreline. Conservationists argued that the development would destroy the lagoon's ecology.

Grocery Clerk Says Youth Stole Foods

Tim Charles Maisak, 20, with an address in San Francisco and another at 79 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested today and booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of sholigting at the Mayfair Market, police reported.

Maisak was stopped at midnight outside the market at 340 3rd Street by clerk Donald J. Rubke and accused of taking bologna, swiss cheese and salami, police said.

Canal Survey Funding Bill Put Into Hopper

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to relieve the City of San Rafael of paying $60,000 to have San Rafael Canal surveyed was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael. (See Sacremento Summary, page 48.)

The bill asks that $60,000 be appropriated immediately to pay for the survey, but Bagley said that sum would probably be cut to about $15,000, a figure he called "much more in line."

The survey was required in a 1967 bill by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

That bill was designed primarily to trade an area of the old canal bed which the State Lands Commission staff claimed ran through the middle of the city's corporation yard on Francisco Boulevard for an equal amount along the side of the property.

The survey requirement, with a two-year time limit, was tacked on as a condition of the trade.

Dan Coleman Associates of San Rafael estimated they could do the survey for not more than $20,000, but the commission staff which priced its survey at $60,000, said the private survey would not be acceptable. The city has not been able to get a satisfactory reason for the $40,000 difference in cost.

There is general agreement the survey is necessary to determine actual boundary line of the old channel bed because the lands commission staff claims there are at least 60 infringements on the bed which the state owns.

However, there is some doubt lines could be established 70 years after the canal was realigned.

San Rafael has also been discussing the possiblity of trading the existing canal which it owns to the state for all of the property which the state claims it owns. No official action has been taken on that proposal.

U.C. Campus In North Bay Urged Again

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A resolution urging the University of California Board of Regents to make development of a North Bay campus "an immediate subject of inquiry" was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Similar legislation has been defeated in past years because of opposition by the university, but Bagley's staff reported that the university apparently has withdrawn its opposition this year, and even may work for its passage this time.

The university's past opposition reportedly was based on its fear that such legislation could upset delicate negotiations it was conducting for land in southern Sonoma County, but those negotiations apparently were unsuccessful.

The resolution did not say where the proposed new campus should go, thus it presumably included all of the so-called North Bay counties — Marin, Sonoma, Napa and Solano.

San Rafael Woman Injured In Car Skid

Eileen C. Kenyon, 48, of 101 Woodland Avenue was treated at Marin General Hospital today for injuries suffered when her car skidded and hit a power pole on B Street at Woodland Avenue shortly before midnight, San Rafael police reported.

She suffered fractures of the nose and left hand and various cuts and bruises, hospital officials said.

Kindergarten Funds Asked By McCarthy

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to enrich state support of kindergarten classes throughout the state at a cost of $18 million was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

The additional $30 in state aid for each pupil a year would provide kindergarten pupils with the same level of state aid now provided to the primary grades, McCarthy's office said.

The aid would be effective next fiscal year.

The same increase in state aid would be provided in a bill by Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

McCarthy also introduced the following bills:

SEWAGE — Would allow the state to help finance construction of a sewage system in the Stinson Beach area on the ground that Stinson Beach State Park would contribute "an undue burden" on a local community system.

ALCOHOL — Would eliminate restrictions on how close liquor stores may locate near schools and churches. The bill was asked by the California Retailers Association.

HANDICAPPED — Would include physically handicapped and mentally retarded persons between 21 and 25 years of age among those eligible to use special development centers operated by school districts or county superintendents of schools.

SCHOOL NURSES — Would require establishment in the state Department of Education of a school nursing consultant service to help local school districts upgrade their school nursing services in elementary and secondary schools, and appropriates $20,000 for the service next fiscal year.

HOUSING — Would create a California Residential Building Board of Trustees to promote and upgrade residential housing, and allow the proposed board to impose a tax of up to .1 per cent on the value of home construction and improvement to operate the board.

SHERIFFS — Would authorize sheriffs to charge a fee sufficient to cover the cost of furnishing reports on private investigators and adjusters.

Drivers May Get Choice On Testing

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to give drivers arrested on suspicion of being drunk a choice among the three required chemical tests was introduced yesterday by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

The arresting officer, before administering any chemical test to the driver, would have to advise him that he had a choice of either a blood, urine or breath test. The results of a chemical test to determine the alcohol content of blood would be inadmissable in court unless the officer had advised the suspect of his right to a choice.

Under the state's 1967 "implied consent" law, all drivers were declared to have implied their consent to a test of the amount of alcohol in their blood. Refusal to consent to a test means automatic revocation of a driver's license.

Property Tax Rebate Revisions Proposed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation requiring the state to pay the full cost of having counties process the $70 rebate due homeowners on their 1968-69 property taxes has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The rebate was approved by voters in November's Proposition 1-A, and companion legislation last year provided that the state would pay counties 50 cents for each approved application for the rebate.

Bagley's bill would raise the amount to 90 cents, which his office reported is a more realistic figure for the actual cost to the counties of processing the applications.

In Marin, with about 35,000 homeowners eligible for rebates, the bill could add $14,000 to the $17,500 the county expected from last year's bill. Without the Bagley bill, the cost would have to be paid from local property taxes.

The bill also would delete the requirement that homeowners file each year for the $750 exemption on property taxes. This exemption also was part of Proposition 1-A.

Instead, homeowners would have to refile only if there were a change in the use of a home or if there were a change in ownership.

An urgency measure, the bill would be effective immediately if passed and signed into law. Thus, the counties could be paid at the 90-cent rate for each application when the rebates are made in June.

Applications for the rebates are due in the county assessor's office at the Civic Center Tuesday.

Bagley also introduced the following bills:

BAIL — Would authorize a court, with the concurrence of the county board of supervisors, to employ an investigative staff to determine whether defendants should be released on their own recognizance instead of being held in jail on bail. The state would guarantee to pay any cost of the program to the county, after deduction of the saving in jail costs.

BRIDGE — A skeleton bill relating to the act that created the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District. It was introduced in case legislation affecting the district is needed at a later date, Bagley's staff said. Yesterday was the deadline to introduce bills.

TAXES — Would allow county tax collectors to recover the cost of legal action to collect taxes on unsecured property from the taxpayer.

PARRENTS — Would require schools to use the surname of a child as used on the document used to prove his age upon entering school, and require schools to give each child's parent or legal guardian at their request the same information on academic performance given the parent or guardian having custody of the pupil. Both requirements were designed to meet the problems of separated parents without custody of their children.

SONOMA—Changes the name of the Sonoma County Flood Control and Water Conservation District to the Sonoma County Water Agency, and increases the maximum permissible interest rate on district bonds from 5 to 6 per cent.

Four Burglaries In San Rafael

Four burglaries were reported yesterday in San Rafael, according to the police department.

Salvadore Cardenas Flores of 633 Fifth Avenue, Room 4, reported the theft of a $100 portable television and a $75 portable AM-FM radio which occurred Monday night.

A portable AM-FM radio worth $100 was stolen from the bathroom of the home of John E. Slovek of 23 Bradclift Court yesterday.

A pair of $100 drapes was stolen from the apartment of David A. Krieg of 331 D Street while he was out of town between Sunday and yesterday.

A burglar stole a change purse with $2 in change from the kitchen of the home of Winifred E. Hall of 116 Southern Heights Boulevard yesterday.

Saddles Stolen From Wornum

Three burglaries were reported to Mill Valley police yesterday.

Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum of 561 Summit Avenue told police someone took two English saddles with pads and a bridle with a silver bit, valued at $125 from his stable tack room between 6 p.m. Monday and 5 p.m. yesterday.

Burglars took $10 in cash from the Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church foyer, 3 Oakdale Avenue, between Sunday and yesterday

Norton Ross Hastings of 100 Quarry Road said someone took several items including firearms and canned food from his home between 2:40 p.m. Friday and 6:25 p.m. Sunday.

Bagley Asks Tightening Of Brown Act

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to put tiger's teeth in the state's antisecret meeting law, the Ralph M. Brown Act, was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

"Knowing violation" of the act would be "misconduct in office" under the legislation, and upon a finding by the attorney general that there was sufficient cause for legal action, a Superi Court trial could be held to remove officials from office for attending an illegally closed meeting.

The Brown Act permits closed meetings to hire or fire a public employee or officer, or to hear charges against a public employee or officer.

Violation of the act, not uncommon, now ispunishable only as a misdemeanor, but this penalty apparently never has been used successfully.

Bagley also introduced a bill to repeal the exemptions entitling 60 state agencies to bar access to some of their public records. Instead, each agency would have to prove to the Legislature that its records needed to be exempt from public access.

The bill, an extension of Bagley's Public Records Act of 1968, would bring state practice into conformity with federal law.

Slow talkers average about 450 words during a three-minute phone call, but a determined caller may squeeze more than 600 words into the same period.

Public Agency Strikes Rash Is Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Because American society tends to "reward overt action and violence," a rash of strikes by public employees can be expected, according to a top labor mediator,

Ronald Haughton, who came to San Francisco to help settle the strike at San Francisco State College, told an industrial relations group yesterday binding compulsory arbitration may be the only way to settle both strikes by public employees and "ghetto - versus - establishment disputes." Haughton said walkout by public employees rose from 28 in 1962 to over 300 in 1967.

He said Detroit Negroes weren't paid much attention until after the middle part of the city had been burned out and 43 persons had been killed.

"And Negroes wouldn't be sitting at lunch counters in the South today if they hadn't violated trespass laws. We react to pressure at every level.

"Inexperienced people like the students at San Francisco State College simply don't know how to settle. They may be nearly all the way home and don't know when to settle. They are so worried about going back to their inexperienced constituencies without the whole package that they hold out even when they're ahead."

Car Is Recovered

A blue 1962 Chevrolet reported stolen April 1 in San Francisco was recovered Monday behind a high-rise apartment of 69 Cole Drive in Marin City, sheriff's deputies reported. The radio and stereo tape player had been stolen from the car, deputies said.

Jupiter's Dozen Satellites Pose Puzzles With Sizes, Movements

Jupiter has 12 satellites. Four of them are very large and the other eight are extremely small. The four larger ones were discovered by Galileo in 1610, using a telescope he had just made. Telescopes were made a year or two before that but, strangely, Galileo seems to have been the first to recognize its potential as an astronomical instrument.

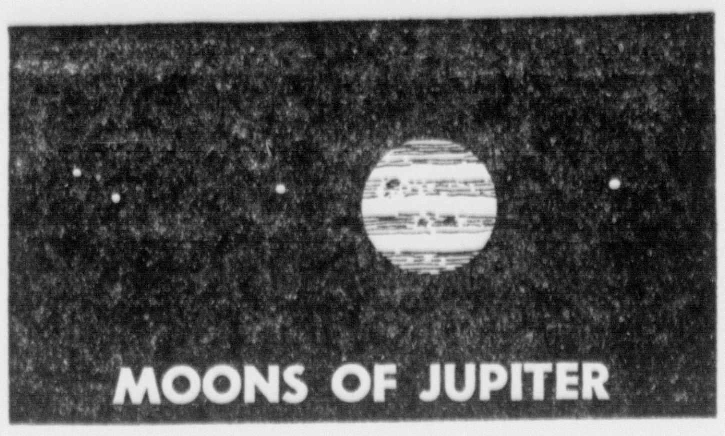
The four large moons, known as the Galilean satellites, are numbered 1, 2, 3 and 4, outward from the planet — but the others are numbered in the order of their discovery. Thus the number 5 satellite is the closest one to Jupiter.

Of the four large moons two are near the size of our moon and the other two are over 3,500 miles in diameter, even bigger than Mercury. They are large enough to cause sizable perturbations of the other moons, which helps to determine the mass of each one.

An interesting happening occurred in 1675 when a Danish astronomer, Olaus Roemer was checking on the eclipses of Jupiter's satellites. He was bothered by the fact that the eclipses were sometimes late and sometimes early, according to the schedules he had computed. He decided that this was due to the differences in the distance between Jupiter and earth at different times.

Sometimes both were on the same side of the sun and 6 months later on opposite sides, making a difference of 184 million miles in the distance traveled by the light from the planet — or about one second's difference.

The four outer moons move in retrograde direction and it is thought that maybe they were once asteroids that were captured by the powerful gravitation of Jupiter.



Ross To Tackle Animal Control Problem Again

Ross Town Council will tackle the controversial question of a tougher animal control ordinance in Marin County at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow at city hall.

The council last December considered a stronger ordinance to control dogs running loose but took no action. Councilman Natalie G. Lewis brought the matter up again last month, however, reporting she had been besieged by complaints about dogs in Ross.

The council will meet with Thomas P. Campanella, assistant county administrator, to discuss a proposal for a countywide animal control ordinance.

The council will also begin work on proposed police and fire budgets, act on the resignation of councilman Jack Carney and consider ordinances on controlling home operated businesses in the town and authorizing the council to create stop intersections by resolution.

Drug Possession Charges Dropped

TRANSPLANT FAILS

Artificial Heart Sparks A Furor

HOUSTON (UPI)—The first human to be given a heart made by a fellow human died yesterday. But the verdict on the artificial heart—which kept him alive until a human donor could be found — remained in doubt.

Haskell Karp, 47, of Skokie, Ill., lived twice as long with the artificial heart as with the transplanted organ he received Monday morning.

But the man-made device which its designer said could have prolonged Karp's life for up to six months is coming under attack from the National Heart Institute and Dr. Denton A. Cooley's superiors in Houston.

The preliminary cause of Karp's death was given as rejection complicated by pneumonia and kidney failure but a complete autopsy was scheduled.

Both the NHI and the Baylor school staff have questioned whether Cooley and his helper Dr. Domingo Liotta failed to follow prescribed medical guidelines in using the artificial heart which they had developed.

Dr. Frank Hastings of the NHI in Bethesda, Md., said yesterday any medical innovation such as an artificial heart developed in whole or in part by institute funds must go through rigorous tests and evaluations by persons other than the developer before it can be used.

The institute is very strict on this edict, Hastings said, because there appears to be a tendency for doctors to use these innovations immediately after development.

The aim of the institute, Hastings said, was to safeguard the patient.

And, Dr. Theodore Cooper, director of NHI, said he had written Dr. Michael DeBakey, president of the Baylor school asking for a report on the heart used in Karp. He said he had no evidence at this time that any violation of the guidelines had occurred, and his request for a report was routine procedure.

Dr. DeBakey also established a set of guidelines for members of his staff which, it is being claimed, Cooley and Liotta violated.

DeBakey's rules prohibit staff members from using an experimental device in surgery without the approval of a committee of Baylor doctors.

The artificial heart implanted in Karp was never presented to such a committee and Liotta said DeBakey was not even aware the device existed until it was placed into Karp.

Karp lived 63 hours with the artificial heart and 30 hours and 20 minutes with the transplanted heart of Mrs. Barbara Ewan, a Lawrence, Mass., housewife.

Army Blocks Try To Move Fort Ord Court-Martial

FORT ORD (UPI) — A defense motion to have the mutiny trial of 14 soldiers transferred back to the San Francisco Presidio was denied yesterday by an Army court-martial law officer, who said antiwar demonstrations there have created an atmosphere "not conductive to calm and dispassionate consideration."

The officer, Lt. Col. James A. Hagan also denied a motion by civilian defense attorney Terence Hallinan for a continuance so he could put his case before the Court of Military Appeals.

The 14 GI defendants were among 27 Army prisoners charged with mutiny following a sitdown strike at the Presidio stockade last October.

Hallinan sought to have the court-martial transferred back to San Francisco from this sprawling basic training post 100 miles to the south because of the difficulty defense witnesses would have reaching Fort Ord. He also claimed an outbreak of meningitis here "risks the lives of these men and their families."

Colonel Hagan said that "in view of the fact of the...demonstration last Sunday and testimony indicating that the demonstrations may grow in number and the possibility of violence erupting, the atmosphere at the Presidio is not conducive to calmness and dispassionate consideration."

Novato Government Plays Musical Chairs

Anyone familiar with the Novato City Hall since the city offices were moved into the old Presbyterian Church and adjoining Trevitt Hall about seven years ago, will be lost in the building now, because they have been playing musical offices.

It all started when the parks and recreation department moved into its new offices in the Busher house two doors away and adjacent to the police department. The finance department then moved into the space left by the parks and recreation department. The city manager and his secretaries swapped places with the planning depart- moved to where the finance department had been located. The counter was changed to a hallway with the receptionist inside the front door.

With all the changing of counters and the addition of partitions, the only department in city hall left undisturbed was the public works department and it did that by hiding in the basement.

Political Group To Meet Sunday

Politics West, a recently formed political action-study group, will hold its second meeting Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in room 426 of the Marin Civic Center, group publicist Laura Nelson Baker said today.

During the meeting, the group will set up a steering committee, discuss financing and choose temporary officers, in addition to discussing methods to move the country away from a military orientation to peacetime programs.

Bay Panel Sets Amendment Study On Gas Taxes

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A proposal that the California Constitution be amended immediately to allow use of gas taxes for public transit will be considered for adoption by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission at 9:45 a.m. tomorrow in the Hotel Claremont.

The commission voted 12-5 on March 26 to make this proposal the keystone of its final report to the Legislature, but the 12 votes amounted to just less than one-third of the 37 members on the commission, leaving the way open to a reversal tomorrow.

The final report, before it was amended by the March 26 vote, firmly rejected any diversion to public transit of highway funds.

Also scheduled for the all-day session is action on portions of the commission's full final report, due before the Legislature in May.

Sign Is Approved For Auto Agency

The Novato Plan Review Committee yesterday approved an 84-square-foot sign for Theodore R. Schuman for his Travel Town truck and camper agency on the west side of Highway 101 at Lamont Avenue, according to Asst. Planning Director Warren Baker.

Loyal Davis's request for an 18-unit apartment east of Railroad Avenue and south of Orange Avenue was given site approval by the committee. It must now go to the planning commission for its approval and then back to the plan review committee for approval of specific plans.

Camillo Magnisi was granted a permit to install a metal awning in front of his restaurant in the Sundown shopping Center south of Hamilton ir Force Base.

Taste Of Polyresia In Easy Pineapple And Shrimp Meal

If you didn't quite make it to the islands for a winter vacation this year this Polynesian pleaser will bring the tropics into your home all year-round. Large chunks of ivory cucumber and golden canned pineapple nestle with plump pink shrimp in a savory sweet and sour sauce.

It takes only a few minutes to prepare this novel meal. Pour boiling water over chunky pieces of pared cucumber. Peel and devein shrimp and saute with onion. Then add drained pineapple and crunchy crisp cucumber. Whip together the sweet and sour sauce and pour over the shrimp mixture. Serve with chopsticks over hot, steamed rice.

Pineapple adds the finishing flavor to all your sweet and sour sauces. As in this recipe, you may use it with shrimp but its tart and tangy flavor is equally as good when served with pork or poultry. Pineapple conveniently canned in chunks, slices, tidbits, crushed or juice adds a refreshing touch to your meals all year long.

PINEAPPLE CUCUMBER SHRIMP

1 cucumber
Water

Food Page

SECOND SECTION Wednesday, April 9, 1969 21

1 (1-pound, 4-ounce) can pineapple chunks
½ pound cooked shrimp, peeled and deveined
¼ cup sliced green onion
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup garlic flavored wine vinegar
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 tablespoons catsup
1½ tablespoons cornstarch

Cut pared cucumber in half lengthwise and remove any large seeds. Cut cucumber into ½ inch chunks (about 1½ cups). Pour boiling water over cucumber, let stand 5 minutes then drain. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Cook shrimp and onion in butter 5 minutes. Add drained pineapple chunks and cucumber. Combine reserved pineapple syrup and all remaining ingredients, beating smooth. Add to shrimp mixture. Cook, stirring gently 5 to 8 minutes, until sauce thickens and clears. Serve over hot cooked rice. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Salad Ideas For Spring Days

Leafy greens are an excellent source of vitamins and minerals. It's fun to mix a great variety of greens such as in this salad supper which features iceberg lettuce.

Lettuce needs little preparation and in the case of iceberg, the leaves are easily separated by removing the steam as far into the head as possible. Then hold the head upside down under cold running water which will separate and wash the leaves simultaneously. When tossing, break it into convenient bite sizes.

SUPPER SALAD

On a large platter, arrange a bed of fresh spinach leaves, water cress and endive. Arrange wedges of iceberg lettuce over the greens on the platter. Arrange sections of cold meat, Cheddar cheese strips and tuna. Serve with Dill Egg Dressing.

DILL EGG DRESSING

1 cup sour cream
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 tablespoon snipped fresh dill
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1¼ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon fresh minced onion
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours to blend flavors. Makes about 1½ cups.

CAESAR SALAD

1 medium-sized clove garlic
⅔ cup salad oil
1 large head iceberg lettuce
1 large head romaine
⅓ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tablespoon Worchestershire sauce
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 egg
½ cup fresh lemon juice
1½ cups croutons
4 anchovies, finely chopped

Peel and cut garlic into quarters. Drop garlic into salad oil. Let stand at room temperature 30 minutes. Tear lettuce and romaine into bite-size pieces into large salad bowl. Sprinkle cheese over greens. Remove garlic from oil. Combine oil, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Toss oil mixture with greens. Break egg over greens. Pour lemon juice over greens. Toss lightly until all ingredients are thoroughly blended. Sprinkle croutons and anchovies over salad. Toss lightly. Serve immediately. Makes 6-8 servings.

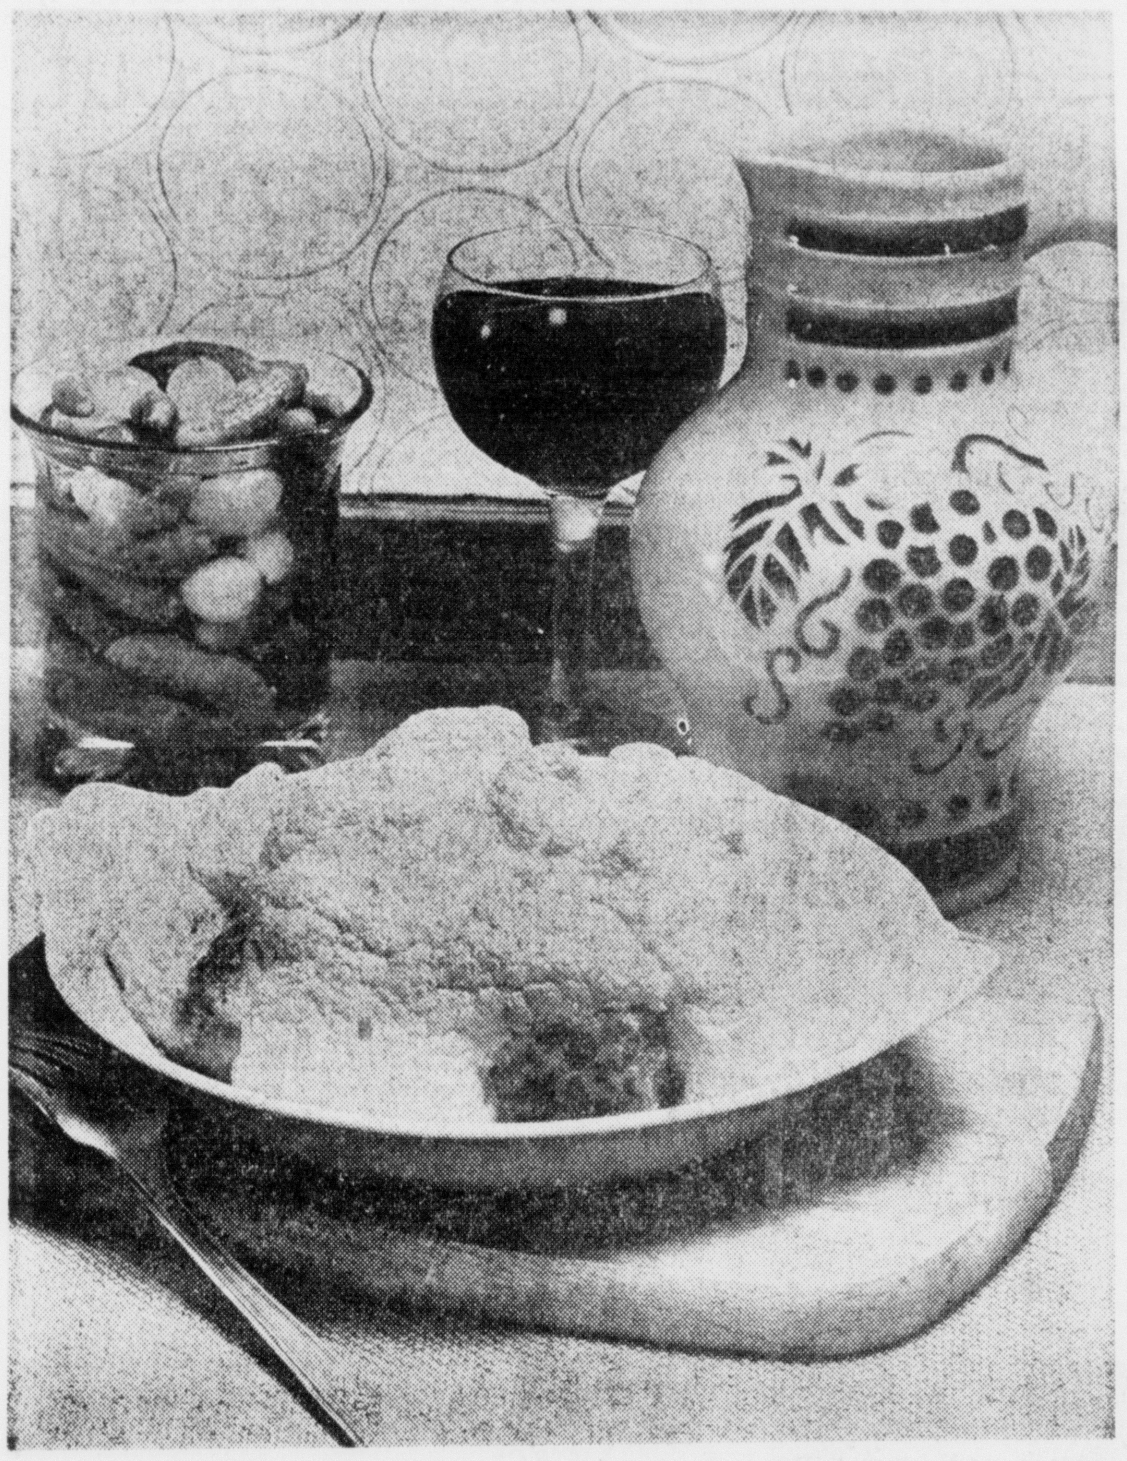
ARRANGED ON a bed of spinach and water cress are wedges of lettuce, spears of endive, cheese strips, tuna and cold meats suggested as a cooling, nourishing supper or luncheon entree. The salad is served with a dill egg dressing.

Braised Beef

When you are braising beef short ribs, use as little water as possible so the gravy will be rich. Half a cup of water should be enough for three pounds of short ribs and a couple of onions as a start; more water may be added if necessary.

Pear Salad

Alternate crosswise slices of fresh pear halves, half-rings of green pepper and onion on beds of butter lettuce; sprinkle lightly with poppy seeds and pass shakers of vinegar and salad oil at the table.



FROM A FAMOUS cheese restaurant in Paris comes this dish called Le Steack de Fromage made with French Port Salut or Bonbel. A delicious idea for Sunday suppers or bridge luncheons.

From Parisian Cheese Restaurant Comes Le Steack De Fromage Dish

Many of the original and exquisite recipes we find in newspapers and magazines were created by chefs from all over the world. The French, of course, are especially famous for their contributions to today's cuisine. Among the fashionable food trends from France are recipes made with the incomparable French cheeses. Many of them are regional specialties and some are created by chefs in the popular cheese restaurants in Paris.

Among the popular dishes on the menu at Restaurant Androuet, 41, rue d'Amsterdam, one of the most famous cheese restaurants in Paris, is Le Steack de Fromage. It is served with a fine red wine, and a green salad, and followed by fresh fruit and coffee.

In preparing this dish at home, one can choose from two semisoft cheeses — Abbey Port Salut, the authentic French Port Salut, or milder Bonbel. (If French Gruyere is available, it may be used as an alternate.) Although the recipe for the souffle batter calls only for the usual ingredients used to make a puffy omelet, one can vary the recipe slightly by adding a few sprinklings of grated Roquefort.

LE STEACK DE FROMAGE
(Makes six portions)

1 lb. French Port Salut or 2 8-oz. packages Bonbel
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup flour
2 cups fine bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons olive oil
3 eggs, separated
3 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons grated Port Salut or Bonbel
2 tablespoons grated Roquefort

Cut Port Salut into 9½" slices, reserving enough cheese to make two tablespoons grated cheese, (or cut each Bonbel in three horizontal slices, reserving enough for two tablespoons grated cheese). Chill slices thoroughly. Dip each slice in beaten eggs, then coat thoroughly with flour, dip in egg again; then thoroughly coat each slice with bread crumbs.

Press crumbs firmly into sides, tops and bottoms of each slice. Place on a cake rack for one hour so that crumbs will be crisp. This will help prevent hot cheese from seeping through. Heat butter and oil in a heavy skillet. Saute cheese slices (steacks) quickly, over moderate heat, until golden brown on all sides. Remove to lightly buttered individual baking dishes.

Preheat oven to 375° F. Beat egg yolks together with three tablespoons water. In a separate bowl, beat egg whites until firm. Fold egg whites in beaten yolks. Gently blend in grated cheese. Divide mixture evenly over each steack. Place in oven and bake 12-15 minutes, or until the tops are golden brown. Serve immediately.

Bengal Curry Uses Up Lamb

When there's a good amount of roast lamb left over, you can use it in a curried dish.

BENGAL CURRY

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup finely diced onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons curry powder
2 ½ cups fat-free chicken broth
3 tablespoons instant flour
⅓ cup flaked coconut
⅓ cup (scant) tomato paste
¼ teaspoon tabasco sauce
4 cups cubed (¾ inch) leftover roast lamb

In a medium saucepan in the hot butter mix together the onion, garlic, cinnamon, paprika and curry; add ½ cup of the broth; simmer until liquid has almost evaporated and mixture is like a thick paste — about 15 minutes. Gradually stir the remaining 2 cups broth into the flour; add to onion mixture with coconut, tomato paste and tabasco. Over moderate heat cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add lamb and salt to taste; reheat. Serve over rice accompanied by chutney and toasted slivered almonds; reheat. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Combine Peas And Artichokes

A combination of frozen vegetables that's delightful:

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon salt
1 package (9 ounces) frozen artichoke hearts
1 package (10 ounces) frozen tiny peas
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 sprig parsley
1 bay leaf

In a covered saucepan, over medium-high heat, bring the butter, water, salt and artichokes to a full boil. Reduce heat and simmer about 4 minutes; add remaining ingredients. Cover and bring to a boil again. Reduce heat and simmer until artichokes are just tender — 2 or 3 minutes. If needed, add a little water. Remove parsley and bay leaf. Makes 4 servings.

Tenderize Beef

If you select less tender cuts of beef for grilling—blade, chuck, arm or flank—the best bet is to tenderize them first. To do this, marinate them with a mixture of oil, seasonings, and lemon juice, vinegar or tomato juice, or use a commercial tenderizer. Meat should be refrigerated during marinating, but give it a few minutes to lose its chill before grilling.

You've probably seen Arthur Godfrey recommending Axion on television. Now he's offering you ten cents off your next box. An incredible new discovery, Axion is entirely different from any detergent. Entirely different from any bleach. Axion is an enzyme-active pre-soak that cleans away stains as no other kind of washing product has ever been able to do.

Works on your whole wash.

You see a striking difference in your entire wash every time you pre-soak with Axion. All you do is sort as usual. Your whites are noticeably brighter and cleaner. And pleasantly fresh smelling. Not only does Axion clean off tough dirt and stains, you can use it effectively on colored synthetic fabrics you wouldn't dare bleach. In fact, once you start using Axion, you find yourself pre-soaking everything you wash, every time you wash.

AXION attacks stain after stain.

Axion's active enzymes biologically break down the molecular structure of the most stubborn stains. Blood. Gravy. Sauces. Chocolate. Fruit stains. Dirt on white socks. Grass. Yellowing on pillowcases. Baby foods. Perspiration stains. Diaper stains. Grime on shirt collars and cuffs. And many more.

Volunteers Hel p Program Grow

In 1957 a young Marin student nurse faced a problem: she had two years of study before she could get a degree and her money was running short.

Her decision to ask help of the Hospital Service League — original name of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers — spurred the initial grant in a scholarship program that so far has helped 27 girls enter nursing or allied professions and has given $9,325 in aid.

FROM THAT one-year grant of $100, the program now offers annual scholarships of up to $400 and has helped several young women through their entire course of nursing studies. This year nine girls are receiving help at a cost of $2,400.

The money comes from private donations and memorial grants and from Junior Pink Lady dues, but most has come from the fund-raising services run at the hospital by the volunteer Pink Ladies and from the eight branches of the Council of Volunteers.

Nine thousand dollars represents an uncountable number of volunteer hours of work and planning on the part of hundreds of women in the 12 years the scholarship program has been under way.

THE MONEY has been awarded on the basis of need, of grades and high school recommendations, to those who had won admission to an accredited nursing or medical school — and only to those who had given to the hospital at least one year's service in the Pink Lady program.

Work as a Junior Pink Lady is a significant contribution.

These youngsters, some 58 of them, spend a minimum of 100 hours apiece annually, after school or on weekends, performing the same tasks the adult volunteers do. They bring water and run errands for patients, deliver menus, newspapers, mail, flowers and gifts, cart medicines and housekeeping supplies to nursing stations, help in the gift shop or with the book cart and some work with the children in the pediatrics ward.

"These girls become juniors for two big reasons," says Mary Miller, director of volunteers. "They have an idealistic desire to be of service to other people, and they have a curiosity about a vocation, usually nursing and think they'll find out what medicine can offer through work at the hospital."

THE FIRST juniors were a trio from Dominican, Gretchen Bach, Donna Zander and Linda Fromhagen, who began work in 1953, a year after the hospital opened. By fall 1955 the juniors formed an organization of Junior Pink Ladies. As a separate organization, the group was short-lived. A girl's career as a Pinky is susally short, since she must be 16 to serve and is soon afterward a high school graduate with job or college to contend with. The juniors are now a part of the Pink Lady organization, paying optional dues, which go to scholarships.

If the juniors are motivated to go into nursing or a medically related profession, the adult volunteer organization stands ready to help.

Says the chairman of the volunteer council, Mrs. Peter Behr, "Since medically trained personnel are in short supply everywhere, we feel this is a valid community service . . . Hopefully some of these young women will return and their skills will be of direct benefit to Marin General."

And already a number of the scholarship winners have worked summers as nurses aides, and several junior Pink Ladies who went into nursing later served in nursing positions at Marin General.

Melinda Krause of Corte Madera, a scholarship holder, was as a surgical nurse, and Beth Mellin of Greenbrae (now Mrs. Gene Pawlick), who won but did not accept a scholarship, became head nurse in the Intensive Care Unit. Scholarship holder Ann Farber of Mill Valley, upon graduating and before accepting her first job, spent several weeks making her old rounds as a Pink Lady.

IN THE YEARS since the first grant to Stanford nursing student Carol King, the scholarship holders have trained at a variety of schools and hospitals, mostly in the Bay Area. They have sought R.N. degrees, a three-year-course, or bachelor of science degrees (four-year courses which make the holder eligible for supervisorial positions within a hospital or specialized careers in public health.)

This year Mary Falvey of Larkspur is using her scholarship to study behavioral sciences with the hope of teaching mentally retarded children.

Of the scholarship holders this year, four are renewals from previous years:

Carolyn Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Smith, is a junior at San Francisco State College, studying specialized nursing at hospitals throughout the city and in the pediatrics department at Marin General. She worked three years as a junior and at Marin General last summer as a nurses aide.

"I HAD the idea of becoming a nurse for a long time, but being a Pink Lady really reinforced it," she says.

Sandra Fazio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fazio of Greenbrae, is in her second year of training at Samuel Merritt Hospital in Oakland.

"I think I was born with a hypodermic needle in my hand," says Sandy. "Nursing was all I ever wanted to do. When I was a junior, I was already studying to be a nurse, in a way."

Sandy works evenings as a paid aide at the hospital, and takes part of her classwork at Mills College.

Janet Epidendio, daughter of Mrs. Ida Epidendio of Larkspur, is a sophomore at the University of San Francisco.

"I was always going to be a teacher. But in my senior year at Marin Catholic I decided to be a Pink Lady. I loved it, and one day I decided I was going to try to be a nurse."

IN HER first year she was "really doubtful — we never got near a hospital, just went to class all the time and it was tough, all science. But this year we began nursing, and I love it."

Janet has worked part time as a store clerk to help pay her way. She has applied to be a nurses aide at Marin General this summer.

Ellen Bundschu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bundschu of San Anselmo, in her third year at USF, is thinking of serving with the Peace Corps. After two and one-half years she finds hospital work confining:

"The hospital becomes your whole world. I'd like to get out into some other nursing field, see people under other circumstances." And yet, with graduation a year and a half away: "Four years doesn't really seem long enough — there's so much to learn."

THE OTHER FIVE scholarship recipients this year are in the first year of study:

Nancie Jose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jose Jr. of San Anselmo, will get her cap this month at Merritt Hospital. Active in student affairs at Sir Francis Drake High, Nancie had "been interested in teaching for awhile, but being a Pink Lady steered me toward nursing."

From the first she has worked two days a week on the wards, taking classes in nursing fundamentals at Merritt and science classes at Mills College.

Mary Falvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Falvey of Larkspur, plans six years of study to teach he mentally retarded. Pink Lady work was decisive for Mary, too:

"I was going into nursing up till then, but I discovered it just wasn't my vocation." Between her junior and senior years in high school she worked as a teacher's assistant for the Marindale program in San Rafael. Then she spent one afternoon a week at Cedars Development Center in Ross for the mentally retarded. "I just played with the kids. I really enjoyed it and saw a lot of need."

Mary attends College of Marin, working part time to help with expenses and plans to transfer to a four-year college.

BARBARA O'NEILL, daughter of Mrs. Theresa Harris of San Anselmo, is studying at USF with pediatric nursing as her goal.

"I put in 200 hours as a Pink Lady — almost all in the pediatrics ward. Those days at Marin General helped me find out whether I could handle it, whether I was too chicken to be a nurse. . ." Barbara holds two other scholarships with the award from Marin General volunteers.

Gay Melvin of Mill Valley, the daughter of Mrs. Carol L. Melvin, is at St. Francis Hospital in pursuit of an R.N. degree.

"I didn't want a four year course. I wanted to get into nursing right away. And yet a two-year course just seemed too much of a rush for me." Taking academic courses at City College of San Francisco, she is already doing nursing work at the hospital.

Karen Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Meyer of Mill Valley, holds a state scholarship, but received an honorary scholarship from the hospital volunteers because her grades and record were outstanding. She has embarked on a four-year course at USF, primarily academic for her first year, broadening into nursing next year. Karen worked a year as a Pink Lady, and puts in hours at Marin General on weekends and vacations.

It has been the policy so far to see each girl through to her degree, and with tuition costs rising, the awards are a great help.

IT HAS been the hope of the scholarship committee to start at least one new girl each year, Mrs. T. Royal Scott of San Rafael, chairman, says "we are exploring every possible means to raise more money."

The committee receives applications (they're due May 30), reviews the eligibility and provides for an interview. On the committee's recommendation to the Council of Volunteers, the awards are made.

Adverse Effect Of Pill Told At Local Symposium

How does the oral contraceptive affect the metabolism? Does the pill cause blood clots? Does it trigger diabetes? Should it continue to be prescribed?

These were some of the questions considered at a symposium on oral contraceptives that opened the two-day meeting in San Francisco today of the American Association of Planned Parenthood Physicians. The 700-member-organization is made up of physicians from every part of the country who serve in the 500 family planning clinics sponsored by Affiliates of Planned Parenthood-World Population.

THE SYMPOSIUM was organized by Louis M. Hellman, M. D., professor and chairman, department of obstetrics and gynecology, State University of New York, Downstate Medical Center, Brooklyn, N.Y.

A review by William N. Spellacy, M.D., of scientific studies in Great Britain, Scandinavia and the U. S. on the metabolic effects of the pill indicates that the metabolism of some women who use oral contraceptives may be altered somewhat. But the significance of the alteration is not clear, the physician said. Dr. Spellacy is an associate professor at the University of Miami School of Medicine in Miami, Fla.

He noted that investigators agree that "with few exceptions there have been no changes noted in the total serum cholesterol (one of the varieties of fat in the blood) concentrations following the use of oral contraceptives."

This is significant, Dr. Spellacy explained, because an elevation of cholesterol is known to be associated with certain heart and circulatory diseases.

ALTHOUGH THERE appears to be an altered pattern of the metabolism of another kind of fat (lipid) in the blood of women taking the pill, the effect of this alteration as far as the development of circulatory disease "remains unknown," according to the physician.

The metabolism of certain sugars and starches (carbohydrates; appears to be altered in some women, more than 25 studies agree, Dr. Spellacy noted. Why and how this alteration occurs is not known, he said.

The physician pointed out that certain women are more prone to experience this metabolic change than others. In this category are women over 35 years of age; or women who have borne more than four children; or who have a family history of diabetes; or who have delivered infants weighing more than nine pounds; or who gain more than eight pounds while using oral contraceptives.

It is not known, Dr. Spellacy said, whether these alterations are reversible after discontinuing the pill or what the consequences are of prolonged use. He urged continued research to find the answers.

There is a possible "cause and effect relationship between the use of oral contraceptives and either the development or enhancement of high blood pressure," John H. Laragh, M.D., told fellow-physicians at the symposium that "it seems very likely that in the large majority of those who take them they do not induce hypertension (high blood pressure). Dr. Laragh is professor of medicine at Columbia University.

CLINICAL OBSERVATIONS of women as well as laboratory studies suggest, Dr. Laragh said, that the blood pressure in certain susceptible patients taking the pill may be strikingly increased. He hypothesized that this may occur because the pill causes marked changes in the amount of certain hormones produced by the kidneys and the adrenal glands.

The physician observed that some factors, now unknown, must predispose some women to high blood pressure while other women experiencing the same changes in blood-pressure raising hormonal production while taking the pill show no increase whatsoever in their blood pressure.

A review by Philip Sartwell, M.D., of scientific papers on the pill and blood clots emphasized that the evidence continues to be "highly conflicting and controversial." The Johns Hopkins University professor of epidemiology concluded that in his judgment there may be a cause and effect relationship between the orals and the development of thromboembolism. But, he noted, "in view of the low frequency of this condition, I do not regard the relationship as constituting a contraindication to use of the oral contraceptives."

Commenting on the symposium, Hans Lehfeldt, M.D., who directs a major family planning clinic at New York's Bellevue Medical Center, observed: "We have had confirmed once again that the oral contraceptive, even as other powerful drugs, can have an adverse effect on some women. Therefore, it should be administered responsibly."

THE PHYSICIAN, who is clinical professor of obstetrics and gynecology at New York University School of Medicine, maintained that all women should have a complete physical examination and a complete medical history taken before the drug is prescribed. They should also be checked every six months and should be encouraged to report any problems to their doctors.

"This is simply good medical practice," Dr. Lehfeldt noted, "and applies to the prescription of any medication.

"At Bellevue we make it clear to patients that they may have the pill only if they agree to return for periodic Pap smears (to detect cervical cancer), breast examinations and blood pressure checks."

Dr. Lehfeldt urged that pharmacists cooperate by refusing to refill oral contraceptive prescriptions unless that is specified in the original prescription. If it is not, he maintained, they should check with the physician before refilling. The benefits derived from the pill far outweigh the risks, and there is every reason to continue to prescribe them where indicated, the physician believes.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Advocate For Changes In Laws Backs Argument With Opinions

DEAR HELEN:

We're a crazy mixed-up society. We won't allow birth control education in schools, yet we endow homes for unwed mothers. We point the finger of shame at couples who live together, yet we prove every day that marriage in unworkable, at least in its present form. We want our children to remain chaste, but we insist that they finish college and get settled in careers before they choose mates.

How much better it would be if we would give temporary marriage licenses, just as we give temporary drivers' licenses. Then when a man and woman prove they can live together compatibly, they can apply for the lifetime certificate. This would eliminate sneaking or going against society with its consequent guilt feelings and hurt.

Those applying for temporary marriage licenses would agree not to have children during that period. When the license expires (say at the end of one or two years) they can either go their separate ways or renew. This would simplify matters for engaged couples still in college or otherwise unable to support a family. The temporary license would specify that each partner contribute equally to finances, if this is necessary.

What do others think aoubt this plan? — DAVE

DEAR DAVE:

Paper solutions seldom work out when applied to human equations. What if one partner wants to renew the temporary license, the other doesn't? What if precautions fail and a baby results? And wouldn't those people who flit from one trial marriage to another be just as promiscuous as those who don't bother with a certificate?

I've no doubt marriage and divorce laws will be changed drastically in the next decade, but I'm not sure whether a temporary marriage, as you describe it, is the answer. Comments, anyone? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

One of the cleverest tricks Satan has perpetrated on the human race is to convince us that neither he nor his demons exist, thus giving us license to do all sorts of evil things because we won't be punished.

I would suggest to "Sybil the Second," who was frightened by her ouija board, that she try this experiment. Ask the board from where it gets its powers. The answer will be "Satan," "Devil," or "Beelzebub." Then ask it what God's name is, and she will gt a violent reaction. Then burn it, or she is asking the demons into her home for life! — J. W.

DEAR J:

If I asked a ouija board where it got its powers, I'm sure it would point to one letter: "U."

(Just for fun a neighbor and I asked her board if it was ruled by the Devil. The answer: "Bah, humbug!" — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Nature has played a terrible trick on me. Our young son does not look like his father. Instead, he looks so much like our school principal that he has been mistaken for this man's child. We are good friends with him and his wife, but with the whispers that are going around, how long will it be before someone has to leave town?

I swear there was never anything between us. But sometimes I even see my husband looking at me strangely. The principal's wife laughs about the resemblance, but the laughter is getting strained. What can I do to prove I am — INNOCENT?

DEAR INNOCENT:

When you expect trust as your right, you usually win it.

A faster way to settle suspicion: Suggest blood tests. Hopefully (but not assuredly) they'll rule out the principal as the father of your son. — H.

HANGING WEAVING — Gossamer panels of printed cloth surround weaver Jacquetta Nisbet whose show of weaving in several techniques continues through May 3 at Anima Mundi in Mill Valley. (Photo by Michelle Vignes)

ART REVIEW

'Ink And Yarn' Is A Stimulating Show

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Jacquetta Nisbet's exhibit, "Ink and Yarn," through May 3 at Anima Mundi in Mill Valley, uses every inch of available space and then creates more of its own.

Hangings of several types, a loom, bright bunches of yarn tumbling over a rough crate, wood blocks and design blueprints decorate all the standard exhibition space.

Yet it never feels crowded because of gossamer panels which float invitingly from the ceiling, adding imaginary walls to the limits of the room.

These filmy lengths give the entire area an airy feeling, whether they float from above, act as light-filled, flower-printed window shades or are wall-hung, and Miss Nisbet uses them often.

In many, hints of Oriental and Indian motifs are abstracted into bold designs. And her colors are quite varied, going from brick and black through a complex rainbow of subtle and strong hues, to some strident and sometimes unattractive combinations.

Perhaps her most unusual effects, are the vague suggested shapes that lie softly in the distance behind the more aggressive foreground patterns, creating another dimension and level of interest.

In the midst of these airy panels, Miss Nisbet injects several thick, rich, Peruvian-styled weavings. There are not nearly enough of these long hot colored bands and grayed, reversible, double-cloth pieces which, for all their nubby substance, seem far more sensitive than their filmy counterparts.

Other things which add interest to Miss Nisbet's exhibit are test samples showing cloth and ink durability and some carved printing blocks attended by a large cloth traced with their repeated printed design. And while there are no visually tantalizing experiments here, Miss Nisbet does, and shows how to do, enough things to keep her very full exhibit, fully interesting.

Richmond Race Narrowed To Six

RICHMOND (UPI)—Three incumbents and three newcomers won spots yesterday in the runoff election for three six-year terms on the Richmond City Council.

About 42 per cent of the city's voters cast ballots in the primary for four council seats, including one two-year term.

Veteran Gay Vargas, who has served 18 years on the council, was the top-votegetter. He was followed by incumbent Albert Silva, Rev. Booker T. Anderson, incumbent Mayor John Sheridan, Cornelius Doherty and Douglas Lord in the balloting for six-year terms. Eight others were eliminated.

In the two-year race, two newcomers won a place on the May 13 ballot. Richard Nelson handily topped the field of seven, with Bill Eger finishing a distant second. The incumbent did not seek re-election.

Mayors, Councilmen Will Tour Center

The monthly meeting of the Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen will be hosted by the City of Larkspur at The Tamalpais, a retirement residence in Greenbrae April 30 at 6:30 p.m.

Council members will get a tour of the facility and hear a speech by Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

'Oh What A Lovely War' Draws Raves

LONDON (AP) — The multistar British movie of "Oh What a Lovely War" got rave notices from the London critics today. Several called it a masterpiece, and one said he left the theater in tears.

The massacres of World War I are seen as a kind of peep show on Brighton's seaside pier, switching from the frivolity of the fair to the dead in the battlefield mud. Ironic interpretations of patriotic songs point up the movie's anti-war message.

(As a play it was presented in the summer of 1966 by the Festival Theater in San Anselmo and also drew rave reviews from Bay Area critics.)

The critics gave their highest praise to actor Richard Attenborough, making his debut as a director.

His cast includes five of Britain's actor-knights—Sir Laurence Olivier, Sir Ralph Richardson, Sir Michael Redgrave, Sir John Gielgud and Sir John Clements.

Other stars include John Mills, Kenneth More, Vanessa Redgrave, Susannah York and Maggie Smith.

"The film, quite simply, is a work of art—a masterpiece of insight and interpretation," wrote Ian Christie of the Daily Express.

'Girl In My Soup' Just Poor Attempt

By KARL BARRON

SAN FRANCISCO — Since "There's A Girl In My Soup," which opened Monday night at the Curran, was a smash in London, only mildly successful in New York and seems destined for critical oblivion here, one can only conclude that what's funny in London becomes unfunnier with added distance.

Granted that the road show here has only Jean-Pierre Aumont, a suave and accomplished comedian, to lift it from mediocrity, the script just isn't that good.

COMEDY RELIEF?

Perhaps the English are backlashing from a diet of Osborne, Pinter and company, writers whose people are terribly real, whether you like them or not. Perhaps the phony haves and have-nots of Terence Frisby's bedroom comedy are a relief from the snarling Jimmy Porters with their real attack on the establishment. I find Frisby's characters hard to take and impossible to enjoy for more than a gag at a time.

Aumont is a gourmet-writer and male Julia Child who collects women with the same uninvolved enjoyment that he does recipes. He justifies his attitude by saying "You don't hold conversation with a roast duck — you eat it." On the far side of 40, he becomes infatuated with an amoral 19-year-old who usually lives with a perfectly horrid caricature of a hippy.

NO APPLAUSE

By the time the gourmet's friend suggested Solomon's division method as a way of sharing the girl, I expected wild applause, but evidently the audience had left or was anaesthetized.

Oliver Cluff, who directed the show, is apparently more at home with musicals, handling large groups of people. Here there seems to be a lack of movement, at least logical movement.

Aumont takes advantage of every chance for comedy, using face, voice and body to milk the opportunities. There just aren't enough of them. An example of a gag which drew hysterical laughter from a little old lady behind us: in Aumont's absence, his girl has gone out and his friend the publisher is in the kitchen, but Aumont does not know this.

AUMONT: (entering) Darling. . .

ANDREW: (coyly) Here, my sweet!

TV EXPOSURE

Betty Conner, as Marion, the amoral chick, has had lots of TV exposure on programs like Gidget, which I have never seen. This role, a doubly difficult one because the playwright's own conception of the character is unclear, is simply beyond her abilities. She is cute in bikini underwear, once in a while hits a low British accent, but stays monotonously in one key through the evening. The only detectable note of falseness in Aumont's perfomance is when he says he wants her to stay. It is an understandable note.

The rest of the cast is dreadful, except for George N. Niese, whose uneven Andrew is delightfully natural in spots. The setting is nice, including a bedroom door which only allows sound to go through one side of it.

Walter Winchell, Leonard Lyons, Earl Wilson, Time Magazine and the Journal of Commerce notwithstanding, I say this is not a good or a funny play. It will be presented nightly except Sunday at 8:30 and Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Open House April 22 Set By Redwood High

Redwood High School will hold an open house for parents April 22 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., school officials announced yesterday.

DARLENE BROCK
As Sister Blanche

Opera By Poulenc Set At Dominican

The Opera Theater of Dominican College will present its major spring production, "The Dialogues of the Carmelites" by Francis Poulenc on April 18 and 19 at 8 p.m. in Angelico Hall on the campus.

An intensely dramatic opera climaxed by martydom at the guillotine of 16 Carmelite nuns during the French Revolution, this is the most elaborate production ever undertaken by the Opera Theater.

Preparations were begun months ago with research in to the correct period habit and study of the Carmelite order itself. Principals will go to the cloistered monastery of the Carmelites in Sacramento, where they will authenticate character interpretations and gain insight into the Carmelite way of life.

Dtage director Arthur Conrad said he selected the opera for its dramatic richness and musical vitality.

Musical preparation was done by pianist and musicologist Dr. Ted Blair, who recently joined the Dominican faculty.

Starring in the leading role of Sister Blanche will be Darlene Brock, daughter of the Marquis de la Force, sung by David Johnson, and sister of the chavalier, sung by Melvyn Poll.

Other Marin County singers in major roles will be Marjorie Broughton, prioress of the Carmelite convent; Lorie Kutsko, a new prioress; Margaret Lee, the assistant prioress; Joan Smith, a young nun, and Fred Lewis, Father Confessor of the convent.

Sheep Imported

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) —The State Game and Fish Department says New Mexico is the only U.S. state which imports Barbary sheep. They are brought from northern Africa and planted in southern New Mexico areas.

Junior Theater Slates Finale

The Junior Theater of Marin will present the fifth and final show in its winter series for children Saturday with its production of "Christopher Caterpillar" by the apprentice group of the Marin Civic Ballet.

Performances for season ticket holders will be held in the San Rafael High School auditorium at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. and a 12:15 p.m. performance with tickets available at the door.

Group reservations may be made through Mrs. Gerald A. DeVore of San Anselmo.

Drug Charge Is Dropped In Court

After a motion to suppress evidence was granted yesterday by Municipal Court Judge Alvin B. Goldstein in the case of William Edward Haskell, 22, of Corte Madera, a charge of marijuana possession against him was dismissed.

Haskell had been arrested at his apartment Sept. 26 after neighbors complained of a strong odor of marijuana smoke.

Led advertising clinic

Spending Of Marinites Above Average

Marin County residents, who boast the highest average income in California and one of the highest in the United States, also spend more than the average buyer, a national newspaper advertising executive told an advertising clinic here yesterday.

William J. Solch, retail vice president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association's bureau of advertising, led the clinic. He was introduced by Wishard A. Brown, publisher of the Independent-Journal, sponsor of the clinic for about 200 Marin retailers. The clinic was held at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Solch presented figures that showed Marinites spend an average of about twice the national average for basic commodities.

Furniture, applicances bought in appliance stores, and building supplies led the list, according to Solch. The average Marin family spends $539 a year on furniture at furniture stores each year compared to the national average of only $157. A Marin family buys $303 in appliances, compared to the yearly average of $88, and $386 in building supplies, compared to the national figure of $84.

Solch said Marinites also lead in the biggest spending category of food, spending an average per family of $1,852 against the national average of $1,052.

Comparisons in other categories included: department stores, $516 in Marin and $403 nationally; women's wear, $266 and $117; shoe stores, $114 and $51; men'swear, $130 and $57.

Solch gave the Marin County businessmen a 90-minute workshop presentation on marketing, budgeting and planning advertising and new ideas for ad writing and layout.

Tiburon Chamber Boosts Sailing Day

The Tiburon Chamber of Commerce yesterday urged all merchants who will be open April 27 to observe the opening of yachting season by having employees wear nautical attire for the day, president Ben A. Farlatti reported.

Farlatti said chamber members also recommended that the downtown Tiburon area be decorated with flags and bunting for opening day.

Textile Maker Facing Illegal Housing Suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration has taken a major Southern textile maker to court in the government's first attack on segregated company housing. At the same time, the government is being sued for awarding defense contracts to three other Southern textile mills which allegedly discriminate against blacks.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell filed suit in U.S. District Court in Greensboro, N.C., yesterday against Cannon Mills Co., Kannapolis, N.C., one of the nation's largest textile firms.

The suit alleged Cannon discriminated against Negroes both in employment at its 16 plants in North and South Carolina and in the rental to employees of 2,000 single-family houses in the vicinity of its plants.

Earlier the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's legal defense fund filed suit in U.S. District Court here challenging the legality of $9 million worth of federal contracts awarded Feb. 8 to Dan River Mills Inc., J. P. Stevens, Inc., and Burlington Industries.

The NAACP suit charged the Defense Department and other government agencies violated President Lyndon B. Johnson's 1965 executive order outlawing government contracts for firms that do not meet federal standards in employment practices.

The Justice Department's suit demands a permanent court order to end the alleged discriminatory practices by Cannon, which employs 24,000 persons. It was brought under the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 and 1968.

Britain's Superjet In Maiden Flight

BRISTOL, England (AP) — The British Concorde supersonic airliner took off on its maiden flight today, five weeks after the first flight of an identical French-built prototype.

The gleaming Concorde 002, its droop-snout pointed at the ground and its four jets spewing black smoke, roared down the runway. Then test pilot Brian Trubshaw reared the big plane back on its wheels and it smoothly took to the air.

The Concorde — the French built 001 and the British 002—are the two nations' joint entry in the supersonic airliner market expected to boom in the 1970s. They flew more than a year behind schedule following a series of technical and financial problems.

With costs estimated at more than $2.4 billion over an 11-year development period, they are among the most expensive planes ever built.

Angel Island Topic

The State Park and Recreation Commission will review its proposed master plan for Angel Island State Park in its monthly meeting which will be held in the Board of Supervisors Chambers at the Civic Center in San Rafael Friday at 9 a.m., the State Department of Parks and Recreation announced today.

Tearful Jury Convicts On Draft Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal court jury has convicted 18-year-old Erik Whitehorn of refusing to register for the draft, despite his mother's plea that she had forbidden him to do so.

U.S. Dist. Judge Gus Solomon, of Portland, Ore., set April 29 for sentencing. The penalty could range up to five years in prison.

Several of the eight women on the jury were in tears yesterday when the verdict was returned after two hours and 20 minutes of deliberation.

Mrs. Evelyn Whitehorn of Palo Alto had argued that she, not her son, should be prosecuted since she had advised him not to register because they both consider the war in Vietnam to be immoral.

Judge Solomon said at the start of the trial last Monday, however, that the issue was not whether the war was immoral, or whether the draft law was good or bad, but whether the defendant had broken it.

He gave defense attorney Aubrey Grossman a week in which to file statements from theologians on the morality question.

Red Cross Slates Water Safety Class

The Marin County chapter of the American National Red Cross will sponsor a water safety instructor course starting Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the San Rafael High School pool, chapter officials announced today.

President's Brother Rejects Federal Job

SEATTLE (AP) — Edward C. Nixon, President Richard M. Nixon's brother, has bowed out of a $30,000-a-year federal job in Alaska "for personal reasons."

Nixon, who had spent two days in Anchorage after being appointed chairman of the federal field committee for development planning in Alaska, said there yesterday his decision not to accept the post "has nothing to do with the position here, the land or the people" and added:

"It doesn't seem it's going to work out. We have a problem that has arisen at home."

Nixon was appointed to the job last Friday.

In Washington, the Commerce Department said Nixon "informed the Secretary of Commerce that after discussing the matter further with his wife he had decided to decline the appointment."

Nixon, a former Navy pilot, a geologist and on leave from Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co., Seattle, where he is a commercial staff supervisor, would have headed a committee to coordinate federal and state economic planning for Alaska.

His home is in Lynnwood, 20 miles north of Seattle. He and his wife, Gay, who is a junior high school mathematics teacher, have two daughters, Amy, 10, and Beth, 8.

In last year's presidential campaign, Nixon managed mail operations for the Nixon-for-President Committee in New York.

The youngest of three living Nixon brothers, he was to have started his new job May 3, his 39th birthday, succeeding Joseph Fitzgerald, who resigned to enter private industry.

Chamber Group To End Season With Concert

The Marin Chamber Ensemble directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff will close its fourth season Sunday with a 4 p.m. concert at the Church of the Nativity in Marinwood.

The program will be composed of passion and Easter music from Handel's "Messiah" with Carolyn Bond, Janna Schumacher and Craig Bond as soloists.

Between the two parts of the program Dr. Wolff, organist and harpsichordist, with his Camarata Players, consisting of instrumentalists, will perform Telemann's Concerto for Viola and Strings with Joan Lundblad as soloist.

Insertion of a short concerto was one of Handel's customs at his London presentations of oratorios.

Mrs. Riccardi Sets Parleys With Voters

Mrs. Gloria Riccardi, who seeks her first full term on the Kentfield School District board in Tuesday's election, will appear at "voter-candidate conferences" prior to the election.

The meetings are scheduled at the homes of Mrs. Stanley Farber of 66 Via Chepparo, Greenbrae; Mrs. Clarence Lesko of 50 Corte de Sabla, Greenbrae; Mrs. William Warnock of 20 Upland Road, Kentfield; Mrs. Ross Ashley of 348 Brentano Way, Greenbrae; Mrs. Thomas Walker, 22 Corte Lodato, Greenbrae.

Also, Mrs. James Compton, 71 Berens Drive, Kentfield; Mrs. David Shippey, 9 Mann Drive, Kentfield; Mrs. Harry Del Grande of 142 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae; Mrs. David M. Sullivan of 165 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae; Mrs. Monte Ambinder of 129 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Marvin of 330 Via La Paz, Greenbrae, jointly with Dr. and Mrs. David Zakim and Dr. and Mrs. Harold Brownstein of 25 Wolfe Glen Way, Kentfield.

Times of the conferences are available from Mrs. Edward Bingham of 29 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, or Mrs. David Sullivan of 165 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae.

The old gussie-up-a-surplus-milkcan-with-a-little-paint-and-call-it-a-prize-trick.

1001 milkcans, 1001 winners!

There are a million uses for the milkcan, some of which are practical. You can put umbrellas in it, you can put dirt in it and grow flowers, you can put it in a dark closet so nobody will see you own it, etc.

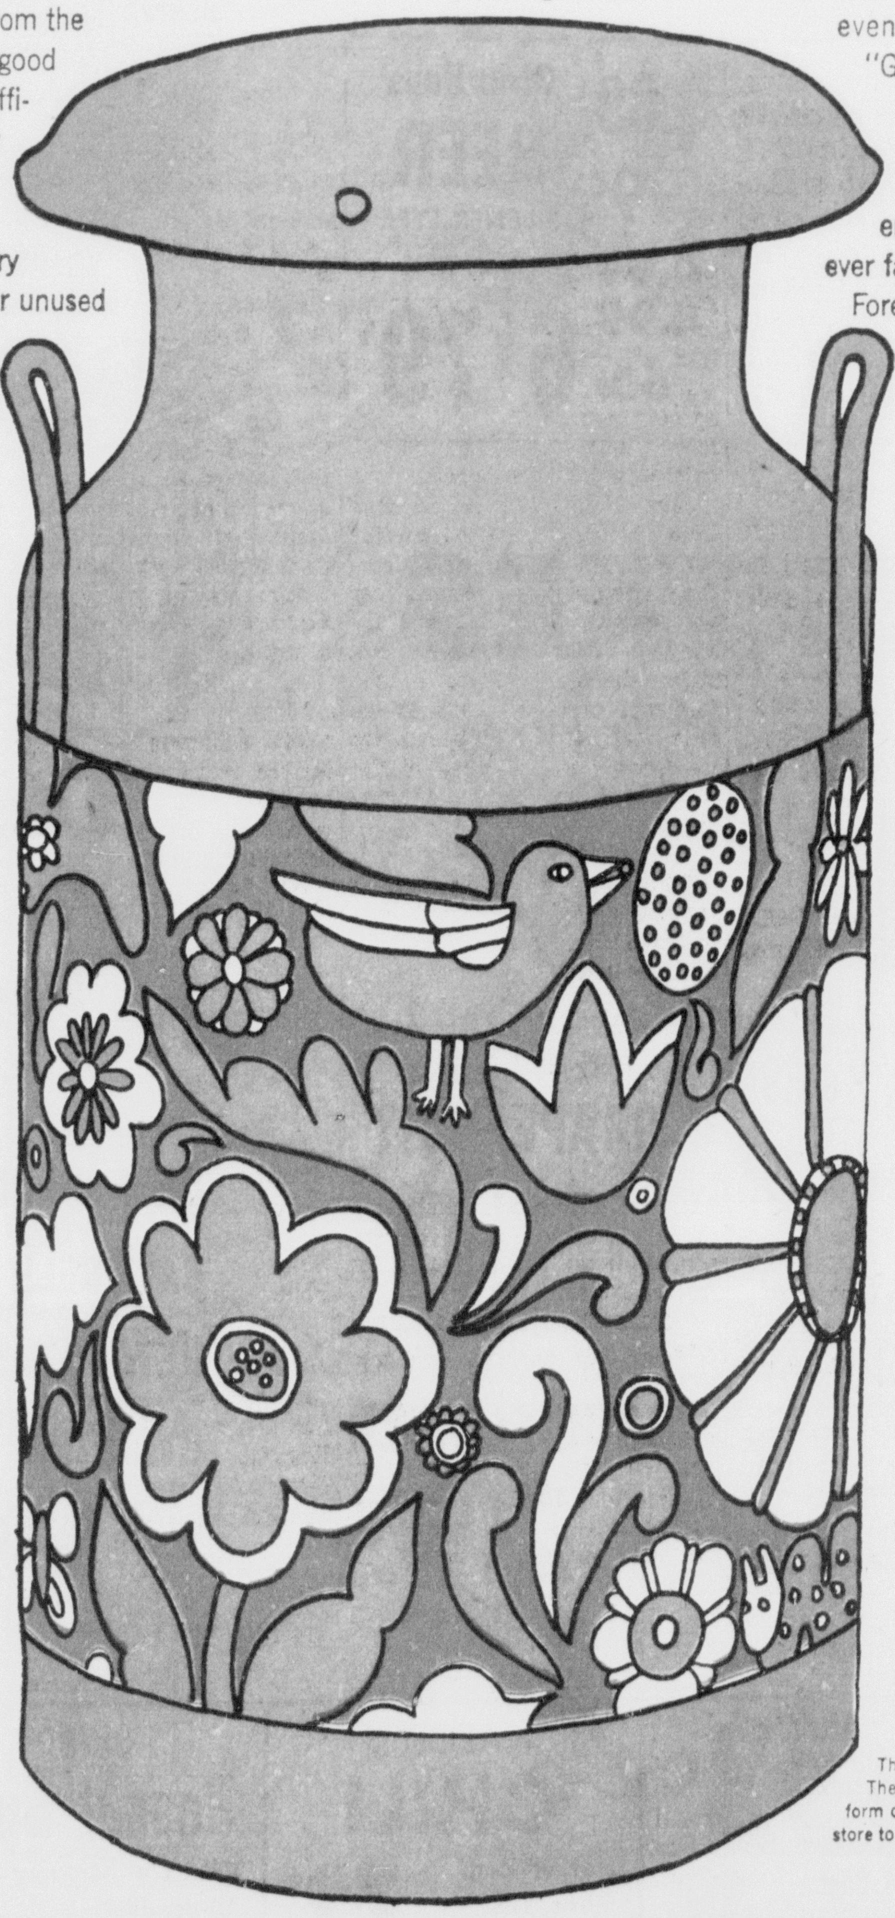
These are the very same kind of milkcans that once carried our milk in from the farm, and while they were pretty good in their day, we now have more efficient methods: Our fastidiously fresh milk is rushed from the farm in huge milk-tank trucks.

Being a modern efficient dairy company we wanted to milk our unused milkcans for all they're worth. So we decided to pull the old gussie-up-a-surplus-milkcan-with-a-little-paint-and-call-it-a-prize-trick. But it's a nice prize, and not the kind of thing you find kicking around your average, ordinary contest. So it should make everybody happy with the possible exception of people who take a dim view of contests to begin with.

How you win. Just tell us something that will make us give you a milkcan. It can be anything at all. Something funny, sad, obsequious, threatening, etc. It just has to be something original. For instance: "If anybody deserves to win something from you people, it's me because I always buy your products even when I don't need them." Or: "Give me a milkcan or I'll punch you in the nose."

No purchase is required to play. So get an official entry blank wherever fastidiously fresh Foremost products are sold and enter the contest.

Foremost



These 5-gallon milkcans stand 2½ feet high. They come with bright paint on them in the form of a design. Go to your favorite Foremost store to see them pictured in full color.

Clyde King Still Looking For First Victory

ATLANTA (AP) — San Francisco Giants Manager Clyde King was a little glum after his charges completed their second game and second loss—a 10-2 drubbing at the hands of the Atlanta Braves.

"There is not much you can do about a game like today's," King said after last night's defeat. "Just as long as you get out of it without getting any-one hurt, you have a chance to get them tomorrow."

FINALE TONIGHT

For the Giants, that tomorrow comes this evening when they take on the Braves again in the finale of a three game series. The Braves also won the National League season and series opener on Monday, 5-4.

The only bright spot in an otherwise disastrous evening for the Giants yesterday came in the first inning when Willie Mays streaked down the path from first to second base for the 300th stolen base of his career.

Mays, who has hit 587 home runs, thus became the first major league player ever to reach the 300 mark in both home runs and stolen bases.

The pitching loss was charged to Gaylord Perry, who settled down after some first inning wildness and pitched smoothly until the sixth inning when the roof fell in. The Braves were leading 3-2 when the inning began.

GRAND SLAM

A grand slam home run by Felix Millan, whom Perry had flattened with a high, tight curve in the first inning, knocked Perry and the Giants out of the ball game.

Knuckle baller Phil Niekro gave the Giants eight hits along the way, but he scattered them and the Giants never had a serious threat after the third inning.

Mays scored the games first run in the opening inning after a single and his record-setting steal. He crossed the plate on a double by Ron Hunt.

Willie McCovey accounted for the Giants' other run in the third when he powered a towering drive over the right field screen.

The Braves bunched four hits and a hit batsman for three first-inning runs. Orlando Cepeda drove in two of the runs with a single to center.

Bob Didier began things for the Braves in the sixth with a one-out single. Rookie Ralph Garr beat out an infield single and Felipe Alou was intentionally walked to load the bases.

Millan stroked Perry's first pitch over the left field fence for his first major league grand slam. It was only his fourth home run in the majors.

The Braves put together four hits, three stolen bases and a Giants error to get three insurance runs off Rich Robertson in the eighth inning.

The Giants left two men on base in the seventh, and a man on in the eighth, before Niekro put them down in order in the ninth.

The Giants will have tomorrow off after playing the Braves tonight. They open a three-game series in San Diego Friday against the Padres.

Sixto Rodriguez Now A Businessman

FILL 'ER UP — Any time you talk to an ex-fighter you can expect to hear the "I wuz robbed" routine so prevalent along cauliflower canyon. You know the line, their losses were "hometown decisions."

Well, Sixto Rodriguez of Fairfax is no exception, but I know of at least two setbacks in his professional career on which he had a legitimate gripe. Hell, "robbed" is putting it mildly.

The first such occasion happened nearly a decade ago but I remember it vividly because it took place on national television.

A little background music, maestro, as we go back to October, 1959. The camera focuses on a ring in Philadelphia, the City of Brotherly Love, where hometown hero Von Clay is meeting a young Puerto Rican from the West Coast, Sixto Noriego Rodriguez, in a 10-round light heavyweight tussle.

No Relation To That Other Guy

Rodriguez, a last-minute substitute for ailing Jesse Bowdry, is tabbed a 3-1 underdog to Clay, listed high in world ratings, who, by the way, is not related to the well-known mouth of the same surname.

But what transpires during 10 rounds is that Rodriguez boxes the ears off the heavy favorite, darting in and out in a classic display of boxing. Clay can't reach Rodriguez with a telephone pole. The Philadelphian thinks he's fighting The Shadow and I swear I can hear him crying, "Come out, come out, wherever you are."

The final bell rings and there is no question that Rodriguez is the winner in a big way. The A.P. and UPI give him the clear decision but the judges and referee, by some of the strangest scoring in the history of sports, call the bout a draw. Even the partisan Philadelphia fans boo the decision.

"Yes, I remember that one quite well," said Sixto the other day. "My manager, Karl Ashley, was so mad he said he'd never take another fighter into Philadelphia and he hasn't. I was so upset I cried. I just couldn't believe the decision. I figured I'd won seven of the ten rounds and most of the people at the fight agreed."

Bum Decision In Italy

"Kid Sixto," as he was known during his career, remembers another frustrating experience when he fought Italy champion Giulio Rinaldi in Rome in 1961. "Early in the bout I had him down and out cold, but the referee wouldn't start counting. We waited and waited but no count. Finally, Rinaldi came to and grabbed my legs to pull himself up and Ashley kept yelling at me to 'kick him, kick him.' Of course, I didn't and the bell saved Rinaldi. I honestly think I won that bout easy but the ref gives it to Rinaldi." News clippings confirm Sixto's opinion by noting that 15,000 Italians booed the verdict.

Well, things weren't all bad for the lanky Puerto Rican. He won more than his share of bouts and reigned as California champion for several years until he lost the title to Dean Bogany in Fresno on a split decision in 1962. Sixto's memory isn't too sharp, but he "thinks" his professional record was 35 wins, 5 losses and 2 draws. He split two bouts with Carl "Bobo" Olson and fought in such exotic places as Africa, Peru, Rome and Richmond until he hung 'em up about five years ago.

It's The Texaco Sign

Rodriguez has driven truck for the past five years until just recently when he purchased the Oak Manor Texaco Service Station in Fairfax.

He and his wife, Jacque, and sons Joey, 5, and Jason, 6 months, reside in Oak Manor. "If my sons want to become fighters it's okay by me," said Sixto, "but I'm not going to push them into it. One thing for sure, though, is that I will teach them how to defend themselves. The way things are going on in the world today, that's important."

I rehash just a portion of Sixto's career today because I know that his many fans here in Marin will be interested that he's a businessman now and will want to drive by the Oak Manor Texaco, shake his hand and, of course, say, "Fill 'er up, champ."

Hall Comes Back As Rupp Aide

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Joe Hall returned today to the University of Kentucky as assistant basketball coach—a job, it turns out, he never left.

Hall was hired last week as head coach at St. Louis University, but was released from that contract today. He told St. Louis officials that he wanted his release for personal reasons.

Kentucky coach Adolph Rupp revealed that Hall never had been off the payroll and is expected to resume his duties within a day or two.

"I told him to take a couple of days off and go fishing to see if he can't relax again," Rupp said.

Cadet Netters Win

San Rafael Military Academy evened its season tennis record at 3-3 with a 3-2 win over Concordia High in Oakland yesterday. The Cadets won it by sweeping the singles matches on wins by Stu Good, Craig Jordan and Jack Codd.

PREP BASEBALL SURPRISE

San Marin Leads League

They were serving upside down cake in the Marin County Athletic League baseball race yesterday.

Form went on a faraway trip as San Marin High School, the league's newest entry, took over first place all by its lonesome after whipping Drake 6-1 in San Anselmo, while pre-season favorite Novato was getting an early shock, 4-3, at San Rafael High.

The rest of the league closed up behind the Mustangs, as Terra Linda, an opening-game victim of San Marin, bounced back to dump Marin Catholic, 8-2, and Redwood evened its win-loss mark at 1-1 by nicking Tamalpais 2-1 in Mill Valley.

BIG TRIPLE

Hot-hitting Jim Thompson's bases-loaded triple in the second inning was all the Mustangs needed against Drake, now — San Marin collected six hits off Drake hurling, two by Ken Gnoss as Steve Francis hurled his second MCAL win, this one a five-hitter.

Clark Jamison got three of the Drake hits while Dave Alvarado drove in the only run with a double in the final frame.

Rafael Gallardo checked Novato (1-1) without a hit for five innings while his mates were breaking up a scoreless ballgame with a four-run sixth inning.

TOO LATE

Novato finally came alive, but too late. They got a run from Gallardo on a bases-loaded walk in the sixth and two more on Russ Dillon's two-run homer in the seventh.

Gallardo allowed just two hits while the Bulldogs were raking Novato hurler Steve McNally for 11 safeties.

Terra Linda bounced back behind a 10-strikeout, two-hit hurling gem by ace Mike Timmel and a nine-hit attack, most of which came in a five-run third inning.

TWO PAIR

Gary Trono and Dewey Forrey each had a pair of hits for the Trojans.

Redwood's Larry Hoffman allowed six hits in helping te Giants to their win while pinch-hitter Jerry Piro drove in the winning run in the seventh in-

MASTERS GOLF

Roberto Sentimental Pick

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Roberto de Vicenzo, the aging Argentine who gained his greatest fame in a triumph over tragedy, was a sentimental favorite to win the 33rd Masters Golf Tournament today, but the smart money was banked on the almost-forgotten Big Three.

Jack Nicklaus, the ominous Ohio strongboy who always ranks as the man to beat, four-time champion Arnold Palmer and tough minded little Gary Player — a trio that once dominated the game—were in the forefront of challengers as an elite field of 83 prepared for tomorrow's start of one of the world's four major tournaments.

CANDIDATES

Other top candidates for the famous green jacket that goes to the winner include Gene Littler, the season's leading money winner, Miller Barber, PGA champ Julius Boros, laughing Lee Trevino, the U.S. Open title-holder; Tom Weiskopf and Bill Casper, 1968 pro of the year.

"I could not cry—I did not keep it inside, De Vicenzo said of the scoring error that cost him a tie with Bob Goalby for last year's title.

"But I still do not feel that I lose the Masters," said the gallant gaucho.

De Vicenzo, 46 next week, shot a closing 65, seven under par on the flower-bedecked, 6,980-yard Augusta National Course last year for a share of the title with Goalby. But he signed a card that showed a 66 and, under the rules of golf, was stuck with the higher score.

NO COMPLAINTS

But he didn't complain then, hasn't complained since. And his unselfish stand in taking the blame made him, as he put it, "a little money and a lot of friends."

Palmer, Player and Nicklaus, however have won Eight Masters championships, 19 major titles and, for the first time in years, again form the top threesome.

Player, the tough little food fadist from South Africa, has overcome the lethargy that marked his play after winning the U.S. Open in 1965, won his second British Open Championship last year and again has the desire, the determination that made him one of the world's most feared shot-makers.

"I'm playing just super," he said. "I've never played better in my life."

TROUBLES

Nicklaus, not yet 30 but already acknowledged as probably the best the world has seen, has been troubled with an erratic driver, the warclub that is perhaps his best weapon.

But he took a week off to straighten out the kinks and, as always, has to be rated as the man to beat.

Palmer, a legend in his own time and the most magnetic personality the game has ever known, won his last major title in this tournament five years ago.

Palmer is troubled with an aching hip but, suddenly, is hitting the ball like the man who put the word "charge" in golf's dictionary.

"I'm hitting the ball better than I have in years," said the muscular millionaire, uncharacteristically grim and tight-lipped. "if everything holds together I may get it going again."

His practice rounds include a 63 and a pair of 69s.

GOOD START

Odom Hurls A's To Win

OAKLAND (UPI) — John "Blue Moon" Odom claims he doesn't enjoy pitching in cool weather but nobody is going to believe him after his opening night performance.

The 23-year-old righthander checked in with a sparkling three-hitter last night as the Oakland Athletics posted a 5-2 victory over Chicago before 23,610 fans at the Coliseum.

"I don't like pitching in cold weather," Odom said after the game. "I can't get loose."

GETS TOUGHER

But as the night went on, and the temperature dropped to the low 50s, Odom got tougher. After giving up single runs in the fourth and fifth innings, he retired 13 of the final 14 batters to record the complete game victory.

Only a walk to Bill Melton in the ninth inning kept him from zipping the White Sox down in order over the final 4 1-3 innings.

Odom, who struck out six, got hitting support from Dick Green, who clubbed a three-run homer in the fifth to wipe out the 2-0 Chicago lead.

Actually, the four-bagger came about only because of Green's inability to sacrifice two runners into scoring position.

TAKES SIGN OFF

"I gave him the bunt signal on the first two pitches," Manager Hank Bauer said.

"He (Chicago pitcher Gary Peters) was coming in high to Green and the infield was charging so I took the sign off on the third pitch," he added. "Besides, I still had Rick Monday coming up next."

But Green took advantage of a fastball and slugged a homer over the left field barrier at the 340-foot mark.

Green said Bauer's move did not surprise him.

"I was expecting a high, fast ball, got it and hit it," he said with finality. "But that's the kind of pitch you'd expect in a situation like that (two runs behind, runners on first and second and nobody out)."

SINGLES

After Peters had checked the A's on just one hit over the first four innings, Sal Bando opened the frame with a single that rolled through the White Sox infield when the third baseman and shortstop collided.

It was followed by one of Danny Cater's three hits and, in turn, by Green's clout.

Cater's next hit, bunt singles by Green and Monday, Peters' throwing error and Dave Duncan's sacrifice fly in the seventh gave Odom two more runs to work with.

The White Sox runs came in the fourth and fifth with the latter on Peters' home run just over the right field barrier at the foul line.

The two teams were to close out the series today with an afternoon contest. Jim Nash was scheduled to pitch for Oakland and for Chicago Joel Horlen or Tommy John.

HERB MICHELSON

They're The Same A's, Just One Year Older

OAKLAND — The complement of young men ensconsed in 25 Charles O. Finley contemporary uniforms this season has the appearance of a touring theatrical troupe that enjoyed a middling 1968 run, disposed of a few stagehands and understudies in the frost months and now returns with optimism to the same old stand.

Briefly, the A's ain't changed their personnel much.

The fellows who played with regularity in the final, heart-throbbing weeks of '68, when Oakland tried vainly to clasp fifth place to its sagging bosom, are still at their appointed positions.

AROUND THE horn, as we say, there is 1968 leading hitter Danny Carter at first, gusty Dick Green on second, phantom MVP Bert Campaneris at short and newlywed Sal Bando on third.

YOUNG DAVE DUNCAN, the muscular Texan still being touted as a lad "with a lot of power potential," will again be the first string catcher.

Talk about your instant replays.

But, ah, there is a difference. All of these fellows are now a year older and, presumably, wiser. Manager Hank Bauer fondly hopes that Monday and Jackson have learned to look at pitches and hit them rather than merely waving.

HE MUST yearn, too, for a more relaxed, but at the same time energetic Bando — who tends to wilt in the heat. And for Christmas methinks Bauer desired fewer fielding boo-boos from the wall-shy Hershberger and a lessening in Campy's ambitions to be a home run hitter.

BEHIND HIS First Eight, Bauer has three holdover utility men in the infield and two new back-up men in the outfield. Ted Kubiak can go at second, short or third; John Donaldson, who slumped from .276 in 1967 to .221 a year ago (when Green took away the job at second), is still around; Ramon Webster, who split the 1968 season at Oakland and Vancouver (where he hit .312), will be around to back up Carter at first.

The reserve outfielders are Tommy Reynolds, who hit .239 with the A's in Kansas City in 1965 and then plopped to .206 with the Mets in '67, and good-field, no-hit Joe Nossek, whose major credential is that he played briefly with Minnesota in their 1965 World Series against the Dodgers.

BACKING UP catcher Duncan are two more holdovers, old pro Jim Pagliaroni and Phil Roof. If the A's are fighting for first place in the West and Duncan still shows nothing more than potential, you can expect to see Pagliaroni getting steady employment.

Oakland's pitching is 70 per cent holdover. Gone from last year's 10-man staff are veteran relievers Diego Segui and Jack Aker, both grabbed by Seattle in the expansion draft, and bulky southpaw fireman Warren Bogle Jr., currently shedding baby fat in the Army.

THEY'VE BEEN replaced by rookies Rollie Fingers and Roberto Rodriquez, both righthanders, and lefty Jim Roland, a five-year veteran of little distinction purchased during spring training from the Twins.

Lew Krausse, the A's home opener hurler in '68, will now be the bullpen ace, a la Segui. Holdovers Ed Sprague and Paul Lindblad will join Krausse and the three newcomers on the relief staff. Which leaves us the four-man starting rotation of John Odom, Jim Nash, Chuck Dobson and Jim Hunter.

And they, too, are one year older.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

The 'New Guys' Triumph

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres wasted little time striking a blow for the National League's expansion clubs—for and against them.

The Expos and Padres made their debuts yesterday in the league's latest expansion with glorious victories, but, lo and behold, the victims were the league's first expansion teams —the New York Mets and Houston Astros.

The Expos swung first in the afternoon, flooring New York 11-10, leaving the Mets the only expansion club still looking for an opening day victory—after eight years. The Padres followed at night with a 2-1 decision over the Astros, who won their first opening game ever in 1962 and since have had trouble recovering their momentum.

In other games the Chicago Cubs and Ernie Banks outhomered Philadelphia 7-6 in 11 innings. Felix Millan slugged his first grand slam homer as Atlanta whomped San Francisco 10-2, and Pittsburgh struggled 14 innings to subdue St. Louis 6-2.

Montreal really unloaded against the Mets' Tom Seaver, Cal Koonce, Al Jackson and Ron Taylor as pitcher Dan McGinn, Rusty Staub and finally Jose Laboy walloped homers.

Laboy, a minor league player for 10 years, unloaded with two on in the eighth inning for a decisive 11-6 lead before a disappointed crowd of 44,541 in New York.

The Mets, last with the least, made it close with four runs in the ninth, three on rookie Duffy Dyer's pinch homer. New York outhit Montreal, 15-12, and to add to the insult, the winning pitcher was former Met Don Shaw.

"It's the darndest opening day game I've ever seen," said Expos' manager Gene Mauch. "Both clubs were keyed up. Both were loosey goosey with those bats."

The Mets also supplied San Diego with a winning pitcher—Dick Selma, who hurled a five-hitter, struck out 12 and had two of the Padres' four hits.

San Diego didn't even have a hit until Ed Spiezio homered with one out in the fifth to tie the game 1-1. The following inning, Wilson hit Roberto Pena with a pitch and one out later Ollie Brown doubled him home before the crowd of 23,370 in San Diego.

"We're not such a bad ball club," Selma said. "We've got better hitting than the Mets ever had."

To which Brown added, chuckling, "we might go undefeated."

In Chicago, Willie Smith's two-run pinch homer brought the Cubs victory in the 11th inning, but it was effervescent Ernie Banks who got them that far.

Ageless Ernie, 38 years young, stroked the 475th and 476th homers of his 17-year career for Chicago's first five runs, outdueling rookie Don Money of the Phillies, who hit his first two homers for four runs, the second with two on in the ninth. It was Money who doubled in another run to put the Phillies briefly ahead in the 11th.

Pinch-hitter Manny Sanguillen singled in Pittsburgh's two tie-breaking runs and Matty Alou drove in two more, all with two out, to beat the league's defending champions.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Seattle, K.C. Surprise Wins

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Early or late, expansion is great and the American League's two new clubs used opposing formulas yesterday to win their opening games by identical scores.

The Seattle Pilots struck early, erupting for four runs in the first inning and holding off the California Angels 4-3 in a night game at Anaheim. The Kansas City Royals scored on Joe Keough's bases-loaded single in the 12th and nipped the Minnesota Twins 4-3.

In another night contest, Oakland whipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2, while world champion Detroit trimmed Cleveland 6-2 and Boston edged Baltimore 5-4 in 12 innings during the afternoon. The New York Yankees and Washington were not scheduled.

Manager Joe Schultz of the Pilots, asked for comment on the surprising expansion victories, said, "It goes to show the owners did their job" by making some good players available. Seattle's Tommy harper led off against Jim McGlothlin with a double and Mike Hegan homered. Tommy Davis' single, a hit batsman, a walk and Gerry McNertney's single added two more runs.

The Angels scored in the second on three singles, on Jim Fregosi's homer in the fifth and on two walks, a sacrifice and an infield out in the ninth.

But they ran themselves out of a possible big inning in the second. Aurelio Rodriguez and Tom Satriano opened with hits. Hegan crashed into the right field wall and was knocked cold trying to catch Bobby Knoop's drive, but Knoop passed Satriano on the basepaths and was called out. Hegan suffered a sprained left wrist and bruised hip.

The Royals tied Minnesota 3-3 with two runs in the bottom of the sixth but couldn't win it until the 12th before 17,688 fans who welcomed baseball back to Kansas City after a one-year absence.

Harmon Killbrew's error opened the door for two unearned runs in the sixth. Joe Foy began the winning rally in the 12th with a one-out infield hit and a passed ball and two intentional walks around a wild pitch filled the bases.

Rookie Manager Billy Martin pulled in his outfield but Keough drilled the ball over right fielder Tony Oliva's head. Lou Piniella, acquired last week from Seattle, paced the Royals with a double and three singles. Graig Nettles homered for the Twins.

"I'd have to say this is my biggest thrill as a manager," said Kansas City's Joe Gordon. "The big thrill I got out of it was the way the guys were all pulling for each other. I'll tell you this—I'd have been real disappointed if we'd lost. The guys had battled so hard all day."

Denny McLain held Cleveland to three hits and Al Kaline walloped a two-run homer as Detroit opened defense of its 1968 flag. McLain, who was treated Monday for an inflamed pitching shoulder, blanked the Indians over the last seven innings after yielding a homer to Larry Brown in the first and another run in the second.

Norm Cash's two-run double off Luis Tiant tied the game in the third and Kaline connected two innings later. A record Detroit opening day crowd of 53,572 was on hand.

A sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Dalton Jones delivered the winning run as the Red Sox downed the Orioles before 36,100 in Baltimore.

Boston's Tony Conigliaro and Baltimore's Frank Robinson traded two-run homers in the 10th. It was Conigliaro's first since Aug. 8, 1967, 10 days before he was beaned by a pitch that threatened to end his career. Mark Belanger also homered for the Orioles.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

See A Mountain Lion? Shoot It With Camera

The Novato area has had another mountain lion scare with some bitter words being exchanged because no immdeiate hunts have been started for this animal.

Novato police, Marin Humane Society and probably the Department of Firsh and Game have been criticized for their apparent unconcern. I checked the area, hoping to see this animal, but found no trace.

The questions come up: "What if I had seen it? What would I have done?"

I wouldn't have shot the lion and I don't believe any other conservationist would either. These animals are a rarity, with probably only 600 or so left throughout the state. Bounty on this animal has been removed and the Department of Fish and Game is hoping for legislation that will make the mountain lion a game animal.

THIS WOULD mean that the lion would be protected most of the time, hunting for them legal only a month or so during the year. A hunter would have to be licensed and probably have a lion tag, just the way the present bear season operates.

Despite stories about persons being attacked or killed by mountain lions, we are able to find only one verified instance of such an occurance in California. In this instance, a school teacher and a boy in Santa Clara County died of rabies after the attack. The attacking lion was no more normal than a rabid dog.

FISH AND GAME people feel that mountain lions are harmless. The Fish and Gamer who would shoot a lion probably would be serverly criticized by all other Fish and Game personnel.

This, then, is the reason for apparant unconcern. Can you imagine getting to Novato, seeing a lion up on the hillside, and then refusing to shoot? The people who have the wildest thoughts about mointain lions would never understand. There's no law that says anyone has to shoot a lion, so what would one do in such a case?

WHEN THE bounty system was in effect, only four lions were bountied by Marin hunters from 1907 through 1967. An adult lion would kill about one deer per week, it would tear open the deer's stomach, eat its fill, usually about eight pounds of heart, liver, intestines and lungs. After feeding, a lion will usually cover the deer with brush and earth. No finds of such slain animals have been reported in Marin.

IF YOU ask me, I think no one in Marin County should worry about lions, but if you should see one, shoot it with a camera and you will have a collector's item for sure.

As for myself, I don't believe there is a lion in all of Marin County.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

4-9

What do you think about just before you start your approach? Do you catch yourself figuring your score — what it will be if you get another strike? Or worrying about the outcome of the game if you don't get a mark? Such matters should be put aside until you are back on the bench. Intense concentration on one thing — delivering the ball properly — should occupy all your thoughts as you get ready to throw.

Oaks Dump Denver In Playoffs

Warren Armstrong, a 6-foot-2 backcourter, used to pop them in for Wichita State in his college career.

He showed the Denver Rockets his skills in scoring 42 points to lead Oakland to a 121-99 road victory in the American Basketball Association playoffs last night. The victory gave the Oaks a 2-1 lead in their best-of-7 Western Division semifinal playoffs.

KENTUCKY WINS

Kentucky also scored on the road to take a 1-0 lead over Indiana in their Eastern Division semifinal playoffs. The Colonels, led by Darel Carrier's 40 points, beat the Pacers 128-118 at Indianapolis.

Armstrong also grabbed 15 rebounds in helping the Oaks down the Rockets in a rough game. Denver's Byron Beck and Oakland's Ira Harge got in a fight during the first half, although neither was ejected.

Among Carrier's 40 points were five 3-point baskets and 13 of 16 free throws.

Angry Housewife Beats Up Ref

LONDON (AP) — An enraged housewife ran onto a soccer field, brought down the referee with a flying tackle and started beating him up in front of 26,000 cheering fans last night.

It took five burly policemen—helmets knocked over their ears—to haul Mrs. Sheila West off the prostrate referee and lug her out of the stadium.

"We want a riot, we want a riot," chanted the fans.

Mrs. West, 30, went into action as Welsh referee Tom Reynolds blew the final whistle in a scoreless tie between West Ham United and Stoke City.

Stock Cars Open Season At Petaluma

Stock car racing opens its season at the Petaluma Fairgrounds Friday with qualifying at 7 p.m. and the first race getting underway at 8 p.m.

According to John Soares, race promoter, Petaluma once again will be linked with the Antioch track as a circuit which most drivers will follow.

Antioch was scheduled to open last Saturday night, but wet weather forced a postponement until April 12.

Soares said he expects Petaluma to continue its attendance growth this year. "On the stock car circuit in Northern California, Antioch was the top track and Petaluma was third," Soares said.

"With the growth in Petaluma and the area, I know the track will continue to attract large crowds," the former racer said.

SAME RULES

Rules for the sportsman and stocker classes are essentially the same as in 1968. The two classes will be run during the evening with heat races, trophy dashes, semi-mains and main events in both divisions.

One new rule this year is to limit the stockers to new drivers or those who haven't moved up to the sportsman class yet. Soares said that stocker drivers will have a certain number of years to move to the faster cars.

He added that nothing in the rules this year will help the machines go faster. "Those sportsman are going around that track at high speeds now . . . it's not a question of more speed now, but handling," Soares explained.

Seals To Host L.A. Kings Tonight

OAKLAND (AP)—The Oakland Seals and Los Angeles Kings, tied at 2-2 in the West Division playoffs, tangle at the Oakland Coliseum tonight at 8 o'clock in the fifth game of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup semifinal round.

Both teams drilled yesterday, the Kings being bolstered by centers Bryan Campbell and Skip Krake and defenseman Jacques Lemieux, all newly called from the Springfield, Mass., farm.

Red Kelly expected to move Brent Hughes, Los Angeles defenseman who suffered a groin injury in the fourth game was listed as a doubtful starter.

If he can't make it, Coach Rod Wall to defense and use Campbell at Wall's left wing position.

Seals' Coach Fred Glover complained that his club has been giving "a spasmodic effort" and expressed hope it could put together a consistent 60-minute game.

We're not a fancy club," he said. "We have to work hard and work hard all the time."

Without naming names, he added. "It hasn't been a case of all our men letting down subconsciously, but some do."

After the game, the two teams will fly to Los Angeles for the sixth game tomorrow night.

If necessary, they will return to Oakland for the seventh game Sunday. The winner faces St. Louis for the West title.

Santa Rosa Victorious Over Tars

Santa Rosa Junior College proved to be a tough cookie to crack for College of Marin's baseball and tennis squads, both of them hopefuls in their respective Camino Norte Conference races.

Santa Rosa used three pitchers to blank the Tar baseballers, 3-0, in Santa Rosa and the COM tennis squad took a 6;1 licking at the hands of the Bear Cubs in Kentfield.

Mike Terry hurled respectably for the Tars, giving up single runs in the first, third and seventh innings but the Tars left 11 runners stranded as three Santa Rosa double plays snuffed out rallies.

Larry Husbands was the only Tar to win in the tennis match as College of Marin dropped both doubles and four singles matches.

The Tar tennis team is now 3-2 in conference play while the Marin baseball record stands at 5-3.

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Athletics reached the 25-player limit yesterday by optioning pitcher Roberto Rodriquez to their triple-A Des Moines, Iowa farm club in the American Association.

The A's signed veteran reliever John Wyatt Monday and were one player over the permitted opening day limit.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

New Form 1040X Permits You To File An Amended Return

Wikel

We have a new form — 1040X.

This form is for filing amended returns.

You can still use Claim 843 or the old 1040 to amend an individual income tax return.

However, the IRS prefers that you use the new form 1040X.

1040X is used to amend individual income tax returns only and is not to be used for any other purpose.

IF YOU ERR

If, after you have filed your tax return, you find you made a mistake, you should immediately file an amended return. Claim the refund due because of the mistake, or pay the additional tax you owe.

If there is any additional tax due for 1968 and the amended return is filed and additional tax paid by April 15, 1969, there will be no penalty.

If you find that you would have done better to itemize your deductions instead of using the standard deduction, you can still amend your return. If you used form 1040A or the standard deduction for 1965, 1966 or 1967, you can still file an amended return and itemize your deductions.

If there is a refund due, an amended return will get it for you.

AT ANY TIME

You can file an amended return at any time and pay an additional tax.

You can file an amended return and claim any additional refunds any time within three years of the due date of the return you wish to amend, or within two years from the time you paid the tax — whichever is the longer period.

There is no reason for you to pay more taxes than the law requires or be timid in taking every deduction permitted by the rules.

Your tax return should contain a full and clear explanation of every item, and you should keep available all papers, bills, checks, receipts, etc., in connection with your return.

COMPUTER CHECKS

Uncle Sam has many sources of information concerning your income besides your tax return. In addition, returns are now being processed by computers and compared with certain standards established by the IRS.

More than ever before it is important that your income tax return be completely and accurately prepared. Your careful attention to the details of your tax return can save both you and the government needless time and expense answering questions the computers will generate if your return is inaccurate or incomplete.

Wall Street Has Second Good Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks carved out their second successive advance today. Turnover was heavy, primarily the result of some sizable large block transactions.

The UPI Stock Market Indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was up 0.55 per cent on 1,552 issues on the tape. There were 841 advances, 477 declines.

Among the large block issues were Occidental Petroleum and Interco, Inc., each trading blocks of more than 100,000 shares. Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line traded a block of almost 350,000 shares.

IBM and Control Data paced the electronic advance while Collins Radio, which is holding exploratory merger discussions with Honeywell, continued to edge higher after gaining more than 3 Tuesday. Honeywell moved in small fractions much of the session.

Burroughs, Magnavox, Fairchild Camera and Motorola also were on the plus side late in the day, as was RCA.

A few oil issues added more than a point, while steels generally tacked on fractions. Motors and chemicals were narrowly mixed.

Broker Is Must For Stock Sales

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I would like to sell some stock to help with my grandson's education. Do I send the certificates to the companies involved. Can you tell me anything about Maust? — B. B.

A. After establishing an account with a local broker he will sell the shares in question. The actual certiifcates must be in his hands within five business days after the date of the sale. Before disposing of your shares you should discuss with a trusted adviser which of your holdings should be sold.

As to your second question, Maust Coal and Coke Corp. is the object of an acquisition offer by Island Creek Coal, a subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum. The transaction at $30 million in cash works out to about $3 a share.

Q. In a year I retire from business (tailor) with $160 Social Security. My wife and I own three mutual funds, 1,800 shares in all; 25 Consolidated Food; 75 General Telephone and $20,000 of U.S. Savings Bonds. We have $3,000 in the bank and $9,000 in life insurance. Should I make any changes this year? — A. C.

A. Your life insurance is rather small but if you have your wife also protected in the ownership of the stocks, mutual funds and savings bonds, the income from these investments will take the place of more ample insurance coverage.

The important question now is the amount of retirement income available from your savings. You have not yet built up any one of your three mutual funds to the $10,000 they require for monthly withdrawal plan, although two of them are close to it.

You should therefore build up the two largest funds by using a small portion of your savings bonds added to the proceeds from redemption of the third fund. I would also switch your two stocks into Potomac Electric Power — a utility issue that yields over 5 per cent from a partially tax-exempt dividend.

We print any attorney's firm name 45,000 times
Legal notices in the I-J have some unusual legal mathematics. They reach 45,000 homes in Marin daily. Because the I-J reaches county-wide — 45,000 copies. Terrific equasion: SMITH, SMYTHE & SMITHE (or any firm name), multiplied by all I-J homes and readers, adds up to recognition for the firm from Petaluma to Sausalito!
Which is quite an aid in helping readers select an attorney when they need one. (And they better select one if they have a legal problem — or maybe have more problems.) To get back: I-J legal notices are also precisely, accurately handled by our legal-eagle advertising department. Makes life easier for everyone!

Bolinas-Stinson School Budget Includes Raises

A tentative 1969-70 budget totaling $217,453, including raises of 6 to 6.5 per cent for teacher was presented to the Bolinas-Stinson School District board last night. The current budget is $201,626.

The board set a budget meeting for 7:30 p.m. April 17 at Bolinas School. Supt. C. B. Larison said the tentative budget is based on the same number of employees, with the teachers' salary scale rising from the present range of $6.100 to $12,200 to a range of $6,500 to $13,010 in 10 steps.

The board got bad news from Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino on itis proposed $342,500 bond issue for new school facilities. Godino reported that the legal interest limit for school bonds is 5 per cent, and in today's market such bonds might not be salable.

Godino said legislation is pending to raise the limit to 6 per cent, and he will delay legal publication for the June 10 bond election as long as possible to see if the 6 per cent limit can be applied.

Trustee Edward Z. Lewis was named to select a committee to write pro-bond arguments for the June Ballot. The committe will meet at 8 p.m. April 22 at Bolinas School.

Appraisal reports were received for parcels the district wants for the proposed added facilities, and for the Stinson Beach school site. Appraisal was $5,700 for a half-acre parcel and house owned by the Longley family, $18,000 on a 1.8-acre Longley parcel, and $14,600 for a .73-acre parcel owned by the Born family. All adjoin the Bolinas School. Appraisal of the Stinson Beach school site was $29,670 for its 1.6 acres.

The district's plan is to put all classes on the Bolinas campus, financing improvements with the bonds and money from sale of the Stinson Beach site.

UNIFICATION — Ordered a letter sent to the County Committee on School District organization repeating four board positions: Opposition to a proposed three-way split of Tamalpais High School District, opposing a unification election this year, recommending any unification plan be decided by district-wide vote rather than separate vote counts in the three high school attendance areas, and requesting that the Bolinas-Stinson district remain in the Tamalpais High School attendance area in any future unification plan.

CONTRACTS — Accepted Larison's recommendation that 1969-70 contracts be offered all present teachers in the district.

TESTS — Was told Stanford diagnostic tests have been ordered for pupils in fourth through seventh grades. Other pupils are already tested under other programs.

Gearbox 'Bug' Stalls Train

BOSTON (AP) — The gleaming new TurboTrain, which made its maiden run between Boston and New York yesterday, was left at the station today because of a "bug" in its gearbox.

The bug was a frozen bearing brought about by a broken oil line in the gearbox of the jet-powered train.

"It is most embarrassing and unfortunate for all this to happen on the second day of service," said a spokesman for United Aircraft Corp., developers of the three-car unit.

The spokesman said it was the first time in 23 months of testing that such a problem had developed.

Majority In Accord: Tax Hike Needed

Five of the seven candidates for the Mill Valley School Board of Trustees agree that the district's tax rate must be raised.

John H. Cutler, William P. Everts Jr., Joyce Ladar, Dr. John R. Lee, and Robert E. Murphy are all in complete accord that the need for funds is great and immediate.

The dissenters, John G. Eliot and William T. Broderick feel that the present board of trustees hasn't told the public why the increase is necessary.

These views were revealed last night at a candidates' night at Alto School sponsored by the Alto Parent-Teachers Association.

All aspirants were asked to present their views on the proposed 75-cent tax rate increase, reports to parents and individual instruction for students.

Broderick said he "is not in agreement with the 75-cent hike in the tax limit and that the board should have held the line at 38 cents."

He further stated that "no tax increase means a curtailing of programs" but has no comment on which programs could or should be cut.

Eliot blamed his "lack of enthusiasm" for the increase on the "dismal failure of the present board to let the people know what the increased revenue will be used for."

Mrs. Ladar, supporting the increase said that "the district's reserve fund has been practically depleted. There's no money for maintenance, we can't buy needed equipment, and now that state funds have been cut off the kindergarten program faces curtailment."

"If the tax limit increase is approved then we will probably need 55 cents of it next year," she added.

Cutler, also touching on kindergarten cutbacks, stated that "currently students are attending 200-minute sessions and the teachers are working as a team with one working in the morning and another the afternoon but with an overlap during the lunch period. Without state funds we'll have to go back to 150-minute sessions with one teacher, unless the district has the money to replace the state contribution."

Dr. Lee said he feels "individual instruction and the tax load are directly connected.

"How can we have the educational system we want without the funds to implement it?", he questioned.

He further stated that "it all boils down to a yes or no vote when the issue is placed before the public and I see only disaster if the no vote wins."

Murphy declared that "without the additional funds the pupil load per teacher will have to be increased and we've been trying to accomplish just the opposite for several years."

"If teachers have more pupils individual attention must suffer and we'll be right back to regimented classrooms," he added.

Everts, only incumbent seeking re-election, touched lightly on the tax issue saying that he is "in favor."

He pointed out that there has been a "shift in educational philosophy and that the structure is now fitted to the individual rather than the group."

When asked about improving communication between parents and the board, Cutler said "board members have to listen and try to understand when talking to parents."

He proposed that members of the board sit at the district office one night each week on a rotating basis so that parents, or teachers, could have someone to bring problems to.

Eliot called for "more balance on the board." making it to represent all the community.

Mock Elected

Ernest T. Mock was elected chairman of the Corte Madera Sanitary Commission, secretary Portia Fitzgerald reported today. Mock replaces Herber C. Leney, who was president of the Corte Madera Sanitary District board which went out of existence April 1 when the district was taken over by the Town of Corte Madera.

Two Veterans, A New Face In Mayor Race

San Rafael's three-way race for mayor at the polls Tuesday will be a rematch of Mayor C. Paul Bettini and the man he defeated in 1965, Dr. Charles W. Aby, with Arthur F. Deiters rounding out the field.

Bettini is seeking his third two-year term as mayor. Aby resigned from the council in 1967 after serving 16 years.

Deiters, professional treasurer hunter, businessman and importer, is making his first bid for public office in San Rafael.

DR. CHARLES W. ABY, 63, is an osteopathic physician and surgeon and a former member of the state Board of Osteopathic Examiners.

He is a past president and charter member of the San Rafael Optimist Club and former lieutenant governor of Optimists International for the North Bay Zone.

Aby served as chairman of the San Rafael Sanitation District from 1953 to 57 and was chairman of the Bay Area Pollution Control District board while a member of the city council.

A native of San Jose, he moved to San Rafael in 1945 from Whittier, Los Angeles County. He received his O.D. degree from the College of Osteopathetic Physicians and Surgeons.

During World War II, Aby served as a Navy chief pharmacist's mate in the South Pacific. He lives at 20 Eye Street and has two children.

Aby supports passage for four propositions on the ballot which would convert the positions of city clerk, attorney, police chief and treasurer from elective to appointive positions. He is against a fifth proposition which would change the mayor's term from two to four years.

C. PAUL BETTINI, 51, is an insurance broker, owner of the firm of Allen, Bettini and Carter in San Anselmo.

A native of San Rafael, Bettini formerly served as a member of the San Rafael Board of Education for 11 years, six as board president.

He attended schools in San Rafael and Golden Gate College in San Francisco.

An Army veteran of World War II, he served three years in England with the rank of master sergeant. He is past president of the Marin County Insurance Agents Association, a member of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club, and Wilkins Post 37, American Legion.

He and his wife, Margaret, and four sons live at 23 Chestnut Avenue.

Bettini also favors passage of the measures to make the city clerk, attorney, police chief and treasurer appointive. He favors the proposition to change the mayor's term to four years.

The incumbent mayor favors another proposition on the ballot which would expand the library board, fire commission and parks and recreation commission from five to seven members. Deiters also is for the measure while Aby opposes it.

ARTHUR F. DEITERS, 63, is president of Hidden Treasure Inc., a Nevada firm; Northern California distributor for Rayscope metal detectors and operator of the Adobe Hut and Treasure Chest in San Rafael.

A native of New York, Deiters received a degree in business administration from City College of New York.

Deiters has criticized charter amendments which will appear on Tuesday's ballot to make the jobs of police chief, city attorney and city clerk and treasurer appointive, saying all city officials should be elected.

He also advocates limiting councilmen to two consecutive four-year terms.

Tam Climb Pays Buddha Tribute

A band of 95 hikers—seeking enlightenment much the same way Gautama Buddha did centuries ago — strode clockwise up Mount Tamalpais yesterday on a warm, spring day.

The hike marked what some believe to be Buddha's 2,532 birthday. It also was the fifth annual Mount Tamalpais march, begun by poets Allen Ginsberg and Gary Snyder. Neither was present yesterday.

The reason for the clockwise direction of the march is because that's the way Buddha climbed Snow Mountain in Nepal.

Dr. Neville Warwick, a 37-year-old medical administrator who studied Buddhism in India, led the hike, occasionally blowing into a conch shell which, he said, helped "bring the mind into focus."

Work-Furlough Convict Missing

A San Quentin convict due for parole on May 30 fled yesterday from Crittenden Center, a halfway house in Oakland, prison officials reported today.

They said Eddie G. Norman, who was transferred from the prison to the halfway house Feb. 27, left for his job in the East Bay yesterday but never showed up. He did not return to the house last night.

Norman, 27, was serving a five years to life sentence for armed robbery and six months to five years for auto theft from Los Angeles County. He had served at San Quentin since 1966, authorities said.

NICHOLAS M. SUNTZEFF
Resigns from Family Service

Suntzeff To Leave Agency

Nicholas M. Suntzeff, executive director of the Family Service Agency of Marin County since 1956, has resigned, Clinton Jones III, president of the agency board, announced today.

Suntzeff will enter private practice in family counseling, Jones reported, and will also serve as a consultant in the field.

The effective date of his resignation will depend on when a new director is found. May 15 has been set as a tentative date, however.

Jones reported the agency has grown in staff and caseload under Suntzeff's direction until it now offers a full countywide counseling service to families under stress. It is a member of the United Bay Area Crusade and has been prominent in the national family service movement under Suntzeff's leadership, Jones added.

A native of San Francisco, Suntzeff holds a master's degree from the George Warren Brown School of Social Work of Washington University, St. Louis, and a bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of the Pacific.

Suntzeff and his wife, Jean, have two children and live at 64 Presidio Avenue, Corte Madera. They plan to continue living in Marin.

Vatican Slates Cardinal Rites

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The secret consistory at which Pope Paul VI will create 33 cardinals, four from the United States, will be held at 10 a.m., April 28 in the consistorial hall, the Vatican announced today.

The Pope announced the consistory March 28. It is the fourth of his reign and will increase the College of Cardinals to a record 134.

The new cardinals will receive their red hats in a ceremony in the Sistine Chapel April 30.

The pontiff and his new cardinals will celebrate a mass in St. Peter's Basilica May 1. At this time the Pope will give the new cardinals their rings.

Tree Tests Voted

The Tamalpais Community Services District board last night appropriated $150 for test drilling and soil analysis to select suitable trees for planting in the beautification program in the Tamalpais Valley master plan.

Judge Refuses Dismissal Of Charges In Drug Case

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court yesterday refused to dismiss drug charges against a 19-year-old youth, although his attorney claimed that he had been "harassed" for almost a year by the district attorney's office.

Gary Sheppard Stevens of San Anselmo was first arrested May 28, 1968 in a raid on a residence at 3 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, where he was then living.

First a misdemeanor charge of LSD possession was filed against him, then that was dropped and he was accused of offering mescaline for sale and instead selling another substance.

In September that charge was dropped when the district attorney's office said it was not ready to proceed with the case, and a judge admonished the district attorney for the long delay in the case.

In February Stevens was arrested again but was erroneously booked on a charge of possession and cultivation of marijuana.

Now the charge has again been changed to the felony count of offering mescaline for sale and selling another substance. Newspaper publicity has accompanied the long saga, Stevens' attorney added.

Judge Roth ruled that newspaper publicity is not grounds for dismissal, and set a preliminary hearing in the matter for April 18.

Charge Reduced, Jail Set On Stolen Auto

A charge of auto theft against Bennette Miles Kellam, 48, of Fresno, was reduced yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to petty theft after it was learned that the stolen car was almost worthless.

Kellam pleaded guilty to the charge, and Judge Hadden W. Roth sentenced him to 10 days in the county jail with credit for time already served.

Kellam left a valuable antique car at an auto repair shop in 1967 to be repaired, his attorney said, and never returned the old car which the shop lent him to drive.

Kellam told the court that he got into a great deal of trouble when he was an alcoholic but that he now belongs to Alcoholics Anonymous and is attempting to clear up old charges against him.

He turned himself in to authorities, he said.

Toll Plaza Work On Board Agenda

A proposal for a $3 million expansion of the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza will be considered by bridge and highway district directors at 10 a.m. Friday in the administration building at the toll plaza.

The project would provide a new four-lane roadway west of the administration building for southbound traffic. The one-way toll collection system would be reversed to collect from northbound traffic.

The finance committee will meet first at 9:30 a.m. to review district investments.

In 1960, as workmen put final touches on a million-dollar United States embassy complex at Karachi, Pakistan, a plan to relocate the capital was announced.

College Tax Unpalatable, But Merits Approval

In 1962, trustees of Marin Junior College departed from usual school financing practices by asking a special tax, instead of a bond issue, to expand College of Marin in Kentfield and establish a second campus in Novato.

The board put before the voters a proposal for a 35-cent special tax, earmarked for capital outlay, to raise $11,305,000 in 10 years for these purposes.

The decision proved a wise one, for the special tax passed with about 2,000 votes to spare — but did not draw anywhere near the two-thirds approval necessary to authorize a bond issue.

NOW THE COLLEGE district is back with another special tax proposal, for an additional 77 cents for four years, which will be decided at the polls next Tuesday. This one is primarily to finish the job the 35-cent tax was supposed to have done.

What happened?

Quite a few things happened, but most importantly, the expansion and replacement program at the college in Kentfield proved far more expensive than the trustees or their citizen advisory committee expected.

In addition, enrollment took a spurt at Kentfield. It has doubled since 1962 and projections are for a much greater increase in the next few years.

In laying out the 1962 proposal, the college board said Kentfield improvements would include a new gymnasium, science building, student union, music-drama building, administration building, corporation yard, and athletic field.

The $11,305,000 which the 35-cent tax was expected to yield in 10 years was to pay for all these, buy 125 to 150 acres in or near Novato, and build facilities on the second campus for 1,500 students.

IT HAS BECOME increasingly obvious with each passing year that it will not do all these things.

The Kentfield improvements outlined in 1962 have mostly been made or are under way. Land has been bought for the Novato campus. But to put buildings on it by the 1973 deadline the board set seven years ago requires a lot more money. In fact, it requires about $12 million more.

To raise that amount in four years — more than the 35-cent increase was to raise in 10 —the board is seeking the additional 77 cents, which will virtually double the district's tax rate.

IT IS EASY to find fault with how the college district went about its Kentfield building program. There are ways in which expenses there could have been held down to make more money available for the Novato campus out of the 35-cent tax rate's yield.

However, what's done is done. The choice before voters in Marin Junior College District next Tuesday is not whether to approve or disapprove what has been done in Kentfield. It is whether to provide the money for the second campus.

If the 77-cent tax raise is rejected, it is likely to be long past 1973 before Novato gets an operating college. And despite what the staff of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education said in a report this year, the second campus will be needed by then. In fact, it is needed now.

This being the case, it would seem that — unpalatable as such a tax raise is bound to be — voters of the Marin Junior College District would do well to approve this one Tuesday.

The Coffee Ritual

There is something akin to mysticism in the ritual of drinking the first cup of morning coffee. This is especially true these spring mornings when the ritual is accompanied by the rising of the sun over the Marin hills.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead that he merely gulps this aromatic brew without pausing for a few seconds to savor its fragrance? On a cold morning inhaling the vapors from a steaming cup can gloriously warm a cold nose and give the spirit a lift.

Perhaps mysticism is the wrong word, but there seems to us to be some spiritual uplift beyond the undoubted stimulus of the caffine.

Bill To Control Credit Agencies Would Add New Bureaucracy

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — As California lives under a credit, rather than a cash economy, and is becoming more that way over the years, it is inevitable that there would be demands for regulation of the credit rating industry by government.

Such demands are advanced by Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, and Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, in a bill introduced in the legislature.

THE TWO legislators would create a new government bureaucracy to be added to the Department of Professional Vocational Standards, which now consists of more than 40 bureaucracries regulating various phases of business in this state.

They propose that the state license credit rating bureaus, provide for suspensions and revocations of licenses, fines and imprisonment, and collect fees for the costs of the new bureaucracy.

The measure also specifies the content of a credit rating report, and the procedures to be followed by the rating organization in securing information, and distributing such information to business clients.

The legislators claim that there is much invasion of privacy in credit reporting, and that errors cause great and irreparable damage in many cases.

GENERALLY, when a businessman extends credit to an individual, he wants all the facts concerning the man or woman who applies for credit.

The Hayes-Alquist legislation, however, appears to be heavily in favor of covering up at least a portion of the facts necessary to good credit prac tices.

There appear to be no abuses of credit rating system which could not be corrected by general law without the necessity of imposing a new bureaucracy on the state. For instance, a law requiring a credit rating organization to show its file on a subject to a subject on request, would dispense with the criticism of secrecy and inaccurate information. Other requirements could be added as necessary.

Required Religion Wrong In Army

I am not a member of the ACLU but I find I must answer your April 4 editorial and its attempt to discredit the effort of the organization to maintain separation of church and state in the Army.

I have no grievance at all with the continuance of church services and teaching of all faiths in the military on a voluntary basis, but the interjection of religion into mandatory courses is certainly a disgraceful abuse of military power that should be instantly rejected by those concerned with liberty and freedom of the individual.

What right does the army have to misuse the taxes of those with non-religious orientation in order to indoctrinate all servicemen with religion? Under our constitution, public money cannot be spent with any more justification for this purpose than it could be spent to promulgate anti-religious belief . . .

As to your supporting point concerning the Pledge of Allegiance, you must realize, upon reconsideration, that your argument won't hold water because it has already been decided that an individual has the right not to recite the pledge in public and must be given a free choice . . .

No Need To Fear Mountain Lions

Please inform Mrs. Joseph Patrick to allay her fears regarding mountain lions.

First of all, they do not eat people — children least of all, except brats.

Secondly, they kill once, and do not kill again until all of their kill is eaten up. Usually this means that they hide or bury their kill.

Thirdly, with impeccable good taste, mountain lions avoid humans of any size, and as they move with more swiftness and nature lore, humans seldom see them except, perhaps, when courting. Mrs. Patrick was a "peeping Tom" it seems, on one such happy event.

Lastly, mountain lions wandering the streets are infinitely safer than many, many, many humans doing the same, as is witnessed by our crime rate. Let her sleep well, let the children wander freely without fear of lions, but lock the brats up.

Offers To Arbitrate On Peace Symbol

I would be glad to arbitrate the Peace Symbol dispute. (Sterner, Medrano & Durr, April 12, "Semaphore Theory" vs. Woodward, March 27, "Anti-Christ Theory"). I am neutral. Upon a first glance at the symbol I was thinking it had something to do with the supersonic jet race — the swept-wing, long-nosed, sonic-boom thing, which I await with misgiving, as I do this "peace" thing we have coming up.

If I have to declare even a slight bias to qualify as arbiter, it is that with 100 billion dollars and the lives of 33,000 of America's finest in the game in Vietnam (not to mention Korea), it startles me a little to hear someone on our side holler "uncle." On the other hand, I agree with the "semaphore" people that Russia ought to junk her nuclear stockpile.

What do you think? Do I get the job? The parties may document their claims anytime.

Militarism Bad —But Sexuality?

Rev. Richard Wilmington in a recent letter regrets the attitude of parents opposing sex education in schools and decries the glorification of heroes and warriors in history as conducive to violence and cruelty.

Naturally children are confronted with the unpleasant aspects of human nature, and parents, schools and churches should train and guide them so they can separate the wheat from the chaff.

But when Rev. Wilmington advocates allowing children to "enjoy their sexuality," I can only hope that he is in a position to maintain an orphanage to take care of the bastards resulting from such unrestrained promiscuity and a clinic to treat syphilis and gonorrhea. Don't we have enough pregnant 11 and 12 year old now?

As to exposing our youth to violence in history, perhaps insteads of Napoleon's campaigns, it would be preferable to comment on the relative merits of Josephine vs. Maria Louisa as connubial mates, and intimate details of why some of Henry VIIIth wives pleased him more than others. Also perhaps the Marquis de Sade should be required reading.

As to wars and warriors, I have yet to see anything more beautiful, dignified, impressive and profoundly touching as the funeral services for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Candidate Backs Retirement Bill

I have read with a great deal of interest in your editorial page with respects (sic) to Assembly Bill 374, pertaining to change in retirement age for all safety members, police and fire, at age 60.

Opposition to retirement bill not warranted. Marin taxpayers are now paying for thousands of employees to retire at a decent age. Those include state highway patrolmen and Marin County employees.

Yet, some city leaders would hold their small amount of city employees back, but pay for thousands of others.

I urgently recommend citizens of Marin to back their safety members and write in favor of Assembly Bill 374.

Write to Wadie P. Deddeh, chairman, Assembly Public Employment and Retirment Committee, State Capital, Sacramento 95814 and to their local assemblyman.

Yorty Headline Found Offensive

The conjunction "and" is used to conjoin words of equal kind. Therefore, your headline of April 2, page 2 ("Los Angeles Runoff for Negro and Yorty") is most unfortunate. You mean "Negro and Caucasian," or you mean "Bradley and Yorty." I should say you want the latter, for it is obvious that the Los Angeles city councilman has a name.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A hayseed approached a vending machine, inserted a quarter, and pressed the button labeled "Coffee, double cream, and sugar." No cup appeared, but two nozzles began functioning, one pouring coffee, the other cream. After the proper amounts had gone down the drain where the cup should have been, the machine stopped pouring.

"Now that's real automation," nodded the hayseed admiringly. "This thing even drinks for you!"

A jaded professor of political science, bound for Tahiti to get away from it all, was pacing the deck with a new shipboard acquaintance. He announced confidently, "You live in the city governed by as mean, dirty, and corrupt a ring of thieves as there is in all the U.S.A." "How do you know where I live?" demanded the astonished new acquaintance. The professor puffed placidly on his pipe and answered, "I don't!"

THE DRUMMONDS

Series Of Actions By Nixon Designed To Bring About Peace

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — "But he isn't doing anything to get peace in Vietnam."

That's the big criticism of President Nixon—that he is letting the peace talks drift, has no plan of his own.

This isn't true. It is only appearance, and the appearance is deceptive.

THE FACT IS that Mr. Nixon has undertaken a series of concrete actions designed to get negotiations down to serious business and to get a settlement.

The reason it looks as though he is doing nothing is that he cannot publicly talk about what he is doing because public talk would impair prospects of success.

But if you add up his actions, it is evident that he is carrying out a carefully conceived plan to convince Hanoi that he wants a political settlement which both sides can accept. The President is increasingly persuaded that Hanoi is in Paris to settle.

MR. NIXON is sending a whole series of signals to North Vietnam and to the National Liberation Front which he believes offer inducements for them to begin productive negotiations. He is sending them without fanfare. They are:

1—He is intentianally holding back any hasty retaliation in response to Hanoi's violation of the understanding that there would be no major attacks against South Vietnamese cities and no military use of the demilitarized zone.

2—He is making it clear that there will be no resumption of the bombing except under great provocation.

3—He is encouraging private talks as the best way to negotiate.

4—He has helped persuade South Vietnamese President Thieu to reverse his previous refusal to negotiate directly with the Viet Cong.

5—He had Secretary of State William Rogers announce publicly before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the administration was seeking peace not through a "military victory" but through a "political settlement."

6—He is cutting back B-52 bomber raids in South Vietnam by more than 10 per cent. While economy is a factor, Mr. Nixon is cutting where he knows it will signal de-escalation of the war.

THESE ACTIONS were taken separately and were at no point publicly presented by the President as bearing on Vietnamese policy. But they bear crucially and concretely on Vietnamese policy, and Mr. Nixon let each speak for itself — to Hanoi.

These actions comprise the President's own approach to getting the Paris peace talks in motion and then moving them to a conclusion.

It deserves to be recognized that Saigon and Washington have already gone much further toward accepting North Vietnam's conditions for a peace setlement than Hanoi or the NLF have gone toward accepting ours.

The NFL demands that the elected government of South Vietnam be disbanded as a condition of settlement. Saigon doesn't demand that the NLF be disbanded but agrees that it can participate in the political process of the nation if it abandons force.

THE UNITED STATES has already accepted three of the four points Hanoi laid down: (1) early withdrawal of U.S. forces (whenever Hanoi will do the same); (2) neutrality for North and South Vietnam as provided in the Geneva agreement; (3) reunification on the basis of popular wishes.

The United States has not approved Hanoi's demand for an unelected coalition government in Saigon as part of the peace treaty; it favors free elections open to NLF candidates.

Far from being vague and indecisive, the Nixon approach to Vietnam peace is revealing itself to be both active and animate.

Federal Aid To Schools To Get Simpler Rules

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — "Reason and flexibility" are the basic aims of the administration's proposed revamping of guidelines on federal aid to schools.

HEW Sec. Robert Finch has given the go-ahead on revising the regulations under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act as the basis for eligibility for federal aid to schools. The extent of the changes is still to be worked out.

ORIGINALLY the guidelines were aimed solely at the South. Subsequently they were extended to the North as well, and ever since then hostility toward them in that area has been spreading and intensifying. An illustration is the recent passage by the Assembly of the New York State Legislature of a bill barring student bussing.

Lately, some of the strongest pressures for modifying the guidelines has come from midwestern members of Congress, who are outraged by instances of Negro disturbances and violence in schools and mounting clamor for separate facilities, teachers and so-called cultural courses.

Also being indignantly noted is the frequent direct connection between this separatist agitation and the extremist machinations of the revolutionary Students for a Democratic Society.

On one hand, Secretaty Finch has been barraged, harangued and harried by civil rights zealots, black and white.

On the other side, equally insistent are powerful southern and other elements that played key roles in the President's nomination and election. They are demanding extensive changes in the school guidelines.

Finch's lieutenants characterize his position as "middle of the road." They insist he intends to abide strictly by the letter and spirit of the law, while at the same time "exercising reason and flexibility."

SITTING PRETTY — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is genially shrugging off that $25,000 fine imposed by the House when it voted to seat him at the start of this session in early January.

The flamboyant Harlemite is doing that in two ways:

(1) Through the $12,500-a-year raise Congress voted itself, which will amount to $25,000 at the conclusion of this (91st) Congress. That is the exact amount of his fine.

(2) An estimated $90,000 Powell boastfully claims he will make by moonlighting as a lecturer at colleges throughout the country at an average of $1,500 an appearance.

As for being from the House from early January to March 13, then disappeared again, and only he knows when he will show up next.

Asked by a newsman how he explained his prolonged absence, Powell laughingly gave this explanation:

"I'm keeping busy. It's the House that isn't doing anything. When they get down to business, I'll be on hand."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

An Expensive ($15) Lesson In The State Of Marin Transit

This is the story of a $15 cab trip.

This is a plea for rapid transit in Marin.

For those of you who don't know already, it takes $15 for roundtrip cab fare from San Rafael to Novato. That's 72 cents more than it takes to fly by jet from San Francisco to Los Angeles, and you can buy a drink on a plane.

I HAPPENED to find out about the high cost of tripping in Marin County the other night when I was assigned to a meeting in Novato.

Having just come here from the East where they have things like subways and buses that run on occasionally sensible schedules, I admit to not being totally prepared for the vagaries of getting from here to there in Marvelous Marin.

This night, I checked with our Leave the Driving to Us people at about 6:30 p.m. The stationmaster was busy counting pufferbellies or something and a driver told me that buses go to Novato every 20 minutes at that time of the night.

IMPORTANT message to those who think buses go to Novato every 20 minutes at that time of night: They don't.

I returned to the station shortly before 7:10, figuring to catch the next bus. The next bus, I was informed, went at 7:58 — they run every hour, two minutes before the hour, the stationmaster said.

This meant, of course, that the only remaining transportation was by cab. Another I-J staff member happed to be close by to loan me a fin to make the journey. I thought that since in Washington, D.C., you can go anywhere you want for $1.50, six bills and some odd change would be enough to get to Novato.

IMPORTANT message to those who think six bills and some odd change is enough to take a cab to Novato: It isn't.

The fare, from Greyhound to the site of the meeting, was $7.50. "May I write you a check?" I asked as I reached into my pocket to discover my checkbook was not with me. The cab driver, being a sympathetic soul who once took his mother-in-law to dinner without his wallet, offered to take my $6, leaving me enough to take a bus back. I could contact the friendly driver when I got back to San Rafael to have him take me to my house so I could write him a check, I reasoned.

The meeting ended at 10 p.m. The last Greyhound from Novato leaves at 9:55 p.m. It didn't really matter because I found that all that change rattling around in my pocket totaled 14 cents.

IMPORTANT message to those who think a suit and tie is sufficient uniform to hitchhike in a county where drivers pick up all sorts of hitchhikers: It isn't.

Nor is 14 cents enough to even make a telephone call the few miles from Novato to San Rafael. At this point, I suppose I should admit that while it is embarassing to have to make a 15-cent phone call collect, it can be done.

I called the I-J, collect. The I-J called Yellow Cab. Yellow Cab took me . . . home, that is. For another $7.50.

MESSAGE to the people in New York, where you can go from Times Square to Shea Stadium for 15 cents, who are protesting any raise in subway fares: You have lost my sympathy.

The evening, despite the $15 fare, was not a total loss. I found a cafe in Novato where you can buy a 15-cent cup of coffee for two nickels and four pennies.

Come to think of it, there was another plus that night. I got to hear a school board candidate say she wanted the same kind of education for her kids for which "my ancestors fought in the Revolutionary War on the side of the North."

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Class Gone? Don't Fret! It's Just Visiting Africa

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

If the sixth grade class of your neighborhood school vanishes for a couple of months next winter, don't worry about it: the kids are probably on a field trip to Africa.

You think this is a joke? Well, maybe it is, but it would be possible if a bill introduced in the current California Legislature were to become law.

Assembly Bill 398, by Assemblymen Earle P. Crandall, R-San Jose, and Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista (a teacher) would authorize field trips anywhere in the world for sixth, seventh and eighth grade classes. Such trips are already authorized to Canada and Mexico, and Crandall and Deddeh want to extend that to other countries.

AMONG THE PLETHORA of education bills introduced in each year's legislative session are always some "far out" measures. This year is no exception. And AB 398 is not the only one.

Sen. Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, who is chairman of the Senate Education Committee, is back with a bill (SB 283) to require three days' written notice before a teacher may slap a pupil. A similar bill died quietly in last year's session.

"Far out," but perhaps making some sense in view of the cost of providing parking for the cars of teen-age students, is AB 244 by Assemblyman John V. Briggs, R-Fullerton. This would require that school districts charge fees for students and visitors parking at high schools. (Faculty members could park free.)

ANOTHER "ODDBALL" measure, although it has support from faculties of the state colleges, is AB 1026 by Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Los Gatos. It provides that the California State Colleges Board of Trustees "may designate any state college a state university and may change its name to reflect the designation."

Just as simple as that! Nobody, however, has put in a bill to permit the board of an elementary school district to change the name of any elementary school to high school.

The penchant of legislators for trying to dictate course content has cropped up again this year—not waiting long to make its appearance since the passage last year of the George Miller Jr. Act which freed curriculum from a long list of state-imposed requirements.

Senator Rodda is the author of the latest attempt at state dictation in this field. His SB 342 would require that all elementary and secondary schools and junior college include in history or government courses "instruction in the areas of labor-management relations, labor law, labor economics, and labor's role in the development of our free public school system."

A CLASSIC source of pin money for the brighter students at private prep schools would vanish if a bill proposed by Assemblyman Ray E. Johnson, R-Chico, were to become law. Johnson's AB 893 provides that only persons holding tutoring licenses issued by the county board of education may take pay for tutoring any person under 18 years of age.

It defines tutor as "to provide instruction, training, or discipline in any branch of knowledge, art, or activity, whether in a classroom, residence or elsewhere." Violation would be a misdemeanor.

It makes no exception for the child's own family, but papa could probably still get away with helping junior with his home work without a license, since any money exchange in that situation is generally from tutor to tutee rather than the other way around.

A RATHER different approach to home instruction is taken in AB 888, by Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto. This would count watching educational TV courses on the home "boob tube" toward average daily attendance at junior colleges which adopted the courses. Slightly mindful that this could run into money, Quimby's bill puts a limit of $100,000 per year on the state allocation to each district for such attendance. (There are more than 60 districts operating junior colleges in California.)

Perhaps there is no significance in the fact that Assemblyman Quimby, when not legislating, is a radio announcer.

Koreans mastered the art of movable metal type as early as 1403 — half a century before Johan Gutenberg used the same technique to print his famous Bible in Mainz, Germany, National Geographic says.

"I didn't know I was calling Barfy out loud 'cause I was in my dream."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, April 9, the 99th day of 1969 with 266 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1865, Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant at the Appomatox courthouse in Virginia as the war between the states neared an end.

In 1940 Germany invaded both Norway and Sweden in World War II.

In 1942 Bataan fell to the Japanese after two months of bitter fighting.

In 1963 the nuclear submarine Thresher went down 220 miles east of Boston in the North Atlantic. All 129 men aboard were lost.

A though for the day: General Grant said, "Keep the church and state for ever separate."

Two GIs Have The Same Name

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — It's hard for Richard Reese to convince his Army buddeies that he doesn't have a twin.

When Reese arrived in Vietnam, he was assigned to Company B of Fourth Infantry which already had a Richard Riece, from New York state.

Both men were born the same day — Nov. 28, 1947 — and both married the same day — in November, 1967. In addition their wives have the same first name — Gwendolyn.

Reese, a Louisvillian, said he and his counterpart also are performing the same duties.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Fatal Signal Produces Two Overtricks At Three No-Trump

Bigmay is sometimes defined as having one partner too many. This is something that bridge players know all about. It happened, for example, to Monroe Ingberman last month, smack in the middle of the annual contest for the Vanderbilt Cup.

NO HESITATION

Ingberman led the six of spades, and dummy's queen won. South, Ira Rubin, led a diamond from dummy to try a finesse with the queen. Ingberman played the four of diamonds without the slightest telltale hesitation.

Rubin cashed the ace of hearts, and Ingberman made his second fine play by dropping the queen. The purpose was to let East win any heart trick that South might have to give up.

Declarer continued with a low heart, finessing with East's jack. East could then safely return a spade, and Rubin stepped up with the ace. Now declarer had eight tricks and had to decide whether to try for his ninth trick in diamonds or in clubs after he had run the hearts.

FATAL SIGNAL

Left to himself Rubin would have repeated the diamond finesse, but on the last heart East threw the nine of clubs to tell his partner where the ace of clubs was.

Rubin checked himself just as he was about to repeat the diamond finesse. The whole thing smelled of herring, and Rubin has one of the best noses in the bridge business.

ASSURES GAME

After some thought, Rubin led a low club from the dummy. This play assured the game, and the fall of the king of diamonds later gave declarer two overtricks.

Ingberman, one of the politest of the experts, did not thank his partner for the fatal signal with the nine of clubs. Politeness has its limits.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K 10 9 6 3
♥ Q 5
♦ K 4
♣ 10 7 6 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to show a major suit of four or more cards if he can.

Your hand is too strong for a bid of two spades, but not quite strong enough for a jump to three spades. You expect to jump to four spades if partner can bid two spades; but if partner bids two hearts or two diamonds, you will bid two spades. This indicates about eight or nine high-card points with a five-card spade suit of no great merit.

HARLEY A. McASKILL
Re-elected mayor of Novato

McAskill To Keep Job Of Mayor

Mayor Harley A. McAskill and Mayor-Protem M. E. (Babe) Silva last night were re-elected to those positions on the Novato City Council for another year's term.

In making the nomination, Councilman J. Wayne Womack said that he felt that the mayor should serve at least two years as it takes six to eight months of his first term to really get organized in the position of mayor.

The vote was 4-0 with McAskill abstaining.

Action Is Postponed On Salary Proposals

The Novato City Council last night postponed until April 22 consideration of salary increases and fringe benefits for city-employees, after hearing City Mgr. Charles A. Brown recommend a 5 per cent increase across the board except for police officers for whom he recommended 10 per cent.

The projected cost of salaries, including regular annual raises for next fiscal year was given as $665,605 by Brown. The proposed additional increases would cost another $38,443, for a total of $694,048 for fiscal 1969-70, according to Brown.

Police Chief Robert J. DiGrazia said that the police department has not been up to authorized strength because the salary scale was lower than in competing cities. He said the department was now four men below authorized strength of 26.

Councilman J. Wayne Womack asked for an estimate projecting the city's income for next year and how much, if any, this salary increase would add to the tax rate.

Employees also asked for fringe benefits of a $5,000 group life insurance policy for all employees, uniform allowance for police clerks who now furnish their own, and reimbursement of tutition and books where employees go to school to better their job knowledge, especially police.

Womack also asked for an estimate on the cost of these programs. This estimate is to be furnished to the council before the April 22 meeting.

The Novato City Council Also:

CITY HALL — Took a half-hour tour of the remodeled city hall to view the changes in offices. The work cost $1,300, Brown reported. Councilman M. E. (Babe) Silva told Brown that it was customary in Novato for all capital improvements to come before the council and this had not been approved by the council. This view was backed by mayor Harley A. McAskill and the other councilmen. Brown said that he would do that in the future.

CAR WASH — Referred back to the planning commission consideration of a car wash on the east side of Seventh Street south of Lee Brothers market for Cloudburst Car Wash Inc. The council asked for a realignment of the lot and the elimination of gasoline pumps.

ORDINANCES — Passed ordinances which were introduced at its March 25 meeting. These were: approving the master plan for 900 acre Bahia development at the end of Bugeia Lane; permitting veterinary clinics in professional and commercial zones where they had been limited to industrial zones; permitting the planning director to issue permits for conforming signs; annexing four acres on the south side of Center Road at Eucalyptus Avenue, and rezoning from general commercial to commercial with highway frontage regulations all of the triangle north of Warner Creek, east of Diablo Avenue, west of South Novato Boulevard, and including the Tresch triangle.

STOP SIGNS — Approved removing stop signs on Lamont Avenue at the Northwestern Pacific Railroad because the new automatic traffic control has been installed by the railroad.

APPOINTMENTS — After half an hour closed meeting, McAskill appointed and the council ratified appointments to committees, and subcommittees for the downtown study committee. These were Max F. Cerrini of 1 Thornton Court, to the downtown study committee; Steven Loeggering, a senior at Novato High School and Peter Sorensen, a sophomore at San Marin High School as alternate teen-age representatives on the beautification committee; John Trumbull of 20 Drakewood Lane to the ambulance study committee; Alfred W. Bowman of 827 Reichert Avenue, Donald R. Telford of 31 Gregg Place and Alfred J. Villa of 491 Wilson Avenue to the appearances subcommittee; Cerrini, John Nunes of Redwood Highway North and F. James Picchi of 16 Carmel Drive, Stanley Cazneaux of 7 Rowland Court, Phillip E. Pratt of 34 Truman Drive and Mickey Horn of 7 Thornton Court to the land use subcommittee.

APPLICATIONS — Asked for persons interested in serving on the planning commission to apply at the Novato City Hall.

Scanner May Help Blind See

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Scientists at Pacific Medical Center hope to aid the blind with a device that substitutes 400 plastic points for eyes.

Drs. Carter C. Collins and Paul Bach-Y-Rita demonstrated the machine in San Francisco yesterday, but it still is in the laboratory stage.

In brief, a television camera translates what it scans into impulses which are tapped fingerlike onto a blind person's back through the plastic points. Points are spread over 20 inch by 20 inch square.

It enables a blind person to feel what others see at a distance and gives him some idea of dimensions and distance.

At present, the device weighs 100 pounds and costs $90,000. The doctors hope within 10 years to refine it so that it will weigh 5 pounds and cost $1,000.

Swiss Dynamite Blast Toll Now Set At 12

AARAU, Switzerland (AP) — The death toll of a blast at the Dottikon explosives factory rose to 12 today as three more bodies were recovered from its ruins.

At least three other workers are missing and presumed killed in the explosion of approximately five tons of dynamite yesterday.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Continued Depression May Need Physician's Expert Aid

VAN DELLEN

Everyone feels blue now and then, but it is not normal to be down in the dumps day after day. Many individuals who are depressed do not know what is wrong. The physician is consulted because the man or woman feels isolated, misunderstood, and is easily upset by things that never fazed him in the past.

Mild depression ought to be considered whenever the individual tires easily for no apparent reason, or becomes overly concerned about himself.

He knows something is amiss because his appetite wanes or disappears, and he loses interest in almost everything he enjoyed doing in the past.

READING A BOOK is a chore because he cannot concentrate long enough to enjoy the most interesting novel. But the mildly depressed often continue to read newspapers, listen to the radio, and watch television.

The majority have no difficulty falling asleep, but they may have bad dreams or awaken before the alarm goes off. Others cannot get to sleep.

Zest for living is lost. The violinist no longer fiddles, and the gardener lets the weeds take over. Thoughts of suicide remain vague unless the depression deepens.

These men and women need sympathetic understanding by the physician, who will try to give them an insight into their mental state. Meanwhile, the doctor may prescribe a sedative, a mood elevator, or a tranquilizer to boost the sufferer over the hump.

A SEVERE depression may require lithium carbonate, an experimental newcomer on the scene for psychiatric disorders.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

BLANCHED FINGERS

Mrs. W. N. writes: My fingers become white when I drive a car in cold weather or wash my hands in cold water. Please advise.

REPLY

Whiteness is caused by spasm of the blood vessels (Raynaud's syndrome). Avoid getting chilled by wearing warm clothes and lined gloves. Do not use cold water. Medical or surgical treatment rarely is indicated unless the condition becomes progressively worse or too uncomfortable. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on Raynaud's disease.

CHEMICALS AND LIQUOR

A reader writes: Modern liquor, for commercial reasons, is being filled with various chemicals. I wonder if these substances cause cirrhosis of the liver?

REPLY

Since most victims of liver cirrhosis are heavy drinkers, alcohol and not the minute ties (congeners) is responsible. In some countries, starvation and inadequate diets are the most common causes of cirrhosis of the liver.

SMOKE FROM BURNING LEAVES

L. C. writes: Can inhaling smoke from burning leaves cause cancer of the lung?

REPLY

In general, irritants — including atmospheric pollution and cigaret smoke — play a role but exposure over a long period of time is necessary. It is highly improbable that the occasional inhalation of smoke from burning leaves will produce a malignancy.

HYPERTENSION AT 13

Mrs. T. F. writes: What would cause hypertension in a 13-year-old boy? He has terrific headaches as a result of this disorder.

REPLY

Kidney disease or a congenital defect such as coarctation of the aorta is the most likely cause. He may have malignant hypertension. This lad needs expert care.

Today's Health Hint — Active children need close supervision when the house is most disorganized.

Cleric Admits Carrying Gun

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rev. Jesse James, founder of the Mission Rebels, a widely acclaimed youth group, pleaded guilty yesterday in Superior Court to a charge of illegal possession of a gun.

His plea came after the district attorney's office agreed to leave his prior felony convictions — all more than 10 years old — out of further proceedings.

James, an ex-convict, founded the youth group in the Mission District in 1965 and three years later received an award for "the most constructive and significant contribution to the community life of Northern California."

Before coming West in 1961, he had spent a dozen years in prisons and reformatories.

Record Snowpack Begins To Melt

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The "greatest" on record Southern Sierra snowpack is beginning to release the heaviest snowmelt runoff in recent years, the state Department of Water Resources said yesterday.

Director William R. Gianelli said that his latest surveys of the massive pack disclosed that "almost all previous records of snow content have been broken in the Central and Southern Sierra."

"The snowpack has reached maximum accumulation and is just beginning to release what is forecasted to be the heaviest snowmelt runoff of recent time," he said.

Pleads Innocent

Robert Peter Sundberg, 26, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to possessing dangerous drugs Sunday at an alleged narcotics party at 9 Taylor Street, San Rafael. A preliminary hearing was set for Friday.

GEORGE SCOTT
Honored by TB Association

MRS. CHARLES BANFIELD
20-year volunteer worker

Marin Tuberculosis Leaders Re-Elected

The Marin Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association last night re-elected Edward W. Bullard Jr. of Ross as president of the association and Dr. Merall Roth of Greenbrae as vice president.

The association also re-elected William D. Fussleman of San Anselmo as treasurer and Mrs. Corwin Hinshaw of Belvedere as secretary.

During the association's annual installation dinner at the San Geronimo Country Club last night, the group honored two long-time volunteers, George Scott of Mill Valley, a former president of the association, and Mrs. Charles Banfield of Fairfax.

Scott, who was president from 1949 to 1952, was honored for 25 years distinguished service and Mrs. Banfield was recognized for 20 years service.

Association members were told at the meeting that the 1968 Christmas Seal campaign, which closed March 31, received $56,846, an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year. It was the association's biggest one-year jump in contributions and marked the third highest percentage increase in California this year.

New directors of the association's board named last night were Dr. Albert White of Mill Valley, Dr. Milton K. McDowell of Greenbrae, Mrs. Ozell Gibson of Tiburon, Mrs. Dorothy Jones of Marin City, John Levinsohn of San Rafael and John Lighty of Larkspur.

Named to their second two-year terms on the board were Col. John R. Archdeacon, Mrs. Esther M. Dearth, Mrs. Hinshaw, Mrs. Charles Kelly, Mrs. Donald Mason, Dr. John Plank, Dr. Roth, Scott and Dr. Royce Truex.

Bullard, Fusselman and Dr. Charles Keyes were elected to a third two-year term. Rotated off the board for at least one year after six years' service were Bruce W. Anderson, Milton Feldstein and Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Crash Burns School Bus In Petaluma

A Petaluma City Schools bus was destroyed and the driver injured yesterday at 9:15 a.m. when it struck the rear of a truck on Highway 101 near the Corona Road interchange after delivering students to Rancho Cotate High School.

The driver, Edwin W. Noriel, 45, of 121 Payran Street, Petaluma, was treated at Petaluma General Hospital for burns of the hands and face. The California Highway Patrol reported the gas tank of the bus exploded when it struck the rear of a parked state Division of Highways truck on the side of the road. Noriel told patrolmen his attention had been diverted.

Officials at the Petaluma City Schools office said the bus served all secondary schools and was en route to the bus garage when the accident occurred. A total loss, the bus was purchased in 1956 for $14,000, but officials said it would cost $24,000 to replace today.

Loophole Is Given Nazi Murderers

LONDON EXPRESS SERVICE

BONN — Thousands of alleged "desk-murderers" in West Germany may escape punishment — because of a major legal oversight.

"Desk-murderers" is the description given to Nazis, who at the stroke of a pen or the passing of an order, were responsible for murder or mass murder in the Hitler era.

Deputies in the Bonn Parliament failed to realize that they had benefited such criminals, when they recently passed an apparently innocuous law on traffic offenses.

Its introduction was accompanied by a change in West Germany's penal code.

The revised version prescribes that defendants who cannot be shown to have acted with malicious intent must be given lenient sentences.

Although this change was designed to apply to people accused of minor offenses, it was incorporated as a general principle in West Germany's criminal legislation.

Under the amended penal code, the maximum penalty that Nazi murderers could face would be 15 years' jail.

But, in effect, much more important is the fact that the change also implies automatically that the criminals concerned can no longer be punished at all under German law as more than 15 years have elapsed since they committed their crimes.

Should a defendant have abetted in the mass murder of Jews and should his malicious motives not be proved, he would come under the West German act of limitations and could no longer be convicted.

This rule would not apply, if the West German judiciary had taken action against the defendant during the 15-year period.

But most Nazi "desk murdrers" have not yet appeared before the courts.

Adalbert Rueckerl, head of the Ludwigsburg Center for Tracing Nazi Crimes, has said that the new legislation was likely to help a great number of "desk-murderers" since their malicious intent could, in general, not be proved.

At most they could expect to be treated merely as accomplices.

So the new law must inevitably have considerable legal repercussions since there are at present open proceedings against or legal investigations into the alleged Nazi crimes of 15,000 West Germans.

This situation can only be changed by the federal supreme court in Karlsruhe. It has to declare in a basic ruling that the legislation applies only to traffic offenders — and not to Nazi criminals.

Convicts Set Talks With Novato Youth

Novato high school boys will begin a series of three meetings starting this Saturday with the Squires, a group of San Quentin inmates who are trying to steer young people away from a life of crime.

The meetings will be held at the prison on three successive Saturdays from 9 a.m. until noon, according to police officials who are sponsoring the program.

Coordinating the trips, for which adult chaperones are needed, are Sgt. R. Richard Courrier of the Novato Police Department's juvenile division, and James S. Rose, a Novato resident.

"This will be a no-holds-barred type of discussion," Rose said of the planned meetings with the convicts, adding that it hopefully will give the young men who participate a clearer picture of how grim prison life is.

Courrier agreed, saying, "The idea behind it is to let the young people see the life inside a prison, taking some of the so-called glamor out of it." Police hope such activities will serve as a deterrent to crime, he said.

Courrier said interested youths and their parents should contact the police department for details of the program.

About 50 San Quentin inmates currently are members of the Squires. The name is an acronym for San Quentin's Utilization of Inmates' Resources, Experience and Studies.

One-Year Shutdown Urged, Opposed For State's Expo

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An Assembly Ways and Means subcommittee has recommended this year's California Exposition be dropped to provide time to revise plans for the financially troubled show.

The subcommittee yesterday agreed with Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post who testified the exposition should be suspended for a year while the Legislature and the Reagan administration decide on its future.

But Cal Expo Manager Thomas Bair and Ralph A. Nissen, chairman of Expo's executive committee, warned that canceling the 1969 program would jeopardize efforts to interest private groups in taking over operation of Cal Expo from the state.

"If you lock up the plant we've got a dead horse on our hands and we'll find there will not be any interest in it," Nissen said.

He said the executive committee was negotiating with several private groups interested in assuming control of the exposition which finished its initial season last year with a $1.5 million deficit.

But Post said interest of a private group in Cal Expo would only be reduced if Expo facilities deteriorated.

The recommendation was forwarded to the full Ways and Means Committee for consideration.

Meanwhile Assemblyman Pete Schabarum, R-Covina, submitted a bill reestablishing a nonprofit corporation to operate Cal Expo, reducing the executive committee from 19 to 3 members and making the exposition a separate state department.

Bagley Proposal On Tossing Word 'Incumbent' Advances

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — A bill to eliminate "political incest" in local government won its first legislative test yesterday with unanimous approval by the Assembly Elections and Constitutional Amendments Committee, despite strong opposition by lobbyists for special districts.

The bill, by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would require that an appointee to any governing body be ineligible to use the term "incumbent" or any comparable designation on the ballot or use the ballot position assigned to an incumbent.

It was aimed at special districts which arrange for members who do not intend to run for re-election to resign before the end of their terms so that appointees replacing them can run as incumbents, Bagley told the committee.

The bill would apply to any appointee joining a district board at any time, regardless of how long he served before he came up for election. The only exceptions would be appointees filling seats vacated by death, disability, or appointment of the previous incumbent to another position.

Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks, unsuccessfully suggested that the bill include city councils and county board of supervisors as well as special districts and school boards, but Bagley argued that incumbency on city and county boards was not as much of an advantage as on "low visibility" districts which receive less publicity.

He noted that two incumbents on the Marin County Board of Supervisors lost their bids for re-election last year.

"I'd love to solve all the problems in the world at one time, but I can't," said Bagley.

Opposing the bill were the East Bay Municipal Utility District and the California Municipal Utilities Association.

Norman Woodbury, lobbyist for the association, argued that appointees should have the privilege of designating themselves as incumbents on the ballot. "Why should he (an appointee) work his heart out without any of the benefit of all the work he's done?" Woodbury asked.

The committee answered his question by recommending the bill.

A similar bill by Bagley was vetoed without explanation last year by Gov. Ronald Reagan after lobbyists for irrigation districts pushed for its veto.

The committee also recommended Assembly passage of a Bagley bill to allow the residence of a wife to be determined independently of her husband's address. At present, a wife's address is assumed to be that of her husband's unless they are legally separated.

The present law was termed "the most insulting thing I've heard of" by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Oakland.

A third Bagley bill before the committee fared less well.

The bill, requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, would allow county clerks to tabulate registered voters either by address or by alphabetical order. Under current law, the tabulations are only by street address, but an alphabetical list would help political parties and candidates campaign in rural areas, Bagley told the committee.

Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney noted before the committee that voters often turn out to be miles apart when listed by address in rural areas. Also, he said, many rural areas have no street address.

Assemblyman Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach, argued successfully, however, that giving county clerks the power to decide which type of tabulation to use "could make for problems in cities."

Committee action on the bill was deferred to May 6 to give Bagley time to amend it to the committee's satisfaction.

Behr Warns Of Menace To Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Progress may be the death of the bay if defined strictly in dollars and cents," a former Marin County supervisor declared last night.

Attorney Peter Behr was speaking at an American Society of Civil Engineers meeting in behalf of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's regional plan.

The plan calls for strict limits on the filling of the bay and for open space for recreational purposes.

Warren Linquist, an associate of New York banker David Rockefeller in a plan to develop the San Mateo County shoreline, opposed the regional plan.

The proposals, he said, would be "restrictive on the kinds of development which are necessary to support the economic base of the plan."

Revised Angel Island Plan Due Hearing

A revised preliminary master plan for Angel Island State Park, eliminating extensive facilities that arroused strong opposition, will be presented to the state Park and Recreation Commission at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the supervisors' chambers in the Civic Center.

The commission's staff proposed a $2.5 million development of the park in December at a meeting in San Francisco, but the commission ordered it trimmed down after citiens objected to the proposed convention facilities, restaurants, hotels, auditorium and other commercial facilities.

Sacramento's Bills Blizzard Comes To End

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The legislative landslide is over. The campus rioter, downtrodden female and abandoned pet are mentioned in the more than 800 measures which made it under the deadline for the unrestricted introduction of bills.

The deadline was yesterday and, as it passed, the Assembly clerks recorded the last of the year's 2,342 bills from the 80 members. In the 40-member Senate, more than 1,425 were introduced.

The final tally approached 4,000, easily surpassing the 3,362 proposals by last year's legislature.

COLLEGE POLICE

One of the major proposals turned in yesterday is, in effect, a warning for dissident collegians. The measure by Sen. James E. Whetmore, R-La Habra, calls for the creation of a California State College Police Department.

It would be set up by the office of the chancellor with a $1.5 million appropriation.

Assemblywoman March Fong an Oakland Democrat, believes she is living in a male-oriented society with which women are sometimes unable to cope.

She has, therefore, proposed that $300,000 be set aside for the formation of six pilot centers to counsel women on career and educational opportunities.

PET OWNERSHIP

In the pet department, animals which are brought to animal care facilities and aren't claimed by their owners within 21 days would be officially listed as abandoned and become the facility's property, under a bill by Sen. Walter Stiern, D-Bakersfield.

Drunk drivers and prostitutes would also be dealt with more harshly under proposed legislation.

Democratic Assemblyman John Vasconcellos of San Jose introduced a bill requiring a blood test and two breath tests for suspended drunk drivers. Fines, jail terms and license revocations could result from above-normal blood alcohol levels.

A bill by Assemblyman Leo T. McCarthy, D-San Francisco, would require that prostitutes convicted of a second offense parole. A third conviction would mean a mandatory 180 days without parole.

CHURCH TAXES

Churches also face the prospect of a thinner pocketbook under a measure by Democratic Sen. Anthony Beilenson of Beverly Hills.

He proposes that churches no longer be exempt from paying taxes on unrelated income.

Shoppers wondering about the freshness of the bread or milk they're purchasing will look favorably upon other bills by Beilenson, which would require packages containing those items to be dated.

Victims of disasters such as floods, earthquakes and landslides can follow the progress of a measure by Assemblyman David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, which would require insurance firms to provide coverage for such occurrences.

Voters Retain Billboard Curbs

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) — Voters yesterday rejected an effort by business to liberize the seaside resort's limitations on the size of signs and billboards.

They defeated, by a vote of 2,955 to 2,517, the referendum sponsored by business groups which said the law was too strict.

Voters also approved a $600,000 storm drain and elected three city councilmen—incumbents Richard J. Werner and Samuel Leask, and realtor Mrs. Anne Garni, a member of the American Independent Party.

Salaries To Be Studied Tonight

Trustees of the Dixie School District will continue salary negotiations with the teachers negotiating council at tonight's meeting.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. at 35 Trellis Drive, Terra Linda.

Trustees will also set up a schedule to interview candidates for the job of superintendent. Supt. Dennis B. Willis will retire in June.

The superintendent will also ask the trustees to authorize an application for $86,000 in National Defense Education Act funds, to be used in science, mathematics, history, reading and humanities.

Culture To Be Keynote Next Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweeping changes in public television, aimed at bringing more cultural offerings and diversity to noncommercial airwaves, have been announced by the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

The major reform announced was creation of a Public Broadcasting System — PBS — within the next 90 days to manage the National Educational Television Network and its 140 member stations.

PBS, an arm of the corporation, will have broad power to allocate producers time on the NET network.

The plans were announced by John W. Macy Jr., the corporation president, and Fred W. Friendly, television consultant to the Ford Foundation, the largesh contributor of noncommercial television. This year the foundation provided about $13 million.

The first programming change involves a new two-hour Sunday night program of news, public affairs, music and drama, premiering in October, to replace the controversial Public Broadcast Laboratory, which will leave the air in May.

For 18 Sunday evenings during the summer, NET will provide musical programs, including visits to the Berkshire Music Festival at Tanglewood, Mass.; the Summer Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., the Newport, R.I. Folk and Jazz Festivals, the Monterey Jazz Festival from California and the Cleveland Summer Festival.

The "Summer Showcase 1969" series will be produced with a special Ford grant of $1 million, Friendly said.

Other grants will create a television opera company and a New York Television Theater. A Negro variety series from Harlem, "Soul!," will be discontinued.

Macy said the new PBS would bring about "the most effective distribution of programming and insure that our growing network truly serves the stations and the total audience."

The changes were announced on the eve of the annual meetings of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters and of NET affiliates.

Zita Will Head Fire Association

Other officers are Robert Lewis, vice president; Edward Schulze, secretary and Melvin Saulenas, sergeant-of-arms. New board members are Guido Mariana, Robert Mariani, Rolfe Stahlbaum, Bettencourt and Lewis.

Harvard March Protests ROTC

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — An estimated 500 Harvard University students marched to the home of President Nathan M. Pusey early today, demanding abolition of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the college.

The students marched about three blocks and forced their way past campus police and through the gates in front of Pusey's home. Some bags of water were dropped on the marchers by other students along the route.

The youths chanted "ROTC must go," "Smash ROTC," and "Stop the expansion," referring to expansion of the university in Cambridge.

Historic Sign Getting The Ax

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Another bit of Mississippi River lore is about to pass away.

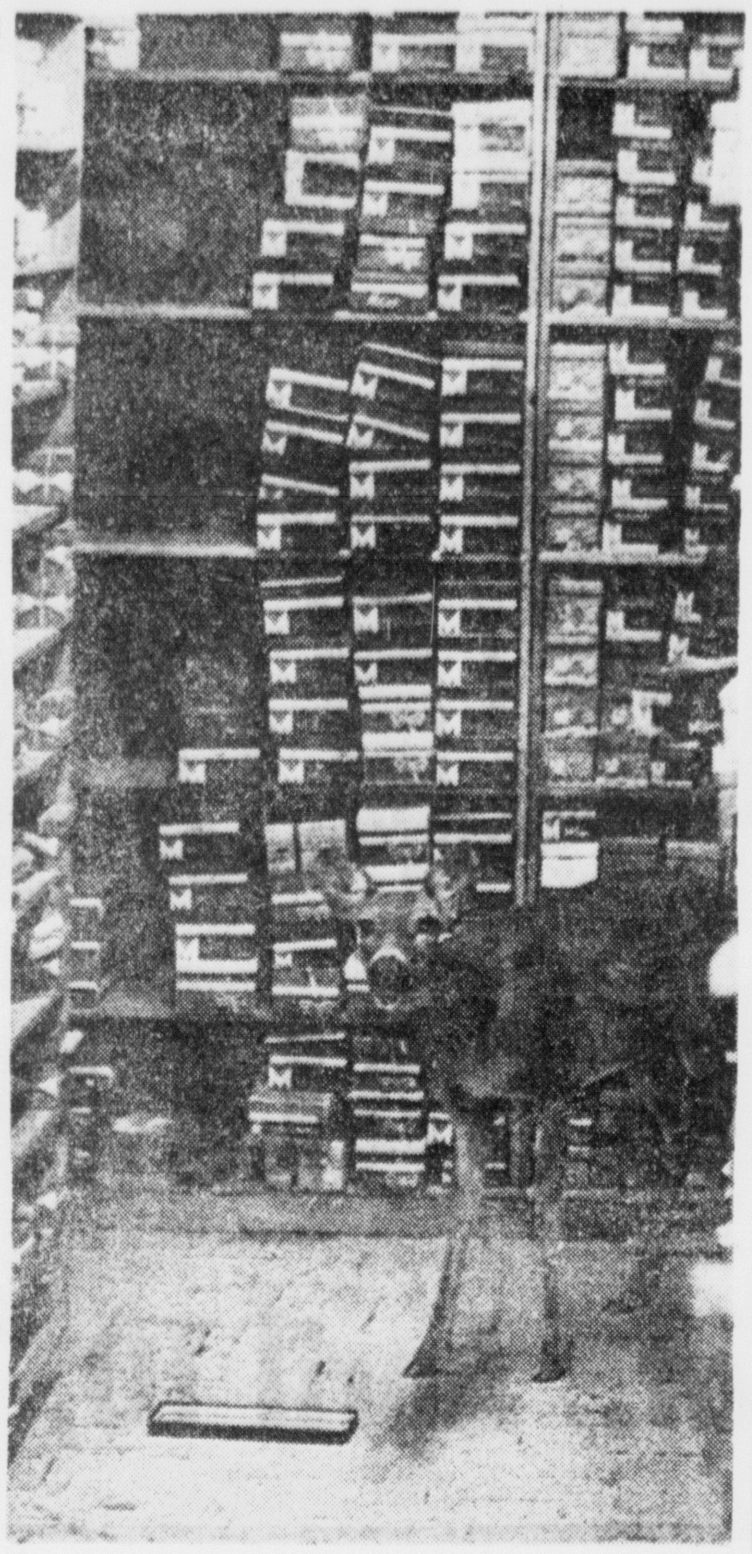
For years the U.S. Engineers has posted the river stage on a large sign on the bluff overlooking the river for the benefit of the pilots guiding the big Mississippi towboats.

But that information is available now — much faster — by radio and the engineers say they are thinking about removing the sign.

Permanent Problem

LONDON (AP) — The telephone cable manhole in the middle of busy Brigstock Road is staying where it is despite complaints that traffic backs up for miles whenever the cover is taken off. Telephone officials say it would cost 50,000 pounds ($120,000) to move the hole a few yards to the sidewalk.

People once thought that the moon's surface was so smooth and crystalline that like a mirror it reflected the continents and seas of earth. Actually, the moon's face is incredibly rough.



NOW WHICH ONE?

A wild doe finds herself hoofing it through the stock room of a shoe store in Pompton Lakes, N.J. The deer somehow wandered onto main street of the community, became frightened and ran into the store. She was held at bay until Humane Society workers could snare her. (UPI Telephoto)

Girl Car-Hops Still Forbidden

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has a woman prime minister and women members of Parliament, but the country just isn't ready for girl car-hops.

City officials turned down a proposed drive-in restaurant in downtown Connaught Place because the plan called for girl waiters.

Police Do Not 'Fuel Around'

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Police received a frantic telephone call from a man reporting fuel oil in the basement.

"Hose it down," police suggested.

"One hundred gallons?"

The police advice was to telephone the oil company.

Snap Shooting Only For State's Tigers

JAIPUR, India (AP) — For the next five years, you can shoot tigers in the Rajasthan state with a camera but not with a gun.

The state government had to issue this ban to save from extinction the 10 tigers still left in its forests.

Zoo Sends Out An Urgent SOS

GAUHATI, India (AP) — Wanted: Birds for the inmates of the Gauhati Zoo.

This advertisement was sent in the form of an SOS by the zoo authorities to the Delhi Zoo. It has sought matches for a gray langur, capped langur, Capuchin monkey, Indian civet and binturong.

While the problem basically is of too many bachelors, the Gauhati Zoo had, for a change, also sought a male Japanese sika deer for the female one it has.

City Is Loser In Vehicle Accident

No Red Tape For Emergency Funds

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Economuc Security Department has decided to cut red tape when a family needs emergency public assistance quickly.

TODAY'S YOUTH

Scouts Also Do Their Own Thing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hippies and Boy Scouts have in common: hanging together with youths the same age, dressing in a uniform manner, and doing their own thing.

But consider also the differences. Some of the divergent definitions of the two show in a UPI poll of 15 youths named top scouts by the Boy Scouts of America for 1969.

SCOUTS' VIEWS

Some of the scout comments:

"A scout is clean and a hippie is not."

"A Boy Scout tries to put God first, others second and himself third. A hippie puts himself first, himself second, and himself third."

"A hippie is trying to escape from society; a scout tries to better it by bettering himself."

"A scout is actively involved in trying to help solve the problems of the world while a hippie is actively involved in condemning others for causing them."

"A hippie seeks to escape from society and a scout by his participation and involvement in society can improve it from within rather than from without."

"Both have viewpoints about important subjects but they vocalize in different ways. A hippie does not accomplish anything worthwhile through his objections but a scout puts his beliefs in action through programs for community betterment."

HIPPIE OPINION

The typical hippie, when asked, puts a "square" label on scouts and scouting programs. The top scouts reacted to this by saying:

"Any organization that can assemble 12,000 youths from all over the world (as at the seventh annual World Jamboree) and produce friendship and fun rather than war and rebellion can be called anything one chooses—why not promising?"

"How can it be square? Isn't this a better future than to be found mugged or dead on a hate (sic) Ashbury street corner or a Greenwich Village cellar?"

"Scouting isn't square because it rounds a guy out."

"If having fun without escaping from reality is square, then call scouting square."

WHOM TO FOLLOW?

Hippies, it has been shown, follow their youthful leaders and peers more than the dictates of their parents or teachers.

The top scouts gave a clue to their success by saying parents, teachers, churchmen and scout leaders influenced them most.

Another clue to their hitting the scouting instead of hippie trail came when they were asked to name the people they admire the most.

Fathers, mothers and scoutmasters got the most votes.

A typical response by one naming his dad among the three persons he admires:

"My father — because of his sacrifice expressed for the family by hard work. Also for his understanding of youth problems and his fair sense of justice."

Mothers named were hailed for "unselfish devotion and love to the utmost degree."

Others on the list of admired included:

President Nixon for "his sense of responsibility and his recovery after defeat."

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., "for the courage of attempting to overcome seemingly impossible odds."

Bob Hope for displaying "generosity when he really doesn't have to."

Dr. Ralph Bunche, undersecretary general of the United Nations, for "his keen social concern and endless quest for peace and harmony among all people."

A scout who put his mother on the list came up with a good job description for mothers everywhere.

"She is a critic who shows me my faults and who helps me to improve myself in every way," he said.

A POWER GOLD MINE

Imperial Valley Waits To Be Tapped Of Precious Hot Water

WASHINGTON (SS) — In 1849, the cry in Northern California was "gold."

In 1969, another type of underground fortune is coming to the fore, this time in Southern California. Buried under some 2,000 square miles of the Imperial Valley are vast underground reservoirs of extremely hot water (500 to 700 degrees F.) that could supply all the pure water and electric power needs of nearly all of Southern California for several decades.

The Imperial Valley, extending 70 miles north of the Mexican border and 30 to 40 miles wide, is one vast potential steam field.

Basically, all that's required to make it productive is to drill wells, thereby unlocking the geothermal energy of the water, which would be released in the form of steam.

The steam in turn could be used to drive generators to produce electric power. Or it could be condensed into distilled water for agriculture and drinking. The heat from the steam could also be used indirectly to make more distilled water by applying it to sea water, one pound of steam producing 10 pounds of water.

Right now studies are being conducted by the University of California at Riverside under the direction of Dr. Robert W. Rex to map out the potential sites for geothermal wells. In a report to be released next month, Dr. Rex will announce the discovery of the Imperial Valley.

The exceptional feature of these fields is their low salinity. High salt content is the spoiler for the wells. If the brine is too salty — 20 to 30 per cent — it cannot be used for water. The newly discovered well sites contain two to three per cent salt, the same amount found in Mexican wells, which usually have far less salt than American wells.

To obtain distilled water, a well would be drilled. This releases the pressure, and the extremely hot water flashes into steam. As if in a giant percolator, the water boils at the bottom of the well and sends up steam and slugs of water which are separated by a centrifugal separator, the steam coming out one pipe, the brine coming out another.

The flow rate from the most productive Mexican well, near Mexicali, is two million pounds of steam and brine per hour, or 140,000 barrels a day, the highest flow rate of any well in the world.

There is enough potential energy in the steam fields to end the squabble between California and Arizona over rights to the Colorado River, their common boundary and the major source of water and power in that area.

The dispute grew out of early historical rights that governed claims to the Colorado River. The result is that today that Imperial Valley alone is entitled to one third of its share of the river's water. However, if the potential of the steam fields in the Imperial Valley — a truck gardener's paradise — could be realized economically, California would no longer need all of its share of the river.

"The economics of the situation are appealing," says Dr. Rex. "The cost of heat for electricity and desalination would run from one to two cents per one million British Thermal Units, whereas heat from nuclear sources is around 20 to 22 cents and from oil and gas it is closer to 30 cents."

Ultimately, the final answer regarding utilization of the potential steam fields is a matter of economics. After the present exploration phase is over — probably by fall — and the potential sites for steam fields all mapped out, economists will have to sit down and figure out if the area can be exploited economically.

The main question is whether the water obtained from the wells would be economically competitive with the water from northern California, Oregon and Washington. At present, the cost of geothermally desalinated water is much greater than Colorado River water, but as the Southwest area grows and its water needs increase, the potential fields will become economically competitive with the sources of northern rivers that would otherwise have to be called upon.

Since the steam fields offer a source of water close at hand, the transportation costs involved in bringing water down from the Columbia River, for example, would work in favor of the fileds.

The steam in the fields could last from one hundred to several hundred years. But after that time, the fields need not be abandoned because the heat would still be present in the ground, and it could be used to distill sea water. To make such an operation profitable, however, would require bringing in massive quantities of sea water. Dr. Rex envisions dredging a channel 150 miles inland to Yuma, Ariz.

75 Per Cent Live In City's Slums

NEW DELHI (AP) —Of an estimated 3.8 million persons living in India's capital, 75 per cent live in slums, according to an Indian town planner.

The situation is not improving, he claims, in that 50,000 migrants annually pour into the city in search of work.

Aid Is Due The Deformed

German Feature Service

Not only will the living malformed thalidomide children in Germany — some 5,000 were born in that country alone between 1960-1962 — be subsidized by the pharmaceutical firm that made the drug, but all deformed children in Germany will receive aid.

Since 1962, the Medical Tribune says, the firm of Chemie Grunenthal has been "dissuaded by counsel from offering financial assistance because of the possibility that the action would be misinterpreted as acknowledgment of guilt" and thus prejudice the case against seven executives now on trial. Now it is planned to make the donation to all malformed children through another organization rather than directly to avoid what might appear as an admission of guilt.

Nearly half the thalidomide babies died at birth or shortly thereafter. From 2,000 to 3,000 children were born in the other 45 countries where thalidomide was sold.

Chemie Grunenthal is one of the largest drug manufacturers in West Germany. However, the defense attorney, Frank Dahrendorf, says that if a monthly subsidy is established for each child and all costs are assumed by this company, it would cost $500 million, an amount that would bankrupt the firm. Under German law, however, the plaintiffs could take over the company and make it work for them, using the profits to pay the fines and monthly payments.

Whatever the outcome of the trial, the West German government has changed its laws governing drugs so that a longer period of prescription trial will be required before they can be sold over the counter.

'Aged' Vegetables Tossed At Workers

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Aged vegetables, overripe fruit and a few bottles were tossed from apartment windows on construction workers and their machines digging a foundation on the midnight-to-dawn shift.

"Well, I suppose people do get upset by the noise," shrugged one official. The workers take care to wear safety helmets.

Locusts Once Again Plague The Mideast

LONDON (UPI)—The plague that the Pharaohs themselves knew and feared is on the march again. Over vast areas of the Middle East and Africa locusts are stripping all things green from the countryside and in many places leaving famine in their wake.

From the Somali Peninsula reports reaching the Anti-Locust Research Center here speak of new locust swarms breeding while the damage is still being assessed in the Spanish Sahara, Mauretania, Mali, Niger, Chad, The Sudan, Egypt, Ethiopia and Nigeria.

HORMONE REACTION

The plague now under way was detected by scientists of the center more than a year ago. In Mali and Niger they noted that the harmless grasshopper was swarming, a hormone reaction set off by numbers that turns him into a marching-flying terror able to eat his own weight every day.

Since individual swarms can contain more than 20,000 tons of the insect the damage is obvious. And more than one-fifth of the land area of the world is threatened.

"They cover 3,000 miles in a few months," said a spokesman for the center. "And where they have been they take everything. The farms are left barren of everything above ground. Of course the locusts themselves are edible but they are a poor substitute for green crops."

Britain has sent some $420,000 in extra aid to the infested areas. Some of this will be used for a light airplane and vehicles used in the control program.

FARMERS WARNED

The spokesman said the center's early warning system had helped cut down the damage from the swarms by giving some farmers a chance to switch to root vegetables safely out of reach of the locusts.

It had also enabled antilocust patrols to use insecticides which kill the grasshoppers at an early stage before they develop the voracious appetites of locusts.

"The plague is in full swing at the moment," the spokesman said. "We can only advise threatened areas to keep spraying and take whatever other measures seem appropriate until it subsides. These things can go on a long time—years."

The Anti-Locust Detection Center here is where the mystery of the locust was solved. For centuries its life cycle was obscure. Then a former director proved that locusts did not spring from the breeding sites on the ground—grasshoppers did.

But when enough grasshoppers got together they were transformed into locusts — a startling insect phenomenon.

A pinhead of material heated to the temperature of the sun's core — 16,000,000 degrees Centigrade — would emit enough heat to kill a man a hundred miles away, National Geographic says.

EXECUTIVE TIPS, TOO

Beware Of That 'Television Elbow'

LONDON (London Express) — A junior may say of his boss: "He's a pain in the neck!" It's an unfeeling remark, because that's just what he may be suffering from.

A pain in the neck is now said to be a status symbol — a symptom of working at a big executive desk. That's why H. J. Friend, of the Unilever Corp.'s medical department, suggests in a British medical publication "The Lancet" that the bigger the desk the bigger the risk. Executives, he finds, suffer from neck pains that old-style clerks with "sensibly inclined surfaces" never knew.

It makes you think, doesn't it, of all the new hazards of modern living? We're all living longer, so long as we recognize the new dangers. That friendly box, for instance — the instant entertainment of hundreds of millions of people now that TV is spreading rapidly all over the world — has a lot to answer for.

Adolf Lienert of Dusseldorf University, West Germany — an expert on sleep problems — says that if you want to sleep healthily, don't go straight to bed after watching an exciting film on TV — particularly a crime film.

"TV viewers tend to identify themselves with the action in a film about policemen and criminals," he says. "The tension they feel during the show carries over into their sleep if they go to bed immediately after switching off their set. They may be able to fall asleep quite easily, but they are not able to enter the secondary, and most valuable, deep-sleep phase."

According to the U.S. Public Health Service, some color TV sets there may give off dangerous X-rays. In a test of 131 color TV sets it was found that 38 — or 29 per cent — showed radiation above safe limits, and in a few cases 10 times as much. Health service experts have therefore warned Americans that sets need constant service and adjustment.

In Britain, America and Canada "TV elbow" has been diagnosed. This is a numbness of the nerves caused by too much pressure on the arms of chairs while sitting absorbed by the box.

Too much mesmerism in front of a flickering screen may lead to "TV headaches" and "TV snow blindness," with eye damage among children persistently watching too near the screen. And in some cases they can develop "telly-jaw." It is a potential malformation of the face caused by children habitually watching the set while lying on their stomachs on the floor with their chins propped in their hands.

More widely spread is the malady of "TV legs." It may cause children to suffer from lack of flexibility in the lower limbs and lower back through insufficient exercise.

Among their parents — particularly fathers — too much sitting in front of the set means that the least active bodily regions — abdomen, thighs, buttocks — become storage "banks" for unused calories, especially among those who eat a lot of sweet and starchy food and who drink heavily.

So the heart, with less demand on its services, adjusts to the inactivity and decreases its output. The stage is being set, with deteriorating arteries, for coronary heart attacks.

The tough-minded can switch off the telly — but it isn't so easy to escape from noise. No doubt that it's bad for you. Experiments in several countries have proved that intermittent and irregular noises can raise blood pressure, cause palpitation, upset digestion and destroy concentration on work.

In a French experiment, 500 soldiers were subjected to a continuous noise of 90 decibels — the sound of a heavy truck revving up hard. The noise lasted 15 minutes but for an hour afterwards 350 of them suffered from a double margin of error of vision and 375 were made temporarily color-blind.

Architect Malcolm Wells, who has designed a factory for 150 people below ground at Southampton, Pa., in the United States, says "The only way people of the future can keep their senses is to work and live in noise-free facilities. Human beings will soon become incapable of withstanding the row that goes on around them."

Motoring in heavy, noisy traffic — or any prolonged driving in difficult and frustrating conditions — may cause increasing physical strain which could be the starting point for one of the stress diseases such as duodenal ulcer, migraine, colitis or asthma. And a cramped, can't-straighten-the-knees driving position may cause serious leg and stomach pains.

There is a mental danger added to the physical risks of car driving. Psychiatrists are treating a new "phobia" — fear of getting stuck in a traffic jam. The patient is given a tranquillizer and then has to play a kind of psychological charade, acting out the situations which he fears in the streets, beginning with the least frightening.

Some other risks are very peculiar to our time, as an Eccles, Lancashire doctor found when a young man came to him complaining of soreness round the navel. He had an infection caused by pressures frum ultra-tight trousers — and a guitar. The youth — a pop group guitarist — was cured with antibiotics, and had some advice on dress.

Some women, trying out a new eye-shadow in the morning, have found their eyes red and puffy by lunchtime. There are an increasing number of women suffering from contact dermatitis — caused not only by sensitivity to cosmetics but to the habit of spitting on a mascara brush or of touching the eyes with varnished fingernails.

Soap has been around for nearly 2,000 years, but some scientists think there's danger lurking in that dish.

Dr. Carl-Gustaf Carpel, a Swedish scientist says: "Soap tablets spread infection in homes, hospitals and factories. They retain dangerous bacteria which live and breed for an hour after the soap has been used."

Some researchers, while acknowledging that soap cuts down the risk of infection being spread, claim that it makes the skin even more susceptible than usual to fresh contamination because our skin acts as a natural barrier against both germs and dirt entering the body system. It doesn't really need soap, as it contains an antiseptic emulsion. Additionally, the acid on the skin surface helps to protect the skin's second layer — but soap breaks down the acid buffer system.

Research has shown that it takes an hour and a half for the skin to return to its normal acid level after washing with soap — and in that time the germs have a clear way into the lower skin.

Affluence has brought one newer risk to Britain, now drinking more than twice as much champagne as eight years ago. Eye hospitals are treating more cases of eyes injured by popping champagne corks. The cork blasts off at 30 miles an hour!

Bus Conductor Is Pal To Children

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Plump, bespectacled bus conductor Peter Geldenhuys, 27, has for the past eight years lavished most of his spare time and a good deal of his Rands 50 ($70) a week pay on Johannesburg's poor, orphaned and crippled children.

Each month he organizes parties, outings and entertainments for "his" children. At one party he had 1,500 children. His welfare work won "Tubby," as the children call him, the first Citizen of the Year award made in South Africa.

Brief Freedom Plenty Costly

HONOLULY (AP) — Franklin D. Melandre, 29, stole a half-minute of freedom last May.

Now he must pay the penalty — five more years in prison.

Melandre broke away from a prison guard at the Honolulu Court House after he was arraigned for an earlier escape from the Hawaii State Prison.

He got five years for the first escape. But he hid out as a hermit in the mountains for 4½ months before he was caught.

For the second, 30-second escape, his sentence was the same.

Mexico City, built on mud, has been slowly sinking for 600 years, National Geographic says.

Old Adage Doesn't Work In Jet Age

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's chief of the air staff, Air Chief Marshall Arjan Singh, attributes large proportion of air accidents to the absence of "the old understanding between the pilots and the birds," namely, "to fly clear of one another."

This understanding was "Unfortunately no longer possible in these days of supersonic flying," he told a gathering of air force commanders.

Cold Kills Cattle

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — More than 2,000 head of cattle died on one farm alone during an unseasonal cold snap.

Tires Being Tapped For Chemicals

PITTSBURGH (SS) — A one-million-ton rubber reservoir is being tapped as a source of chemicals and fuels. Discarded tires — 100 million of them — are the targets of researchers at the Coal Research Center of the U. S. Bureau of Mines in Pittsburgh, who are distilling valuable chemicals from them as well as gas for heat and power.

Scientists have obtained large quantities of chemicals, oil liquids, gas and tar from scrapped tires by heating them in a closed vessel. Shredded tires are fed into the reactor; and as they are heated, they break down.

A series of tests at 500 degrees C. produced 140 gallons of liquid oils and 1,500 cubic feet of gas per ton of tires. The gas was comparable in heating value to nautral gas.

The chemicals obtained from the tires are similar to those produced from coal carbonization (the heating of coal without air) including benzene, toluene, xylene and naphthas.

Delayed Action

COCHIN, India (AP) —An elderly man who 37 years ago was charged with "rash and negligent driving" was finally caught here and fined.
